COMMERCE AND TRADE.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The 13th June 1878.

No. 318.—In view to improving the means of communication with Assam, and assisting in the development of the trade of that Province, the Government of India desire the establishment of a line of fast steamers between Dibrugarh and some point near Dhubri, and hereby invite tenders for such a service on the following conditions:—

Conditions of Service.

2. The steamers shall have the following dimensions, and be of the following character:—

Length over all 150 to 200 feet. Speed through the water, 15 miles an hour. Draft, when loaded, not to exceed 3 feet. Accommodation in addition to that for officers and crew—

2nd ditto ...	8

Coolies ...	100
-------------	-----

Cargo, in addition to coal for 24 hours, steaming full power ...	10 tons.
--	----------

Consumption of good English coal, when going full speed, not to exceed 3lb per indicated horse-power per hour.

The vessels shall have one flush deck covered with a wood and canvas roof.

The 1st and 2nd class passenger cabins shall be in a deck-house forward, and the passenger accommodation shall, as much as possible, be forward of the engines.

3. The lower terminus shall be at Dhubri, or such other place as may be rendered desirable by the opening of railway communication, a change in the course of the river, or other circumstances.

4. The upper terminus shall be at Dibrugarh. The intermediate stations shall be those at present touched at by steamers, or such others as commercial necessities, a change in the course of the river, or other circumstances, may, in the opinion of the Government of India, render desirable.

5. The upward journey between Dhubri as the lower terminus and Dibrugarh shall be made in five days, the downward journey in three and a half days; the time-table, subject to alteration by Government as may appear advisable, being as follows:—

UP.

DOWN.

Day 1st.—Anchor between Goalpára and Beshiagbat.	Day 1st.—Dhunsiri Mukh.
„ 2nd.—Gauhati.	„ 2nd.—Rangamati.
„ 3rd.—Tezpur.	„ 3rd.—Goalpára.
„ 4th.—Niggri Ting.	„ 4th.—Dhubri (by noon).
„ 5th.—Dibrugarh.

Postal Service.

6. At first, the steamer service will only be used by the Postal Department for the carriage of parcel mails (estimated to average in weight three-fourths of a ton) and the servants in charge of them, and for this service proper accommodation will have to be provided. But, in the expectation of more frequent runnings hereafter, any Company tendering shall engage to carry, free of charge, if desired to do so at any time, the entire mail, both letter and parcel, and all servants necessary to its custody and service.

Detentions.

7. The Government of India and the Chief Commissioner of Assam shall, in the case of public necessity, have power to detain a steamer at any place.

8. And the Director-General of Post Offices in India shall have power, in the case of postal necessities, to detain a steamer at any place for a period not to exceed twenty-four hours.

Requisitions.

9. The Government of India, on payment for the same at a rate per ton to be determined, shall, in the case of public necessity, and upon giving seven days' notice, have power to take up the whole or any portion of the fleet of river steamers belonging to the party whose tender may be accepted.

Rates and fares.

10. The maximum fares for passengers shall be the sum of those shown in page 2 of the table published by the Rivers Steam Navigation Company, Limited, on the 1st October, 1874, plus Rs. 4 a day table-money for first-class passengers, and Rs. 2 a day for second-class passengers who desire to be fed on board, for the days occupied in the voyage to the place in question, taking six days for the entire upward and four days for the entire downward journey. Thus, the maximum passenger fare for a single berth in a cabin upwards between Dhubri and Dibrugarh shall be Rs. 83-3, being Rs. 59-3 for the passage, plus six days' table-money at Rs. 4 per day. Similarly, the downwards first-class fare shall be Rs. 55-8, being Rs. 39-8 for the passage, plus four days' table-money at Rs. 4 per day, and so on for other passenger fares. The maximum passenger fares thus fixed shall not be increased without the sanction of the Government of India.

11. Passengers shall be allowed the following baggage free:—

3rd "	1 maund.

Extra baggage shall be carried at 4th-class goods rate.

12. The maximum goods rates shall be those shown in the table of the Rivers Steam Navigation Company, Limited, on the 1st January 1871.

13. The goods rates shall not be raised beyond the maximum without the sanction of the Government of India.

Government Subsidy.

14. Exclusive of any payment which may be determined upon, as in paragraph 9 above, when any portion of the fleet is taken up by Government, the Government of India will, in consideration of the service performed under the conditions mentioned, pay for a period of five years a sum per trip, a trip being understood to be a journey from Dhubri or other terminus to Dibrugarh and back again.

15. Tenders must state the sum per trip for which the service required will be performed. The service will at first be twice a week. But it is to be understood that, if it shall hereafter be agreed between the Government of India and the party, if any, whose tender is accepted, to run more frequently, the extra service shall be performed on the same terms, and under the same conditions as the bi-weekly service.

16. Tenders must state distinctly the date by which parties tendering are prepared to enter upon the service required.

17. The Government of India require any party tendering to bind himself, under penalties for non-observance, to enter upon the service by a stated date, and to perform the service according to the conditions above specified. As regards unpunctuality, liability to penalty will be considered to commence when twenty-four hours beyond the periods mentioned in the time-table in paragraph 5 have elapsed.

18. Tenders, which will be received up to the 31st October 1878, should be submitted to the Local Government or Administration of the Province in which the tenderers are resident.

19. The Government of India do not bind themselves to accept the lowest or any tender.

ARMY CIRCULARS.

No. 605.—The following Clause (66) of Army Circulars, dated 1st April 1878, is declared applicable to India, and published in modification of G. G. O. No. 443 of 1878 :—

Deferred Pay.

(Issued as a special Army Circular on the 8th March 1878.)

Clause 66.—The following will be substituted for paragraphs 6a, 6b and 6c of the Secretary of State's amended instructions on the Royal Warrant of the 1st April 1876 (Clause 72, Army Circulars, 1876) issued in Clause 15, Army Circulars, 1878 :—

6a.—Deferred Pay and interest thereon will be paid by the Officer paying the Army Reserve and Pensioners in the locality in which the soldier resides, as shewn by the Appendix to Clause 129, Army Circulars, 1877. A notification of the amount due will be made (on W. O. Form 467) to such Officer by the Paymaster from whose payment the soldier is transferred to the Army Reserve or discharged, and such notification will accompany the soldier's documents. The soldier will be informed to what Officer he is to apply for his Deferred Pay.

6b.—Charges for Deferred Pay will be supported by a certified copy of the soldier's record of service, and a detailed computation of the amount (on W. O. Form 467) both of which will be prepared by the Paymaster from whose payment the soldier is transferred. A receipt in proof of payment will also be required.

*6c.—The amount of Deferred Pay and interest will be recorded in the soldier's pocket ledger at the end of six years, and at the end of twelve years in the form of which a copy is contained in the Appendix, page 10.

* Paragraph 6c has been added since the amended instructions were issued as a Special Army Circular.

[First publication.]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 4th July, 1878, and was referred to a Select Committee:—

No. 4 OF 1878.

A Bill to prevent the indiscriminate destruction of wild elephants in British Burma.

Whereas it is expedient to make provision to prevent the indiscriminate destruction of wild elephants in British Burma; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title. 1. This Act may be called
"The British Burma Elephants Act, 1878":

Local extent. It extends to all the territories for the time being administered by the Chief Commissioner of British Burma.

Commencement. So far as regards the power to make declarations and rules, it shall come into force on the passing thereof.
In other respects it shall come into force on the first day of September, 1878.

Destruction of wild elephants prohibited. 2. No person shall destroy or injure, or attempt to destroy or injure, any wild elephant except—

(a) in defence of himself or some other person;

(b) when such elephant is found injuring houses or cultivation, or upon or in the immediate vicinity of any main public road or railway; or

(c) as permitted by a license granted under this Act.

License to shoot male elephants. 3. The Deputy Commissioner of a District may, subject to such rules as may from time to time be made under this Act, grant licenses to shoot wild male elephants upon waste or forest lands the property of Government.

Power to declare what are main roads. 4. The Chief Commissioner may, from time to time,— declare what shall be deemed to be main public roads within the meaning of this Act, and make rules consistent with this Act for regulating (a) the grant and renewal of licenses under this Act, (b) the fees to be charged on such grant and renewal, and (c) the time during which such licenses shall continue in force.

All such declarations and rules shall be published in the local official Gazette.

Penalty for destroying wild elephants. 5. Whoever, in contravention of section two, destroys or injures, or attempts to destroy or injure, any wild elephant, shall be punished with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, and the license (if any) granted to him under this Act shall become void.

And any person convicted of a second offence under this Act shall be punished with imprisonment which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

6. Any officer of Revenue or Police who may discover any person shooting, or attempting to shoot, any wild elephant upon waste or forest land the property of Government, may require such person to produce and show a license granted to him under this Act. Any person who, on such request, wilfully refuses or is unable to produce and show such license as aforesaid, shall, in addition to any other punishment to which he may be liable under this Act, be punished with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

7. Every prosecution under this Act shall be commenced within six months from the commission of the offence in respect of which it is instituted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The slaughter of wild elephants, chiefly of males, whose tusks have reached a marketable size, but in some localities of both males and females, is being extensively practised in British Burma. To prevent this wholesale and indiscriminate destruction—which, if unchecked, must ultimately lead to the extinction of the breed,—the present Bill has been framed.

The provisions of this Bill are very similar to those of Madras Act I of 1873, from which it differs more in form and arrangement than in substance. In common with the Madras Act it prohibits, under penalty, the destruction of wild elephants, except in certain cases, and it provides for the grant of licenses for shooting wild male elephants upon waste or forest lands the property of Government, and for the making of rules as to the grant and renewal of such licenses.

It differs, however, from the Madras Act in omitting the provision of that Act permitting the destruction of wild male elephants upon private waste or forest lands, as there are no private proprietors of forest land in British Burma, and where waste lands have been granted there are no elephants.

Definition of "section."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The new Code of Civil Procedure, Act X of 1877, has now been eight months in operation, and the object of this Bill is to make some amendments which have proved to be necessary or expedient.

Section 4 of the Code saves "any local law prescribing a special procedure for suits between landlord and tenant." It has been held that the local laws here referred to are only local laws in force when the Code was passed. The result, of course, is to debar the local legislatures from dealing with such suits. The Bill accordingly amends section 4 so as to save clearly all such laws, whether passed before or after the date of the Code.

Doubt has been felt whether (notwithstanding the provisions of section 36) the plaint may, in case of the plaintiff's absence, be subscribed on his behalf by his duly authorized agent. The Bill amends section 51 so as to preclude this doubt.

Section 52 of the Code declares that the Court "shall examine" witnesses to the verification of plaints under section 51, unless the person making the verification is present. This rule can hardly be obeyed when, for example, the plaint is verified in Calcutta and the suit is to be instituted in Madras. The Bill accordingly relieves the Court from this duty when it is satisfied that the verification has been signed by the person purporting to make it.

Section 229 of the Code provides for the execution in British India of decrees of Courts established by the authority of the Governor General in Council "in the territories of any Native Prince or State in India." It has been held that Courts such as that of the Resident at Mandalay are not within the operation of this section. The Bill accordingly substitutes for "Native Prince or State in India" the words "Foreign Prince or State."

The High Court at Fort William has pointed out that section 335 of the Code does not provide for the case in which property has been sold in execution of a decree and in delivering possession a person claiming a right to the present possession is dispossessed. The Bill amends section 335 so as to meet this case.

When a judgment-debtor is imprisoned and the District Court is situate at a long distance from the jail, some inconvenience has been caused by the requirement of section 339 of the Code that the monthly payment of subsistence-money should be made to the proper officer of the Court. For such officer the Bill substitutes the officer in charge of the jail.

Section 588 of the Code has been amended so as to provide an appeal where an application under section 108 to set aside a decree ex parte has been rejected. An appeal is also given against orders for sale of attached property under section 170. And from clause (j), the words "of the same nature with appealable orders made in the course of a suit" have been omitted. The result will be to restore the first of the two appeals given in effect by Act XXIII of 1861, section 11, against all orders determining any question relating to the execution of a decree.

Section 652 of the Code empowers the High Courts to make subsidiary rules to regulate the procedure of the subordinate Courts. But it gives no power to make like rules for the High Courts themselves. In the case of the chartered High Courts, this omission is harmless; for the matter is sufficiently provided for elsewhere. But in the case of other High Courts (as defined in Act I of 1868), the omission has been found to cause inconvenience, and section 652 has been accordingly amended.

The other amendments (some of which are merely corrections of clerical or typographical errors) do not require special notice.

The rainfall during the preceding 24 hours has been very slight. There has been moderate rain in Aracan, Bombay and Behar, and light showers sparsely distributed in other parts of India. 1·97 inches fell at Akyab in passing showers. 2·35 inches at Bombay was due to continuous rain during the greater part of the day. ·44 inch fell at Akola and Belgaum. Patna received ·69 inch, and Benares ·54 inch.

Wednesday, July 3rd.—The barometer is still falling over the whole of India. The decrease during the preceding 24 hours averages ·08" in Bengal, ·03" in the North-Western Provinces, ·1" in the Punjab, ·05" in Western India, ·09" in the Central Provinces, ·05" in Southern India, and varies between ·08" and ·1" along the Coromandel Coast. The pressure over the south of Bengal continues relatively high. In consequence of the much greater fall of pressure in Bengal and Orissa than in the North-Western Provinces, the pressure to-day in Western Bengal, Orissa, Behar, the Central Provinces and the North-Western Provinces is almost uniform. Thus the reduced pressures at Cuttack and Bareilly are the same (29·580"), whilst at Hazaribagh the pressure is 29·570", and at Jubbulpore it is 29·586". In the midst of this large area of almost uniform pressure is a smaller area of barometric depression, including the stations of Allahabad, where the pressure at 10 A.M. to-day is 29·506", and at Lucknow is 29·508". This local area of depression has been a feature of the meteorology of Northern India for some days.

The changes of temperature are now such as usually occur during the south-west monsoon, and are generally the inverse of the humidity changes. The thermometer at 10 A.M. to-day recorded temperatures exceeding 100° at Lucknow, Lahore, Peshawar, Rawalpindi, Dera Ismail Khan and Jacobabad. The highest reading (106·3°) was observed at Lahore.

The wind is strong to-day along the Coast of Sind and Guzerat. Elsewhere the wind velocity is below the average for the month. It is especially light over the area of small barometric differences in North-Eastern India.

The sky is more or less clouded over the whole of India, except the Punjab and Northern Sindh, and perhaps Northern Rajputana. The amount of cloud is increasing in the North-Western Provinces and the Central Provinces.

The rainfall has slightly increased during the preceding 24 hours. Assam has had fair rain: 2·32 inches were recorded at Sibsagar, and ·76 inches at Silchar. Light showers occurred in Bengal during the day. Cuttack received 1·47 inches from passing showers. Behar continues to receive moderate rain. ·75 inch fell at Patna, and ·57 inch at Hazaribagh during the day. The weather is gloomy in Central Rajputana. 1·2 inches was registered at Ajmere to-day. Moderate rain continues at Bombay and the neighbourhood. 1·76 inches fell at Bombay, and ·49 inch at Rajkot during the day. Light passing showers occurred in the Central Provinces the Berars and the Deccan. The heaviest was at Bangalore, where ·64 inch was recorded this morning.

Thursday, July 4th.—The barometer continues to fall over the whole of India, except in Assam, where it has risen slightly, and at a few stations in Northern India, where it is now steady. The decrease since yesterday has been greatest in Sind and along the Bombay Coast, where it is ·09". Over Central India and Bengal it averages ·05"; and in the Punjab, the Deccan and Southern India it amounts to ·03". In Upper India the change varies considerably in amount at different stations.

The temperature has decreased over the whole of India during the preceding 24 hours. The fall of temperature is greatest in the North-Western Provinces, the Central Provinces and the Punjab. The highest temperature recorded this morning (100·3°) was observed at Jacobabad.

The wind directions are unchanged in Western and Southern India. The wind this morning is from the south-east at False Point, Saugor Island and Calcutta; and the easterly current up the Gangetic Valley has increased in strength during the preceding 24 hours. Easterly winds have now extended to Allahabad. The wind velocity has decreased slightly at Bombay. Strong wind continues at Kurrachee and Rajkot. The high wind velocities at Ajmere, Delhi, Akola and Belgaum indicate that the Bombay monsoon current is blowing strongly over the whole of Central India.

The humidity has increased over the whole of India. The sky is overcast in the Deccan, the Madras and Bombay Presidencies and Assam. It is almost wholly clouded in Bengal, Behar, the North-Western Provinces, the Central Provinces, Berar and Southern Rajputana. It is overcast at Lahore and Delhi. The only area free from clouds is the north-west portion of the Punjab.

There has been increased rainfall over a larger area during the preceding 24 hours. Assam, Bengal, Behar and Orissa have had light showers. A fall of 1·51 inches at Silchar, and one of 2·28 inches at Purneah, indicate considerable rainfall over the whole of Northern Bengal. There has been no rain in the Punjab, or the eastern half of the North-Western Provinces. Continuous rain during the day gave Bareilly 5·91 inches. Light showers occurred during the day at Agra and Delhi, and the weather was threatening over this area. Central and Southern India have received good rainfall during the day. 6·80 inches were registered at Bombay this morning, 1·47 inches at Khandwa, 1·36 inches at Nagpore, ·67 inch at Rajkot, and ·46 inch at Belgaum. The Madras Presidency also received fair rain. 1·2 inches fell at Madras during a thunder-storm. .3 inch at Vizagapatam and .22 inch at Masulipatam, combined with gloomy and squally weather, indicate general rainfall in this part of India.

Summary.—At the beginning of the week, the barometer was low in the north of the Punjab. The south-west monsoon was fully established over the whole of India, except the North-West Provinces and the Punjab. The weather in the North-West Provinces was unsettled, and storms had given moderate rainfall to its central and western districts. The chief feature in the meteorology of the present week has been an oscillation in the amount of the barometric difference between Northern and Southern India, followed by a co-ordinate oscillation in the strength of the monsoon atmospheric currents, and in the extent and intensity of the rainfall. The baric difference between Northern and Southern India at the beginning of the week (Thursday, June 27th) was five-tenths of an inch. The pressure increased over the whole of India until Sunday or Monday morning. The increase was greatest in the Punjab, where it was .23", and least in Southern India, where it only amounted to .03". The baric differences between Northern and Southern India consequently diminished to three-tenths of an inch. The rebound began on Tuesday, and was continued during the week. The pressure diminished over the whole of India: most rapidly in the Punjab, and least quickly in Southern India. The fall of the barometer was .3" during this period (Tuesday to Thursday) in the Punjab and .09" in Southern India. The baric difference between Northern and Southern India is hence again five-tenths of an inch, one-tenth of an inch above the average amount at this time of the year.

The variations in the extent and intensity of the rainfall have followed the variations in the amount of the baric difference day by day with considerable uniformity. The rainfall continued over the same districts on Friday the 28th, and Saturday, the 29th as during the previous week, gradually diminishing in amount. The distribution of the rainfall, moreover, bore the same general relations as during the previous week. There were light showers in Bengal, moderate rainfall in Assam, Aracan, the Central Provinces and the Berars, heavy rain in Behar and Bombay, and detached showers in the North-West Provinces due to local dust-storms or thunder-storms, except at Bareilly, where fair rain fell. The rainfall decreased rapidly on Saturday, and there was very little rain during the next two days in Bengal, the North-Western Provinces, and the Central Provinces, and Central India. The monsoon atmospheric currents had now become much weaker over the whole of India, but more especially in Northern India. The retardation of the current in Southern India was accompanied by considerable rainfall over both the Madras and Bombay Presidencies. The following amounts registered for the 24 hours preceding 10 A.M. of Tuesday show the character of the rainfall during the preceding day:—

Bombay ...	2.65 inches.	Bangalore ...	1.85 inches.
Akola ...	1.8 "	Madras ...	1.05 "
Masulipatam ...	4.95 "	Cochin65 "

The rainfall of the next day, Tuesday, was very slight over the whole of India, except at Bombay and Akyab. It began to increase in amount on Wednesday, and is still increasing in extent and intensity.

The rainfalls at the various observing stations for the month of June are not yet complete, but will be given next week. The south-west monsoon is now fully established over the whole of India, excepting the Punjab. The Bombay Coast is receiving heavy rainfall. There is still a marked deficiency in the rainfall of Western Bengal. Orissa and Behar, on the other hand, are receiving more than average rain. The rainfall of the Central Provinces and the Madras Presidency is also up to the average. The chief feature of the rainfall of the North-West Provinces is the excessive amount at Bareilly. The Benares division is receiving moderate rainfall: elsewhere in the North-West Provinces it is below the average. The Punjab has had occasional showers due to dust storms. The increasing humidity and diminishing temperature of the last two days (the 3rd and 4th) indicate that it is now advancing in this direction.

WEEKLY CONDITION REPORT OF DISTRESSED DISTRICTS OF THE MYSORE PROVINCE.

PROVINCE OF MYSORE.

(No. 71.)

Special Famine Report for the week ending 15th June 1878.

Statement No. 71, regarding Famine-relief operations in the Province of Mysore, for the week ending the 15th June 1878.

RAIN fell in every district during the week under report, but not so heavily as the previous week. Vaisakh paddy is still being reaped, and sowing of Kartik paddy has begun. Sowings in dry land are also in progress, but everywhere grass-hoppers and locusts are doing harm to the young crops. Efforts are being made to destroy these pests, and in the Mysore District with some success. Prices again slightly rose, and therefore there is no decrease of pressure; but the hitherto favorable rain has induced many of the laborers on relief-works to return to field occupation, and prospects generally may be described as good.

2. Imports of grain by rail amounted to 873 tons, or 323 tons more than last week. From Bangalore, 381 tons, or 79 tons less, were exported to the interior of the Province.

3. The number of persons on civil relief-works fell from 7,310 to 4,189, owing to the transfer of the Sira-Mysore Road in the Túngkúr District to the supervision of the Public Works Department.

4. Besides 12,386 ordinary laborers, the Department Public Works employed 31,126 people on relief-works, shewing a decrease of 2,397, compared with the figure for the previous week. The decrease was very general, and must be ascribed to the better prospects. Cholera appeared on one work in the Chitaldrug District, but was not of long duration. The following is the list of the more important works:—

No.	DISTRICT.	NAME OF WORK.	NUMBER EMPLOYED.
			Previous week.	Present week.
1	Bangalore	State Railway	10,966	10,644
2	Bangalore-Kolar	Bangalore-Bellary (via Devanhalli) Road	1,072	852
3	Bangalore	Mallappa Chetti's Tank	525	621

13	Do.	Doderi Feeder	1,113	618
TOTALS			30,589	28,605

Note.—The falling-off in No. 13 is due to the cholera panic.

5. In the famine hospitals, of which 13 remain, were 2,228 patients, or 89 less than in the previous week. There were 10,324 in receipt of the village grain-dole, compared with 9,888 returned for the week before. At Bangalore, the following paupers were dealt with.—

Number sent to Railway Works	1,124
Ditto Special Gang	451
Ditto Relief Camp	28
Ditto Hospital	108
Total				1,711

The next statement shows the average number relieved in each district in famine hospitals, and the cost per head, and also shows the details of the numbers getting the grain-dole in their villages :—

WEEKLY REPORT ON THE CONDITION AND PROSPECTS OF THE DISTRICTS
OF THE NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES AND OUDH, FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 22ND JUNE 1878.

No. 1829A., dated Naini Tal, the 28th June 1878.

From—C. ROBERTSON, Esq., Secretary to Govt., N.-W. Provinces and Oudh,

To—The Additional Secretary to the Govt. of India, Public Works Dept., (Famine).

IN continuation of my letter No. 1757A, dated 21st June, I am directed to forward, for the information of His Excellency the Governor General in Council, the weekly abstract report on the condition of these provinces during the week ending 22nd June, and the comparative memorandum of the prices of wheat and barley for the same period.

2. The hot west wind continued to the end of the week under report; but in the eastern divisions, it was occasionally replaced by an easterly wind. The heat everywhere has been intense, and greater than has been recorded for some years past. There was a storm with heavy rain at Agra, on the 21st instant, but it was confined to a small area, and did not extend to other districts. There were few indications even by the end of the week that the rains were approaching; but since its close, rain has fallen over a considerable portion of the eastern divisions.

3. In Meerut and Rohilkhand (except the district of Budaon), prices remained stationary; elsewhere there has been a rise, consequent on the holding off of the rains and the anxiety felt for the future.

4. The same cause has intensified the distress among the people, and led to a considerable increase in the number of persons receiving relief, as will be seen from the following figures:—

			Week ending 15th June.	Week ending 22nd June.
North-Western Provinces—
Relief-works	69,650	99,052
Poor-houses	6,209	7,805
			<hr/> 75,859	<hr/> 106,857
Oudh—
Relief-works	17,153	19,212
			<hr/> 20,200	<hr/> 22,553

Judging from the district reports, the relief measures in operation appear adequately to provide for the existing distress. The greatest increase in the numbers on relief-works has been in the Basti district, where the average daily number for the week came up to 53,942 persons. The Commissioner and Superintending Engineer have gone to the spot since the close of the week, to ensure that the distance test is properly applied, and that the arrangements for exacting a fair task are sufficient. The following is a detail of the works on which more than a thousand laborers are employed:—

1. Muttra District—
1 Muttra-Achneyra Light Railway	5,844
2. Agra District—

NAINI TAL,

The 28th June 1878.

C. ROBERTSON,

Secretary to Govt., N.-W. Provinces and Quak.

Abstract of the reports on the condition of the several districts of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, for the week ending 22nd June 1878.

District	Condition of crops.	State of markets.	Prices of food-grains.	Condition of cattle.	Condition of people.	Relief operations, &c.
MEERUT DIVISION.
Dohra Dun ...	Nearly harvested	Well supplied	Wheat, 15½ to 17 seers per Re. Barley, 24 " " Gram, 14½ " " Rice, 7 " "	Very good	Very good: no case of distress reported.
Saharanpur ...	Treading out grain still going on in some places. Rice sown in canal irrigated villages.	Well supplied	Wheat, 15½ to 19½ seers per Re. Barley, 20 " " Gram, 14 to 15 " " Juar, 8 to 10½ " "	Good	Pretty good: complaints of slight fever in tehsil Roorkee. No case of distress reported.
Munaffarnagar	Cultivators have sown Indian corn, mandwa, rice and cotton in irrigated lands.	Well supplied	Wheat, 16 to 17 seers per Re. Barley, 20 to 22 " " Gram, 14 to 16½ " " Juar, 8½ to 11 " "	Good	Good: no case of distress
Meerut ...	Rabi harvest over	Well supplied	Wheat, 15 to 16½ seers per Re. Barley, 20 to 22½ " " Gram, 14 to 16½ " " Juar, 8 to 12 " "	Good	Good: fever still prevalent in Baghput tehsil. No case of distress reported.	With the exception of a poor-house recently opened in the Aligarh district, there are no relief measures in hand in the division.
Bulandshahr ...	Indigo, cotton, and makka are being largely sown. All crops previously sown are in very good state.	Well supplied	Wheat, 15 to 16 seers per Re. Barley, 19 " " Gram, 11½ " " Juar, 11 " "	Improved	Good: no case of distress
Aligarh ...	Indigo, makka and juar are being sown in favoured places.	Well supplied	Wheat, 14 to 15½ seers per Re. Barley, 17½ to 19½ " " Gram, 14½ to 16½ " "	Improving	Want of work complained of; but no case of distress reported.
AGRA DIVISION.
Aksh	Harvest operations over	Well supplied	Wheat, 16½ seers per Re. Barley, 17½ " " Gram, 16½ " " Rice, 8 " "	Good	Generally good: small-pox has nearly disappeared: there have been a few cases of sunstroke. The mortality returns do not indicate the presence of such distress as can be relieved. No cases reported by chaukidars.	No relief works or poor-houses.

District.	Condition of crops.	State of markets.	Prices of food-grains.	Condition of cattle.	Condition of people.	Relief operations, &c.
Muttra	No change	Well supplied	AGRA DIVISION—contd. Wheat, 14½ seers per Re. Barley, 18 " " Bajra, 8 " " Juar, 8 " " Rice, 8½ " " Gram, 14½ " "	No change	Fever somewhat prevalent: a few cases of cholera. No local distress reported by chaukidars. Mortuary returns for May show an abnormally high death-rate as prevailing. two causes: the increasing distress and the proximity of the work to the Bhartipore territory. The labourers are drawn mostly from the city, adjoining villages and Bhartipore. Poor-houses.—The number of inmates is now 1,166, of whom 543 belong to Native States.	Relief-works.—Under the District Engineer (on the Jait and Subar Road, and in levelling ground near the Kutchery) a daily average of 454 labourers has been employed; the decrease in numbers since last week is due to the completion of one of the works. On the Muttra-Achneyra Light Railway, the numbers have risen to 5,844 daily, owing to the proximity of the work to the Bhartipore territory. The labourers are drawn mostly from the city, adjoining villages and Bhartipore.
Agra	Sugarcane under irrigation	No want felt. Imports still exceed the exports.	Wheat, 14 to 14½ Barley, 17 to 17½ Gram, 14 to 14½ Bajra, 8 to 8½ Juar, 9 to 9½	Improved: green grass is still procurable.	Fever continues, and cholera is on the increase. During the week two instances of par-dah washings being in extreme distress have been reported by the police. No indication of distress is given by the mortuary returns.	Relief-works:— (1). On the Achneyra-Muttra Light Railway ... 8,285 (2). Fatihabad to Kachora Road ... 1,155 (3). Fatihabad to Iradatnagar Road ... 179 (4). Shamsabad and Pinahat " ... 1,518 (5). River embankment " ... 3,781 (6). Secundra garden " ... 421 (7). Bataisar Tank " ... 176 (8). Fatehpur and Biana Road " ... 845 (9). Mirza Khan Mandi to Kagarole Road ... 2,171 (10). Ferozabad Tank " ... 142 Total daily attendance ... 18,173
Etawah	All harvested	Well supplied	Wheat, 14 to 17 Barley, 19 to 21 Gram, 14½ to 17 Juar, 11 " " Bajra, 12 " "	No change	No change: no apparent increase of distress: no report made by chaukidars: no indication of distress in the mortuary returns, but each day now without rain adds to the anxiety of the situation.	The labourers on 6, 8, 9 are inefficiently drawn from the neighbouring poor-houses. Of those on 4, about 1,000 were sent out from Agra. The Collector writes that it is difficult to say whence the labourers come, but numbers of very poor creatures came to the river works, many of whom had to be sent to the poor-houses. Poor-houses.—The numbers in poor-houses have risen to 4,834.

Farukhabad ...	Nearly the whole rabi crop garnered.	Fairly well supplied	Wheat, Barley, Gram, Rice,	15½ 20 15½ 7½	seers per Re. " " " "	In fair condition	No change. Judging from the mortality returns for May the mortality was diminishing. The increase in the mortality of May 1878 over that of May 1877 is due to small-pox. No reports of distress by chaukidars.	Relief-works— (1). Light Railway near Kalinadi (2). Begar embankment	Daily. ... 1,039 ... 530 ... 1,569
Mainpuri ...	Sugarcane and ghoozan are being irrigated, and promise well.	Well supplied	Wheat, Barley, Rice, Arhar,	15½ 18½ 7½ 12½	seers per Re. " " " "	No change	A few deaths reported from sunstroke and hot winds. Most of the labourers on the canal works are natives of the Agra district. No cases of distress have been reported by chaukidars.	Relief-works— On the canal works at Shekhabad, there are 83 labourers daily. Poor-houses— In these there are 217 paupers on relief.	In the poor-house, the number of inmates is still 56; but this is a permanent institution provided by the Municipality.
JHANSI DIVISION.
The Commissioner's weekly report for the division gives the following particulars:—
As before reported	...	Well supplied	Jhansi— Wheat, Barley, Juar, Gram,	13 16 14 14	seers per Re. " " " "	No change	No appearance yet of great and general distress, though prices press heavily. Cholera prevails in Lalitpur, and there were 35 deaths from this cause during the week. Small-pox and fever are reported from the Jalsan district, and some deaths from heat apoplexy have occurred in the Jhansi district.	Jhansi District.—There are eleven petty relief-works in progress, with a total daily average attendance of 1,704 labourers. On none is there a greater number than six hundred employed. Jalsan District.—On three works in hand, there is a total daily attendance of 1,211 labourers. The attendance on relief-works in both these districts has increased slightly, and this district has increased employment becomes available. There are no relief-works yet open in Lalitpur, and no poor-houses anywhere. Casual relief is given in cases of severe distress. No cases of distress were brought to notice by chaukidars or police.
			Jalsan— Wheat, Barley, Gram, Rice,	15½ 19 16 6½	seers per Re. " " " "
			Lalitpur— Wheat, Barley, Juar, Gram,	13 15½ 14½ 14	seers per Re. " " " "
ROHILKHAND DIVISION.
Moradabad ...	The harvest has now been got in.	Well supplied	Wheat, Barley, Gram, Bajra,	16½ 20½ 16½ 21½	seers per Re. " " " "	Good	No change since last week. The District Engineer reports that he cannot find people to work on 3rd class roads at subsistence rates. The police report a few cases of destitution among the old and infirm, but there are no indications of general distress.	No poor-houses or relief-works open.

Division.	District.	Condition of crops.	State of markets.	Prices of food-grains.	Condition of cattle.	Condition of people.	Relief operations, &c.
Budaon	...	Ountum as previously reported.	Well supplied. Prices have continued to rise as grain is still exported and the rains held off.	ROHILKHAND DIVISION—contd. Wheat, 16½ seers per Re. Barley, 21 " " Rice, 51½ " " Gram, 16½ " "	Improved	Improved ... small-pox prevalent. On the reports of chaukidars, 518 persons were sent to the relief-works. No deaths of destitute wanderers have been reported.	Relief-works— (1). Raising Sahaswan and Ujhani Road (18th June) ... 2,405 (2). Raising Sadulla and Bichoura Ghat Road (18th June) ... 2,010 (3). Raising Bisauli and Islamnagr Road (18th June) ... 327 Total ... 4,742 Daily.
							Most of the labourers come from villages at no great distance from the works: their health is good. There has been an increase in the total number on relief-works of 791 persons. The increase would have been greater had orders not issued to draft off all able-bodied labourers to work at a distance from their homes. Many on works Nos. 2 and 3 declined to go, and so were not given employment. As there is hardly any work to be had in the villages, the numbers on relief-works must daily increase until the rains fall. The Collector inspected the labourers on work No. 1 on the 17th, and found most of them strong and well able to do a fair day's work, yet not one-third of the work of an ordinary labourer could be obtained from them, though the District Engineer was in charge of the work. Of the total number of labourers on the relief-works 1,001 were in the nurseries: 302 being women, and 699 children: the remainder were too old and weak to do any work. The nurseries are in charge of the officers in charge of the works, to which they are attached. There is no poor-house relief.
Bareilly	...	No change	Well supplied	15 seers per Re. Wheat, 19½ " Barley, 6½ " Bajra, 15 " Gram, "	Fair	Relief-works have commenced, and the number of labourers is daily increasing.	Relief-works— (1). Raising and improving patris of Bareilly and Philibhit 1st class Road, (earth-work) ... 280 (2). Ditto ditto Road from Sunka Bridge to Shisgharh (earth-work) ... 76 (3). Improving Faridpur and Bisalpur Road ... 337 (4). Ditto Baheri and Radipur Road ... 371 (5). Ditto Aonla and Bhamora Road ... 941 Total ... 2,005 Daily average.
							Poor-house— Number relieved in poor-house daily 70

General Remarks.—There are five relief-works, all of the same kind, viz., raising and improving kutchha road, or pattris of pukka roads. The average daily number of labourers on any one of them has not yet reached 1,000, but they are daily increasing, and next week Collector fancies almost every one of them will leave more than a thousand labourers on it. The labourers in each case come from the neighbourhood.

Bijnor	...	As reported last week	...	Markets are sufficiently supplied.	Wheat, 15½ to 18	seers per Re.	Fair	...	Chaukidars have been instructed to send all persons needing relief to the works and poor-house severally as necessary. No change in the condition of the people.	Relief-works— (1). Improving Nagina and Najibabad Road ... (2). Improving Chandpur and Dhanpur Road ... (3). Improving Bijnor and Darnagar Road ...	Daily. 2,469 2,560 1,708
					Juar, 6 to 8½	"	"
					Gram, 13 to 14	"	"
										Total	6,737

The people seeking employment mostly come from a radius of five or six miles; the works seem popular, and the amount of work turned out is a good average. The reason of increase in the numbers is the delay in the commencement of the rains, and consequent strain on individual resources.

Poor-house.—The number on relief is now 526 persons.

General Remarks.—The situation is unchanged since last week, except so far as prolonged absence of employment tells with increasing severity on the impoverished poor. There is no want of food-grains in the markets, but the demand for agricultural labour is almost nil, pending the advent of the rains, and what wage in kind was given during the harvest of the rabi crop has been consumed. Among the poorest classes distress in short is very general and very severe.

Shahjahanpur	The crops are all stored. Sugarcane is doing well, but needs constant irrigation to protect it from the heat.	The markets are abundantly supplied with grain, as the late rabi crop is being rapidly brought to market for sale. Imports at present are considerably in excess of exports, but prices are not affected.	Prices are stationary. Should rain come there will probably be some fall, but not a very great one. Wheat, 16½ to 17 seers per Re. Barley, 21½ to 21½ 16½	Fair	...	Fair, but the employment afforded by the harvest is at an end, and the labouring classes are now for the most part out of regular employment, and pick up a precarious living. Public health is good.	There are sixteen persons at present supported by Government in the Municipal poor-house.

General Remarks.—The state of the cultivating classes is good. The harvest has been generally fair, although the yield in some places was below the average, and the crop was nowhere a bumper one. But the high prices ruling in the markets have gone a considerable way to recoup the cultivators. The condition of the day labourers is not so good. Their strength has not been fully restored by their harvest earnings, and they are still found unable to do a good day's work. This class is now out of employment, and even if the rains should come quickly, only a limited number will find occupation in the fields. There is no marked increase of beggary or crime, but it is advisable to furnish employment for this destitute class before their physical and moral energy give way, and the Collector, therefore, proposes to commence relief-works on the Seriman and Khodaganj Roads from the 1st of July. Employment will also be found from the Municipal funds for the city labourers. The condition of all other classes is good, and the people are patient and hopeful of rain.

The Commissioner notes:—The Collector was last week authorized to open the relief-works at an earlier date if he deemed it necessary, and not to delay until the people became weak and unable to do fair work, to meet the necessity for work and food as it arises.

Cawnpore	...	Nothing further to report ...	The markets are well supplied with grain, and most cultivators have also stored as much as they can; but the attachments of Civil and Revenue Courts will transfer a good deal to the banniyahs and landlords.	ALLAHABAD DIVISION. Wheat, 14½ to 15½ Barley, 17½ to 18½ Rice, 5 to 7½ Bajra, 8½ to 9½ Juar, 10 to 11 Gram, 12 to 14½	Cattle are in good condition.	There is no appearance of distress yet in the district, and with the exception of a few cases of cholera here and there, there is no sickness.	No relief-works or poor-house.
	Patehpur	The fields are being manured and sugarcane irrigated.	Well supplied ...	Wheat, 12½ to 14½ Barley, 16 to 16½ Gram, 12½ to 14	No disease; fodder is available.	Fever and small-pox are now on the decrease in Patehpur, Kalianpur and Khaga Ghats. A few cases of cholera are still reported from tehal Ghazipur, and a few cases of deaths from sunstroke. The tehsildars of Ghazipur and Khakreri report that the high prices of grain are now distressing the labouring classes. Only one case of distress needing relief—that of a blind Brahmin and his wife, beggars—has been reported by the chaukidars. These were ordered to be sent to the poor-house. *Commissioner notes that the relief-works recently opened in Ghazipur, and not very far from Khakreri.	Relief-works.—The drainage outfall extension from Semri to the Jumna at Patehpur-Mathcha was opened as a relief-work on the 15th instant; only three persons (a man, woman and child) presented themselves in search of work up to the 19th, and they stayed only one day. They came from the neighbourhood of the work. In the city the work of deepening the Kond Tank proceeds; there were 227 persons employed on it on the 20th; last week the number was 220. The increase of 7 persons is almost entirely explained by the arrival of 6 persons from the Allahabad district—the remaining 21 persons are all from the city and neighbourhood. The appearance of the labourers gives little indication of privation; they seem fairly well nourished. The inefficient gang on the 20th numbered 29 persons. These do only half tasks, and the rest fall work.
Banda	...	Already reported	Markets well supplied. Imports and exports are small.	Wheat, 11 to 13 Barley, 12 to 15 Juar, 10 to 11	Cattle disease is reported in some villages, but the	A good deal of small-pox prevalent, and cholera on the increase. Special medical relief has been sent out into the	No relief-works. The poor-house was reopened on the 19th, and the number relieved amounts to 34.
							Poor-house.—Up to last night (20th) there were no admissions into the poor-house.

The average number during the week under report was 572. Of the 578 labourers employed on the last day of the week, only 68 came from a greater distance than 10 miles; of these 8 were from other districts. No general distress has been reported by chaudhars. The mortuary returns for district circles for April and May do not show an excessive rate. The town circles have a lower rate than in 1877. The number on works has increased from 421 on the last day of the previous week to 578 on last day of week under report. Some increase is to be looked for until rains commence. Poor-house.—In the poor-house there are 94 inmates. The poor-house is maintained from private subscriptions and a small Municipal grant.
Basti	Basti	Rice sown three weeks ago or so, is suffering from drought. So far it has been possible to irrigate the cane, but this, like all standing crops, is imperilled by the dry hot weather. The numbers are still rising owing to the lack of employment pressing more heavily daily. The poor have used up their property and their credit during the past nine months. Rain may restore the latter, but till it comes they are without resource. The result of recent enquiries, if there can be trusted, show that a much larger proportion of labourers come from some distance. More than 1,000 Gorakhpur people were on the works at Basti on the 18th June.

Misapur	Sugarcane is being irrigated, but the water in wells is reported to be very low.	No change. Very moderately supplied.	Wheat, 11 to 12 Barley, 12 to 14 Bajra, 7 to 12 Gram, 11 to 13	seers per Re. " " " " " "	There are still complaints of scarcity of water in the hilly tracts of Saktesgarh, Begwat, and Anrouah, where cattle are said to have died from want of water.	The monsoon is anxiously awaited. Meanwhile fields are being manured and prepared for ploughing on the first fall of rain. Cholera is rather severe in the south part of the district, and several deaths from the heat are reported. If rain does not fall within the next ten days, it will be necessary to start relief-works near Tuppa Uproudh. The Commissioner notes that Collector has been asked to report on what works he proposes to start relief on 1st July or thereabouts if rain fails.	No relief-works or poor-houses.
Azamgarh	Sugarcane is in good condition as yet.	Very moderately supplied.	Wheat, 11½ to 12½ Barley, 14½ to 15½ Gram, 11½ to 12½	seers per Re. " " " " " "	As usual: no sickness reported.	Cholera is on the decline: there is still some small-pox. Distress is becoming severer every day while the rain holds off, as no work is to be obtained in the fields and the stocks of food are diminishing. No distress has been reported by chauhidadars.	Relief-works— Daily average. 840 Manand Nagra road The number of labourers steadily increased throughout the week, the daily average being 840 till the 19th when it fell off again, 718 persons being present on that day. Distress is undoubtedly increasing in the district, but people at any distance from the work show great reluctance to come to it. If rain holds off another week, it may be necessary to commence some relief-work in the western part of the district, and the Azamgarh and Powna Road which is administratively sanctioned would be the best, though plans and estimates are not ready.
Benares	No change. Rabi harvested.	Sufficiently supplied.	Wheat, 11 to 12½ Barley, 14½ to 15½ Bajra, 8½ Rice, 8 to 10½ Gram, 11½ to 12	seers per Re. " " " " " " " "	Favourable	There are no signs of general widespread distress among the people, only a few isolated cases of persons being found chiefly in the suburbs of the city on their way to it in a state of semi-starvation. The police have been instructed to supply, if necessary, such persons with food, and then convey them to the Kali Shanker Asylum, where they are fed and cared for. This is an old established Asylum for the relief of the poor, and is under the charge of the Civil Surgeon. There are numerous chaulukies also in the city where mendicants are fed daily. No person acquainted with Benares need suffer of starvation unless distress should increase to such an extent that the numerous charitable houses in the city could no longer relieve it. All that is at present needed is to relieve the immediate wants of those villagers and strangers unacquainted with local charities, and to convey them to such places where they can get food.

BENARES DIVISION—contd.	Ghazipur	Sugarcane fields are being irrigated.	Sufficient supply during the week.	Wheat, 12 seers per Re. Barley, 14½ " " Bajra, 9 " " Gram, 12½ " "	Complaints of fœdler want of fodder are daily increasing.	Some cases of cholera, small-pox and sunstroke. The chaulkidars have reported no cases of distress needing to be relieved.	In consideration of the distress now increasing in pergunnah Zamaniah, especially in the vicinity of Dildarnagar and Gubner, earthen work on the Dildarnagar and Mahania, 2nd class roads has been commenced, which has given employment to the following people on the evening of the 18th instant—261 men, 213 women, 106 children, in all 580 persons. The percentage of women and children as compared with the men has been so greatly in excess, that hitherto it has been impossible to exact anything like task-work from a large number of the women. The task-work now assigned to them has been the breaking of clods on a certain length of the road, the wages being in proportion to the quantity of work done. The result has been that a large number of women and children have deserted the work which accounts for the decrease of 296 labourers as compared with last week. The people employed belong, with few exceptions, to the surrounding villages. The daily average for the week gives 943 labourers.
	The Commissioner notes:—Collector has been asked to supply particulars concerning the departure from the works of a considerable number of women and children, in consequence of the task-work assigned to them: as to the physical capabilities of those persons who complied with the task-test and were able to earn their usual allowance. The Municipal poor-house has accommodated 144 persons daily during the past week. There were 92 present daily in the week previous.
KUMAON DIVISION.	The Commissioner notes:—I have just now sent a circular to the Collectors to take action under paragraphs 2 and 3 of Chapter II of Circular 51A, unless they or any one can show no necessity. It is certain that beggars and other infirm and diseased poor, who ordinarily live on charity, are the first to feel the distress when it becomes extreme. Orders have been issued that chaulkidars and others must pass on such persons to the nearest police stations, and thence to the poor-house. A careful watch is being kept at Benares, and for the present I agree with the Collector's remarks, but at any time when it is shown that from outside, poor starving people come in a bad condition, then measures will be taken to open a special poor-house. The Easti Collector reports to-day (22nd) that there are 60,000 on his works. From Gorakhpur and Mirzapur applications to open works on the 1st July, if no rain comes, have been received and sanctioned, also extension of works in Azamgarh. The late changes in the wind are said about here to betoken coming rain, but we have no real sign of any immediate approach of rain. On the whole the district reports are not more unfavourable than there was reason to expect. If rain does not fall by the 30th June, I shall start at once for a complete tour over the division. Local resources in the way of roads, &c., for relief-works will carry on to the end of July in Easti and Gorakhpur, and beyond that elsewhere, except in Benares, where we must look to the Railway bridge embankment should necessity for relief-work arise. The health of the people is generally fair.

Tera	The threshing floors are not yet clear. Rents are paid chiefly in kind in this district, and there is always great delay in dividing the grain. The outturn of wheat and barley has been good. There is as yet no necessity for relief-works or for poor-houses. Small-pox is prevalent, but otherwise the health of the people is good.	No relief-works or camps.

Good, with the exception of poorer classes, who still continue to suffer from high prices of food-grains. No case of starvation or distress reported.	No relief-works, but on ordinary Public Works the average number of labourers employed is 1,034. In the poor-house 30 paupers are on relief.
Rae Bareilly	Sawan being cut. In one tehsil makra, kodo, kakun, being sown in small quantities.	Kharif grains are hardly obtainable; but rabi grains are in fair quantity.	Wheat, Barley, Gram,	RAE BAREILLY DIVISION. 12½ seers per Re. 15¼ " " 12½ " "	Better	Small-pox still prevalent. The poor are getting worse off than before. Crime is still on the increase; small thefts caused by starvation are increasing. Distress is increasing and will do so till rain arrives. No people have yet been reported as staying at home to starve instead of attending the works.	Relief-works.—The number of labourers on the works average daily ... 10,175 Two works are in progress— (1). Rae Bareilly and Sultanpur Road. (2). Maharajganj and Bachrawan. The labourers are being transferred from the former to the latter. They are engaged on earth-work, laying clay over sandy and unar portions of road.

The Commissioner notes:—As the season advances, distress is undoubtedly increasing: if the rains are long delayed, the pressure will become very severe. All are anxiously looking for the rains, and the hope that they may set in any day is keeping many of the relief-works in great numbers. Prices are stationary. The increase in the number on relief-works would have been greater, but for the transfer of the main body from the Sultanpur to the Maharajganj and Bachrawan Road, which caused a large reduction in the numbers for one day, and thus reduced the daily average attendance for the week. A sufficient number of labourers only have been kept on the Sultanpur Road to finish off the work.

In poor-houses the daily average of paupers is 605.

The Commissioner notes:—Prices still tend upwards, and now the Mahajuns have stopped all credit. Seed rice is difficult to procure. Pressure more or less everywhere. Rains anxiously looked for. It may be necessary to start relief-works on a small scale in the eastern pergunnahs in a few days.
Bahrach ...	Kharif preparations going on ...	Well supplied, but prices are rising.	Wheat, 11 Barley, 16 Gram, 12 Bajra, 7 Juar, 14	to 11½ to 16 to 12½ to 7 to 14	seers per Re. " " " " " " " "	Good	Good: no reports by chaukidars of distress. No relief-works or special poor-houses.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE, AGRICULTURE AND COMMERCE.

REPORTS ON THE STATE OF THE SEASON AND PROSPECTS OF THE CROPS FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 2ND JULY 1878.

GENERAL REMARKS.—More or less rain is reported from all districts in Madras; the monsoon continues to give good falls on the West Coast; and there has also been heavy rain in the Northern districts on the East Coast, upwards of 5 inches having fallen at Masulipatam; good showers are reported from the Ceded districts and Kurnool; in the Southern districts on the East Coast the fall has been light; prospects continue to improve slightly; prices are fluctuating. The total number on relief works is 137,621, and, gratuitously relieved 74,130, more by 2,900 and 1,387 than last week. In Mysore there has been good rain, and prospects are improved; prices are rising in three districts, stationary elsewhere; the total number on relief works for the week ending the 22nd ultimo was 37,130, and gratuitously relieved 12,059, more by 1,815 and less by 493 than in the previous week. In Bombay very heavy rain has fallen in all the Coast districts from Kanara to Surat; in Northern Guzerat, parts of the Deccan and the Southern Mahratta Country, and Násik the rainfall has been scanty, and some anxiety is felt; the river continues high in Sind, where prospects are good. There has been good rain throughout Berar, and sowings are progressing. In the Central Provinces general rain has fallen, and sowings are going on; prices are stationary in most districts. In Central India general rain is reported throughout Malwa, showers elsewhere. In Rajputana there has been very heavy rain in Jhalluwar, and showers at all other reporting stations except Harowtee; prospects seem good, except in Ulwur. In Bengal there has been good general rain; the fall was however light in Dacca, Midnapore, Burdwan, Sarun, Chumpurun and Balasore; prospects are good. In Assam there has been steady rain, and the crops promise well. In Burma also there has been general rain. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh heavy rain is reported from Rohilkhand, and good falls throughout Oudh, except at Lucknow; at Benares and Mirzapore there has also been good rain; elsewhere the fall has been scanty, and more is much needed. In the Punjab light rain is reported only from Jullundur, Amritsar, Ráwalpindi, Mooltan and Dera Ismail Khan, to which later accounts add Delhi.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.
HOME DEPARTMENT.

PAPERS REGARDING ACT IX OF 1878 FOR THE BETTER CONTROL OF PUBLICATIONS IN ORIENTAL LANGUAGES.

No. 23 (Judicial), dated Simla, the 18th April 1878.

From—The Government of India,

To—The Secretary State for India.

HER Majesty's Government have already been furnished with copies of the Gazette of India Extraordinary issued on the 14th ultimo, containing the Act which was passed on that day by the Council of the Governor General for the better control of publications in Oriental languages, together with the "Statement of Objects and Reasons" appended to it. A report of the debate which took place in the Legislative Council on the occasion of the passing of the Act will be sent to you from the Legislative Department of our Government by the present mail, and as you are doubtless aware, the general policy of the Act and its leading provisions had received the sanction of your predecessor before it was introduced. In now submitting for your information copies of the papers specified in the annexed list, which include a Minute recorded by His Excellency the Governor General, under date the 22nd of October last, and circulated confidentially to the several Local Governments, and the correspondence which subsequently took place, we propose to place on record, as briefly as the nature of the case will admit, the reasons which have forced us to the conclusion that special legislation was necessary for the purpose of restraining the license of a section of the Native Vernacular Press.

2. The seditious character of the writings in some of the vernacular newspapers, and their obvious tendency to excite disaffection against the Government, and to bring upon it the hatred and contempt of the unenlightened masses to whom they are principally addressed, as well as the system of extortion to which our native feudatories and many of our native employés are exposed by the rapacity of unscrupulous native editors, are matters which, during the last four or five years, have engaged the attention of the Government of India and also of the Secretary of State.

* See letter from Government of Bengal, dated 7th August 1873.

In 1873* some correspondence took place on the subject with the Government of Bengal, in the course of which the Lieutenant-Governor (Sir George Campbell) expressed himself decidedly of opinion that a much stronger law is required than that which now exists. "In England," Sir George Campbell observed, "such things would, he believed, be punishable as gross libels, sedition apart. In this country, not only is the Government required to furnish proof of actual sedition in the case of the most scandalous and offensive publications of this nature, but that offence is so qualified by the proviso, that in the case of wretched Bengalee scribblers, whom no one supposes to have the courage to do anything else than to render obedience to the lawful authority of Government, the matter becomes very complicated, and if there is any opening for doubt or argument, reasonable or unreasonable, the position in this country is now such that a prosecution would probably involve an amount of litigation and scandal that would make the cure worse than the disease. This is not the first time that a warning has been issued, and nothing more done, and meantime such things have got worse and worse. What really means nothing in Bengal, may be read and copied by others in other parts of India, in whose hands and before whose eyes such matters would really be highly inflammatory and dangerous. The Government cannot allow Bengalee school-boys to write seditious fustian without running great risk, and more risk of the spreading of such things. All the boys in Calcutta may read and not rebel, but what would a frontier Pathan think, if he reads a translation of such things, and finds that such things are published with impunity."

The letter concluded with a recommendation "that there should be a law to punish summarily and severely, without all the éclat of a long prosecution for sedition, those who write and publish mischievous and seditious libels on the Government, and to shut up newspapers which are the vehicles of this language."

3. In 1875 the Secretary of State drew the attention of the Government of India to certain articles in a vernacular newspaper, the tendency of which was to justify the attempt to poison Colonel Phayre at Baroda, and, while leaving it to the Government of India to decide whether the provisions of the Indian Penal Code should be brought to bear upon such writings, remarked that their unchecked dissemination among the natives "could not be allowed without danger to individuals and to the interests of Government itself."

4. After consultation with the Advocate General, who, while holding that the articles to which Lord Salisbury had drawn attention, were punishable under the Indian Penal Code, entertained doubts as to the success of a prosecution, Lord Northbrook's Government decided* that it was "not advisable to institute prosecutions in these and other cases in which the language used is such as might be considered to come within the provisions of the law." It appeared to them by no means certain how the Act would be construed in court, and whereas a failure to obtain a conviction would be most damaging to the Government, a prosecution, even if successful, would probably occasion greater public excitement than the occasional publication of such attacks," and their conclusion was that "in the present state of the law it was not desirable for the Government to prosecute, except in the systematic attempts to excite hostility against the Government." The despatch announcing this decision to the Secretary of State ended with the following remark:—"The questions of the tone of the Native Press, of the condition of the law, and of the propriety of altering it, present very grave difficulties, and we propose to take another occasion of expressing our views upon them."

5. Lord Northbrook retired from the Government a few months after this correspondence took place. The consideration of the subject was resumed shortly after the arrival of the present Viceroy, and received his careful attention; but it was not until the latter part of last year that His Excellency felt himself in a position to offer definite suggestions for dealing with the evil which continued unabated, and was in fact increasing every month. Those suggestions are contained in His Excellency's Minute of the 22nd October last. They were three in number—

- (1) that the explanation attached to Section 124A of the Penal Code should be modified;
- (2) that provision should be made for taking security from proprietors of Native Presses;
- (3) that a law similar to the Press law now in force in Ireland (33 & 34 Vic., Cap. 9, sections 30 to 33) should be enacted.

6. As your Lordship is aware, the law relating to the Press in India, whether English or Native, was, previous to the passing of the recent Act, contained in Act XXV of 1867, which merely provides for the registration of printing presses and newspapers, and in section 124A of the Indian Penal Code (as amended by Act XXVII of 1870), which makes the act of exciting disaffection to the Government, whether by words either spoken or intended to be read, or by signs or by visible representations, or otherwise, a penal offence. To this section there is appended an explanation to the effect that such disapprobation of the measures of Government as is compatible with a disposition to render obedience to the lawful authority of the Government against unlawful attempts to subvert or resist that authority, is not disaffection.

7. On full consideration of the question, for reasons which we shall state presently, it was not deemed advisable to propose any alteration in the Indian Penal Code, and accordingly the Viceroy's Minute was circulated in a confidential form to the several Local Governments and Administrations with a request that they would state their opinions on the second and third of the Viceroy's proposals for dealing with the Native Press. The replies to this reference will be found among the enclosures of this despatch. It will be seen that with the exception of the Government of Madras, all the Local Governments were unanimous in the opinion that a special law was needed for the control of the Native Press, and were generally in favor of the second and third proposals made by the Viceroy. The Government of Madras, for reasons which are fully stated in the Minutes of the Governor and the two civil Members of Council, were opposed to any curtailment of the liberty of the Press; but here we may remark that the vernacular newspapers in the Madras Presidency, which are comparatively few in number, have been hitherto perfectly inoffensive, and that the evils which have forced themselves upon the notice of the authorities in Northern India and in Bombay, have had no existence in Madras.

8. After carefully considering the opinions of the several Local Governments, we decided on introducing the Bill which, with a single slight addition, became law on the 14th ultimo. In framing this Bill we embodied in it the principle of the first of the two suggestions made in the Viceroy's Minute, that seditious writing and other malpractices on the part of native journalists should be repressed by rendering the printer or publisher liable to be called upon to furnish security; but we introduced an alternative provision to meet the cases of the less wealthy newspaper proprietors, enabling the publisher to take his paper out of the operation of the security provisions of the Act by undertaking to place it under censorship. The Act provides for a warning similar to that provided for in the Irish Act, and for the confiscation of the paper and printing plant in the event of the warning being disregarded; but it differs from the Irish Act, in that it excludes the jurisdiction of the Civil or Criminal Courts in regard to any proceedings purporting to be taken under it. This proviso we consider to be essential, for reasons very similar to those which have led us to regard prosecutions for seditious writing before the ordinary Criminal Courts as inexpedient.

9. The Act, as was pointed out by our colleague, Sir Alexander Arbuthnot, in his opening speech in the Legislative Council, is essentially an enabling Act. It will take effect only in those parts of India to which it may be extended by the Governor General in Council, and will cease to have effect whenever the Governor General in Council so directs. For the present we have not deemed it necessary to extend it to the Presidency of Madras. And not only is it an enabling Act in regard to its extension to particular Provinces, but when it has been extended to a Province, it cannot be put into force in any case without the previous sanction of the Local Government. Further, it is rather a measure of preventive legislation than of penal legislation. The machinery by which it will work, is a machinery of checks rather than of penalties.

10. We have said that on full consideration we did not deem it expedient to attempt to cure the evil with which we had to deal, by any amendment of the Indian Penal Code. In the first place, the Penal Code is necessarily general in its application, and any amendment of its provisions against seditious writing must include classes which it was not deemed right to include in the scope of the special legislation which had been determined to be necessary. Then, again, the provisions of a Penal Code are essentially and exclusively punitive; whereas our object is prevention rather than punishment. In the words of the Viceroy: "we have no desire to resort to fine or imprisonment. What we do desire, and what we regard as the plain duty of Government, is to prevent the open preaching of sedition and rebellion amongst the most ignorant, excitable and helpless portion of its subjects." But the main reason which deterred us from resorting to an amendment of the Penal Code, was our decided opinion that, however stringent the law might be made, the evil was not one which could be satisfactorily cured by means of criminal prosecutions in the ordinary criminal courts. Even if it were perfectly certain that in every case a conviction would be obtained, the political effects of such trials, which would often be of some duration, could not fail to be mischievous. They would be certain to create a good deal of excitement, and would invest the accused with a fictitious influence in the eyes of their more ignorant countrymen, which it is desirable to avoid. A successful prosecution, as the Viceroy remarked, would give to the seditious teaching of the prosecuted journal "the very publicity which, in the interests of good government, we should desire to prevent. Every such victory would be a virtual defeat." What is needed is a procedure more summary, and, as we have said, framed rather with a view to prevention than with a view to punishment.

11. Your Lordship will observe that the Act deals with the offences of extortion and intimidation, when practised by a native journalist. Allusion is made to this subject in the Viceroy's Minute. It is one which demanded a remedy hardly less than the seditious writings which have been the main cause of the passing of the Act.

12. We do not deem it necessary to lengthen this despatch by inserting in it specimens of the description of writing with which it is intended to deal. Several specimens of this description of writing were read to the Council by the mover of the Bill, and also by the Viceroy, and will be found in the report of the debate. In the speech of the Advocate General they were classified under the following categories:—

- (1.) Seditious libels, malicious and calumnious attacks on the Government, accusing it of robbery, oppression and dishonesty, and imputing to it bad faith, injustice and partiality.
- (2.) Libels on Government officers.
- (3.) Contemptuous observations on the administration of justice, pointing to its alleged impurity and worthlessness.
- (4.) Libels on the character of Europeans, attributing to them falsehood, deceit, cruelty and heartlessness.
- (5.) Libels on Christians and Christian Governments, and mischievous tendencies to excite race and religious antipathies.
- (6.) Suggestions and insinuations which their authors believe fall short of seditious libels by reason of the absence of positive declarations.

13. It only remains for us to advert to the course which, after very careful and deliberate consideration, we deemed it right to adopt, of restricting the operation of the Act to the Vernacular Press and exempting from it the English Press. This point, it will be seen, was very fully discussed in the debate in the Council, to which we would refer your Lordship for a statement of the reasons which weighed with us. The grounds of our decision were of a two-fold nature:—

1st.—That the English Press, notwithstanding many imperfections, has never, and, as regards the Anglo-Indian portion of it, is never likely to, preach sedition.

2nd.—That the Vernacular newspapers are addressed to a more ignorant and more easily excited class, and that, therefore, in their case seditious writings are more politically mischievous than the same writings would be if they were written in the English language.

14. We trust that the provisions of the important Act which forms the subject of this despatch, and the reasons which led us to regard it as a measure of imperative necessity, will meet with the concurrence of Her Majesty's Government. It was not without very deliberate consideration, and it was under a grave sense of the responsibility which attaches to us for the maintenance of order, that we deemed it our duty to adopt a policy which many persons, unfamiliar of the actual facts, and without knowledge of the people with whom we have to deal, will not unnaturally regard as a retrograde policy; but we consider that in a matter of this nature it is only those on the spot, and those acquainted with the native character, who can adequately judge of the extent of the evil which had to be repressed, and of the mischief which would have resulted from permitting it to continue unchecked. In making this remark, we do not intend to imply that we consider the great body of Her Majesty's Indian subjects to be disaffected towards the British Government.

We do not hold this opinion. On the contrary, we see every reason to believe that the justice and moderation of British rule are appreciated and valued by the people of India; but we must not forget that among the teeming millions of this land there is a vast amount of ignorance,—an amount of ignorance which however successful may be our efforts in the promotion of popular education, it will take many generations to disperse, and that such a people is peculiarly susceptible to the preachings of sedition. We desire to draw Your Lordship's attention to the statement made by one of the speakers who took part in the discussion of this measure, and who has had considerable experience of one of the most important Provinces of Northern India, that the seditious language of the Vernacular Press is creating amongst the most ignorant masses of the native population those erroneous impressions and disloyal sentiments which it systematically and unscrupulously suggests to their uncorrected credulity. Nor must it be overlooked that a subject race, accustomed to centuries of autocratic rule, is unable to understand that degree of toleration on the part of the ruling power which allows its Government to be continually held up to the hatred and contempt of its subjects. Such toleration is mistaken for timidity, and the political effect of it can hardly fail at any time to be more or less mischievous. But it may here be stated that we have had strong reason to regard it as especially mischievous at the present moment, when the entire native population of this country is excited to a degree, altogether unprecedented, by the course of events in Eastern Europe; and when the bazars of India are daily teeming with political rumours, popular criticisms, and religious prophecies or denunciations, profoundly agitating to the temper of the native community, and more especially of that vast portion of the native community which is powerfully influenced by oriental traditions and totally impervious to the principles of European polity. We do not deem it necessary or advisable to dwell upon this novel and serious aspect of the situation which we have had to recognize in estimating the political effect of the increasingly seditious language of the Vernacular Press; but we trust that Your Lordship will see in it a sufficient justification for the strong sense of urgency under which we have passed the present measure for restraining the utterance of such seditious language. We would add that the case is not, in our opinion, altered, if the fact be, as we believe it to be in some instances, that the foolish and mischievous writings against which this Act is directed, are, to a great extent, mere froth and vapour; and that the writers have no serious wish to subvert constituted authority or to bring about rebellion. The effect of such writings on many of those who read them is not the less mischievous, because the motives of the writers are comparatively harmless, or because they do not really mean all that they write, or clearly appreciate the practical effect of it. Likeurchins who put stones on the rail in front of an express train, the mischief they do is out of all proportion to the intelligence they exercise in doing it, or the intention with which it is done.

No. 30, dated Simla, the 25th April 1878.

From—The Government of India,

To—The Secretary of State for India

By last mail we had the honor to submit an account of the reasons which led us to pass an Act for the better control of publications in Oriental languages (Act IX).

2. We now forward copy of the instructions we have issued to Local Governments enjoining caution, and requesting that no warning or penal action be undertaken under Act IX of 1878 without the previous sanction of the Government of India. We shall take special care that retrospective effect is not given to the Act; and we anticipate that the operation of the Act will be preventive rather than punitive.

3. On the 22nd current we despatched to Your Lordship's address the following telegram upon this subject:—

"Vernacular Press Act. Full explanatory despatch went last mail. Another follows this week showing instructions issued to Local Governments. Owing to misunderstanding, bonds were demanded, on retrospective grounds, from some newspapers in Bengal.

"The Lieutenant-Governor, however, has spontaneously cancelled these orders; and no action will, in any case, be taken without previous sanction of Government of India."

Ditto ditto ditto of Bengal.

Ditto ditto ditto of the N.-W. Provinces and Oudh.

Ditto ditto ditto of the Punjab.

I AM directed to invite the attention of * to the Circular letter from this Office, Nos. 350 to 353, dated 14th March 1878, and to the subsequent telegraphic instructions of the 22nd March, which directed that no warning or penal action under Act IX of 1878 should issue without previous report to Viceroy in Council. The notice of the Government of India has been drawn to an instance in which these orders have been misunderstood, and the Viceroy in Council deems it expedient, therefore, to repeat his request that no action may be taken against any Vernacular newspaper under Act IX of 1878 without the previous sanction of His Excellency in Council, who should be furnished, in each case, with a statement of the grounds upon which the Local Government may deem it expedient to put in force the provisions of the Act.

2. As was explained in the Council Chamber when the Act was passed, the object of the Government of India is that the new law should be preventive rather than punitive. It was not intended that retrospective effect should in any case be given to the provisions of the Act, and, indeed, it was hoped that the editors of the Vernacular newspapers would so moderate their language as to render any repressive measures under the Act unnecessary.

3. I am, however, to take this opportunity of forwarding copy of a Circular issued on the subject of Act IX of 1878 by the Government of the Punjab; and I am to suggest that some such warning as it contains might with expediency be circulated to editors of Vernacular newspapers in other Provinces.

From—The Government of India,

To—The Secretary of State for India.

WE have the honor to submit copy of a letter* from the Government of Bengal, in which Mr. Eden, the Lieutenant-Governor, draws attention to the published report of a debate in the House of Commons on the 19th March, during which Sir George Campbell, formerly Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, is said to have stated that he had never advocated special measures of repression against vernacular newspapers.

* No 213, dated 1st May 1878

2. It is probable that the report of Sir George Campbell's words, which has reached India, may be inaccurate. But as both the Viceroy and the Lieutenant-Governor in the Legislative Council cited Sir George Campbell's opinion in support of the view that special legislation was required against seditious and malicious writing in the vernacular newspapers, we think it right to lay before Your Lordship the present letter in which Mr. Eden vindicates the accuracy of the statements so made. The full text of the letters in which the Bengal Government, during Sir George Campbell's time, recommended special measures for restraining the license of the Vernacular Press, will be found in the enclosures to our despatch No. 23, dated 18th April, regarding the passing of Act IX of 1878. Extracts from Sir George Campbell's letter of the 7th August 1873 were also inserted in the body of that despatch.

No. 243T., dated Darjeeling, the 1st May 1878.

From—H. A. COCKERELL, Esq., Secretary to the Government of Bengal,

To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department.

IN the debate in the Council of the Governor General which took place on the Vernacular Press Act, His Excellency the Viceroy alluded to the strong opinion which had been expressed by Sir George Campbell of the necessity for adopting measures for controlling the Vernacular Press. This fact was also noticed by the Lieutenant-Governor during the debate.

2. Sir George Campbell has, however, been reported to have denied publicly in Parliament that he ever advocated such a measure, and has, in fact, accused His Excellency and the Lieutenant-Governor of making statements in support of their own views which were not correct. The opponents of the measure have not hesitated to accept Sir George Campbell's very positive denial, and have accused the Lieutenant-Governor of misrepresenting Sir George Campbell. Under these circumstances, the Lieutenant-Governor submits that it is only fair and reasonable that the real facts should be made public. Sir George Campbell on several occasions officially drew attention to the misuse of the Native Press, and definitely stated his views as to the measures which Government ought to adopt with the object of meeting the evil, in his letter of the 8th August 1873 to the Government of India, in which he expressed the following very decided opinion :—

"The Lieutenant-Governor desires to take this opportunity of submitting his opinion that a much stronger law on the subject is required than that which now exists. In England, such things would, he believes, be punishable as gross libels, sedition apart. In this country, not only is the Government required to furnish proof of actual sedition in the case of the most scandalous and offensive publications of this nature, but that offence is so qualified by the proviso that in the case of wretched Bengali scribblers, whom no one supposes to have the courage to do anything else than to render obedience to the lawful authority of Government, the matter becomes complicated. And if there is any opening for doubt or argument, reasonable or unreasonable, the position in this country is now such that prosecution would involve an amount of litigation and scandal that would make the cure worse than the disease. This is not the first time that a warning has been issued and nothing more done, and meantime such things have got worse and worse.

"What really means nothing in Bengal may be read and copied by others in other parts of India, in whose hands, and before whose eyes, such matter would be highly inflammatory and dangerous. The Government cannot allow a Bengali school-boy to write such seditious lustian without running great risk of the spreading of such things. All the boys in Calcutta may read and not rebel; but what would a frontier Pathan think if he reads a translation of such things and finds that such things are published with impunity?

"The Lieutenant-Governor requests that his strong opinion may be submitted to His Excellency the Viceroy in Council, that there should be a law to punish summarily and severely, without all the éclat of a long prosecution for sedition, those who write and publish mischievous and seditious libels on the Government, and to shut up newspapers which are the vehicles of this language."

3. Mr. Eden is quite willing to believe that Sir George Campbell entirely forgot the part which he had taken in the discussion and really believed that he had not expressed any opinion on the subject; but his hasty and eager denial has placed the Lieutenant-Governor in a very disagreeable position, and Mr. Eden is sure that Sir George Campbell, if acquainted with the circumstances, would not wish that his imputation on the accuracy of others should remain uncontradicted.

No. 24 (Legislative), dated India Office, London, the 31st May 1878.

From—The Secretary of State for India,

To—The Government of India.

I HAVE received from Your Excellency an authentic copy of an Act "for the better control of publications in Oriental languages" which was passed by your Council for making Laws and Regulations on 14th March 1878, and which has subsequently been assented to by Your Excellency. I have also received Your Excellency's despatch (No. 23 of 1878, Judicial Department), dated 18th April 1878, and a copy of your Legislative Proceedings for 14th March, which contain an abstract of the debate on the above enactment in your Legislative Council. These last-mentioned documents give a full account of the history of the measure, and of the reasons which led Your Excellency to submit it to the Council for making Laws and Regulations. It was carried through all its stages at a single sitting, but it appears to have been previously the subject of much discussion in your Executive Council, and of much confidential correspondence with the Local Governments.

2. The reasons for the measure are shortly stated in its preamble. It is there affirmed that "certain publications in Oriental languages, printed or circulated in British India, have of late contained matter likely to excite disaffection to the Government established by law in British India, or antipathy between persons of different races, castes, religions, or sects in British India, or have been used as means of intimidation or extortion." It is added that "such publications are read by, and disseminated among, large numbers of ignorant and unintelligent persons, and are thus likely to have an influence which they otherwise would not possess," and it is declared to be "necessary for the maintenance of the public tranquillity, and for the security of Her Majesty's subjects and others, that power should be conferred on the Executive Government to control the printing and circulation of such publications."

3. The Statement of Objects and Reasons, which was appended to the Bill on its introduction into the Legislative Council, gives the following account of the system of control by which the measure now before me endeavours to secure the ends to which it is directed:—

"I. The Magistrate may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, require the printer or publisher of any vernacular newspaper to enter into a bond binding himself not to print or publish in such newspaper anything likely to excite feelings of disaffection to the Government, or antipathy between persons of different races, castes, religions, or sects, and not use such paper for purposes of extortion. The Magistrate may further require the amount of this bond to be deposited in money or securities.

"II. If any newspaper (whether bond has been taken in respect of it or not) at any time contains any matter of the description just mentioned, or is used for the purposes of extortion, the Local Government may warn such newspaper by a notification in the Gazette, and if, in spite of such warning, the offence is repeated, the Local Government may then issue its warrant to seize the plant, &c., of such newspaper, and when any deposit has been made, may declare such deposit forfeited.

"III. As the provisions regarding the deposit of security and the forfeiture of the deposit would, perhaps, be found to press unduly on some of the less wealthy newspaper proprietors, clauses have been inserted enabling the publisher of a newspaper to take his paper out of the operation of this portion of the Act, for such time as he pleases, by undertaking to submit his proof to an officer appointed by the Government before publication, and to publish nothing which such officer objects to."

4. I observe that there is certain degree of correspondence between the first set of provisions and those of the English Acts of Parliament (60 Geo. III, c. 9, ss. 8, et seq., 1 Wm. IV., c. 78, s. 2.) which required printers and publishers of newspapers to execute a bond in a pecuniary sum to the Crown, the condition of the obligation being that every printer or publisher should pay any fine or penalty adjudged against him for a blasphemous or seditious libel and any damages or costs recovered against him in an action for libel. Such bonds appear, in fact, to have been executed by printers and publishers of newspapers in this country down to so late a date as 1869. The second set of provisions answer with some closeness to sections 30, 31, and 32 of the "Peace Preservation (Ireland) Act, 1870," 33 Vic. c. 9, from which statute the form of warning given in the Indian enactment seems to have been copied.

5. Your Excellency, in your address to the Legislative Council, has given expression to your regret that the duty has been imposed upon you of placing restrictions on a portion of the Press of India. The same feeling was expressed by the Member of your Council who introduced the Bill, and by other speakers in the debate which followed its introduction. I strongly share this regret. I do not conceal from myself that the political system and institutions of British India must for an indefinite period of time exhibit material differences from those established in this country. I do not again forget that, when the system of licensing newspapers formerly existing in India was abolished in 1835, the authors of that measure dwelt on the insignificance of the native Press as one reason for considering their legislation to be prudent and safe; and I know that the native Press of India has long since ceased to be insignificant. So large a part, however, of the great benefits which the British Government has conferred on Her Majesty's subjects in India has consisted in the establishment of institutions more or less resembling those of this country, that I cannot but hear with pain of a necessity having arisen for the even partial withdrawal of one of these institutions, and one so highly prized by Englishmen as the liberty of the Press.

6. But Your Excellency, and every one of the speakers in your Council for making Laws and Regulations, have affirmed in earnest language the political necessity for this measure, especially at the present time. You state that it has been framed with the unanimous assent of all the Members of your Executive Council. You say that it has the approval of all the Local Governments administering portions of India in which the Vernacular Press has any importance. It appears to have been passed by the Legislative Council without a dissentient voice, the non-official Members of the Council, including the Maharajah Jotendra Mohan Tagore, uniting with the official Members in their support of it. Her Majesty's advisers could not recommend her to disallow a measure seconded by such a weight of local authority, save under extreme circumstances and with the greatest hesitation and reluctance. But, independently of the authority justly due to those immediately responsible for the public safety in India, I am bound to say that a strong case appears to be established for the further control of the class of newspapers at which the Act is aimed. I have carefully examined the extracts from vernacular journals on which Your Excellency, in your address to the Legislative Council, relies for the justification of the proposed enactment. The writers of these passages condemn the British Government of India, not for specific faults which might be corrected, but for characteristics which are among the conditions of its existence, such as the British origin of many or most of the persons who direct it. They hint at its feebleness, at the numerical inferiority of the forces on which it depends to the masses of the Indian population, and at a supposed decay of spirit in the nation from which it proceeds. It is scarcely necessary to look to the peculiar circumstances of India, for the grounds on which such language may be pronounced to be intolerable. A judicial statement of the law, cited during the discussion in your Legislative Council, shows that many of these extracts do not even satisfy the tests of what is permissible to a journalist under the settled constitution of England:—"The public journalist is entitled to canvass the acts, the conduct and the intentions of those who may be entrusted from time to time with the administration of the Government by the Crown. He is entitled to canvass, and, if necessary, to censure those acts. He is entitled to comment on, canvass, and, if necessary, censure the proceedings of Parliament. He is entitled to criticise and condemn the acts of public men. He is entitled to point out any grievances which he may think the people labour under, and argue for their removal, and suggest what remedies may occur to him for the purpose. He is entitled not only to publish, but to comment on, to criticise, and, if necessary, to condemn the conduct of Judges and their decisions; nay, more, even the verdicts of juries are not exempt from fair and reasonable "criticism. I have told you within what limits a journalist may exercise his opinion and his talents, but I should tell you also the things which is not permitted by law to do. He must respect the existence of the form of Government under which he enjoys and exercises those very extensive rights and privileges to which I have referred. A public journalist must not, either covertly or openly, devote the pages of his journal to overthrow the Government. He must not sow disaffection and discontent generally throughout the land. He may, as I said, comment on the acts of the Government, and criticise them severely; he may, as I have said, canvass and criticise proceedings in Courts of justice, and the conduct and demeanour of the Judges who preside; but he must not devote his journal to the purpose of bringing the administration of the law generally into contempt, and exciting the hatred of the people against the law, neither can he legally devote the pages of his journal to excite animosities between different classes of Her Majesty's subjects."

7. The criminal law repressive of seditious libel in British India is contained in a section of the Indian Penal Code (124A), which, though framed by the Indian Law Commissioners, was not added to that body of law till 1870:— "Whoever, by words either spoken or intended to be read, or by signs, or by visible representation, or otherwise, excites, or attempts to excite, feelings of disaffection for the Government established by law in British India, shall be punished with transportation for life, or for any term to which fine may be added, or with imprisonment for a term which may be extended to three years, to which fine may be added, or with fine."

Under the scheme of this Code, the following "explanation" is added to the above provision:—

"Such a disapprobation of the measures of the Government as is compatible with a disposition to render obedience to the lawful authority of the Government, and to support the lawful authority of the Government against unlawful attempts to subvert or resist that authority, is not disaffection. Therefore the making of comments on the measures of the Government, with the intention of exciting only this species of disapprobation is not an offence within this clause."

8. As is stated in the third and following paragraphs of your despatch of 18th April, my predecessor in office drew the attention of the Government of India to certain articles in a vernacular newspaper which appeared to justify the attempt to poison Colonel Phayre at Baroda, and, after remarking on the evil effects of such publications, Lord Salisbury left it to the Government of India to decide whether the above provisions of the Indian Penal Code should be brought to bear upon them. Lord Northbrook's Government, after consultation with the Advocate General, came to the conclusion that it was not desirable to institute prosecutions under the criminal law, since it appeared to them by no means certain how the provisions of the Penal Code would be construed in Court, and they thought that "a prosecution, even if successful, would occasion greater public excitement than the occasional publication of such attacks." This decision seems to have been in harmony with the opinion of Sir George Campbell, who as Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, had stated that "a prosecution would probably involve an amount of litigation and scandal that would make the cure worse than the disease." At the same time Lord Northbrook's Government announced its intention of expressing its views at some future time on the grave difficulties presented by "the questions of the tone of the Native Press, of the condition of the law, and of the propriety of altering it." Lord Northbrook having, however, retired from the Government shortly after this correspondence, the consideration of its subject appears to have been resumed by Your Excellency, and I gather from the observations addressed to the Legislative Council by your learned Advocate General that he has again advised Your Excellency against prosecuting, under the Penal Code, the writers of the class of seditious libels which you desire to suppress. It would appear from the speech of the mover of the Bill, from your own remarks in Council, and from the 10th paragraph of your despatch of April 18th, that you think the provisions of the Penal Code sufficient as a general law of seditious libel, but that you have been led to doubt whether an attempt to apply it to the special description of attacks on the British Government proceeding from the Vernacular Press would be successful, unless incitement to disaffection were followed by actual rebellion.

Even, indeed, if a prosecution were successful, Your Excellency considers that it would invest the prosecuted journal with "a mischievous notoriety and artificial importance," and you are, on general grounds, more desirous of preventing than of punishing these libels. I will add a consideration which has presented itself to my mind. The cultivated native gentleman who sits on your Council for making Laws and Regulations, and who may be expected to know from what class of writers these libels proceed, states his belief that they are mainly under the influence of "folly and the spirit of braggadocio." Assuming this to be probably true, and remembering how few opportunities the experience of these writers has afforded them of understanding the limits of justifiable criticism, I am inclined to think that a system of pecuniary penalties, leviable under bonds, would be more applicable to their case than criminal prosecutions for an offence which may conceivably entail a punishment so heavy as transportation for life.

9. I entertain very grave doubts of the expediency of putting into action the portion of the Act which enables, and indeed encourages, the publishers of vernacular newspapers to withdraw themselves from its restrictive provisions by submitting their proofs to a Government officer. In India the difficulty of executing it would be unusually great. The vernacular newspapers are printed in a great variety of languages; no one officer could probably superintend them with effect. Every person charged with the duty of supervision must be acquainted with the niceties of native dialect, and most of these persons would probably have to be natives of the country. Such a system might give rise to great abuses. It is defended, I observe, in the Statement of Objects and Reasons, on the ground of the hardship which the requirement of a bond and of the deposit of security might inflict on some of the owners of vernacular journals, but it seems to me that these provisions of the Act might be accommodated to the circumstances of each newspaper. The difficulties of establishing Government newspapers in the vernacular tongues were much dwelt upon in the debate in your Council, and I fully appreciate them, but I cannot but see that any censor of proofs will in fact write the newspaper which he revises. Her Majesty's Government request that you will refrain from putting this part of the Act into operation, taking power, by fresh legislation, to suspend or abandon it if you deem this necessary.

10. I wish to record further my opinion, which I believe to be in accordance with that of Your Excellency, that the principles laid down in the section of the Penal Code quoted above should be substantially adhered to in carrying out the provisions of the new Act. No criticism of Government or its measures should be discouraged if there is reason to think that it has been dictated by an honest desire for improvement. All the most experienced Indian administrators have felt that the great difficulty of Indian administration is the difficulty of ascertaining facts of social condition and political sentiment; and the Vernacular Press has always been considered one valuable means of getting at these facts, as is shown by the careful attention given by the Your Excellency's Government, by that of your predecessors, and by this office, to the translated extracts from native newspapers which are regularly supplied to you. Open or covert exhortations to disaffection cannot be allowed to be addressed to an excitable population; but mere censure of the officers or of the measures of Government, even if captious, ought not to be repelled. I agree with Your Excellency that there is some danger of the Native Press being employed as an engine of extortion, and that this abuse should be prevented; but neither European or Native officials should be encouraged to exhibit too great sensitiveness, even under unreasonable blame.

11. I hope that the result of the measure thus limited and guarded will lead the writers in the vernacular journals to examine and expose genuine grievances, instead of indulging in the easier task of general denunciation, and that the improvement which has been noticed in the European and Anglo-Native Press may gradually extend to the vernacular newspapers, so that special legislation for any class of publications may be found in no long time to be unnecessary.

12. Subject to the observations contained in paragraphs 9, 10 and 11 of this despatch, the Act will be left to its operation.

PAPERS RELATING TO CONSIGNMENT OF RAW PRODUCTS, SPECIMENS OF WOODS AND OTHER ARTICLES OF FOREST PRODUCE, FOR THE PARIS EXHIBITION.

No. 99, (Statistics and Commerce), dated India Office, London, the 23rd May 1878.

From—The Secretary of State for India,

 Telegram dated March 14.

letters and telegram noted in the margin, relating to the consignment of the raw products, specimens of woods, and other articles of forest produce, for the Paris Exhibition, and to inform you that a copy of these communications was, immediately on their receipt, transmitted to the Royal Commissioners for the Paris Exhibition. Your letter of the 11th of January, No. 2 (Forests), and your Secretary's letter of the 22nd of February, No. 7 (Forests), were also forwarded to Colonel Pearson, who was requested to carry out your wishes in regard to the arrangement of the Forest Collections.

2. The reply to your telegram of the 4th of January, of which a copy was enclosed in your letter of the 11th of that month, No. 1 (Industry, Science and Art), was accidentally delayed; and some inconvenience was caused by the consequent transmission of part of the consignments to this country and part to Paris. Arrangements were, however, made for their reception, under the direction of Mr. P. Cuncliffe Owen, C.B., the Secretary of the Royal Commission, and the result has been that nearly the whole of the objects were exhibited to very great advantage on the day of the opening of the Exhibition.

3. Dr. Birdwood, C.S.I., the Special Assistant in the Department of Statistics and Commerce in this Office, was requested, in accordance with an application made on behalf of the Indian Committee of the Royal Commission, to proceed to Paris, in order to be present at the ceremony of the opening on the 1st of May, and I forward a copy of the report* made by him on his return, as well as a copy of the handbook to the Indian Court, prepared by that officer for the Royal Commissioners.

4. I desire to express the sense of Her Majesty's Government of the excellence of the samples of raw products sent from India, and in particular of the exhaustive collection of woods and forest produce prepared with so much care and expedition by your Inspector-General of Forests.

5. Owing to the ready co-operation of many of the Royal Commissioners and other private individuals, the arts and manufactures of India have been worthily represented on the present occasion; while it is a matter of satisfaction that, in consequence of this private liberality, the charge imposed on the revenues of India has been very small in comparison with that of former international exhibitions in Europe.

6. I have requested His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales to express to the staff of the British section the high sense entertained by Her Majesty's Government of the value of the services rendered by them in the arrangement of the Indian Court; and I have also caused my thanks to be communicated to Colonel Pearson for his assistance in the proper display of the Forest Collection. A copy of the report submitted by that officer is enclosed.

7. The exhibition of the articles sent from Cashmere, though not transmitted through the officers of the Government, is of such interest that it merits an expression of my approbation of the public spirit displayed by His Highness the Maharaja in its preparation.

8. The request contained in your letter of the 22nd of February, No. 2 (General), respecting the wish of the State Board of Agriculture in Illinois, will be borne in mind at the close of the Exhibition.

Dated the 6th May 1878.

From—GEORGE BIRDWOOD, Esq.,

To—The Under Secretary of State for India.

I HAVE the honour to report that, in accordance with the request made to you by Dr. Lyon Playfair in his letter of the 28th ultimo, and your instructions to me on the 30th, I proceeded to Paris on the evening of the latter day, was present at the opening of the Universal Exhibition on the 1st instant, and returned to office this morning.

2. I never saw the Indian section at any international Exhibition so complete in its arrangements on an opening day. All that remains to be done, in fact, is to complete the labelling of the articles exhibited. The collections of raw products and of manufactures are far more extensive than were ever shown before, and, with the exception of some which arrived too late, were all in their proper positions, and, set off by the cases designed by Mr. C. Purdon Clarke, and particularly the central pavilions, nothing could be more satisfactory than the appearance presented by the Indian Court. These pavilions are painted in chocolate, and, with their gold bronzed domes, in the lurid light of the lowering thunderstorm which accompanied the opening ceremony on the 1st of May, looked almost sublime.

3. The raw products have been arranged by Mr. B. L. Simmonds with the greatest effect. The case of dyed Tusser silk, arranged by Mr. Thomas Wardle of Leek, excited remarkable interest among the French visitors, as did also the exhaustive collection of woods and other forest products, prepared with such scientific care by Dr. Brandis, the Director-General of Forests in India, and arranged at Paris under the experienced direction of Colonel George Pearson, R.E. It was most gratifying to observe the respect in which Colonel Pearson and Mr. Simmonds are held by the learned French professors and savans, some of them of European reputation, whom I found interesting themselves in the collections of which these gentlemen have charge. The accurate catalogue which accompanied Dr. Brandis's collection has been of the greatest service. Dr. Bidie also sent a valuable descriptive catalogue with the raw products from Madras.

4. The display of Indian art manufactures at Paris is unprecedented for its extent, value, and magnificence. It is unnecessary to notice on this occasion the Prince of Wales's presents, which have been fully described elsewhere. After them, the collection sent by the Maharaja of Cashmere, in charge of Mr. E. Prinsep, B.C.S., is of the highest interest, for, being arranged by itself in one of Mr. Clarke's two pavilions, it presents a complete exhibition within an exhibition of the art manufactures of a country which has been celebrated for centuries throughout the East for the marvellous perfection of its needle and loom-wrought shawls, and chased, damascened, and enamelled metal work, jewelry, and arms.

Messrs. Vincent Robinson & Co. occupy the opposite pavilion, with examples of oriental carpets of every manufacture between the Caucasus and Singapore. It is one of the most instructive collections in the Exhibition, and at a glance proves the growing importance of the trade in Indian carpets, which sprang up as a consequence of the Great Exhibition of 1851.

Messrs. Watson and Bontor exhibit exclusively Indian carpets.

Messrs. Farmer and Rogers, and the Parisian houses of Verdé, Deffle, Oulman, & Cie., Norman and Chardon, and Dalséme, between them, exhibit the most complete and illustrative series of Cashmere shawls and Indian embroideries ever seen together at any international exhibition.

Messrs. Watson and Son, of Bombay and London, exhibit a miscellaneous Indian collection, including Sind and Punjab pottery. They began to import this pottery on account of the fall in the rate of exchange a few years ago, in fact they then began to remit in pottery. The present Exhibition is sure to create a demand for it all over Europe, as the 1851 Exhibition did for Indian carpets, and pottery will henceforth always figure as an article of export from India.

5. The collections of Bombay, Sind, Madras, Punjab, and Azimghur pottery; of Benares, Tanjore and Madura brasswork; of Lucknow muslins and Masulipatam chintzes, purchased by Her Majesty's Commissioners through the different Governments of India, are of unusual merit; and I would particularly mention the taste and discrimination shown in the articles selected by Colonel Michael on behalf of the Madras Government. Colonel Michael's selections have always made their mark for their great artistic excellence at all international exhibitions.

6. The private collections of silver plate, arms, jewelry and ivory, stone and wood carvings, and mosaics, exhibited by the Earl of Northbrook, Mr. C. C. Prinsep, Mr. Gerald S. V. Fitzgerald, and Mrs. Rivett-Carnac, greatly add to the artistic distinction of the Indian Court.

7. In short, to India was allotted the first position of honour, after Sévres and Gobelins, in the "Grand Transept," which forms the vestibule of the Paris Exhibition Building, and, thanks to Mr. P. Cunliffe Owen's remarkable administrative ability, and his happy tact in selecting men fitted for the duties he requires of them, India has shown herself worthy of the position she occupies. This was the general observation on the 1st of May, which I heard hundreds of Frenchmen making, as they pointed across the completed Indian Court, thronged with tens of thousands of sight seers, to the eastern half of the Grand Transept, allotted to Sévres and Gobelins, still empty. The British section, and particularly the Indian Court, indeed redeemed the opening on the 1st from failure, and the generous appreciation of the fact by the French was expressed on every side. Taken with the Prince's speech at the banquet given to His Royal Highness by the British exhibitors, the success of the British and Indian sections has produced a distinctly beneficial political effect in France, which will do much to revive and cement that entente cordiale which should ever exist between the different free and self-governing States of western and south-western Europe.

8. The success of the Indian Court is particularly due to Mr. Clarke. His pavilions have been spoken of in the most flattering terms by the most distinguished French architects, and at once gave Mr. Clarke a solid reputation in Paris. Mr. Clarke, who spent two years in Teheran, superintending the restoration of the British Legation buildings, has also a thoroughly practical knowledge of oriental art and of the processes of oriental manufactures, which has all contributed to the striking success of the Indian Court, and I trust that his present services may not be overlooked, should any occasion for their use ever arise in the future.

Dated Paris, the 15th May 1878.

From---COLONEL G. F. PEARSON,

To---The Under Secretary of State for India.

I HAVE the honour to report the completion of the arrangement of the collection of forest specimens sent by the Inspector-General of Forests for the Paris Exhibition. This collection was despatched from Calcutta in the course of February, and consisted of 125 cases, some of them of large size, besides several packages. The collection consists of above 1,000 specimens, of which about 600 are different species of wood, 200 gums, seeds, and other similar articles, and the rest canes, fibres, articles of dress, implements, and other things in use by the forest tribes.

2. The Right Honourable the Secretary of State kindly allowed me to take to Paris several of the pupils in the Forest School of Nancy during the Easter vacation to assist in arranging the specimens. Without this aid, which was sanctioned in place of the projected tour to the Auvergne Forests, the work of arrangement would never have been accomplished before 1st May. The pressure for labour, and especially for intelligent assistance, was so great just before the opening of the Exhibition, that the most incredible prices were asked and paid to obtain it.

3. The specimens are arranged in six long cases in the Grand Corridor in front of the Prince of Wales's Pavilion. The gums, seeds, and other suitable materials are shown in glass-cases above the blocks of wood. All are ranged according to families, as desired by the Inspector-General.

4. I have every reason to be well pleased with the work done by the pupils of the Forest School in arranging the collection, and I trust that the arrangement will have been carried out in such a manner as may be satisfactory to the authorities in India.

Secretary to Government of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE, AGRICULTURE AND COMMERCE.

REPORT OF WEATHER IN INDIA FOR THE WEEK ENDING THURSDAY, JULY 4TH, 1878.

Friday, 28th June.—The barometer has fallen over the whole of India during the past 24 hours. The decrease is greatest in Northern India, more especially at Roorkee ($\cdot 123''$), and at Delhi ($\cdot 107''$). It averages $\cdot 05''$ in Southern India. It is least over the Deltaic area, and at Bombay, where the fall does not exceed $\cdot 03''$. The centre of the Punjab is to-day the area of minimum pressure. The difference of pressure between Northern and Southern India is five-tenths of an inch, or one-tenth of an inch in excess of its normal amount. The changes of temperature are at present unimportant, and depend almost entirely upon the amount and character of the rainfall. The maximum day temperature was observed this morning at Jacobabad in Northern Sind, where the reading of the thermometer was $102\cdot 8^{\circ}$. The wind directions and velocities remain unchanged over the greater part of India. The most remarkable feature at present is the existence of two parallel opposite currents in the North-West Provinces. The wind at Lucknow, Bareilly and Roorkee is from the south-east. At Delhi, Allahabad and Jubbulpore it is from the north-west, and at Agra from the north. The wind at Patna is east, and at Benares west-south-west. The heavy rainfall at Patna and Benares is probably due to the meeting of the two monsoon currents.

The sky is overcast in Assam, Bengal, Behar, and over the greater part of Western India. It is less clouded in the North-West Provinces to-day. There has been moderate rain over Aracan, Assam and Bengal. The heaviest fall was at Chittagong, where $1\cdot 33$ inches were recorded at 10 A.M. An average of a quarter of an inch fell over the Coast of Orissa and in Western Bengal. Heavy rainfall occurred during the day at Patna, where $1\cdot 89$ inches were registered. This area of rainfall extends westwards as far as Benares. The weather continues very unsettled in the North-Western Provinces. A storm from the north-west gave Lucknow a rainfall of $\cdot 92$ inch. The threatening weather at Bareilly yesterday was followed by heavy rain, which gave it $1\cdot 56$ inches. The weather is unsettled in the north and west of the Punjab. A dust-storm at Dera Ismail Khan was accompanied by a shower, during which $\cdot 37$ inch of rain fell. The rainfall is again increasing along the Bombay Coast. Two inches were registered at Bombay this morning, and $\cdot 66$ inch at Belgaum. Moderate rain continues in the Berars and Central Provinces. The heaviest fall occurred at Jubbulpore. The rainfall in Southern India during the past 24 hours is inconsiderable in amount.

Saturday, 29th June.—The barometer has risen during the preceding 24 hours in Northern India, and has fallen in the Deccan and Southern India. The rise is greatest at Bareilly, where it amounts to $\cdot 116''$. It averages $\cdot 07''$ over the Punjab and North-West Provinces. The pressure has diminished $\cdot 03''$ in Southern India. The barometric difference between Northern and Southern India has decreased to four-tenths of an inch. There is to-day an area of relatively low pressure in the North-Western Provinces, the centre of which is at Lucknow. The temperature has increased slightly over the whole of India, except the North-West Provinces and the Punjab.

The wind directions at all stations in Bengal, except Calcutta, are normal this morning. The wind continues to have a strongly marked westerly element at Calcutta, very unusual at this period of the year. The wind directions in Southern India are unchanged. The atmospheric motion in the North-West Provinces is abnormal. The most noteworthy feature is a feeble cyclonic motion of the atmosphere in Behar and the eastern portion of the North-West Provinces.

The sky is slightly less clouded in Bengal and Southern India. It continues overcast at Bombay, and the neighbouring districts.

There has been very slight rain in Assam and Bengal. The largest fall was at Calcutta, where $\cdot 27$ inch was recorded. $1\cdot 49$ inches fell at Akyab during the preceding day. Behar continues to have abundant rain. $1\cdot 05$ inches fell at Patna, and $\cdot 71$ inch at Hazaribagh. The weather is unsettled and stormy in the North-Western Provinces. A dust-storm gave Lucknow a heavy shower of $\cdot 81$ inch. $1\cdot 67$ inches at Bareilly indicates the continuance of heavy rain over the Rohilcund Division. Showers occurred at Agra, Ajmere, and at Mooltan during thunder-storms. Dust-storms passed over Rawalpindi and Jacobabad, and gave an insignificant fall of $\cdot 04$ inch to the former station. The most general rainfall of the day occurred in Western India. $\cdot 46$ inch at Rajkot in Guzerat, $1\cdot 21$ inches at Surat, $0\cdot 72$ inches at Bombay, $1\cdot 55$ inches at Akola, $1\cdot 11$ inches at Belgaum, and $\cdot 6$ inch at Nagpore, show that there was fair rain over the whole of the Bombay Presidency (excluding Sind), Guzerat, the Berars, and the adjacent portion of the Central Provinces.

Sunday, 30th June.—There has been a general rise of pressure during the preceding 24 hours. The increase has been unusually rapid in Upper India. At Rawalpindi, Dera Ismail Khan and Mooltan it amounts to two-tenths of an inch. It averages one-tenth of an inch over Northern India. The rise is much smaller in Southern India, averaging $\cdot 05''$. The minimum pressure at 10 A.M. was at Delhi and at Jacobabad in Northern Sind. The difference between the pressure (reduced to sea-level) at these stations, and the pressure at Colombo and Cochin in Southern India, is only three-tenths of an inch. The pressure over Rajputana, the North-West Provinces and the Punjab is very nearly uniform to-day. The temperature, in consequence of the diminution of the rainfall, continues to increase over the greater part of India. It has, however, fallen 5° in Behar, and 3° in the Punjab since yesterday.

The wind is strong in Eastern Bengal and Assam. The westerly element of the wind at Calcutta continues.

The wind directions in Northern India in consequence of the very slight differences of pressure are variable, and the wind velocity, more especially in the North-Western Provinces, is considerably below the average.

The sky is overcast in Behar, the adjacent districts of the North-Western Provinces and Bombay. It is more or less clouded in Bengal and Southern India. It is clearing in the Punjab and over the greater part of the North-Western Provinces.

The only districts which have had fair rain during the past 24 hours are Behar and the Bombay Presidency. $1\cdot 04$ inches were registered at Patna this morning, $3\cdot 13$ inches at Bombay, $\cdot 77$ inch at Surat, and $\cdot 63$ inch at Khandwa. Light showers continue in Bengal. There was no rain recorded this morning in the North-West Provinces, except at Allahabad, where $\cdot 37$ inch fell during the 24 hours. Passing showers gave Cochin a rainfall of $\cdot 79$ inch. The showers in the Madras Presidency were very light and insignificant. A dust-storm passed over Lahore, during which a light shower occurred.

Monday, July 1st.—The barometer is now steady in Bengal. It has fallen $\cdot 04''$ in Behar, and at the stations of Benares, Allahabad and Agra in the North-Western Provinces. It is steady at the remaining stations of the North-Western Provinces. It is falling rapidly in the Punjab, more especially over the area of the greatest increase of pressure yesterday. The pressure has decreased $\cdot 157''$ at Rawalpindi, $\cdot 13''$ at Mooltan, and $\cdot 11''$ at Dera Ismail Khan, during the preceding 24 hours. The barometer is steady along the Bombay Coast and in the Central Provinces, and is rising in the Deccan and Southern India. The average increase over this area during the past 24 hours is $\cdot 05''$.

The temperature is to-day slightly in excess of its average amount in Northern India. The excess averages 5° over Upper India. It is, on the other hand, about 6° below the July mean in Southern India. This is due to the heavy rainfall of the preceding 24 hours over this area. The humidity to-day is generally diminishing in Northern India, and increasing in Southern India.

The wind directions in Southern India are generally normal. The wind is strong in Eastern Bengal, more especially at Chittagong. The westerly element of the wind at Calcutta is as strongly marked as during the past fortnight. In consequence of the unusually small differences of pressure in the Gangetic Valley from Behar westwards to Roorkee, and the existence of a small local barometric depression at Allahabad, there is a tendency towards cyclonic circulation of the air round Allahabad as a centre. The winds over this area, as shown by the Patna, Allahabad and Lucknow returns, are very light. The sky is fully clouded over in the Madras and Bombay Presidencies (excluding Sind). It is barely half clouded in the Central Provinces and the North-Western Provinces, and is clear in the Punjab. Rainfall in Northern India has almost ceased for the present. There have been light showers at two or three stations. Passing showers gave Calcutta $\cdot 32$ inch of rain during the day. Heavy rainfall continues in Bombay: $2\cdot 65$ inches were registered at Bombay this morning, $1\cdot 8$ inches at Akola, and $\cdot 8$ inch at Khandwa. The cessation of rainfall in Northern India appears to have given general and heavy rainfall to the greater part of the Madras Presidency. $\cdot 65$ inch fell at Cochin during the day, $1\cdot 05$ inches at Madras, $1\cdot 85$ inches at Bangalore, and $4\cdot 95$ inches at Masulipatam.

Tuesday, July 2nd.—The pressure continues to diminish over the whole of India. The decrease during the preceding 24 hours averages $\cdot 05''$ in Bengal, $\cdot 03''$ in Behar, and $\cdot 06''$ in the North-Western Provinces and the Punjab. It is small in amount along the Bombay Coast and in Southern India. The difference of pressure between Colombo and the Punjab is again normal in amount. The pressure continues relatively high in the south of Bengal.

The temperature is increasing at present over the whole of India, except Western Bengal and Behar. Temperatures exceeding 100° were recorded at Allahabad, Lucknow, Agra, Lahore, Dera Ismail Khan, Mooltan and Jacobabad. The highest temperature registered this morning ($105\cdot 5^{\circ}$) was observed at Jacobabad.

The wind velocity is generally below the average over the whole of India. Westerly winds continue over Central and Southern India. The wind directions in Bengal present the same westerly element which has been the characteristic feature of the past fortnight. The wind at Calcutta this morning was due west. Easterly winds prevail up the Gangetic valley, as far as Benares, and along the base of the hills to the Punjab. The winds are unusually light at Allahabad and Lucknow and at several of the Punjab stations.

The sky is overcast in Bengal, Behar and Bombay. It is partially clouded over in the rest of India, except the Punjab and Sind, where it is clear.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.
DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE, AGRICULTURE, AND COMMERCE.

GOVERNMENT EXPERIMENTAL FARMS.

Report on Bhadgaon Farm for June 1878.

Superintendent—Mr. A. Stormont.

The heat has continued excessive throughout the month, the temperature gradually reaching as high as 110° in the shade in the second week in June, from which time it again toned down to 100° on the 16th, when the monsoon burst, but with much less violence than was desirable. The shower measured 43 cents., another of 60 cents. followed on the 19th and a substantial one of 1.40 inch the same night, altogether nearly 2½ inches.

2. The quantity of moisture being sufficient for the purpose, cotton sowing was taken in hand yesterday, and is busily occupying the cultivators today. Of the farm land about 80 acres have been sown, but the fields having been previously got into good tilth, sowing in the dry was quite practicable.

3. Acclimatized American cotton is being extensively sown this year, in fact no indigenous seed has so far been used in the district.

4. The few showers of rain have already had the effect of lowering considerably the prices of our local food grains. Jowari (the staple article of diet) is now selling at 31 lbs. per rupee and pulses low in proportion.

5. The ploughing experiment in hand at the date of last report has been brought to a close; the following ploughs were tested under similar conditions:—

1st.—Four iron lever ploughs invented by the late Marquis of Tweeddale.

2nd.—A medium-sized Turmorest plough.

3rd.—Two newly improved American ploughs.

4th.—An "Indian" (combined wood and iron) plough.

5th.—Twenty-two native wooden ploughs differing from each other in details of dimension only.

Batch No. 1 could not be got to penetrate the ground at all. No. 2 was similarly useless. No. 3 being wide set and short, did worse work than on a former occasion when the ground was soft. No. 4 worked fairly well, but would be vastly improved by lengthening the share when it would nearly approximate to the native ploughs which have once more proved their immense superiority for working in Indian soil.

6. An experiment has been in hand during the past 15 months to determine to what extent mules might be substituted for bullocks in field work, the latter having suffered so much of late years from disease as to ruin hundreds of cultivators. The Collector obtained for the purpose of the experiment a pair of Spanish pack mules from the Commissariat Department. After proper harness had been got, the animals were trained to all the usual kinds of work with remarkably varied results. Ploughing, harrowing, &c., with them was found to be impracticable. Working as they must do by chain draught, their shoulders rapidly get cut and destroyed from the hard and lumpy nature of the soil and the quick pace at which the animals move as compared with bullocks, which latter also have the advantage of drawing from the spine and not the shoulder. In single cart the mules are very useful, and especially so on all kinds of work involving circular draught, such as water lifts, crushing machines, chaff cutters, &c. On such work the mules are constantly employed, and thrive on a ration of only 2 lbs. of grain daily, being thus more easily kept up than bullocks.

7. A sowing of Bamieh cotton was made under irrigation ten days ago, the plants are now about a foot high, very strong, and from present appearance likely to do well.

8. The small sowing of the Tecointé (Reana luxurians) forage plant mentioned in last month's report as having then been made, came up beautifully, and soon acquired a considerable height; the white-ants however got hold of it, and despite all attempts to get rid of them they managed to kill every plant. Sowings made now that the rain has commenced will not be exposed to this danger.

9. The new Hartford windmill pump has been worked during the past fortnight, with considerable success. The windmill is erected on the bank of a nullah in which the automatic pump is submerged at a distance of about 60 feet. The water is discharged over a high bank in another direction.

The whole thing was put up by the farm apprentices and works smoothly and evenly. So much depending on the velocity of the wind, the discharge of water is of course very unequal. With the wind-wheel going 90 revolutions per minute we got a flow of 400 gallons per hour. The machine was working away quietly during the night, when caught by the hurricane which accompanied the burst of the rains, it darted off at a terrific speed, running up to over 200 revolutions per minute, and turning out a very large quantity of water. An hour had elapsed before it could be got securely moored, when it was discovered that the piping had been injured to some extent.

10. The pump is now being removed to Dhulia to be worked on a deep well during the rains.

and amend the law relating to Promissory Notes, Bills of Exchange and Cheques, was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have the honour to present this second report.

2. Section 1 declares that “nothing in this Act applies to hundis.” But when the analogy between bills and hundis is complete, and there is no proof of any special usage, it has been ruled by Colvile C. J. in Amritram v. Damoodhur Doss, (cited 2 Hyde 261) that the English law applies. We think that we should give effect to this ruling, and have therefore changed the words above quoted to “nothing herein contained shall affect any usage relating to any instrument in an oriental language.” This change will not only save the customs of Native merchants as to hundis, but also their customs (if any such exist) as to promissory notes and cheques.

3. We have in section 4 added several illustrations of what a promissory note is not. They are founded on decided cases.

4. Section 13 provides, in accordance with the Indian Law Commissioners' draft, that a note, bill or cheque payable to a specified person or order, or "to _____ or order" is negotiable. It appears to us that, in the absence of a payee, i. e., till the blank is filled up, there can be no right of action on the instrument: such right cannot therefore be assignable: the instrument, in other words, is not 'negotiable.' We have therefore omitted the phrase "to _____ or order."

5. To section 20 (as to filling up blanks in a stamped instrument) we have added a proviso that, as between the person delivering and the person receiving the instrument, nothing in excess of the amount intended by them to be paid shall be recovered.

6. We have provided (section 22), in accordance with 34 & 35 Vic., c. 71, s. 2, that the expression 'on presentment' as well as 'at sight' shall mean on demand.

7. We have stated distinctly (section 23) the law as to days of grace as follows: "Every promissory note or bill of exchange not expressed to be payable on demand, at sight or on presentment, is at maturity on the third day after the day on which it is expressed to be payable."

8. In section 24, we have provided for the case of a bill "after sight" accepted for honour.

9. We have altered section 26 so as to express the present practice, according to which, when a bill or note matures on a public holiday, it is deemed to be due on the next preceding business day.

10. In section 27 we have added the presumption that every negotiable instrument bearing a date was made or drawn on such date. The Evidence Act, section 114, does not quite suffice. We have struck out the clause providing that a receipt on the back of notes and bills is prima facie evidence of payment by the maker or acceptor. This presumption, though important in England, is so weak in India as not to be worth inserting. We have also provided that when the instrument has been stolen or originally infected by fraud, invalidity or illegality, the burthen of proving that the holder is a holder in due course lies upon him.

11. We have redrawn section 29 (now 126) thus: "As between holders in due course of different parts of the same set, he who first acquired title to his part is entitled to the other parts."

12. We have declared that section 38 (now 29) shall be deemed to empower a corporation to make, accept or indorse notes, bills or cheques, except in cases in which under the law for the time being in force they are so empowered.

13. We have declared (section 31) the law as to the liability of a legal representative signing his name to a note, bill or cheque.

14. We have made section 40 (now 30, as to the liability of an agent signing) agree with the Contract Act, by wording the exception thus: "except to those who induced him to sign upon the belief that the principal only would be held liable."

15. The exception to section 42 (now 33) declares, in accordance with Mason v. Rumsey (1 Camp. 384), that "a partner may bind his firm by accepting in his own name for partnership purposes a bill drawn upon the firm." It would in this country be likely to mislead. We have therefore struck it out.

16. We have omitted section 42, as the Indian Contract Act, 1872, will of its own force extend to all contracts evidenced by bills, notes and cheques.

17. We have confined section 45 (now 35) to cheques. As a rule, bankers decline to accept bills except in cases where they have specially agreed to do so. They cannot be expected to write off amounts from an ordinary account current to provide for acceptances.

18. Section 52 of Bill No. II applies sections 134 and 135 of the Contract Act to the relations of suretyship between parties to negotiable instruments. The result would be to extinguish the power which the holder of an accepted bill has at present to release the acceptor, reserving his right to charge the other parties. We have therefore substituted a section (42) which will save this power.

19. We have expressly confined the estoppels mentioned in sections 54 and 56 (now 44 and 45) to suits by holders in due course. We have struck out the clause (55) relating to the estoppel of the acceptor from denying the drawer's signature. The Evidence Act, section 117, should, we think, in this respect remain untouched.

20. In the case of a transfer without indorsement, section 66 of Bill No. II empowers the transferee to sue upon the instrument in his own name. We have struck out this power, which is not in accordance with the present law. We have abstained from expressly empowering such a transferee to sue in the name of the transferor, as this would have involved further provisions as to indemnifying the latter, which could not fitly find their place in the present Bill.

21. Section 76 of Bill No. II declares, in accordance with American decisions, that the effect of an indorsement for part of the sum remaining due to the indorser is to give the indorsee a lien on the bill, but not to transfer a right to sue, except in the indorser's name. There can, however, be no doubt that such indorsements are not warranted by the custom of merchants, and we have substituted the clause originally framed by the Law Commissioners, namely, "65. No writing on a negotiable instrument is valid for the purpose of negotiation, if such writing purports to transfer only a part of the amount of the instrument."

22. Section 82 (now 71) provides for presentment for acceptance of bills payable at sight as well as of bills payable after sight. As "at sight" will be equivalent to "on demand," we have confined this section to the latter class of bills.

23. As foreign bills are equally with inland bills entitled to the privilege of days of grace, we have, in sections 87 and 88 (now 76 and 77) struck out the word 'inland.'

24. We have omitted section 97, as to posting instruments to be presented. It seems to us a useless provision.

25. Where interest is expressly made payable at a specified rate, we have provided in section 101 (now 89) for payment of interest in case of a suit to recover the principal sum due.

26. We have omitted section 109 as conflicting with section 110 (now 97).

27. When the drawee is incompetent to contract, we have declared (section 101) that the bill may be treated as dishonoured.

28. Section 140 (now 137) provided, in exact accordance with the Law Commissioners' draft that the liability of the acceptor of a foreign bill should be regulated by the law of the place where he accepted the instrument and the liability of the indorser by the law of the place where he indorsed the instrument. We think that this neither agrees with the rules of international law nor the decisions of the English Courts (see, for instance, Rouquette v. Overmann, L. R. 10 Q.B. 525). The acceptor's liability is regulated by the law of the place of payment, and as the indorser is a surety for the acceptor, his liability is measured by that of his principal, is, in other words, regulated by the lex loci of performance. We have altered section 140 in accordance with these views.

29. Section 140 is a fragment of the law of evidence, just as section 87 (as to a banker's liability for negligence) is a fragment of the law of torts. But we think that these sections may conveniently stand where they are until the Evidence Act is revised and the law of torts codified.

30. We think that the provisions as to bills in sets should be confined to foreign bills, and we have consequently transferred them to chapter XIII. We have made the sections as to crossed cheques a separate chapter and placed it near the end of the Bill.

31. We have made some verbal amendments.

32. Lastly, we have added to the schedule of repeals the two old statutes, 9 William III, c. 17, as to inland bills, and 3 & 4 Ann., c. 8, as to promissory notes.

33. We desire to acknowledge the valuable criticisms received from the Chambers of Commerce at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Rangoon, from Mr. William Macpherson, Secretary to the late Indian Law Commission, from Pandit Lakshmi Naráyana of Lucknow, and from Mr. Rattigan the Government Advocate, Panjáb; and Mr. Stokes is much indebted to Sir R. Garth for some notes unofficially communicated.

34. We are well aware that the Bill does not deal exhaustively with the subject; but we believe that the Bill, the Contract Act (to which it is a supplement) and the Evidence Act will, taken together, supply rules sufficient for the disposal of the questions that ordinarily arise as to the rights of parties to negotiable instruments.

35. We, therefore, recommend that the Bill be passed as amended; but we are of opinion that it has been so altered as to render republication desirable. We propose that it shall not be further proceeded with until the Council re-assembles at Calcutta.

SCHEDULE

No. III.

A Bill to define and amend the law relating to Promissory Notes, Bills of Exchange and Cheques.

WHEREAS it is expedient to define and amend the law relating to Promissory Notes, Bills of Exchange and Cheques; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

1. This Act may be called
Short title. "The Negotiable Instruments Act, 1878."

It extends to the whole of British India; but Local extent. nothing herein contained affects any usage relating to any instrument in an oriental language.

Saving of usages relating to hundis, &c.

Commencement. And it shall come into force on the first day of January, 1879.

2. On and from that day the enactments specified in the schedule hereto annexed shall be repealed to the extent mentioned in the third column thereof.

Interpretation clause. 3. In this Act—

"Banker." "Banker" includes also persons or a corporation or company acting as bankers, and

"Notary Public." "Notary Public" includes also any officer appointed by the Governor General in Council to perform the functions of a Notary Public under this Act.

CHAPTER II.

OF NOTES, BILLS AND CHEQUES.

4. A promissory note is an instrument in writing (not being a bank note or a currency note) containing an unconditional undertaking, signed by the maker, to pay a certain sum of money only to, or to the order of, a person ascertainable when such undertaking is made, or to the bearer of the instrument.

Illustrations.

A signs instruments in the following terms:—

(a) "I promise to pay B or order Rs. 500."

(b) "I promise to account with B or order for Rs. 500, value received by me."

(c) "I acknowledge myself to be indebted to B in Rs. 1,000 to be paid on demand, for value received."

(d) "Mr. B, I O-U Rs. 1,000."

(e) "I promise to pay B Rs. 500 and all other sums which shall be due to him."

(f) "I promise to pay B Rs. 500, first deducting thereout any moneys which he may owe me."

(g) "I promise to pay B Rs. 500 seven days after my marriage with C."

(h) "I promise to pay B Rs. 500 on D's death, provided D leaves me enough to pay that sum."

(i) I promise to pay B Rs. 500 and to deliver to him my black horse on 1st January next."

The instruments respectively marked (a), (b) and (c) are promissory notes. The instruments respectively marked (d), (e), (f), (g), (h) and (i) are not promissory notes.

5. A bill of exchange is an instrument in writing containing an unconditional order, signed by the maker, directing a certain person to pay a certain sum of money only to, or to the order of, a person ascertainable when such order is given or to the bearer of the instrument.

6. A cheque is a bill of exchange drawn on a specified banker and not expressed to be payable otherwise than on demand.

7. The maker of a bill of exchange or cheque is called the "drawer;" the person thereby directed to pay is called the "drawee."

When the bill gives the name of any person in addition to the drawee to be resorted to in case of need, such person is called a "drawee in case of need."

After the drawee of a bill has signed his assent upon the bill, or if there are more parts thereof than one, upon one of such parts, and delivered the same, or given notice of such signing, to the holder or to some person on his behalf, he is called the "acceptor."

When acceptance is refused and the bill is protested for non-acceptance, and any person accepts it supra protest for honour of the drawer or of any one of the indorsers, such person is called an "acceptor for honour."

The person named in the instrument, to whom or to whose order the money is by the instrument directed to be paid, is called the "payee."

8. The "holder" of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque means any person entitled in his own name to the possession thereof and to receive or recover the amount due thereon from the parties thereto.

Where the note, bill or cheque is lost or destroyed, its holder is the person so entitled at the time of such loss or destruction.

9. "Holder in due course" means any person who became the possessor of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque if payable to bearer, or the payee or indorsee thereof, if payable to, or to the order of, a payee, for consideration before the amount mentioned in it became payable, and without having sufficient cause to believe that any defect existed in the title of the person from whom he derived his title.

10. "Payment in due course" means payment in accordance with the apparent tenor of the instrument in good faith and without negligence to any person in possession thereof under circumstances which do not afford a reasonable ground for believing that he is not entitled to receive payment of the amount therein mentioned.

11. A promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque drawn or made in British India, and made payable in, or drawn upon any person resident in, British India shall be deemed to be an inland instrument.

12. Any such instrument not so drawn, made or made payable shall be deemed to be a foreign instrument.

13. A "negotiable instrument" means a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque expressed to be payable to a specified person or his order, or to the order of a specified person, or to the bearer thereof, or to a specified person or the bearer thereof.

14. When a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is transferred to any person, so as to constitute that person the holder thereof, the instrument is said to be negotiated.

15. When the maker or holder of a negotiable instrument signs the same, otherwise than as such maker, for the purpose of negotiation, on the back or face thereof or on a slip of paper annexed thereto, or so signs for the same purpose a stamped paper intended to be completed as a negotiable instrument, he is said to indorse the same, and is called the "indorser."

16. If the indorser signs his name only, the indorsement is said to be "in blank," and if he adds a direction to pay the whole or any part of the amount mentioned in the instrument to, or to the order of, a specified person, the indorsement is said to be "in full;" and the person so specified is called the "indorsee" of the instrument.

17. Where an instrument may be construed either as a promissory note or bill of exchange, the holder may at his election treat it as either, and the instrument shall be thenceforward treated accordingly.

18. If the amount undertaken or ordered to be paid is stated differently in figures and in words, the amount stated in words shall be the amount undertaken or ordered to be paid.

19. A promissory note or bill of exchange, in which no time for payment is specified, and a cheque are payable on demand.

20. Where a stamped paper, which is intended to be completed as a negotiable instrument, is signed and delivered by a competent person as maker, drawer, acceptor, or indorser, the holder thereof may complete the same by filling up any blanks therein, and the person so signing shall be liable upon such instrument, in the capacity in which he signed the same, for any amount which may be specified therein not exceeding the amount covered by the stamp thereon: provided that as between the person delivering and the person receiving the instrument nothing in excess of the amount intended by them to be paid shall be recovered.

Illustration.

A stamped paper intended to be completed as a negotiable instrument is made payable to " " or order;" the holder of such instrument may fill up the blank with his own name, or that of any other person.

21. Where a promissory note is signed by two persons, and it appears on the face of it that one of them subscribes only to an alternative liability, such one is not liable on the note as maker, but is liable as guaranteeing its payment by the maker.

22. In a promissory note or bill of exchange the expressions "at sight" and "on presentment" mean on demand. The expression "after sight" means, in a promissory note, after presentment for sight, and in a bill of exchange, after acceptance or protest for non-acceptance.

23. The maturity of a promissory note or bill of exchange is the date at which it falls due.

Every promissory note or bill of exchange, other than a promissory note or bill of exchange expressed to be payable on demand, at sight, or on presentment, is at maturity on the third day after the day on which it is expressed to be payable.

24. In calculating the date at which a promissory note or bill of exchange, made payable a stated number of months after date or after sight, or after a certain event, is at maturity, the period stated shall be held to terminate on the day of the month which corresponds with the day on which the instrument is dated or presented for acceptance or sight or the event happens or, where the instrument is a bill of exchange made payable a stated number of months after sight and has been accepted for honour, with the day on which it was so accepted.

If the month in which the period would terminate has no corresponding day, the period shall be held to terminate on the last day of such month.

Illustrations.

(a) A negotiable instrument dated 29th January 1877 is made payable at one month after date. The month terminates on the 28th February 1877.

(b) A negotiable instrument dated 30th August 1877 is made payable three months after date. The three months terminate on the 30th November 1877.

(c) A promissory note or bill of exchange, dated 31st August 1877, is made payable three months after date. The three months terminate on the 30th November 1877.

25. In calculating the date at which a promissory note or bill of exchange, made payable a certain number of days after date or after sight or after a certain event, is at maturity, the day of the date, or of presentment for acceptance or sight, or on which the event happens, shall be excluded.

26. When the day on which a promissory note or bill of exchange is at maturity is a public holiday, the instrument shall be deemed to be due on the next preceding business day.

Explanation.—The expression “public holiday” includes Sundays: New-Year’s day, Christmas day: if either of such days falls on a Sunday, the next following Monday: Good-Friday; and any other day declared by the Local Government, by notification in the official Gazette, to be a public holiday.

27. Until the contrary is proved, the following presumptions shall be made:—

(a) that every negotiable instrument was made or drawn for consideration, and that every such instrument, when it has been accepted, indorsed, negotiated or transferred, was accepted, indorsed, negotiated or transferred for consideration:

(b) that every negotiable instrument bearing a date was made or drawn on such date:

(c) that every accepted bill of exchange was accepted within a reasonable time after its date and before its maturity:

(d) that every transfer of a negotiable instrument was made before its maturity:

(e) that the endorsements appearing upon a negotiable instrument were made in the order in which they appear thereon:

(f) that a lost promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque was duly stamped:

(g) that the holder of a negotiable instrument is a holder in due course: provided that where the instrument has been obtained from its lawful owner, or from any person in lawful custody thereof, by means of an offence or fraud, or has been obtained from the maker or acceptor thereof by means of an offence or fraud, or for unlawful consideration, the burthen of proving that the holder is a holder in due course lies upon him.

CHAPTER III.

PARTIES TO NOTES, BILLS AND CHEQUES.

28. Every person capable of contracting, according to the law to which he is subject, may bind himself and be bound by the making, drawing, acceptance, indorsement, delivery and negotiation of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque.

A minor may draw, indorse, deliver and negotiate such instruments so as to bind all parties except himself.

Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to empower a corporation to make, indorse or accept such instruments except in cases in which, under the law for the time being in force, they are so empowered.

29. Every person capable of binding himself or of being bound, as mentioned in section 25, may so bind himself or be bound by a duly authorized agent acting in his name.

A general authority to transact business and to receive and discharge debts does not confer upon an agent the power of accepting or indorsing bills of exchange so as to bind his principal.

An authority to draw bills of exchange does not of itself import an authority to indorse.

30. An agent who signs his name to a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque, without indicating thereon that he signs as agent, or that he does not intend thereby to incur personal responsibility, is liable personally on the instrument, except to those who induced him to sign upon the belief that the principal only would be held liable.

31. A legal representative who signs his name to a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque, is liable personally thereon unless he expressly limits his liability to the extent of the assets received by him as such.

32. Where there are several drawees of a bill of exchange who are not partners, each of them can accept it for himself, but none of them can accept it for another without his authority.

33. When it is within the scope of the business of a partnership to make, draw, accept, indorse or negotiate promissory notes, bills of exchange or cheques, any partner may bind his firm by making, drawing, accepting, indorsing or negotiating such instruments in the name of his firm, but not otherwise.

34. The drawer of a bill of exchange or cheque is bound, in case of dishonour

Liability of drawer. by the drawee or acceptor thereof, to compensate the holder for any loss or damage caused thereby, provided due notice of dishonour has been given to, or received by, the drawer as hereinafter provided.

35. The drawee of a cheque having sufficient funds of the drawer in his

Liability of drawee of cheque. hands properly applicable to the payment of such cheque, must pay the cheque when duly required so to do, and, in default of such payment, must compensate the drawer for any loss or damage caused by such default.

36. In the absence of a contract to the contrary,

Liability of maker of note and acceptor of bill. the maker of a promissory note and the acceptor before maturity of a bill of exchange, are bound to pay the amount thereof at maturity according to the apparent tenor of the note or acceptance respectively, and the acceptor of a bill of exchange at or after maturity is bound to pay the amount thereof to the holder on demand.

In default of such payment as aforesaid, such maker or acceptor is bound to compensate any party to the note or bill for any loss or damage sustained by him, and caused by such default.

The provisions of this section are subject to those of sections 28, 30, 50, 51, 52, 68, 74, 78, 79 and 92.

37. No person except the drawee of a bill of exchange, or all or some of Only drawee can be acceptor except in need or for honour. several joint drawees, or a person named therein as a drawee in case of need, or an acceptor for honour, can bind himself by an acceptance.

38. In the absence of a contract to the contrary, whoever indorses and delivers

Liability of indorser. a negotiable instrument before maturity, without, in such indorsement, expressly excluding or making conditional his own liability, is bound thereby to every subsequent holder, in case of dishonour by the drawee, acceptor or maker, to compensate such holder for any loss or damage caused to him by such dishonour, provided due notice of dishonour has been given to, or received by, such indorser as hereinafter provided.

Every indorser after dishonour is liable as upon an instrument payable on demand.

The provisions of this section are subject to those of sections 28, 30, 50, 51, 52, 64, 65, 68, 71, 72, 74, 78, 82, 92, 93, 94, 96, 97 and 108, clause (a).

39. Every prior party to a negotiable instru-

Liability of prior parties to holder in due course. ment is liable thereon to a holder in due course until the instrument is duly satisfied.

40. The maker of a promissory note or cheque,

Maker, drawer and acceptor principals. the drawer of a bill of exchange until acceptance, and the acceptor are, in the absence of any contract to the contrary, respectively liable thereon as principal debtors, and the other parties thereto are liable thereon as sureties for the maker, drawer or acceptor, as the case may be.

41. As between the parties so liable as sureties

Prior party a principal in respect of each subsequent party. each prior party is, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, also liable thereon as a principal debtor in respect of each subsequent party.

Illustration.

A draws a bill payable to his own order on B, who accepts. A afterwards indorses the bill to C, C to D, and D to E. As between E and B, B is the principal debtor, and A, C and D are his sureties. As between E and A, A is the principal debtor, and C and D are his sureties. As between E and C, C is the principal debtor and D is his surety.

42. When the holder of an accepted bill of ex-

Suretyship. change enters into any contract with the acceptor which under section 134 or 135 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, would discharge the other parties, the holder may expressly reserve his right to charge the other parties, and in such case they are not discharged.

43. The indorser of a negotiable instrument is having merely forbore to sue a prior party; but where the holder, without the consent of the indorser, destroys or impairs the indorser's remedy against a prior party, the indorser is discharged from liability to the holder to the same extent as if the instrument had been paid at maturity.

Illustration.

A is the holder of a bill of exchange made payable to the order of B, which contains the following indorsements in blank :—

First indorsement, "B."

Second indorsement, "Peter Williams."

Third indorsement, "Wright and Co."

Fourth indorsement, "John Rozario."

This bill A puts in suit against John Rozario and strikes out, without John Rozario's consent, the indorsements by Peter Williams and Wright and Co. A is not entitled to recover anything from John Rozario.

44. No maker of a promissory note, and no

Estoppel against denying original validity of instrument. drawer of a bill of exchange or cheque, and no acceptor of a bill of exchange for the honour of the drawer shall, in a suit thereon [by a holder in due course,] be permitted to deny the validity of the instrument as originally made or drawn.

45. No maker of a promissory note and no

Estoppel against denying capacity of payee to indorse. acceptor of a bill of exchange payable to, or to the order of, a specified person shall, in a suit thereon [by a holder in due course,] be permitted to deny the payee's capacity, at the date of the note or bill, to indorse the same.

46. No indorser of a negotiable instrument shall, in a suit thereon by a subsequent holder, be permitted to deny the signature or capacity to contract of any prior party to the instrument.

47. An acceptor of a bill of exchange already indorsed is not relieved from liability by reason that such indorsement is forged, if he knew or had reason to believe the indorsement to be forged when he accepted the bill.

48. An acceptor of a bill of exchange drawn in a fictitious name and payable to the drawer's order is not, by reason that such name is fictitious, relieved from liability to any holder claiming under an indorsement by the same hand as the drawer's signature, and purporting to be made by the drawer.

49. If at any time there has been consideration between any parties to a negotiable instrument for the making, drawing, acceptance, indorsement, negotiation or transfer thereof, the party receiving such consideration is, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, liable upon the instrument to all subsequent parties thereto, and every subsequent holder is, as against him, a holder for consideration.

The provisions of this section are subject to those of sections 28, 51, 52, 56, 64, 71, 72, 74, 78, 79, 82, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97 and 98.

Illustrations.

(a.) A indorses a bill of exchange to B, at the request of C, for C's account with B. B is a holder of the bill for consideration, and if he indorses it as a present to D, D is a holder for consideration.

(b.) A, the holder of a negotiable instrument, indorses it in full to B, in the belief that B has done something which he has not done. B, for consideration proceeding from C, indorses the instrument in blank to C, and C indorses it to D. D strikes out C's indorsement. D is a holder of the instrument for consideration.

50. When there was no consideration for the making, drawing, acceptance or indorsement of a negotiable instrument, or when the consideration has wholly failed, the maker, drawer, acceptor or indorser is not liable thereon to the party in whose favour the instrument was so made, drawn, accepted or indorsed, or to any party claiming through such party, unless consideration moved from the claimant or from some party through whom he derives title. But the maker, drawer, acceptor or indorser is liable to compensate any subsequent party who, being liable on such instrument, pays the amount due thereon.

51. When the consideration for which a person signed a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque consisted of money, and was originally absent in part or has subsequently failed in part, the sum which a holder standing in immediate relation with such signer is entitled to receive from him is proportionally reduced.

Explanation.—The drawer of a bill of exchange stands in immediate relation with the acceptor. The maker of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque, stands in immediate relation with the payer, and the indorser with his indorsee. Other signers may by agreement stand in immediate relation with a holder.

Illustration.

A draws a bill on B for Rs. 500 payable to the order of A. B accepts the bill, but subsequently dishonours it by non-payment. A sues B on the bill. B proves that it was accepted for value as to Rs. 400, and as an accommodation to the plaintiff as to the residue. A can only recover Rs. 400.

52. Where a part of the consideration for which a person signed a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque, though not consisting of money, is ascertainable in money without collateral enquiry, and there has been a failure of that part, the sum which a holder standing in immediate relation with such signer is entitled to receive from him is proportionally reduced.

Partial failure of consideration not consisting of money.

OF NEGOTIATION.

53. Subject to the provisions of section 68, a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque payable to bearer is negotiable by delivery thereof.

Exception.—A promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque delivered on condition that it is not to take effect except in a certain event is not negotiable (except in the hands of a holder for value without notice) unless such event happens.

Illustrations.

(a.) A, the holder of a negotiable instrument payable to bearer, delivers it to B's agent to keep for B. The instrument has been negotiated.

(b.) A, the holder of a negotiable instrument payable to bearer which is in the hands of A's banker, who is at the time the banker of B, directs the banker to transfer the instrument to B's credit in the banker's account with B. The banker does so, and accordingly now possesses the instrument as B's agent. The instrument has been negotiated, and B has become the holder of it.

54. Subject to the provisions of section 68, a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque payable to the order of a specified person, or to a specified person or order, is negotiable by the holder by indorsement and delivery thereof.

55. If the holder of such an instrument as mentioned in section 54, delivers it to another person without indorsing it, but with intent to transfer his title thereto, the transferee acquires by such delivery all the rights which the transferor had as holder except the right of negotiation.

Transfer without indorsement.

56. If such transfer, as mentioned in section 55, is made for consideration to a person having no sufficient cause to believe in the existence of any matter affecting the validity of the instrument or of the transfer thereof, and the instrument is thereafter avoided as against any party on account of matters prior to the transfer, the transferor is bound to return to the transferee the consideration received, provided that such return is claimed within a reasonable time.

57. The holder of a negotiable instrument indorsed in blank may, without signing his own name, by writing above the indorser's signature a direction to pay to any other person as indorsee, convert the indorsement in blank into an indorsement in full; and the holder does not thereby incur the responsibility of an indorser.

58. The indorsement of a negotiable instrument followed by delivery transfers to the indorsee the property therein with the right of further negotiation; but the indorsement may, by express words, be restrained to a transfer of the property without such right, or may merely constitute the indorsee an agent to indorse the instrument, or to receive its contents for the indorser, or for some other specified person.

59. The indorser of a negotiable instrument may, by express words in the indorsement, restrict or exclude the right of the indorsee to negotiate the instrument, although the instrument was, at the time of such words being written, payable to the bearer thereof.

Illustrations.

B signs the following indorsements on different negotiable instruments payable to bearer:—

- (a) "Pay the contents to C only."
- (b) "Pay C for my use."
- (c) "Pay C or order for the account of B."
- (d) "The within must be credited to C."

These indorsements exclude the right of further negotiation by C.

(e) "Pay C."

(f) "Pay C value in account with the Oriental Bank."

(g) "Pay the contents to C, being part of the consideration in a certain deed of assignment executed by C to the indorser and others."

These indorsements do not exclude the right of further negotiation by C.

60. Every sole maker, drawer, payee or indorsee, or all of several joint makers, drawers, payees or indorsees, of a negotiable instrument may, if the negotiability of such instrument has not been restricted or excluded, as mentioned in section 59, indorse and negotiate the same.

Explanation.—Nothing in this section enables a maker or drawer to indorse or negotiate an instrument, unless he is in lawful possession or is holder thereof; or enables a payee or indorsee to indorse or negotiate an instrument, unless he is holder thereof.

Illustration.

A bill is drawn payable to A or order. A indorses it to B, the indorsement not containing the words "or order," or any equivalent words. B may negotiate the instrument.

61. The indorser of a negotiable instrument may, by express words in the indorsement, exclude his own liability or make it conditional. liability thereon, or make such liability or the right of the indorsee to receive the amount due thereon, depend upon the happening of a specified event, although such event may never happen.

Where an indorser so excludes his liability and afterwards becomes the holder of the instrument, all intermediate indorsers are liable to him.

Illustrations.

(a.) The indorser of a negotiable instrument signs his name, adding the words—

"Without recourse."

Upon this indorsement he incurs no liability.

(b.) A is the payee and holder of a negotiable instrument. Excluding personal liability by an indorsement "without recourse," he transfers the instrument to B, and B indorses it to C, who indorses it to A. A is not only reinstated in his former rights, but has the rights of an indorsee against B and C.

62. A holder of a negotiable instrument who derives title from a holder in due course has the rights thereon of that holder in due course.

63. Subject to the provisions of sections 132 and 133, a negotiable instrument indorsed in blank is payable to the bearer thereof even although originally payable to order.

64. If a negotiable instrument after having been indorsed in blank is indorsed in full, the amount of it cannot be claimed from the indorser in full, except by the person to whom it has been indorsed in full, or by one who derives title through such person.

65. No writing on a negotiable instrument is valid for the purpose of negotiation if such writing purports to transfer only a part of the amount of the instrument.

66. No agreement between any parties to a negotiable instrument which is not expressed thereon, or which is collateral thereto, is binding upon any other holder thereof for consideration, or upon any holder deriving title from a holder for consideration.

Illustration.

A person who is a creditor of A signs, as acceptor, a bill of exchange in A's favour for 3,000 rupees. A being the holder indorses it for value to B, who is aware that the acceptor was a creditor of A. A's debt to the acceptor cannot be set-off against B's claim on the bill.

67. The legal representative of a deceased

Legal representative person cannot negotiate by delivery a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque payable to order and indorsed by the deceased but not delivered.

68. When a negotiable instrument has been

Instrument obtained lost, or has been obtained by unlawful means or for unlawful consideration, from any maker, acceptor or holder thereof by means of an offence or fraud, or for an unlawful consideration, no possessor or indorsee who claims through the person who found or so obtained the instrument is entitled to receive the amount due thereon from such maker, acceptor or holder, or from any party prior to such holder, unless such possessor or indorsee is, or some person through whom he claims was, a holder thereof in due course.

69. The holder of a negotiable instrument, who Instrument acquired has acquired it after dishonour or when overdue, whether by non-acceptance or non-payment, with notice thereof, or after maturity, has only, as against the other parties, the rights thereon of his transferor:

Provided that any person who, in good faith and for consideration, becomes the holder, after maturity, of a promissory note or bill of exchange made, drawn or accepted without consideration for the purpose of enabling some party thereto to raise money thereon, may recover the amount of the note or bill from any prior party.

comes the holder, after maturity, of a promissory note or bill of exchange made, drawn or accepted without consideration for the purpose of enabling some party thereto to raise money thereon, may recover the amount of the note or bill from any prior party.

Illustration.

The acceptor of a bill of exchange, when he accepted it, deposited with the drawer certain goods as a collateral security for the payment of the bill, with power to the drawer to sell the goods and apply the proceeds in discharge of the bill if it were not paid at maturity. The bill not having been paid at maturity, the drawer sold the goods and retained the proceeds, but indorsed the bill to A. A's title is subject to the same objection as the drawer's title.

70. A negotiable instrument may be negotiated

Instrument negotiable (except by the maker, drawee or acceptor after maturity) until payment or satisfaction thereof by the maker, drawee or acceptor at or after maturity, but not after such payment or satisfaction.

CHAPTER V.OF PRESENTMENT.*71. A bill of exchange payable after sight

Presentment for acceptance. must, if no time or place is specified therein for presentment, be presented to the drawee thereof for acceptance, if he can, after reasonable search, be found, by a person entitled to demand acceptance, within a reasonable time after it is drawn, and in business hours on a business day. In default of such presentment, no party thereto is liable thereon to the person making such default.

If the drawee cannot, after reasonable search be found, the bill is dishonoured.

If the bill is directed to the drawee at a particular place, it must be presented at that place; and if at the due date for presentment he has absconded, the bill is dishonoured.

72. A promissory note, payable at a certain

Presentment of promissory note for sight. period after sight, must be presented to the maker thereof for sight, by a person entitled to demand payment, within a reasonable time after it is made and in business hours on a business day. In default of such presentment no party thereto is liable thereon to the person making such default.

73. The drawee of a bill of exchange present-

Drawee's time for delivery. ed to him for acceptance may retain the same until the end of twenty-four hours, or until the next post to the holder, whichever first happens, to consider whether he will accept it.

Explanation.—In calculating the twenty-four hours mentioned in this section, public holidays shall be excluded.

74. Promissory notes, bills of exchange and Presentment for payment. cheques must be presented for payment to the maker, acceptor or drawee thereof respectively, by or on behalf of the holder as hereinafter provided. In default of such presentment, the other parties thereto are not liable thereon to such holder.

Exception.—Where a promissory note is payable on demand and is not payable at a specified place, no presentment is necessary in order to charge the maker thereof.

75. Presentment for payment must be made

Hours for presentment. during the usual hours of business, and, if at a banker's, within banking hours.

76. A promissory note or bill of exchange,

Presentment for payment of instrument payable after date or sight. made payable at a specified period after date or sight thereof, must be presented for payment at maturity.

77. A promissory note payable by instal-

Presentment for payment of promissory note payable by instalments. ments must be presented for payment on the third day after the date fixed for payment of each instalment; and non-payment on such presentment has the same effect as non-payment of a note at maturity.

78. A promissory note, bill of exchange or

Presentment for payment of instrument payable at specified place and not elsewhere. cheque made, drawn or accepted payable at a specified place and not elsewhere must, in order to charge any party thereto, be presented for payment at that place.

79. A promissory note or bill of exchange made,

Instrument payable at specified place. drawn or accepted payable at a specified place must, in order to charge the maker or drawer thereof, be presented for payment at that place.

80. A promissory note or bill of exchange, not made payable as mentioned in sections 78 and 79, must be presented for payment at one of the places specified (if any), or at the place of business (if any), or at the usual residence, of the maker, drawee or acceptor thereof, as the case may be.

81. If the maker, drawee or acceptor of a negotiable instrument has no known place of business or fixed residence, and no place is specified in the instrument for presentment for acceptance or payment, such presentment may be made to him in person wherever he can be found.

82. A cheque must, in order to charge the drawer, be presented at the bank upon which it is drawn within a reasonable time after it was first received from the drawer, or before the relation between the drawer and his banker has been altered to the prejudice of the drawer.

83. Subject to the provisions of section 35, a cheque must, in order to charge any person except the drawer, be presented within a reasonable time after delivery thereof by such person.

84. A negotiable instrument payable on demand must be presented for payment within a reasonable time after it is received by the holder.

85. Presentment for acceptance or payment may be made to the duly authorized agent of the drawee, maker or acceptor, as the case may be, or where the drawee, maker or acceptor has died, to his legal representative, or where he has been declared an insolvent, to his assignee.

86. No presentment for payment is necessary, and the instrument is dishonoured at the due date for presentment, in any of the following cases:—

(a) if the maker, drawee or acceptor intentionally prevents the presentment of the instrument, or, if the instrument being payable at his place of business, he closes such place during the usual business-hours, or if the instrument being payable at some other specified place, neither he nor any person authorized to pay it attends at such place during the usual business hours, or if the instrument not being payable at any specified place, he cannot after due search be found;

(b) as against any party if, after maturity, with knowledge that the instrument has not been presented—he makes a part payment on account of the amount due on the instrument, or promises to pay the amount due thereon in whole or in part, or otherwise waives his right to take advantage of any default in presentment for payment;

(c) as against the drawer, if the drawer could not suffer damage from the want of such presentment.

87. When a bill of exchange, accepted payable at a specified bank, has been duly presented there for payment and dishonoured, if the banker so negligently keeps, deals with or delivers back such bill as to cause loss to the holder, he must compensate the holder for such loss.

CHAPTER VI.

OF PAYMENT AND INTEREST.

88. Subject to the provisions of section 92, clause (c), payment of the amount due on a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque must, in order to discharge the maker or acceptor, be made to the holder of the instrument.

89. When interest at a specified rate is expressly made payable on a promissory note or bill of exchange, interest shall be calculated at the rate specified, on the amount and from the date of the instrument, until tender or realization of the amount due thereon, or until such date after the institution of a suit to recover such amount as the Court directs.

90. When no rate of interest is specified in the instrument, interest on the amount thereof shall, except in cases provided for by the Code of Civil Procedure, section 532, be calculated at the rate of six per centum per annum, from the date at which the same ought to have been paid by the party charged, until tender or realization of the amount due thereon.

Explanation.—When the party charged is the indorser of an instrument dishonoured by non-payment, he is liable to pay interest only from the time that he receives notice of the dishonour.

91. Any person liable to pay, and called upon by the holder thereof to pay, the amount due on a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is before payment entitled to have it shown, and is on payment entitled to have it delivered up, to him, or, if the instrument is lost or cannot be produced, to be indemnified against any further claim thereon against him.

CHAPTER VII.

OF DISCHARGE FROM LIABILITY ON NOTES, BILLS AND CHEQUES.

92. The maker, acceptor or indorser respectively of a negotiable instrument is discharged from liability thereon—

(a) to a holder thereof who cancels such acceptor's or indorser's name with intent by cancellation, to discharge him, and to all parties claiming under such holder.

(b) to a holder thereof who otherwise discharges such maker, acceptor or indorser, and to all parties deriving title under such holder after notice of such discharge;

(c) to all parties thereto, if the instrument is payable to bearer, or has been indorsed in blank, and such maker, acceptor or indorser makes payment in due course of the amount due thereon.

93. If the holder of a bill of exchange allows the drawee more than twenty-four hours to consider whether he will accept the same, all previous parties not consenting to such allowance are thereby discharged from liability to such holder.

94. When the holder of a cheque fails to present it for payment, and the drawer thereof sustains loss or damage from such failure, he is discharged from liability to the holder.

95. Where a cheque payable to order, purports to be indorsed by or on behalf of the payee, the drawee is discharged by payment in due course.

96. If the holder of a bill of exchange acquiesces in a conditional acceptance, or one limited to part of the sum mentioned in the bill, or which substitutes a different place or time for payment, or which is not signed by all the drawees (not being partners), all previous parties whose consent is not obtained to such acceptance are discharged as against the holder and those claiming under him.

97. Save as provided in sections 20, 57, 96 and 131, any material alteration of a negotiable instrument renders the same void as against any party thereto at the time, and not consenting to such alteration, unless such alteration was made in order to carry out the common intention of the original parties.

Explanation.—The following are material alterations within the meaning of this section, namely: an alteration of date, amount, or of time or place of payment; the insertion in the body of the instrument of words authorising the transfer thereof, or stating the value thereof to have been received on a particular account; the addition of a name as that of a maker or drawer; obliteration of, addition to, or alteration of, the crossing of a cheque.

98. Save as provided in sections 20, 57, 96 and 131, any such alteration as is mentioned in section 97, if made by an indorsee, discharges his indorser from all liability to him in respect of the instrument or the consideration thereof.

99. An acceptor or indorser of a negotiable instrument is bound by his acceptance or indorsement notwithstanding any previous alteration of the instrument.

100. Where a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque has been materially altered, but does not appear to have been so altered, or where a cheque is presented for payment which does not at the time of presentation appear to be crossed or to have had a crossing which has been obliterated, payment thereof by a person or banker liable to pay and paying the same according to the apparent tenor thereof at the time of payment and otherwise in due course, shall discharge such person or banker so paying from all liability thereon, and such payment shall not be questioned by reason of the instrument having been altered, or the cheque crossed.

CHAPTER VIII.

OF NOTICE OF DISHONOUR.

101. A bill of exchange is said to be dishonoured by non-acceptance when the drawee, or one of several drawees not being partners, makes default in acceptance upon being duly required to accept the bill.

Where the drawee is incompetent to contract the bill may be treated as dishonoured.

102. A promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is said to be dishonoured by non-payment when the maker of the note, acceptor of the bill, or drawee of the cheque makes default in payment upon being duly required to pay the same.

103. When a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is dishonoured by non-acceptance or non-payment, the holder thereof, or some party thereto who remains liable thereon, must give notice that the instrument has been so dishonoured to all other parties whom the holder seeks to make severally liable thereon, and to some one of several parties whom he seeks to make jointly liable thereon.

Nothing in this section renders it necessary to give notice to the maker of the dishonoured promissory sory note, or the drawee or acceptor of the dishonoured bill of exchange or cheque.

104. Notice of dishonour may be given to Mode in which notice may be given.

a duly authorised agent of the person to whom it is required to be given, or, where he has died, to his legal representative, or, where he has been declared an insolvent, to his assignee; may be oral or written; may, if written, be sent by post; and may be in any form; but it must inform the party to whom it is given, either in express terms or by reasonable intendment, that the instrument has been dishonoured, and in what way, and that he will be held liable thereon; and it must be given within a reasonable time after dishonour, at the place of business, or (in case such party has no place of business) at the residence of the party for whom it is intended.

If the notice is sent by post and miscarries, such miscarriage does not render the notice invalid.

105. Any party receiving notice of dishonour must, in order to render any prior party liable to himself, transmit it to such party within a reasonable time, unless such party otherwise receives due notice as provided by section 103.

Party receiving must transmit notice of dishonour.

106. When the instrument is deposited with an agent for presentment, the agent is entitled to the same time to give notice to his principal as if he were the holder giving notice of dishonour, and the principal is entitled to a further like period to give notice of dishonour.

107. When the party to whom notice of dishonour is despatched is dead, but the party despatching the notice is ignorant of his death, the notice is sufficient.

When party to whom notice given is dead.

When notice of dishonour is unnecessary.

108. No notice of dishonour is necessary—

(a) when it is dispensed with by the party entitled thereto;

(b) in order to charge the drawer, when he has countermanded payment;

(c) when the party charged could not suffer damage for want of notice;

(d) when the party entitled to notice cannot after due search be found; or the party bound to give notice is, for any other reason, unable without any fault of his own to give it;

(e) to charge the drawers, when the acceptor is also a drawer;

(f) in the case of a promissory note which is not negotiable;

(g) when the party entitled to notice, knowing the facts, promises unconditionally to pay the amount due on the instrument.

CHAPTER IX.

OF NOTING AND PROTEST.

109. When a promissory note or bill of exchange has been dishonoured

by non-acceptance or non-payment, the holder may cause such dishonour to be noted by a notary public upon the instrument, or upon a paper attached thereto, or partly upon each.

Such note must be made within a reasonable time after dishonour, and must specify the date of dishonour, the reason, if any, assigned for such dishonour, or, if the instrument has not been expressly dishonoured, the reason why the holder treats it as dishonoured, and the notary's charges.

110. When a promissory note or bill of exchange has been dishonoured

by non-acceptance or non-payment, the holder may,

within a reasonable time, cause such dishonour to be noted and certified by a notary public. Such certificate is called a protest, and shall, in the absence of proof to the contrary, in a suit upon the instrument, be deemed evidence of the fact of dishonour.

When the acceptor of a bill of exchange has Protest for better security. become insolvent, or his credit has been publicly impeached, before the maturity of the bill, the holder may, within a reasonable time, cause a notary public to demand better security of the acceptor, and on its being refused may, within a reasonable time, cause such facts to be noted and certified as aforesaid. Such certificate is called a protest for better security.

111. A protest under section 110 must contain—

(a) either the instrument itself, or a literal transcript of the instrument and of everything written or printed thereupon;

(b) the name of the person for whom and against whom the instrument has been protested;

(c) a statement that payment or acceptance, or better security, as the case may be, has been demanded of such person by the notary public; the terms of his answer, if any, or a statement that he gave no answer, or that he could not be found;

(d) when the note or bill has been dishonoured, the place and time of dishonour, and when better security has been refused, the place and time of refusal;

(e) the subscription of the notary public making the protest;

(f) in the event of an acceptance for honour or of a payment for honour, the name of the person by whom, of the person for whom, and the manner in which, such acceptance or payment was offered and effected.

112. When a promissory note or bill of exchange is required by law to be protested, notice of such protest must be given instead of notice of dishonour, in the same manner and subject to the same conditions; but the notice may be given by the notary public who makes the protest.

113. All bills of exchange drawn payable at some other place than the place mentioned as the residence of the drawee, and which are dishonoured by non-acceptance, may, without further presentment to the drawee, be protested for non-payment, in the place specified for payment, unless paid before or at maturity.

CHAPTER X.

OF REASONABLE TIME.

114. In determining what is a reasonable time for presentment for acceptance or payment, for giving notice of dishonour and for noting, regard shall be had to the nature of the instrument and the usual course of dealing with respect to similar instruments; and in calculating such time, public holidays shall be excluded.

115. Presentment is made within a reasonable time, within the meaning of sections 71, 82, 83 and 84, if it is made on the business day next after that on which the holder received the bill, negotiable instrument or cheque referred to, or when there is no more delay than is occasioned by the residence of the parties to the bill, negotiable instrument or cheque in different places.

Illustration.

A draws on B, resident at Calcutta, a bill of exchange in favour of C payable at sight, and sends it to C at Benares. C, the day after he receives it, indorses it to D, and despatches it to D at Calcutta. D, the day after he receives the bill, presents it for payment. The delay which has taken place in presenting the bill is not unreasonable.

116. If the holder and the party to whom notice of dishonour is given carry on business or live (as the case may be) in different places, such notice is given within a reasonable time if it is despatched by the next post or on the day next after the day of dishonour.

If the said parties carry on business or live in the same place, such notice is given within a reasonable time if it is despatched in time to reach its destination on the day next after the day of dishonour.

117. A party receiving notice of dishonour, who seeks to enforce his right against a prior party, transmits the notice within a reasonable time if he transmits it within the same time after its receipt as he would have had to give notice if he had been the holder.

CHAPTER XI.

OF ACCEPTANCE AND PAYMENT FOR HONOUR.

118. When a bill of exchange has been noted or protested for non-acceptance or for better security, any person may, with the consent of the holder, by writing on the bill, accept the same for the honour of any party thereto.

119. Where the acceptance does not express for whose honour it is made, it shall be deemed to be made for the honour of the drawer.

120. An acceptor for honour binds himself to all parties subsequent to the party for whose honour he accepts to pay the amount of the bill if the drawee do not; and such party and all prior parties are liable in their respective capacities to compensate the acceptor for honour for all loss or damage sustained by him in consequence of such acceptance.

But an acceptor for honour is not liable to the holder of the bill unless it is presented, or (in case the address given by such acceptor on the bill is a place other than the place where the bill is made payable) forwarded for presentment, not later than the day next after the day of its maturity.

121. An acceptor for honour cannot be charged unless the bill has at its maturity been presented to the drawee for payment and has been dishonoured by him, and noted or protested for such dishonour.

122. When a bill of exchange has been noted or protested for non-payment, any person may pay the same for the honour of any party liable to pay the same, provided that the person so paying has previously declared before a notary public the party for whose honour he pays, and that such declaration has been recorded by such notary public.

123. Any person so paying is entitled to all the rights, in respect of the bill, of the holder at the time of such payment, and may recover from the party for whose honour he pays all sums so paid, with interest thereon and with all expenses properly incurred in making such payment.

CHAPTER XII.

OF COMPENSATION.

124. The compensation payable in case of dishonour of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque, by any party liable to the holder or any indorsee, shall (except in cases provided for by the Code of Civil Procedure, section 532) be determined by the following rules:—

(a) The holder is entitled to the amount due upon the instrument, together with the expenses properly incurred in presenting, noting and protesting it;

(b) When the person charged resides at a place different from that at which the instrument was payable, the holder is entitled to receive such sum at the current rate of exchange between the two places;

(c) An indorser who, being liable, has paid the amount due on the same is entitled to the amount so paid with interest at six per centum per annum from the date of payment until tender or realization thereof, together with all expenses caused by the dishonour and payment;

(d) When the person charged and such indorser reside at different places, the indorser is entitled to receive such sum at the current rate of exchange between the two places;

(e) The party entitled to compensation may draw a bill upon the party liable to compensate him, payable at sight or on demand, for the amount due to him together with all expenses properly incurred by him. Such bill must be accompanied by the instrument dishonoured and the protest thereof (if any). If such bill is dishonoured, the party dishonouring the same is liable to make compensation thereof in the same manner as in the case of the original bill.

CHAPTER XIII.

OF FOREIGN BILLS.

125. Foreign bills of exchange may be drawn in parts, each part being numbered and containing a provision that it shall continue payable only so long as the others remain unpaid. All the parts together make a set; but the whole set constitutes only one bill, and is extinguished when one of the parts, if a separate bill, would be extinguished.

Exception.—When a person accepts or indorses different parts of the bill in favour of different persons, he is liable on each part as if it were a separate bill.

126. As between holders in due course of different parts of the same set, the holder of first acquired part entitled to all his part is entitled to the other parts and the money represented by the Bill.

127. Where a drawee in case of need is named in a foreign bill of exchange, the bill is not dishonoured until dishonoured by such drawee.

128. Foreign bills of exchange must be protested for dishonour when such protest is required by the law of the place where they are drawn.

OF CROSSED CHEQUES.

129. Where a cheque bears across its face an addition of the words "and company" or any abbreviation thereof, between two parallel transverse lines, or of two parallel transverse lines simply, either with or without the words "not negotiable," that addition shall be deemed a crossing, and the cheque shall be deemed to be crossed generally.

130. Where a cheque bears across its face an addition of the name of a banker, either with or without the words "not negotiable," that addition shall be deemed a crossing, and the cheque shall be deemed to be crossed specially, and to be crossed to that banker.

131. Where a cheque is uncrossed, the holder may cross it generally or specially.

Where a cheque is crossed generally, the holder may cross it specially.

Where a cheque is crossed generally or specially, the holder may add the words "not negotiable."

Where a cheque is crossed specially, the banker to whom it is crossed may again cross it specially to another banker, his agent, for collection.

132. Where a cheque is crossed generally, the banker on whom it is drawn shall not pay it otherwise than to a banker.

Where a cheque is crossed specially, the banker on whom it is drawn shall not pay it otherwise than to the banker to whom it is crossed, or his agent for collection.

133. Where a cheque is crossed specially to more than one banker, except when crossed to an agent for the purpose of collection, the banker on whom it is drawn shall refuse payment thereof.

134. Where the banker on whom a crossed cheque is drawn has paid the same in due course, the banker paying the cheque, and (in case such cheque has come to the hands of the payee) the drawer thereof, shall respectively be entitled to the same rights, and be placed in the same position in all respects, as they would respectively be entitled to and placed in if the amount of the cheque had been paid to and received by the true owner thereof.

135. Any banker paying a cheque crossed generally otherwise than to a banker, or a cheque crossed specially otherwise than to the banker to whom the same is crossed, or his agent for collection, being a banker, shall be liable to the true owner of the cheque for any loss he may sustain owing to the cheque having been so paid.

136. A person taking a cheque crossed generally or specially, bearing in either case the words "not negotiable," shall not have, and shall not be capable of giving, a better title to the cheque than that which the person from whom he took it had.

But a banker who has in good faith and without negligence received payment from a customer of a cheque crossed generally or specially to himself shall not, in case the title to the cheque proves defective, incur any liability to the true owner of the cheque by reason only of having received such payment.

CHAPTER XV.

OF INTERNATIONAL LAW.

137. In the absence of a contract to the contrary, the liability of the maker or drawer of a foreign promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is regulated in all essential matters by the law of the place where he made the instrument, and the respective liabilities of the acceptor and indorser by the law of the place where the instrument is made payable.

Illustrations.

A bill of exchange was drawn by A in California, where the rate of interest is 25 per cent., and accepted by B, payable in Washington, where the rate of interest is 6 per cent. The bill is endorsed in British India, and is dishonoured. An action on the bill is brought against B in British India. He is liable to pay interest at the rate of 6 per cent. only; but if A is charged as drawer, A is liable to pay interest at the rate of 25 per cent.

138. Where a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is made payable in a different place from that in which it is made or indorsed, the law of the place where it is made payable determines what constitutes dishonour and what notice of dishonour is sufficient.

Illustration.

A bill of exchange drawn and indorsed in British India, but accepted payable in France, is dishonoured. The indorsee causes it to be protested for such dishonour, and gives notice thereof in accordance with the law of France, though not in accordance with the rules herein contained in respect of bills which are not foreign. The notice is sufficient.

139. If a negotiable instrument is made, drawn, instrument made, &c. accepted or indorsed out of British India, but in accordance with its law. accordance with the law of British India, the circumstance that any agreement evidenced by such instrument is invalid according to the law of the country wherein it was entered into, does not invalidate any subsequent acceptance or endorsement made thereon in British India.

140. Until the contrary is proved, the law of any foreign country regarding promissory notes, bills of exchange and cheques shall be presumed to be the same as that of British India.

GENERAL.

The 4th June 1878.

No. 378.—The Governor General in Council is pleased to invite tenders for the lease of the Great Coco Island in the Bay of Bengal.

2. The lease will be for a period not exceeding 50 years: the exact proportion of gross produce payable as rent and the term, within the above maximum period, during which the rent offered shall be payable, are left to the tenderers.

3. In addition to the rent stipulated as payable, the lessee will be bound to defray the expense of maintaining peace in the island and on its coasts, and of the administration of civil and criminal justice. The amount of such expense cannot at present be stated; but the Government are prepared to fix a maximum of Rs. 20,000 annually, beyond which the lessee would not be charged with any expenditure on these objects. The Government will, from time to time, fix the cost of such establishments, and such cost the lessee will be required to defray quarterly in advance.

4. The Government reserve to themselves the administration of Civil and Criminal Justice, Customs, Excise, and other Departments of Government, and the lessee will be entitled only to the produce of the soil, and to an exclusive right of fishery for one mile from high water mark, and to the use for local requirements, and not for sale out of the island, of such timber as it produces, and of stone, lime, sand and other building materials.

5. The rent will be taken in kind and will consist of a fixed proportion not less than $\frac{1}{4}$ th of the gross produce of the island. In the case of cocoa-nuts, the fixed proportion must be delivered free at Port Blair or any other place in the Andamans that Government may from time to time direct, in the husk, in good condition and of good quality, and must have been gathered in such proportions at the times most suitable for the manufacture of coir and oil, respectively, as the Superintendent of Port Blair may from time to time require. In the case of other produce, delivery of which will be taken in the island, the Government may at any time require the lessee to commute the produce in kind for a money payment calculated at a rate 20 per cent. below the rate then ruling in the Rangoon market for similar produce of similar quality.

6. The number of living cocoa-nut trees on the island when it is transferred to the lessee will be ascertained, and the lessee will be bound under penalty to maintain at least that number of living cocoa-nut trees, at once planting and rearing young trees in place of those that may die, be blown down, or otherwise destroyed from time to time. The lessee is prohibited from cutting down any cocoa-nut trees without the written permission of the officer to whom Government may delegate authority to grant such permission.

7. The Government also reserve the right to appropriate sites on the island for public buildings, including dwelling houses for officials, sanitarium, &c., paying as compensation only the cost of any improvements effected on the site appropriated. Also to appropriate any timber of spontaneous growth, and any stone, lime, sand or other raw building materials existing in the island, required for such public buildings, enclosures, &c.

8. The Government also reserve a right to refuse their assent to any transfer of the lease of the island by the lessee for the time being. In the event of such power of refusal being exercised, the lessee will be entitled to claim that Government shall themselves take over the unexpired portion of the lease on a fair estimate of the value of the improvements effected by him or his predecessors.

9. Should the lessee in any way violate the provisions of the lease, or fail to pay the stipulated rent on the dates on which it falls due, or omit to take measures for the settlement and working of the island within a term of 2 years from the date of the lease, the Government will cancel the lease and re-enter on possession of the island, without compensation.

10. The Government do not bind themselves to accept the highest, or any, tender made in reply to this advertisement. Tenders should be addressed to the Local Government or Administration of the Province in which the persons tendering may live or carry on business, and will be forwarded by such Local Government or Administration, after such enquiries into the circumstances of the tenderer and his ability to carry out the terms of his tender as may seem proper, to the Government of India in the Department of Revenue, Agriculture and Commerce. Tenders from persons in the United Kingdom should be forwarded through the Secretary of State.

11. The deed of lease to the tenderer whose offer may be accepted will be prepared at his costs and charges in all things by the Government Solicitor, and upon any questions arising between the tenderer and Government in regard to the form of the lease, the opinion of the Advocate General shall be conclusive and equally binding on both parties.

12. Tenders must be sent in within a period of twelve months from the date of this advertisement.

A. O. HUME,
Secy. to the Govt. of India.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Second publication.]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 4th July, 1878, and was referred to a Select Committee:—

No. 4 OF 1878.

A Bill to prevent the indiscriminate destruction of wild elephants in British Burma.

Whereas it is expedient to make provision to prevent the indiscriminate destruction of wild elephants

Preamble. in British Burma; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called "The British Burma Elephants Act, 1878":

It extends to all the territories for the time being administered by the Chief Commissioner of British Burma.

Local extent.

So far as regards the power to make declarations and rules, it shall come into force on the passing thereof.

Commencement.

In other respects it shall come into force on the first day of September, 1878.

Destruction of wild elephants prohibited.

2. No person shall destroy or injure, or attempt to destroy or injure, any wild elephant except—

(a) in defence of himself or some other person;

(b) when such elephant is found injuring houses or cultivation, or upon or in the immediate vicinity of any main public road or railway; or

(c) as permitted by a license granted under this Act.

3. The Deputy Commissioner of a District may, subject to such rules as may from time to time be made under this Act, grant licenses to shoot wild male elephants upon waste or forest lands the property of Government.

4. The Chief Commissioner may, from time to time,— Power to declare what are main roads, declare what shall be deemed to be main public roads within the meaning of this Act, and make rules consistent with this Act for regulating (a) the grant and renewal of licenses under this Act, (b) the fees to be charged on such grant and renewal, and (c) the time during which such licenses shall continue in force.

All such declarations and rules shall be published in the local official Gazette.

5. Whoever, in contravention of section two, destroys or injures, or attempts to destroy or injure, any wild elephant, shall be punished with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, and the license (if any) granted to him under this Act shall become void.

And any person convicted of a second offence under this Act shall be punished with imprisonment which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

6. Any officer of Revenue or Police who may discover any person shooting, or attempting to shoot, any wild elephant upon waste or forest land the property of Government, may require such person to produce and show a license granted to him under this Act. Any person who, on such request, wilfully refuses or is unable to produce and show such license as aforesaid, shall, in addition to any other punishment to which he may be liable under this Act, be punished with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

7. Every prosecution under this Act shall be commenced within six months from the commission of the offence in respect of which it is instituted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The slaughter of wild elephants, chiefly of males, whose tusks have reached a marketable size, but in some localities of both males and females, is being extensively practised in British Burma. To prevent this wholesale and indiscriminate destruction—which, if unchecked, must ultimately lead to the extinction of the breed,—the present Bill has been framed.

The provisions of this Bill are very similar to those of Madras Act I of 1873, from which it differs more in form and arrangement than in substance. In common with the Madras Act it prohibits, under penalty, the destruction of wild elephants, except in certain cases, and it provides for the grant of licenses for shooting wild male elephants upon waste or forest lands the property of Government, and for the making of rules as to the grant and renewal of such licenses.

It differs, however, from the Madras Act in omitting the provision of that Act permitting the destruction of wild male elephants upon private waste or forest lands, as there are no private proprietors of forest land in British Burma, and where waste lands have been granted there are no elephants.

[Second publication.]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 4th July, 1878, and was referred to a Select Committee:—

No. 5 of 1878.

A Bill to amend the Code of Civil Procedure.

For the purpose of amending the Code of Civil Procedure; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. In section 4, the words and figures “the Panjáb Courts Act, 1865,” and “the Panjáb Appeals Act, 1873,” shall be omitted; and after the words “local law,” in each of the places where they occur, the words “now or hereafter in force” shall be inserted.

2. In section 43, for the words “arising out of,” the words “which the plaintiff is entitled to make in respect of” shall be substituted; and in the same section, paragraphs one and two, and section 50, clause (f), for the words “his claim,” the words “the thing which he is entitled to claim” shall be substituted.

3. To section 51 the following proviso shall be added (namely):—
Amendment of section 51.

“Provided that if the plaintiff, by reason of absence or for other good cause, is unable to sign the plaint, it may, with the permission of the Court, be signed on his behalf by his duly authorized agent.”

4. In sections 51 and 393, for the word “subscribed,” the word “signed” shall be substituted: in section 115, for the word “subscribed” (in each of the places where it occurs) and the word “subscribing,” the words “signed” and “signing” shall be respectively substituted; and in section 403, for the words “subscribed” and “subscription,” the words “signed” and “signing” shall be respectively substituted.

5. To the last paragraph of section 52 the following words shall be added (namely): “or unless the Court is satisfied that the verification has been signed by the person purporting to make it.”

6. In section 58, for the words “has filed,” the words “causes to be filed” shall be substituted.

7. In section 69, for the word “residence,” the word “abode” shall be substituted.

8. In section 82, paragraph two, after the words “Where the,” the words “defendant resides within the jurisdiction of the Court and the” shall be inserted.

9. In section 136, after the word “discovery” (in each of the places in which it occurs), the word “production” shall be inserted.

10. In section 168, for the words “may issue,” the words “shall issue” shall be substituted.

11. In section 199, after the words “as to,” the words “pronouncing judgment and” shall be inserted.

12. In section 211, for the words “land or other,” the words “the recovery of immoveable” shall be substituted; and in section 212, before “immoveable,” the words “the recovery of” shall be inserted.

13. In section 229, for the words “Native Prince or State in India,” the words “Foreign Prince or State” shall be substituted.

14. In section 246, explanation II, after the words "assignor as," the words "in respect of judgment-debts due" shall be inserted.

15. In section 264, after the words "the same," the words "and not bound by the decree" shall be inserted.

16. In section 268, last paragraph, for the words "property attached may be sold," the words "Court may, on the application of the decree-holder, sell the property attached" shall be substituted.

17. In section 295, first proviso, after the words "shall not," the words "as such" shall be inserted.

18. In section 329, for the words "obstruction or resistance," the words "resistance or obstruction" shall be substituted.

19. In section 332, first paragraph, for the word "defendant," the word "judgment-debtor" shall be substituted.

20. In section 335, for the first paragraph, the following shall be substituted (namely):—

"If the purchaser of any such property is resisted or obstructed by any person, other than the judgment-debtor, claiming in good faith a right to the present possession thereof, or if in delivering possession thereof any person is dispossessed, the Court, on the complaint of the purchaser or the person so dispossessed, shall enquire into the matter of the resistance, obstruction or dispossession, as the case may be, and pass such order thereon as it thinks fit."

21. In section 339, for the words "proper officer of the Court," the words "officer in charge of the jail" shall be substituted; and from the proviso to section 341, the word "third" shall be omitted.

22. In sections 362 and 363, for the words "cause of action," the words "right to sue" shall be substituted.

23. In section 366, paragraph one, after the word "If," the words "within the time limited by law" shall be inserted; and for the words "Court may," the words "Court shall, on the application of the defendant," shall be substituted.

24. In section 406, for the word "shall," the words "may if he thinks fit" shall be substituted.

25. In section 413, for the word "Refusal," the words and figures "An order of refusal made under section 409" shall be substituted.

26. In section 424, after the words "against a public officer," the words "in respect of an act alleged to be done by him in his official-capacity" shall be inserted; and in sections 428 and 429, after the words "public officer," the words "in respect of such act as aforesaid" shall be inserted.

27. In section 483, after the words "portion of his property," the words "within the jurisdiction" shall be inserted.

28. In section 484, after the word "suit," the words "or that he has with such intent quitted the jurisdiction of the Court, leaving therein property belonging to him" shall be inserted.

29. In section 497, clause one, after the word "injunction," the words "which it has granted" shall be inserted.

30. In section 544, for the words "decree and," the words "decree, and thereupon" shall be substituted.

31. In section 588, clause (e), for the words and letters "clauses (d) and (d)," the words and letters "clauses (b) and (c)" shall be substituted: after clause (f), the following clause shall be inserted (namely): "(ff) orders rejecting applications under section 108, for an order to set aside a decree ex parte:" to clause (h) the following words shall be added (namely): "and orders under section 170, for the sale of attached property:" and from clause (j), the following words shall be omitted (namely): "of the same nature with appealable orders made in the course of a suit."

32. In section 638, for the figures and word "16 and 17," the figures and word "16, 17 and 19" shall be substituted.

33. In section 648, for the first eighteen words the following words shall be substituted (namely): "If any Court desires to arrest any person residing, or attach any property."

34. In section 652, after the words "connected with," the words "its own procedure or" shall be inserted.

35. In the first schedule to the said Code, column third, opposite "XI of 1865," for the figures and word "11, paragraph 2," the figures and word "11, 19, paragraph 2," shall be substituted; and opposite "V of 1866," after the word "inclusive," the words "and the schedule" shall be inserted.

36. In this Act the words "section" and "sections" respectively mean section and sections of the Code of Civil Procedure.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The new Code of Civil Procedure, Act X of 1877, has now been eight months in operation, and the object of this Bill is to make some amendments which have proved to be necessary or expedient.

Section 4 of the Code saves "any local law prescribing a special procedure for suits between landlord and tenant." It has been held that the local laws here referred to are only local laws in force when the Code was passed. The result, of course, is to debar the local legislatures from dealing with such suits. The Bill accordingly amends section 4 so as to save clearly all such laws, whether passed before or after the date of the Code.

Doubt has been felt whether (notwithstanding the provisions of section 36) the plaint may, in case of the plaintiff's absence, be subscribed on his behalf by his duly authorized agent. The Bill amends section 51 so as to preclude this doubt.

Section 52 of the Code declares that the Court "shall examine" witnesses to the verification of complaints under section 51, unless the person making the verification is present. This rule can hardly be obeyed when, for example, the plaint is verified in Calcutta and the suit is to be instituted in Madras. The Bill accordingly relieves the Court from this duty when it is satisfied that the verification has been signed by the person purporting to make it.

Section 229 of the Code provides for the execution in British India of decrees of Courts established by the authority of the Governor General in Council "in the territories of any Native Prince or State in India." It has been held that Courts such as that of the Resident at Mandalay are not within the operation of this section. The Bill accordingly substitutes for "Native Prince or State in India" the words "Foreign Prince or State."

The High Court at Fort William has pointed out that section 335 of the Code does not provide for the case in which property has been sold in execution of a decree and in delivering possession a person claiming a right to the present possession is dispossessed. The Bill amends section 335 so as to meet this case.

When a judgment-debtor is imprisoned and the District Court is situate at a long distance from the jail, some inconvenience has been caused by the requirement of section 339 of the Code that the monthly payment of subsistence-money should be made to the proper officer of the Court. For such officer the Bill substitutes the officer in charge of the jail.

Section 588 of the Code has been amended so as to provide an appeal where an application under section 108 to set aside a decree ex parte has been rejected. An appeal is also given against orders for sale of attached property under section 170. And from clause (j), the words "of the same nature with appealable orders made in the course of a suit" have been omitted. The result will be to restore the first of the two appeals given in effect by Act XXIII of 1861, section 11, against all orders determining any question relating to the execution of a decree.

Section 652 of the Code empowers the High Courts to make subsidiary rules to regulate the procedure of the subordinate Courts. But it gives no power to make like rules for the High Courts themselves. In the case of the chartered High Courts, this omission is harmless; for the matter is sufficiently provided for elsewhere. But in the case of other High Courts (as defined in Act I of 1868), the omission has been found to cause inconvenience, and section 652 has been accordingly amended.

The other amendments (some of which are merely corrections of clerical or typographical errors) do not require special notice.

THE COUNCIL OF THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL OF INDIA, FOR THE PURPOSE OF MAKING REGULATIONS UNDER THE PROVISIONS OF THE ACT OF PARLIAMENT 24 & 25 VIC., CAP. 67.

The Council met at Government House on Thursday, the 4th July, 1878.

PRESENT:

His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General of India, G.M.S.I., presiding.
 His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of the Panjáb, C.S.I.
 His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, G.C.B.
 The Hon'ble Sir A. J. Arbuthnot, K.C.S.I.
 Colonel the Hon'ble Sir Andrew Clarke, R.E., K.C.M.G., C.B.
 The Hon'ble Sir J. Strachey, G.C.S.I.
 Lieutenant-General the Hon'ble Sir E. B. Johnson, K.C.B.
 The Hon'ble Whitley Stokes, C.S.I.
 The Hon'ble A. R. Thompson, C.S.I.
 The Hon'ble B. W. Colvin.
 The Hon'ble Muntáz-ud-Daulah Nawáb Sir Muhammad Faiz Ali Khán Bahádur, K.C.S.I.
 The Hon'ble T. H. Thornton, D.C.L., C.S.I.
 The Hon'ble F. R. Cockerell.

BRITISH BURMA ELEPHANTS BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. THORNTON introduced the Bill to prevent the indiscriminate destruction of wild elephants in British Burma, and moved that it be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Messrs. Stokes and Thompson and the Mover. He said that the circumstances which had rendered legislation necessary to prevent the indiscriminate destruction of wild elephants in British Burma had been explained by him at the last meeting of the Council. Copies of the Bill, with a Statement of Objects and Reasons, were now in the hands of Hon'ble Members. The Bill, as he had previously mentioned, was based upon a similar enactment passed for the Madras Presidency. It prohibited the destruction or injury of wild elephants without a license from the district officer, except in defence of human life, or when elephants were found in the act of injuring houses or crops, or upon, or in the immediate vicinity of, any main public road or railway. Licenses to shoot wild male elephants on Government lands might be granted by district officers under rules to be made by the Chief Commissioner of British Burma; and all persons found shooting, or attempting to shoot, wild elephants on Government lands, were bound to produce their licenses, on the requisition of any Police or Revenue-officer. Breaches against the law were punishable by fine and, in certain cases, on second conviction, by fine, or imprisonment, or both.

Such were the main provisions of the Bill as introduced: but it was right that he should mention that, late on the preceding evening after the papers had been circulated, he received from the Department over which the Hon'ble Mr. Thompson presided, certain suggestions for the improvement of the Bill. Time had not permitted the embodiment of those suggestions in the Bill now before the Council; but, as the amendments proposed did not affect the principle of the measure, it had not been considered necessary to postpone its introduction on that account. One of the suggestions was to the effect that the scope of the proposed enactment should be so far extended as to enable the Local Government of British Burma to regulate, not only the destruction, but also the capture, of wild elephants; and another suggestion was that, except when otherwise specially allowed, all persons shooting wild elephants should be bound to make over to the Government the tusks of the animal destroyed, the object of this provision being to remove what had been practically found to be the great incentive to that indiscriminate slaughter of elephants which had led to the initiation of the present measure. He need hardly say that the abovementioned suggestions would receive careful consideration in Committee, together with any other suggestions or criticisms that might be received from the local authorities of British Burma.

The Hon'ble SIR JOHN STRACHEY only wished to take the opportunity of saying, with regard to this measure, that, while he had no doubt whatever of the necessity of passing such a law for British Burma, he was under a strong impression, from what he had seen in his own experience as Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces, and from what he had heard went on elsewhere in other parts of the Bengal Presidency, that an enactment of this kind for the prevention of the destruction and capture of wild elephants was hardly less necessary in parts of that Presidency than it was in British Burma; and, although he was not in a position at that moment to enter into any details on the subject, he thought it was deserving of consideration whether the scope of the present Bill might not, with great public advantage, be extended.

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT suggested that the question was one which might be made the subject of communication between the Government of India in the Departments concerned and the Local Governments, and that the views thus obtained might advantageously be considered in the Committee on the Bill.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. THOMPSON moved that the Hon'ble Mr. Colvin, as the representative of the North-Western Provinces, be added to the Select Committee on the Bill.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. THORNTON moved that the Bill be published in the British Burma Gazette in English and in such other languages as the Local Government should think fit.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. STOKES introduced the Bill to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, and moved that it be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Sir A. Arbuthnot and the Hon'ble Messrs. Thornton and Cockereff and the Mover. He had nothing now to add to the remarks which he had made when moving for leave to introduce the Bill, save that the opportunity had been taken to cancel the reference (now obsolete) in section 4 of the Code to a pair of Acts, XIX of 1865 and IX of 1873, which had been repealed, after the passing of the Code, by the Panjáb Courts Act, 1877.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. STOKES also moved that the Bill be published in the local official Gazettes in English and in such other languages as the Local Governments should think fit.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

FERRIES BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. STOKES presented the Preliminary Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to regulate Ferries in the Panjáb, North-Western Provinces and Oudh. He said that, although there was no motion before the Council, he would just mention, with His Excellency the President's permission, that the Bill, as introduced, only extended to the Panjáb, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh: but since its publication a letter had been received from the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces, requesting that the Bill might be extended to those territories. The Secretary to the Chief Commissioner said:—

"The Chief Commissioner has noticed in Part V of recent issues of the Gazette of India a Bill to regulate Ferries in the Panjáb, North-Western Provinces and Oudh, and a careful perusal of the Bill convinces him that its provisions are suitable to these Provinces.

"Here also Bengal Regulation VI of 1819 has regulated the establishment, &c., of ferries, and the Chief Commissioner would be glad to see it replaced by the Bill now before Government."

The Committee had done that, and had also declared that the tolls and rents raised in the Central Provinces under the Bill were to be credited to the Local Government, and applied at its discretion to any of the purposes specified in the second clause of section 5 of the Central Provinces Rates Act, X of 1878.

Besides these, other important changes had been made which it was right to mention to the Council. In the first place the Committee had empowered the lessee of tolls under the Bill to surrender his lease on the expiration of two months' previous notice and on payment of such fine as the local authorities might direct. In the second place the Committee had introduced a section compelling the Police, when required, to aid the lessee or other person authorised to collect the tolls of a public ferry in the collection of his tolls. This provision was analogous to the rule contained in the Roads and Bridges Act, VIII of 1851, section 5. The Committee had not, however, thought it necessary to give power to seize carriages and animals for non-payment of toll on demand. Thirdly, it was proposed to empower the Local Government to cancel leases of ferry-tolls where misconduct was proved on the part of the lessee, or where he made default in paying his rent. This of course might be done by inserting proper provisions in the lease: but it was thought better to provide for the matter in the Bill. When the lease was cancelled, the Committee had, at the suggestion of the Government of the North-Western Provinces, authorised the Magistrate of the District to retain the ferry-boats (paying suitable compensation) until other arrangements could be made. Fourthly, it was proposed, at the suggestion of the Lieutenant-Governor of the Panjáb, to whom the Committee were much indebted for a valuable paper on the Bill, to provide a penalty for an offence which Mr. Stokes understood was of very common occurrence, that, namely, of persons refusing to leave an already overcrowded ferry-boat at the request of the toll-collector, and thus endangering human life. This particular offence was not provided for by the Penal Code.

The Committee had also provided a penalty for causing damage to bridges or boats (which the definition of 'ferry' included) by the careless navigation of vessels or rafts, and had enabled the toll-collector in such cases to seize and detain the vessel or raft pending the award of compensation for the damage.

In compliance with another suggestion of the Panjáb Government, the Committee had enabled the local officers, in certain cases of urgency, to impress boats at ferries. The Panjáb Government thought that Magistrates of Districts should be expressly empowered to impress boats when it was necessary to temporarily increase the means of transit at a ferry for the conveyance of troops or of a large camp. Experience had shown that action of this kind must occasionally be necessary, and it seemed best to legalise a course which in practice it would be impossible to avoid. The requisite provision for compensation to the owners of impressed boats had of course been made.

If the Committee had merely made those alterations in the substance of the Bill it would be desirable to publish the amended draft; but the fact that it had not yet been submitted to the officials and the people of the Central Provinces, to which territories it would now apply, seemed to render republication imperatively necessary.

The Hon'ble SIR EDWIN JOHNSON enquired whether there was any provision in the Bill giving Military officers precedence in the use of ferries. If not, he would suggest that such provision should be made. If it was considered necessary by the Military authorities to make use of a ferry,—of course only in case of emergency—he thought that they should have the right to do so to the exclusion of all others.

The Hon'ble MR. STOKES said that the Bill at present contained no such provision: a clause very like that which his hon'ble and gallant friend suggested would be found in the Indian Railway contracts and was recognised in the Railway Act (XVIII of 1854, section 2); and he would propose that the Military Department should address the Legislative Department and make the suggestion, when the Committee would take it into careful consideration.

ASSIMILATION OF POWERS (NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES AND OUDH) BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. STOKES asked leave to postpone the presentation of the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to assimilate certain powers of the Local Governments of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh.

Leave was granted.

The Council adjourned to Thursday, the 18th July, 1878.

WEEKLY CONDITION REPORT OF DISTRESSED DISTRICTS OF THE MYSORE

PROVINCE OF MYSORE.

(No. 72.)

Special Famine Report for the week ending 22nd June 1878.

Statement No. 72, regarding Famine-relief operations in the Province of Mysore, for the week ending the 22nd June 1878.

THE weather was cool and cloudy with strong wind and occasionally a slight drizzle. The want of rain is beginning to be felt and sowings are delayed, while some of the quick growing crops in the eastern districts are reported to be suffering. Locusts and grass-hoppers are still numerous. Prices fluctuate, but the tendency to rice is marked. Arrangements have been made for allowing labourers on the relief-works a subsistence allowance when prevented from working or from finishing their tasks: and the case of weakly coolies wandering to the coffee districts at this inclement season has met with special attention.

2. Imports of grain by rail amounted to 1,275 tons, or 402 tons more than last week. From Bangalore 345 tons were exported, or 36 tons less than last week.

3. The numbers employed on civil relief-works did not vary much. There were 4,154 persons, compared with 4,189 for the preceding week, being 35 fewer.

The Department Public Works maintained 12,551 labourers on the ordinary works, besides 32,976 on relief-works. The relief labourers shew an increase of 1,850 over the previous week, mainly owing to the transfer of the Sira-Mysore Road from civil to professional agency. The following is the list of the more important works:—

TOTALS			29,060	31,186

* Return not received.

5. In the famine hospitals, there were 2,157 patients, or a diminution of 71. In receipt of the village grain-dole, there were 9,902 infirm and bed-ridden people, compared with 10,324 returned for last week. At Bangalore, the following paupers were dealt with:—

Number sent to Railway Works	1,061
Ditto Special Gang	40
Ditto Relief Camp	428
Ditto Hospital	131
Total				1,660

The next statement shows the average number relieved in each district in famine hospitals, and the cost per head, and also shows the details of the numbers getting the grain-dole in their villages:—

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE, AGRICULTURE AND COMMERCE.

REPORT OF WEATHER IN INDIA FOR THE WEEK ENDING THURSDAY, JULY 11TH, 1878.

Friday, 5th July.—The changes of pressure during the preceding 24 hours have been very large. The pressure has increased over the whole of India, except at stations on the West Coast. The increase averages $\cdot 11''$ in Bengal, $\cdot 05''$ in Behar and the North-Western Provinces, $\cdot 02''$ in the Central Provinces, $\cdot 07''$ in the Deccan, and $\cdot 04''$ in Rajputana. The rise, as usual, is greatest in the Northern Punjab, and attains its maximum at Rawalpindi, where it is $\cdot 233''$. The fall along the West Coast has been slight, and is greatest at Surat, where it is $\cdot 05''$. Northern Sind and the lower valley of the Sutlej is now the area of lowest pressure.

The temperature has fallen considerably over the districts in which rain fell during the preceding day. It has also fallen in the Punjab, more especially at those stations at which the increase of pressure was greatest. The difference between the 10 A.M. temperature at Rawalpindi to-day and yesterday is $13\cdot 2^{\circ}$.

The wind in Southern Bengal is from the south and south-south-west. The easterly current up the Gangetic Valley is established over its whole extent to-day. The wind velocity over Northern India is considerably in excess of its average July amount. Thus at Sangor Island the mean velocity is $12\frac{1}{2}$ miles per hour. For the 24 hours preceding 10 A.M. to-day it was 22 miles.

The wind is also very strong at the head of the Arabian Sea. The average wind velocity at Kurrachee during the preceding 24 hours was 27 miles per hour. It is also blowing strong at Ajmere and Delhi, and probably over the whole of Rajputana. There is a distinct cyclonic motion of the air about the area of low pressure in the lower valley of the Sutlej. The wind in the Deccan and Southern India is slightly below its average strength.

The humidity has increased at the great majority of stations. The sky is more or less clouded over at all stations, except Peshawar and Jacobabad.

There has been general rain over the greater part of India during the preceding 24 hours. An average of half an inch has fallen in Assam and Bengal. Orissa had favourable rain, judging from the Cuttack and False Point returns. Western India and the Central Provinces received a fair amount of rain during the day. The amount registered this morning at Bombay was $4\cdot 21$ inches, at Rajkot 1 inch, at Belgaum 2 inches, at Khandwa $1\cdot 15$ inches, at Jubbulpore $1\cdot 26$ inches, and at Nagpore $\cdot 83$ inch. The North-Western Provinces shared very lightly in the rainfall: Bareilly received $\cdot 77$ inch; a dust-storm at Allahabad gave it a shower of $\cdot 25$ inch of rain. There was no rain in the Punjab. Passing showers occurred during the day at the majority of stations in the Madras Presidency.

Saturday, 6th July.—The barometer continues to rise over the whole of India, except Arracan, Eastern Bengal, and Assam. The amount of the increase is very variable in Northern India. It is generally greatest in Sind, Bombay, the Berars, and the Central Provinces. It is absolutely greatest at Lahore, where it amounted to two-tenths of an inch during the preceding 24 hours. The increase in the Deccan and Southern India averages $\cdot 06''$. The general tendency of the variations during the 24 hours has been towards equalization of pressure in Northern India. The pressure is lowest in the north of the Punjab to-day. The difference of pressure between Northern and Southern India has now diminished to $\cdot 35''$.

The temperature is increasing at the majority of stations. It has decreased in the western half of the North-Western Provinces and the adjacent districts of the Punjab.

The wind is slightly stronger at the head of the Bay of Bengal and the Arabian Sea than it was during the 24 hours of the last report. It is below the average over the whole of Southern India. The wind directions of the Bengal stations again show the same westerly tendency as hitherto. Over the Deccan and Southern India the wind direction is mainly south-west. South-westerly winds at Benares and Allahabad are evidently due to the monsoon current from the Bombay Coast. The wind directions in North-Western India now indicate a cyclonic motion of the atmosphere about the head of the Arabian Sea.

The humidity has increased over the whole of India, except the area of diminishing temperature in Upper India.

The sky is overcast in Assam, Bengal, Behar, the North-Western Provinces, Central India, the Central Provinces, and the Berars. It is partially clouded in the Punjab. The sky is clearer in the Deccan and Southern India than it was during the preceding two days.

The rainfall is slightly less than it was yesterday. It continues to be deficient in quantity over the North-Western Provinces. Rain occurred during the previous 24 hours at Benares, Allahabad, and at Agra. The amount was very slight at the two former stations; $\cdot 38$ inch fell at Agra. The weather in the Punjab is unsettled: a dust-storm gave Lahore ·11 inch. Behar continues to receive fair rain: 1·32 inches were registered at Patna this morning. The rainfall in Southern Bengal is below the average. Western India and the whole of the Nerbudda Valley continues to receive moderate rain from the Bombay Coast. The rainfall at Bombay at present is excessive: 3·01 inches were registered this morning. It has already received over 20·78 inches this month: the average July fall is 24·3 inches. The rainfall registered at the stations of the Madras Presidency is much less to-day than it was yesterday.

Sunday, 7th July.—The changes of pressure during the preceding 24 hours have been small in amount compared with the variations of the two previous days. The barometer is still rising in Central, Western, and Southern India. It is, on the other hand, either steady or falling in Northern India. The decrease of pressure averages ·02" in Bengal and Behar. The changes are very small in the North-Western Provinces.

The increase of pressure is greatest at Deesa, amounting to ·11". The barometer was low at this and the neighbouring stations yesterday, and the increase of pressure has been an adjustment towards equalization of pressure. In Central and Southern India the increase during the 24 hours averages ·04". The barometer is beginning to fall in Ceylon.

The pressure is to-day lowest at Jacobabad and Mooltan. The difference of pressure between Northern and Southern India has increased to four-tenths of an inch.

The temperature is nowhere excessive to-day. The highest temperature recorded at 10 A.M. was 98·8° at Jacobabad.

The wind velocity is, as yesterday, strong at the head of the Bay of Bengal, and along the coast of Sind and Guzerat. The wind velocity is below the average in the Deccan. Easterly winds at Patna, Lucknow, Bareilly, and Roorkee show that the Bay of Bengal monsoon current is in full possession over the portion of the Gangetic Valley north of the Ganges. Westerly or south-westerly winds are prevalent to-day at Hazaribagh, Benares, Allahabad, Agra, and Delhi; and are probably due to the current from the Bombay Coast.

The most important feature in the humidity to-day is the general increase in the Punjab. The sky is, with very few exceptions, overcast over the whole of India to-day.

The chief feature in the rainfall of the preceding day, registered at 10 A.M. this morning, is the heavy fall over the west half of the North-Western Provinces. The amount registered at Roorkee, where the heaviest fall occurred, was 6·44 inches, at Agra 3·9 inches, and at Bareilly 1·42 inches. The rainfall extended to Delhi and Lahore in the Punjab, but the amount there was small. The more northerly stations of the Punjab continue to have stormy weather: dust-storms passed over Mooltan, Dera Ismail Khan, and Rawalpindi; 1·57 inches of rain fell at Rawalpindi during the storm, and ·31 inch at Dera Ismail Khan. Bengal, Behar, and the Central Provinces received very light showers during the day. Moderate rain, judging from the Purneah returns, appears to be falling in Northern Bengal at present.

The Madras Presidency continues to receive fair rainfall: 1·78 inches were registered at Masulipatam this morning, and ·34 inch at Madras.

Monday, 8th July.—The pressure has diminished over the whole of India to the west of a line from Ghazee pore (in the extreme east of the North-Western Provinces) to Vizagapatam. It has risen to the east of this line, or in Arracan, Assam, Bengal, Behar, Chota Nagpore, and Orissa. The barometer has fallen upwards of one-tenth of an inch during the preceding 24 hours over the south of the Punjab and Northern Sind. The fall is greatest at Jacobabad, where it amounts to ·117".

The barometer is at present steady in Southern India, the Deccan, and the eastern half of the North-Western Provinces.

The pressure is to-day in excess of the mean pressure over the whole of India, except the area of heavy rainfall in Upper India. The excess is, and has been for some time, greatest at the stations of Chittagong, Dacca, Saugor Island, and Calcutta, or in the districts of Bengal which have hitherto received rainfall much below the average. The local area of depression in the North-Western Provinces, the centre of which was at Allahabad last week, has moved north-westward. The centre for the past 48 hours has been near Bareilly.

The pressure is at present lowest in Northern Sind and Rajputana, Southern Punjab and the Meerut division of the North-Western Provinces. The difference between the pressure in Northern and Southern India is five-tenths of an inch.

The temperature in Southern Bengal is from 3° to 5° above the average for the month. It is nowhere excessive. The maximum 10 A.M. temperature continues to be registered at Jacobabad: it was this morning only 96·8°.

The wind is very strong at the head of the Arabian Sea. It is also stronger than usual over the area of low pressure in Northern India. The wind velocity continues to be considerably below the average in Behar and the eastern half of the North-Western Provinces, and also in the Deccan and Southern India.

The wind directions in Bengal continue to present the same westerly tendency as hitherto.

The sky is everywhere overcast, except in Bengal and along the Arracan Coast. In this area the weather is fine, with passing clouds. Elsewhere it is generally dark and gloomy.

There has been heavy and persistent rain over the western districts of the North-Western Provinces, and the adjacent districts of the Punjab, during the preceding 24 hours: 1·61 inches were recorded at Bareilly this morning, 3·01 inches at Roorkee, 3·21 inches at Delhi, 2·05 inches at Lahore, and ·63 inch at Agra; light showers continue to fall in the Allahabad and Benares divisions. Lucknow received ·34 inch rain during a dust-storm.

Fair rain continues to fall in Assam. Southern Bengal had fine weather during the day, with occasional light showers. 2·67 inches fell at Hazaribagh.

Western India received moderate rainfall during the day: 2·46 inches fell at Surat, ·66 inch at Deesa, and ·3 inch at Bombay, Akola, and Belgaum.

The rainfall is at present slightly deficient in the Central Provinces. In the Madras Presidency the sky is generally overcast: moderate rainfall is falling over the greater part of it. 1·26 inches were registered at Masulipatam this morning.

Tuesday, 9th July.—The pressure has increased considerably during the past 24 hours in Northern India. Northern Sind and the valley of the Sutlej continue to be the area of greatest and most rapid barometric change. The increase at Lahore during the 24 hours was ·174", and at Jacobabad ·22".

The barometer has fallen slightly in the districts south of the Godavery, and in Assam, Northern Bengal, and Behar. The amount of the fall is greatest at Patna and at Bangalore, for which it is ·027".

Bareilly continues to be the centre of the area of local barometric depression in the North-Western Provinces: the pressure at this station is ·03" less than at the neighbouring stations of Lucknow, Agra, and Roorkee.

The range of pressure over India (i.e., the difference between the pressure of Southern and Northern India) has diminished considerably during the past 24 hours: it was only three-tenths of an inch at 10 A.M. to-day.

The unusually great humidity of the Punjab and Sind has reduced the temperature over this area much below the average. The seat of maximum 10 A.M. temperature has to-day been transferred from Jacobabad to Allahabad: the temperature at the latter station was 93·2° this morning.

The wind is strong at Kurrachee, and Rajkot at the head of the Arabian Sea. The wind velocity is much below the average in the Deccan, Southern India, and in Behar.

The wind directions are, as is usual when the barometric range in India is diminished, more or less abnormal. The wind this morning is from the west-south-west at Saugor Island, and from the south-west at Calcutta. This unusual persistence of south-westerly winds in Southern Bengal is most probably due to the excessive pressure over this area as compared with Assam and Northern Bengal. The wind at Lucknow, Roorkee, and Delhi is from the north-east, and at Bareilly from the east-north-east.

The sky is fully clouded over the greater part of India. It is less clouded than yesterday in the Deccan and Madras Presidency. The weather over this area, and in Southern Bengal, is fine with passing clouds. The sky is slightly clouded in the north of the Punjab. In the North-Western Provinces, and adjacent districts of the Punjab, the clouds are low, and moving rapidly.

Heavy rain continues to fall over nearly the same area in Upper India as yesterday: 7·16 inches fell at Bareilly during the preceding 24 hours, 3·63 inches at Delhi, ·63 inch at Roorkee, and ·5 inch at Lucknow. Behar, and the adjacent districts of the North-Western Provinces, received fair rain during the day: 2·01 inches were registered at Patna this morning, 1·27 inches at Benares, and ·18 inch at Allahabad. Light scattered showers occurred in Bengal and Assam: ·8 inch at Purneah indicates that the rainfall in Northern Bengal is, as hitherto, much heavier than in the southern districts of Bengal.

Moderate rain fell over the Bombay and Madras Presidencies, and in the Central Provinces: ·34 inch was registered at each of the stations, Masulipatam and Bellary, and ·25 inch at Bangalore.

1·8 inches fell at Ajmere, and ·45 inch at Mooltan.

Wednesday, 10th July.—The changes of pressure during the past 24 hours have been small and unimportant over the whole of India. The barometer fell during the day over the greater part of the Punjab, and in a belt of country including Assam, Bengal, Orissa, Chota Nagpore, the Central Provinces, and the northern districts of the Deccan. The decrease of pressure was greatest at Purneah, where it amounted to ·076".

The pressure has increased by small amounts over the remainder of India during the previous 24 hours. The greatest rise occurred at those stations of the North-Western Provinces which have had heavy rain during the preceding 48 hours.

The pressure in Southern Bengal is to-day ·15" above the average, in the North-Western Provinces ·11", in the Punjab ·14", at Bombay ·09", in the Central Provinces and Orissa ·13", and in the Deccan and the Madras Presidency from ·03" to ·08". The pressure at Colombo is to-day very slightly (·01") below the normal amount for the month.

The comparison of these figures shows that the pressure is relatively lowest in the Madras and Bombay Presidencies, and in the Deccan. It is also relatively low in the North-Western Provinces. It is, on the other hand, relatively highest in Southern Bengal. The connection between the distribution of pressure and the rainfall is very marked.

The area of local barometric depression in the North-Western Provinces continues. The centre was at Lucknow this morning.

The temperature has increased generally during the past 24 hours, except in Southern India, where heavy rain is now falling.

The wind velocity is above the average at Sangor Island, Calcutta, Sibsagar, Delhi, and Bareilly. It is below it at the majority of stations, more especially in the Deccan and Southern India, where it is barely half the average July velocity. The wind directions are again abnormal in Northern India. Southerly winds, with an unusual westerly element, continue in Bengal. There is a feebly-marked cyclonic circulation over the area of local depression in the North-Western Provinces.

The sky continues more or less clouded over the whole of India. It is overcast in Assam, the North-Western Provinces, Bombay, and the Central Provinces.

• The rainfall of Northern India is now diminishing in amount. Rain has fallen over the whole of the North-Western Provinces. It was heaviest in Oudh and the central districts of the North-Western Provinces: the fall at Lucknow during the day was 2·21 inches, at Shah-jahanpore 2·7 inches, and at Morar 1·58 inches.

The rise of the barometer in Northern India, and the diminution of the wind velocity over the greater part of India (more especially Southern India), or, in other words, the retardation of the south-west current over Southern India, has been again followed by a considerable increase in the rainfall over this area. The Madras Presidency has, in consequence, received heavy rainfall during the past 24 hours. The following are the more important falls — 2·7 inches at Nagpore, 2·66 inches at Bombay, 1·85 inches at Hyderabad, 2·85 inches at Cuddapah, and 1·9 inches at Erode.

23 inches have fallen at Mussoorie from the last week in April to the present date: the amount during the same period last year was only 9 inches.

Thursday, 11th July.—The barometric changes during the preceding 24 hours have been comparatively small and unimportant. The distribution of pressure to-day is almost identical with what it was at the same hour yesterday. The distribution is almost identical over the whole part of Bengal, in Assam, the Deccan, Madras, the western districts of the North-Western Provinces, the south-west districts of the Punjab, Northern Rajputana, and Sind. It has risen elsewhere. The barometric range to-day over India is ·35", and is consequently below the July average.

The temperature has risen during the preceding 24 hours with the decrease of the rainfall. The stations at which it has diminished have all experienced heavy rain during the day.

The wind directions in Bengal are more westerly than they were yesterday, and the easterly winds at Purneah have given place to a west-south-westerly wind. The wind velocity in Southern Bengal during the preceding 24 hours is slightly greater than what it was for the previous day.

The sky is overcast in Assam, Northern Bengal, and Behar, and is partially clouded over the rest of India. The amount of cloud is diminishing in the North-Western Provinces and in Southern India.

The amount and extent of rainfall have been less during the past 24 hours than they were the previous day. The only area of general heavy rainfall during the day extends eastwards from Allahabad to Silchar. The following are the rainfalls over this area:—Allahabad 1·92 inches, Patna 2·71 inches, Purneah 1·26 inches, Rungpore 1·7 inches, Goalpara 2·07 inches, and Silchar 2·58 inches.

The Punjab has had no rain during the day, except at Rawalpindi, where a dust-storm (also felt at Peshawur) preceded a very heavy shower of 3·75 inches.

The amount of rain has been generally moderate during the past 24 hours in Central and Western India, the only heavy showers occurring at Khandwa (2·9 inches) and at Surat (·99 inch).

Light showers have fallen at the majority of stations in the Madras Presidency. Telegrams from Coimbatore and Madura indicate that general rain has fallen over Southern India during the past three days.

Summary.—The barometric range over India, or the difference of pressure between Northern and Southern India, has varied rapidly during the week. On Thursday, July 4th, it was ·5", or a tenth of an inch above its mean value. It diminished until the 6th, when it was ·35"; increased again until the 8th, when it was ·43"; diminished until the 10th, when it was ·31". It is to-day (Friday, July 12th) increasing.

The variations in the rainfall have to a certain extent followed the variations of the barometric range. The increased barometric range at the beginning of the week was accompanied by increased strength of the monsoon current. This was preceded (as noted in the last report) in the Punjab by diminished temperature and increased humidity. Heavy rainfall began in the western districts of the North-West Provinces on the 6th, and extended on the 7th to the Punjab, on which date the south-west monsoon may be assumed to have advanced and established itself in the Punjab. The rainfall that followed this high barometric range on the 4th and 5th of July was general over the whole of India. It fortunately gave abundant rain to those districts of the North-West Provinces that required it most. Amongst the heavy daily falls which occurred during this period were:—Agra 3·9 inches, recorded on the 7th; Roorkee 6·4 inches, recorded on the 7th, and 3·0 inches registered on the 8th; Delhi 3·21 inches registered on the 8th, and 3·63 inches registered on the 9th; Lahore 2·01 inches registered on the 8th. The rainfall was general except in the southern districts of Oudh, and the eastern districts of the North-West Provinces.

With the diminution of the barometric range, on the 9th and 10th the rainfall decreased rapidly over this area. The partial cessation of the rainfall in Northern India was followed by heavy rainfall over the whole of Southern India. The general conditions of this heavy rainfall seem to be similar to those which caused considerable rainfall over this area last week. Apparently, it was due to the retardation of the monsoon current over Southern India, which followed the diminished barometric range or gradient that was established on the 9th and 10th. Amongst the heavy rainfalls which occurred in Central and Southern India during this period are:—

	Inches.
Bombay	2·66
Nagpore	2·70
Bangalore	2·70
Cochin	2·33
Hyderabad (Deccan)	1·85
Cuddapah	2·85
Erode	1·90

The rainfall registered on the 10th and 11th was, as already stated, generally moderate in amount in Northern India. Heavy rainfalls occurred during this period over those districts of the North-Western Provinces which had hitherto received a scanty supply. Lucknow received 2·21 inches during the 9th, and Allahabad 1·92 inches on the 10th.

The monsoon has consequently made its final advance during the past week, and is now established over the whole of India. The final advance was marked by excessive rainfalls in the adjacent districts of the Punjab. The majority of the atmospheric changes in India are oscillatory in their nature.

The increased baric gradient which gave heavy rainfall to Northern India was followed, as usual, by diminished baric gradient. This was accompanied by a diminution of the strength of the current, and an apparent retardation over Central and Southern India, which gave general heavy rainfall to this portion of India.

The general character of the rainfall during the first eleven days of the month is shown by the following table:—

	Rainfall from July 1st to July 11th.	Average rainfall, July.		Rainfall from July 1st to July 11th.	Average rainfall, July.
Sibsagar	4·61	16·07	Rawulpindi	5·56	8·28
Chittagong	3·51	22·17	Peshawar	None.	1·75
Calcutta	1·55	13·23	Bombay	26·15	24·30
Purneah	5·75	14·90	Akola	3·91	6·84
Cuttack	3·87	12·32	Belgaum	5·00	15·03
Patna	7·68	9·77	Jubbulpore	2·20	18·41
Allahabad	2·72	12·04	Khandwa	7·07	10·85
Lucknow	3·05	14·10	Nagpore	6·7	12·55
Bareilly	17·79	15·20	Bangalore	5·66	3·75
Roorkee	10·56	12·65	Madras	3·09	3·81
Delhi	7·10	7·41	Cochin	3·45	22·80
Lahore	2·53	6·29

The above shows that rainfall quite up to the average has fallen over the whole of India (so far as can be judged by these returns) except in Southern Bengal, at Allahabad, Lucknow, Jubbulpore, and probably the neighbouring districts.

Heavy rainfall was registered this morning (July 12th) in Southern Bengal. The amount at Chittagong was 7·5 inches, and at Dacca 6·5 inches. The monsoon has consequently up to the present date given fair rainfall almost without exception to the whole of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE, AGRICULTURE AND COMMERCE.

REPORTS ON THE STATE OF THE SEASON AND PROSPECTS OF THE CROPS FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 9TH JULY 1878.

GENERAL REMARKS.—In Madras more or less rain is reported from all districts except Tinnevely; it has however generally been light in the Southern districts on the East Coast; there has been good rain in South Canara, but not much in Malabar; prospects are reported to be “slightly improved in some districts.” The total number on works is 139,798, and gratuitously relieved 75,814, more by 2,177 and 1,684 than last week respectively. In Mysore good rain has fallen in Bangalore, Kolar, Tánkúr, Mysore and Shimoga, and light showers elsewhere: more is required in Hassan and Kadur; the crops are in good condition, and prospects are favourable; the total number on relief works for the week ending the 29th ultimo was 37,244, and gratuitously relieved 12,231, more by 114 and 172 than in the previous week. In Bombay very heavy rain has fallen in the Konkan, and good general rain throughout Guzerat, Kattywar, Kanara and Khandesh; fair rain has fallen all over the Deccan and the Southern Mabratta Country, except in parts of Ahmednagar, Poona, Satara and Belgaum; some rain is also reported from Sind, where the river continues high. In the Central Provinces there has been general rain, but more is wanted in Biláspur, Sambalpur and Jubulpore; sowings are being pushed on. In Berar good rain has fallen, and prospects are favourable. In Central India general rain appears to have fallen, and prospects are good. In Rajputana also the monsoon has set in, and except in Marwar, where rain is wanted, prospects seem to be favourable. In Bengal heavy rain has fallen in the Northern districts, and good rain elsewhere; more is wanted in Balasore, Sarun and a few other districts. In Assam there has been general rain and prospects are good. In Burma the fall, though generally fair, appears to have been light in some of the inland districts. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh there has now been general rain, which was very heavy in Rohilkhand; prospects are good. In the Punjab very heavy rain has fallen at Delhi, and good rain elsewhere.

EDUCATION.

The 18th July 1878.

No. 184.—The subjoined Circular, issued by the "Lords of the Committee of Council on Education" in England, contains much that may be useful to Inspectors and Managers of Schools in India; and it is accordingly republished for general information:—

CIRCULAR TO HER MAJESTY'S INSPECTORS.

● EDUCATION DEPARTMENT, WHITEHALL,
16th January 1878.

SIR,—As it has now become evident that, by the operation of recent legislation, the great majority of the labouring classes will be virtually compelled to send their children to public elementary schools, which are aided, and therefore to a large extent regulated, by the State, a heavy additional responsibility is imposed upon the Government with respect to the character of the schools in which these children will be obliged to spend all their school life.

It becomes, therefore, more than ever the duty of the Education Department to do all in their power to secure both that the most suitable and useful instruction, and such as is mostly desired by their parents, is furnished for the children, and that their moral training is fully provided for during the years which they will be compelled to spend in public elementary schools. To enable the Department to fulfil this duty, the Lords of the Committee of Council on Education must principally rely upon the action and influence of Her Majesty's Inspectors in their respective districts; and from their knowledge of the zeal and public spirit of their officers, they feel that they may rely with confidence upon their cordial cooperation. Considering, however, the great increase in the staff of Inspectors since 1870, and the large number of recent appointments,* and looking also to the increased responsibility now cast upon the Inspectors by the important changes in the educational system which have been made in the last three years both by legislation and by the Codes, further directions appear to be desirable.

In conveying to you the following instructions from their Lordships, I am desired to inform you that, in arriving at the conclusions which are herein embodied, they have carefully considered the reports of the most experienced Inspectors during the last four years, as well as the many representations made to them during that period by Managers of Schools, and by other persons of knowledge and experience in educational matters.

Education Act.—With regard to your action respecting the recent Education Acts, detailed directions are not needed, as their Lordships have no cause for doubting that you will, as heretofore, do all in your power to promote their successful working, being careful to maintain an entire impartiality between schools under different kinds of management, and to avoid even the appearance of using your influence in favour of either voluntary or board schools, or of taking a part in local differences on these matters.

There are, however, some general instructions with regard to these Acts to which I am desired to call your attention.

While their Lordships are most anxious that you should afford to any local authorities that may apply to you, the benefit of such advice, on matters covered by your instructions, as may assist them in bringing into full and satisfactory operation the important powers with which they have been entrusted, it is necessary that you should bear in mind, in the case of school attendance committees appointed by boards of guardians, that they are mainly responsible to the Local Government Board and are assisted and advised in the discharge of their duties by the Inspectors of that Board. You will, therefore, be very careful in your communications with such committees to shew that you have no authority to dictate to them, or, unless specially directed to do so by this Department under section 27 or 43 of the Act of 1876, to ask for an account of any of their proceedings.

I should inform you, at the same time, that, during the present year, you will probably be specially directed, under the Act of 1876, to report to their Lordships any part of your district in which the local authorities are not thoroughly fulfilling the duties imposed upon them by those Acts, in respect of the education, the school attendance, and the employment of the children of their districts.

Conscience Clause.—If any cases are brought before you or come to your knowledge, of an infraction of the seventh section of the Act of 1870, i.e., the Time Table Conscience Clause, you will not fail, acting in the spirit of the Act of 1876 (sec. 7), forthwith to communicate with their Lordships on the subject; and you will take special care to point out to school managers and teachers the importance of the strictest adherence, in letter and spirit, to the provisions of that Conscience Clause, and to remind them, where necessary, of the total forfeiture of grant which their Lordships would at once inflict, should those provisions be persistently evaded or neglected. It should never be forgotten that a child withdrawn from the whole or part of the religious teaching or observances of a school, should in no way be subjected to disparaging treatment on account of his parent having thought fit to avail himself of his statutory right in this matter. But, on the other hand, in your communications respecting the arrangements of the time-tables, you will remember that you have no right to interfere in any way with the liberty allowed by statute to managers of providing for religious teaching and observances at the beginning and end of the two daily school meetings. In your allusions to this subject and to the Conscience Clause, you will be most careful not to lead managers or teachers to suppose that the complete provision which has now been made by the Legislature for protecting the rights of conscience, as an essential part of a system of compulsory attendance, and the limitation of the necessary examination by Her Majesty's Inspectors to secular subjects, imply that the State is indifferent to the moral character of the schools, or in any way unfriendly to religious teaching.

Character of Schools and Teachers.—In connection with this subject, as affected by the Code, and your own action as a representative of the Department, I have to direct your attention to their Lordships' views respecting the moral character of the schools, and the character and condition of the teachers.

My Lords are anxious that you should lose no suitable opportunity of impressing upon both managers and teachers the great responsibility which rests upon them, over and above the intellectual teaching, in regard to the moral training of the children committed to their charge. You will express your special approbation of all schools where, from knowledge which you have gained by repeated visits, you observe that a high moral tone is maintained; you will not fail to enlarge upon the Article (19),* in the Code respecting discipline as showing the interest taken by Parliament and by their Lordships in this all-important subject; and, where it is not satisfactorily attended to, you will not hesitate to recommend a reduction of the grant. You will, in the spirit of that Article, urge the managers to do all in their power to secure that the teachers maintain a high standard of honesty, truth, and honour in their schools, and that they not only inculcate upon the children the general duty of consideration and respect for others, but also the special duty of obedience to, and reverence for, their parents.

Personal oversight of the Schools by Managers.—Their Lordships have observed with great regret the large number of cases of falsification by teachers of the registers of attendance which have been brought to their notice. They have felt it their duty to visit in the severest manner all cases of deliberate fraud, as it is obvious that persons who are guilty of such fraudulent acts are unfit for the care of children. You will therefore be careful to remind teachers, at proper times, of the very serious nature of such offences. The reduction of the grant which is made in many of these cases will, it is hoped, lead managers to see that it is their interest, as well as their duty, to give close attention to the details of the daily working of the schools under their control. The experience of many years has shown that the best schools have generally been those where the managers exercise a personal supervision over them, and are in constant friendly intercourse with the teachers and the children. My Lords have been sorry to find that many of the largest schools have in the last few years been deficient in this great element of usefulness, and that accordingly a much lower tone has prevailed amongst teachers and children in these cases. My Lords trust that you will lose no opportunity of endeavouring to secure for all the children of your district the advantage of this supervision, by informing the managers of the importance which their Lordships attach to their personal influence over the schools for which they have accepted the responsibility, as a most valuable part of the educational system of the country; and you will do all in your power to support the authority of the managers over their schools. The friendly interest and supervision of the managers is particularly needed in the case of the young teachers of both sexes in large towns, who being often strangers to the place and living alone in lodgings, without friends or relations, should be the object of their special care. You will therefore inquire from time to time whether the managers take a personal interest in the conduct, comfort, and well-being of these young persons, as my Lords consider this matter to be of great importance, not only to the teachers themselves, but to the children who are entrusted to their care, and who must be much affected by the characters and example of their instructors.

Pupil Teachers.—It is needless to remind you that the condition of the pupil-teachers of your district should receive your very careful consideration. My Lords have reason to fear that sufficient care has not been bestowed upon them in many cases, either by managers or teachers. You will do well, therefore, to bespeak the special attention of the managers to this important subject. You will oppose the appointment of sickly precocious children as pupil-teachers, and you will insist upon good health as an essential qualification for those who aspire to the teacher's office. You should warn the managers and teachers against allowing teachers of this tender age to be overworked, and should point out to them that under the revised Memorandum of Agreement, arrangements can be made, with great general advantage to the school, by which the pupil-teachers may be allowed a portion of the school hours for their own instruction or preparation of lessons, provided that the time so employed is devoted exclusively, like their five hours of special instruction, to the subjects prescribed by the Code. You should discourage the habit of sacrificing to the preparation of their lessons the times allotted for meals, and you should specially warn teachers of the serious effect upon the health of the female pupil-teachers—girls of 14 to 18 years of age—of being kept standing all day at work in their schools. You should endeavour to secure that the pupil-teachers receive a regular course of systematic instruction from their teachers, instead of a mere “cram” preparation for examination, and you should do all you can to maintain in the teachers and managers a sense of responsibility for the formation of the character as well as the attainments of their pupil-teachers.

* "The inspector will bear in mind, in reporting on the organization and discipline, the results of any visits without notice (Article 12) made in the course of the school year; and will not interfere with any method of organization adopted in a training college under inspection if it is satisfactorily carried out in the school. To meet the requirements respecting discipline, the managers and teachers will be expected to satisfy the inspector that all reasonable care is taken, in the ordinary management of the school, to bring up the children in habits of punctuality, of good manners and language, of cleanliness and neatness, and also to impress upon the children the importance of cheerful obedience to duty, of consideration and respect for others, and of honour and truthfulness in word and act."

Code.—I pass on to call your attention to the large changes made in the Code during the last two years, to the objects their Lordships had in view by those changes, and to the manner in which they desire you to work them. You will probably have observed that their Lordships’ object throughout has been, over and above the acquisition by every child of the bare ordinary rudiments of education, to promote the development of the general intelligence of the scholars rather than to seek to burden their memories with subjects which, considering the early age at which the majority of children leave school, would not be likely to be of use to them; and also to encourage such training in school, in matters affecting their daily life, as may help to improve and raise the character of their homes. With respect to the ordinary rudiments, you will urge the teachers, as far as they are concerned, not to be satisfied with just enabling the children to pass the standard examinations which set them free from compulsory attendance, but to endeavour to provide that all children before they leave school shall at least have acquired the power of writing with facility, of using the simple rules of arithmetic without difficulty, and of reading without exertion and with pleasure to themselves. As regards history and geography, you will encourage, as far as you can, such teaching as is likely to awaken the sympathies of the children. Their attention should be specially directed to the interesting stories of history, to the lives of noble characters, and to incidents which tend to create a patriotic feeling of regard for their country and its position in the world; and while they should be made acquainted with the leading historical incidents that have taken place in their own neighbourhood, and with its special geographical features, an interest should be excited in the Colonial and Foreign Possessions of the British Crown.

Books.—Though their Lordships always decline to interfere respecting the choice of the books used in the schools, it will be well that you should point out the great value of using, in the reading lessons, interesting books on such subjects as natural history, the wonders of creation, or the like, which do not form part of the ordinary school course; and with regard to the poetry which the children are required in the higher standards to learn by heart, while you will discourage foolish and trifling songs, and pieces above their comprehension, you will call attention to the value of learning by heart generally, as a means of storing the children’s memories with noble and elevated sentiments. Though their Lordships have found it necessary to reduce the number of songs to be learned from 12 to 8, they desire to give every encouragement to singing in schools, as a most valuable element in the education of children.

You will not fail to inform the managers and teachers of the importance which their Lordships attach to good instruction in needlework, in domestic economy, as described in the New Code*, and in the knowledge of “common things,” and to such teaching as is likely to promote habits of thrift. You will encourage any well-considered schemes, such as are being adopted in various parts of the country, for teaching practical cookery to the elder girls; while, on proper occasions, you will call attention to the facilities which now exist for the establishment of school penny savings’ banks, and to the great success which has attended their introduction in many schools in the poorest districts.

Subjects of Instruction.—You will bear in mind, and will urge upon managers and teachers, that though certain subjects only are paid for under the Code, and certain subjects only are obligatory, it is in their power to give instruction to children in any other useful and suitable branches of knowledge for which the parents show a liking, or which the character and habits of the population seem specially to require. It cannot be too strongly impressed upon you, that uniformity in the school course, as far as the non-essential subjects are concerned, is not the object their Lordships have in view in their administration, but that, on the contrary, they consider it advantageous to the country generally, that there should be a variety in the teaching of the schools, so as to meet the varying and very different requirements of different localities and conditions of life. It is with this view that a great variety of optional subjects, both in elementary science and literature, has recently been added by their Lordships to the Code. From no good school, however, or conscientious teacher will you ever hear the plea urged that only “paying” subjects can be attended to. The schools which pass best in such subjects are not those which confine themselves solely to the work of the standards, which are necessarily fixed with an eye to the capacities of ordinary children, or even to the others enumerated in the Code. Regularity of attendance which is increasing daily, under the action of recent legislation, will probably give ample time for the more advanced instruction of the better scholars, and of those who remain at school longer than the early age at which compulsion ceases, while the honour certificates of the Act of 1876, which are in fact exhibitions for the best scholars, will, it is to be hoped, judging from the value which already appears to be attached to them, work in the same direction.

Night Schools.—Some changes made in the Code, with a view to encourage night schools, will not have escaped your notice. Experience has shown their usefulness, both in the manufacturing and rural districts, in supplementing the work of day schools. The early age of leaving school, and the large number of young men who have either received no instruction at all, or have forgotten what they have learned, will, at any rate for the present, make these schools of much value. As they call for considerable personal sacrifices, on the part both of teachers and scholars, they are likely to be maintained only where a genuine and meritorious zeal for education exists on both sides. Owing, however, to the small numbers of which, in most cases, these schools must necessarily consist, they can hardly be carried on without encouragement and support from this Department. My Lords, therefore, desire you to give every encouragement in your power to local efforts for the establishment of night schools, under circumstances which promise that they will be judiciously conducted, and actively maintained.

I have now to convey to you some directions respecting the examination of schools, and your inspection generally.

Examination.—The changes in the Code have been so considerable, and the requirements of it have been so largely raised, that my Lords think it most desirable that, in your examinations, the New Code should be worked very gradually and cautiously, so as not to discourage either the teacher or the children, by expecting too much from them at first under a change of system. These remarks will of course be particularly applicable to new schools, and to those where many rough and untaught children have been recently introduced by means of compulsion. My Lords wish it to be understood that they do not approve of the examination being taken on paper under Article 19 C of the Code,* except in special cases, respecting which, of course, you must use your own discretion. It has long been the practice of the most experienced Inspectors, in consideration of the obligation upon girls to learn needlework, while boys have no corresponding obligatory claim upon their school hours, not to apply to girls, in the examination in arithmetic, exactly the same standard of proficiency as to boys. My Lords are of opinion that this practice should be adopted by Her Majesty's Inspectors generally.

Visit without notice.—Their Lordships further direct me to say that they attach great importance to a second visit (without notice) being made, as far as possible, to every school in the year, with a view to the general encouragement of the teachers and the children, and to enable you to exercise a larger influence upon the general conduct of the school than is possible where only one visit for the purpose of examination takes place; and they would strongly impress upon you their desire that you should endeavour to make all your visits, as far as lies in your power, an encouragement and assistance to managers and teachers in their difficult work.

You will bear in mind that anything like dictation to teachers, as if they were in any sense officers of the department, or responsible to any one save the managers of their schools, should be very carefully avoided. It is no part of an Inspector's duty either to find fault with or to reprove a teacher. If he thinks it either necessary, or a kindly act, to give advice, or warning, to a teacher, it should not be done in the hearing of the scholars or pupil-teachers.

But, above all, it is incumbent on an Inspector to show by his manner in examining and dealing with the classes and with individual scholars, that the main object of his visit to a school is to elicit what the children know, and not to prove their ignorance. That object is entirely defeated, if by a harsh, impatient, or indistinct manner of questioning the scholars, he frightens or confuses them, or if he puzzles them by fanciful and unreasonable questions.

Inspection.—With regard to your assistant, you will not delegate the inspection of a school to him, except in a case of absolute necessity, arising from illness or some such cause. When you have been compelled to do so, you will notify the fact to the department, and will make a point of making a visit yourself to that school in the same year. You will, as far as possible, confine your assistant's action to the individual examination of scholars. You should, however, always take enough of this work yourself to enable you to report from your personal knowledge, upon the efficiency of every department. The main duty of the assistant is to collect for you sufficient facts, as to the children's reading, writing, &c., on which you can form a judgment as to the merits of the schools under your inspection; and their Lordships cannot accept any reference to the opinion of an Inspector's assistant, as part of the official report on a school. For everything of the nature of inspection, the Inspector alone is responsible; and the interests of schools depend so materially upon the results of the yearly official visit, that it is necessary to insist that more time should be devoted by the Inspector to an examination into the actual work done in every school on his list, than is frequently given to this duty at present. The increase in the staff of many of the districts, and the reduction in the size of others, will remove some of the difficulties which formerly existed in connexion with this part of the Inspector's duties.

In the official reports which you are called upon to make to this Department, from time to time, respecting the condition of your district, my Lords will be glad that you should generally notice the subjects to which your attention has been directed by this special circular.

My Lords are fully aware that no little tact and judgment are required to fulfil the duties of your office, especially in your relations to the managers of the schools. The standard of duty which they place before you is undoubtedly a high one; but they are of opinion that the object of Parliament and of successive administrations, in maintaining the present large staff of officers of the highest standing, has been, not merely to certify the Department respecting the rudimentary instruction given in the schools, but that Her Majesty's Inspectors should still take a leading part, as so many distinguished members of their body have done, in developing and raising the character of our elementary schools, so that the country might derive the greatest possible benefit from their institution. Their Lordships have therefore felt it their duty, at a period of considerable change in the educational system of the country, to state somewhat fully their views respecting the action and responsibilities of Her Majesty's Inspectors, and also respecting the instruction, training, and management of the schools which are subject to their supervision so as both to assist and encourage their Inspectors, and also to remove doubts which have been expressed by those connected with schools on the various matters which are alluded to in this circular.

* 19C.I. The sum of 4s. per scholar, according to the average number of children, above seven years of age, in attendance throughout the year (Article 26), if the classes from which the children are examined in Standards II—VI, or in specific subjects (Article 21b) pass a creditable examination in any two of the following subjects, viz., grammar, history, elementary geography, and plain needlework.

5. The mode of examination (whether oral or on paper)† is left to the discretion of the Inspector.

† Examination on paper will, as a rule, be confined to scholars in Standard VI.

While from their knowledge of the past and present work of Her Majesty's Inspectors, my Lords rely with confidence upon having their continued zealous assistance, they as confidently rely upon the friendly and public spirited co-operation of the local educational authorities, and of the managers and teachers of schools, in carrying on the great work of national education in the manner and with the results which the large sacrifices of the country give it a right to expect.

2. The Notification of this Department, No. 91J., dated 26th May 1874, is hereby cancelled.

No. 112J.—In modification of Foreign Department Notification No. 212, dated 21th October 1873, the Governor General in Council is pleased to extend Act X of 1877 (the Code of Civil Procedure) to the Hyderabad Assigned Districts, with effect from the 1st day of September 1878, to the extent and subject to the modifications hereinafter contained:—

(1). For Section 622 the following section shall be substituted:—

When any decree or order from which no appeal, or no appeal other than that provided by Chapter XLII lies, is passed by any Court subordinate to the Court of the Resident—

- (a) the Deputy Commissioner, where such decree or order is passed by a Naib Tahsildar, a Tahsildar, or an Assistant Commissioner of the 2nd or 3rd class;
 - (b) the Judicial Commissioner, where such decree or order is passed by an Assistant Commissioner of the 1st class, or a Deputy Commissioner; and
 - (c) the Resident, where such decree or order is passed by the Judicial Commissioner,
- may, in his discretion, call for the record of the case and pass such order thereon as he thinks fit.

(2). For Section 37 the following section shall be substituted:—

“The recognized agents of parties by whom such appearances, applications and acts may be made or done, shall be such persons as the Resident may from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, declare in this behalf.”

(3). To section 100 the following words shall be added:—

“In cases falling under clause (a) of this section, the Court may, in its discretion, instead of proceeding ex parte, issue a warrant to arrest and detain the defendant till another day appointed for the hearing of the case, and further may attach his property.”

(4). In Section 182 for the words “in the language of the Court, by, or in the presence, and under the personal direction and superintendence of the Judge” the words “by the Judge in his own language or in English if he is sufficiently acquainted with that language” shall be substituted; and to the same section the following proviso shall be added, viz.:—

“Provided that in cases tried by a European officer who has not passed the examination in the native languages prescribed for Assistant Commissioners exercising special powers, the evidence of witnesses shall be recorded in the same manner in their own language, by an officer of the Court, in the presence and under the personal direction and superintendence of the Judge.”

(5). Section 185 shall be omitted.

(6). The following proviso shall be added to Section 266:—

“Provided also that no ancestral property in land shall be sold in execution of a decree without the sanction of the Resident, and no self-acquired property in land shall be so sold without the sanction of the Commissioner.”

(7). For the words “High Court” the words “the Court of the Resident at Hyderabad” shall be substituted, but in all chapters and sections extending to Mufassal Courts of Small Causes, whenever such chapters or sections are read with reference to such Courts, for the words “High Court” the words “the Court of the Judicial Commissioner of the Hyderabad Assigned Districts” shall be substituted.

(8). In Section 619 after the word “Registrar” the words “or other officer of the Court” shall be added.

(9). For the words “British India” and “Local Government” wherever they occur, the words “Hyderabad Assigned Districts” and “Resident at Hyderabad” shall be substituted respectively.

No. 115J.—With reference to Home Department Notification No. 151, dated the 12th April last, the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct that the provisions of Act XV of 1877 (the Indian Limitation Act) shall, on and from the 1st day of September 1878, be in force throughout the Hyderabad Assigned Districts subject to the following modifications:—

For the words “1st day of October 1877,” shall be read “1st day of September 1878;” for the words “High Court” shall be read “Court of the Resident at Hyderabad;” and for the words “British India” shall be read “the Hyderabad Assigned Districts.”

No. 118J.—In modification of Foreign Department Notification No. 213J., dated 24th October 1873, the Governor General in Council is pleased to extend Act X of 1877 (the Code of Civil Procedure) to the Cantonment of Secunderabad with effect from the 1st day of September 1878, to the extent and subject to the modifications hereinafter contained :—

(1). For Section 622 the following section shall be substituted :—

“When any decree or order from which no appeal, or no appeal other than that provided by Chapter XLIII lies, is passed by any Court subordinate to the Court of the Resident, the Resident may in his discretion call for the record of the case, and pass such order thereon as he thinks fit.”

(2). For Section 37 the following section shall be substituted :—

“The recognized agents of parties by whom such appearances, applications and acts may be made or done, shall be such persons as the Resident may from time to time by notification in the official Gazette declare in this behalf.”

(3). To Section 100 the following words shall be added :—

“In cases falling under clause (a) of this section the Court may in its discretion instead of proceeding ex parte issue a warrant to arrest and detain the defendant till another day appointed for the hearing of the case, and further may attach his property.”

(4). In Section 182 for the words “in the language of the Court, by, or in the presence, and under the personal direction and superintendence of the Judge,” the words “by the Judge in his own language or in English if he is sufficiently acquainted with that language” shall be substituted, and to the same section the following proviso shall be added, viz. :—

Provided that in cases tried by a European officer who has not passed the examination in the Native languages prescribed for Assistant Commissioners exercising special powers, the evidence of witnesses shall be recorded in the same manner in their own language by an officer of the Court, in the presence and under the personal direction and superintendence of the Judge.”

(5). Section 185 shall be omitted.

(6). In Section 619 after the word “Registrar.” the words “or other officer of the Court” shall be added.

(7). For the words “High Court,” “British India” and “Local Government” wherever they occur, the words “the Court of the Resident at Hyderabad,” “the Cantonment of Secunderabad” and “Resident at Hyderabad” shall be substituted respectively.

No. 121J.—With reference to Foreign Department Notification No. 13J., dated the 1st February last, the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct that the provisions of Act XV of 1877 (the Indian Limitation Act) shall, on and from the 1st day of September 1878, be in force in the Cantonment of Secunderabad subject to the following modifications :—

For the words “1st day of October 1877” shall be read “1st day of September 1878;” for the words “High Court” shall be read “Court of the Resident at Hyderabad;” and for the words “British India” shall be read “the Cantonment of Secunderabad.”

ARMY CIRCULARS.

No. 659.—In supersession of all existing orders on the subject, the following clause (14) of Army Circulars, dated 1st March 1878, is declared applicable to India and published for general information:—

Browning Barrels of Martini-Henry Rifles and Carbines.

Clause 14. 1. The practice of unbreeching the barrels of the Martini-Henry arms for the purpose of browning them separately from their bodies having been found to cause excessive wear and strain on the breech screws, the barrels and bodies of such arms will not in future be separated for that purpose, but the process of browning will be carried out by regimental armourer serjeants in accordance with their printed instructions.

2. Each barrel, with its body, will in future be considered and treated as a single component, and in the event of any injury occurring to either body or barrel of so serious a nature as to render the arm temporarily unserviceable, the barrel (with its body) will be exchanged for another.

3. Future issues of barrels will be made in the breeched-up stage, i.e., having the bodies screwed on, but the present stores of these separate spare parts on charge at Ordnance store stations and in charge of regiments, will be used up under the old system.

4. Under these instructions, the unbreeching of a Martini-Henry barrel will rarely be necessary, and this operation will not be undertaken except by special sanction of commanding officers, upon the representation of its necessity by the armourer serjeant of the regiment or corps.

5. A record will be kept in the orderly-room of the authority by which barrels have been unbreeched, showing the regimental numbers of the arms to which they belong, the causes and the dates of their being unbreeched.

6. The new pattern cleaning stick will be used in the same manner as, and with the screw-driver and brace supplied for, the "cutter, chamber, countersink, head of cartridge."

7. The supply of fine emery cloth, quoted in the Lists of Materials for Browning and Preserving Arms, at page 99, Equipment Regulations, 1876 (Revised Army Regulations, Vol. III), will be sufficient. The word "soda" will be substituted for "lime" in those lists.

8. The necessary instructions for browning are included in the general instructions for armourers, issued with Clause 39, Army Circulars, 1878.

9. The following alterations will be made in the lists of spare parts included in the Equipment Regulations, 1876 (Revised Army Regulations, Vol. III), and in Clause 20, Army Circulars, 1875:—

Equipment Regulations, 1876, page 95, line 6—

ORGANIZATION.

No. 668.—NATIVE ARMY—

The following alterations are made in G. G. O. No. 811 of 1877 :—

Paragraph 3. For “appointments” read promotions.

Paragraph 5. After “subaltern officers” in sixth line, insert the words to be selected by Commandants.

PAY AND ALLOWANCES.

No. 669.—In continuation of G. G. O. No. 78, dated 26th January 1877, His Excellency the Governor General in Council is pleased, under instructions from the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India, to lay down the following regulations for the payment of lance ranks in India.

2. Non-commissioned officers and privates who were serving as Lance Sergeants, Lance Corporals, or acting Bombardiers between the 1st April 1876 and the 26th January 1877, will receive the rates of pay laid down in G. G. O. No. 1007 of 1876, although in excess of the numbers sanctioned in G. G. O. No. 78 of 1877.

3. The number of lance ranks thus granted pay will be gradually reduced to the numbers given in the order last quoted, one supernumerary in receipt of pay being absorbed on the occurrence of each subsequent promotion to the substantive rank, and of each removal of a non-commissioned officer or private from the lance or acting ranks by order of his commanding officer or from any other cause.

PRIZES FOR SKILL AT ARMS—ROYAL ARTILLERY.

No. 675.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council is pleased to notify that the provisions of Clause 117, War Office Army Circular, dated 1st August 1877 (Prizes for skill at arms, Royal Artillery), together with the modifications contained in Royal Artillery Regimental Order No. 93, New Series, dated Horse Guards, War Office, 1st March 1878, paragraph 3, are, so far as they apply, declared applicable to the Royal Artillery in India. Prizes will be issued on or after the 1st April in each year, commencing with the 1st April 1879, for the competition of the preceding cold season.

2. Prizes will be awarded as follows, provided a sufficient number of competitors qualify for the same :—

ROYAL HORSE AND FIELD ARTILLERY.

Gunners.

1st Battery Prize.—To the best shot and most efficient non-commissioned officer or gunner in the battery,—£1, with a badge of cross cannon and laurel leaf worked in gold.

2nd Battery Prize.—To the next best efficient amongst the selected competitors in each battery,—£3, with a badge of cross cannon worked in gold.

3rd Battery Prize.—To the three next best efficient amongst the selected competitors in each battery,—£1 10s. each, with a badge of cross cannon worked in worsted.

Drivers.

3. The same principle of selecting and rewarding the most efficient drivers in each battery of horse and field Artillery will be carried out, the selections in their case being made from the best and most skilful drivers, and those whose horses and harness have been uniformly throughout the year in the highest condition and order, as witnessed and recorded by the officers of the battery and adjudged by officers commanding batteries :—

1st Battery Prize.—To the best and most skilful driver in each battery, and the man whose horses and appointments have been in the best order throughout the year,—£2, with a badge of cross whips and spur worked in gold.

2nd and 3rd Battery Prizes.—To the two next best drivers in the order of merit for riding and maintaining horses and appointments in good order,—£1 10s. each, with a badge of cross whips and spur worked in worsted.

4th Battery Prize.—To the next best driver in the order of merit as above, under 18 months' service, should there be one qualified to receive it; but this award is not intended to preclude a driver of less than 18 months' service from obtaining the first or other prizes, if he is qualified to do so,—£1.

Garrison Brigades.

4. The same competitive tests and mode of selection as those prescribed for gunnery in the brigades of horse and field artillery, will be carried out in the garrison brigades so far as they are applicable, and prizes will be awarded as follows :—

1st Battery Prize.—To the best shot and most efficient non-commissioned officer or gunner in the battery,—£4, with a badge of cross guns with laurel leaf worked in gold.

2nd Battery Prize.—To the next best shot and most efficient non-commissioned officer or gunner in the battery,—£3, with a badge of cross guns worked in gold.

3rd Battery Prize.—To the four next best shots and most efficient non-commissioned officers or gunners amongst the selected competitors in the battery,—£1 10s. each, with a badge of cross guns worked in worsted.

5. Subsidiary instructions for the regulation of the award of prizes, and the conditions under which the competition is to be conducted, will be issued under the orders of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Third publication.]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 4th July, 1878, and was referred to a Select Committee:—

No. 4 OF 1878.

A Bill to prevent the indiscriminate destruction of wild elephants in British Burma.

Whereas it is expedient to make provision to prevent the indiscriminate destruction of wild elephants in British Burma; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title. 1. This Act may be called "The British Burma Elephants Act, 1878":

Local extent. It extends to all the territories for the time being administered by the Chief Commissioner of British Burma.

Commencement. So far as regards the power to make declarations and rules, it shall come into force on the passing thereof.

In other respects it shall come into force on the first day of September, 1878.

Destruction of wild elephants prohibited. 2. No person shall destroy or injure, or attempt to destroy or injure, any wild elephant except—

(a) in defence of himself or some other person;

(b) when such elephant is found injuring houses or cultivation, or upon or in the immediate vicinity of any main public road or railway; or

(c) as permitted by a license granted under this Act.

3. The Deputy Commissioner of a District may, subject to such rules as may from time to time be made under this Act, grant licenses to shoot wild male elephants upon waste or forest lands the property of Government.

4. The Chief Commissioner may, from time to time,—
Power to declare what are main roads, declare what shall be deemed to be main public roads within the meaning of this Act, and make rules consistent with this Act for regulating (a) the grant and renewal of licenses under this Act, (b) the fees to be charged on such grant and renewal, and (c) the time during which such licenses shall continue in force.

All such declarations and rules shall be published in the local official Gazette.

5. Whoever, in contravention of section two, destroys or injures, or attempts to destroy or injure, any wild elephant, shall be punished with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, and the license (if any) granted to him under this Act shall become void.

And any person convicted of a second offence under this Act shall be punished with imprisonment which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

6. Any officer of Revenue or Police who may discover any person shooting, or attempting to shoot, any wild elephant upon waste or forest land the property of Government, may require such person to produce and show a license granted to him under this Act. Any person who, on such request, wilfully refuses or is unable to produce and show such license as aforesaid, shall, in addition to any other punishment to which he may be liable under this Act, be punished with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

7. Every prosecution under this Act shall be commenced within six months from the commission of the offence in respect of which it is instituted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The slaughter of wild elephants, chiefly of males, whose tusks have reached a marketable size, but in some localities of both males and females, is being extensively practised in British Burma. To prevent this wholesale and indiscriminate destruction—which, if unchecked, must ultimately lead to the extinction of the breed,—the present Bill has been framed.

The provisions of this Bill are very similar to those of Madras Act I of 1873, from which it differs more in form and arrangement than in substance. In common with the Madras Act it prohibits, under penalty, the destruction of wild elephants, except in certain cases, and it provides for the grant of licenses for shooting wild male elephants upon waste or forest lands the property of Government, and for the making of rules as to the grant and renewal of such licenses.

It differs, however, from the Madras Act in omitting the provision of that Act permitting the destruction of wild male elephants upon private waste or forest lands, as there are no private proprietors of forest land in British Burma, and where waste lands have been granted there are no elephants.

[Third publication.]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 4th July, 1878, and was referred to a Select Committee:—

No. 5 of 1878.

A Bill to amend the Code of Civil Procedure.

For the purpose of amending the Code of Civil Procedure; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. In section 4, the words "and figures" the Panjáb Courts Act, 1865, and "the Panjáb Appeals Act, 1873," shall be omitted; and after the words "local law," in each of the places where they occur, the words "now or hereafter in force" shall be inserted.

2. In section 43, for the words "arising out of," the words "which the plaintiff is entitled to make in respect of" shall be substituted; and in the same section, paragraphs one and two, and section 50, clause (f), for the words "his claim," the words "the thing which he is entitled to claim" shall be substituted.

3. To section 51 the following proviso shall be added (namely):—

"Provided that if the plaintiff, by reason of absence or for other good cause, is unable to sign the plaint, it may, with the permission of the Court, be signed on his behalf by his duly authorized agent."

4. In sections 51 and 393, for the word "subscribed," the word "signed" shall be substituted: in section 115, for the word "subscribed" (in each of the places where it occurs) and the word "subscribing," the words "signed" and "signing" shall be respectively substituted; and in section 403, for the words "subscribed" and "subscription," the words "signed" and "signing" shall be respectively substituted.

5. To the last paragraph of section 52 the following words shall be added (namely): "or unless the Court is satisfied that the verification has been signed by the person purporting to make it."

6. In section 58, for the words "has filed," the words "causes to be filed" shall be substituted.

7. In section 69, for the word "residence," the word "abode" shall be substituted.

8. In section 82, paragraph two, after the words "Where the," the words "defendant resides within the jurisdiction of the Court and the" shall be inserted.

9. In section 136, after the word "discovery" (in each of the places in which it occurs), the word "production" shall be inserted.

10. In section 168, for the words "may issue," the words "shall issue" shall be substituted.

11. In section 199, after the words "as to," the words "pronouncing judgment and" shall be inserted.

12. In section 211, for the words "land or other," the words "the recovery of immoveable" shall be substituted; and in section 212, before "immoveable," the words "the recovery of" shall be inserted.

13. In section 229, for the words "Native Prince or State in India," the words "Foreign Prince or State" shall be substituted.

14. In section 246, explanation II, after the words "assignor as," the words "in respect of judgment-debts due" shall be inserted.
15. In section 264, after the words "the same," the words "and not bound by the decree" shall be inserted.
16. In section 268, last paragraph, for the words "property attached may be sold," the words "Court may, on the application of the decree-holder, sell the property attached" shall be substituted.
17. In section 295, first proviso, after the words "shall not," the words "as such" shall be inserted.
18. In section 329, for the words "obstruction or resistance," the words "resistance or obstruction" shall be substituted.
19. In section 332, first paragraph, for the word "defendant," the word "judgment-debtor" shall be substituted.
20. In section 335, for the first paragraph, the following shall be substituted (namely):—
"If the purchaser of any such property is resisted or obstructed by any person, other than the judgment-debtor, claiming in good faith a right to the present possession thereof, or if in delivering possession thereof any person is dispossessed, the Court, on the complaint of the purchaser or the person so dispossessed, shall enquire into the matter of the resistance, obstruction or dispossession, as the case may be, and pass such order thereon as it thinks fit."
21. In section 339, for the words "proper officer of the Court," the words "officer in charge of the jail" shall be substituted; and from the proviso to section 341, the word "third" shall be omitted.
22. In sections 362 and 363, for the words "cause of action," the words "right to sue" shall be substituted.
23. In section 366, paragraph one, after the word "If," the words "within the time limited by law" shall be inserted; and for the words "Court may," the words "Court shall, on the application of the defendant," shall be substituted.
24. In section 406, for the word "shall," the words "may if he thinks fit" shall be substituted.
25. In section 413, for the word "Refusal," the words and figures "An order of refusal made under section 409" shall be substituted.
26. In section 424, after the words "against a public officer," the words "in respect of an act alleged to be done by him in his official capacity" shall be inserted; and in sections 428 and 429, after the words "public officer," the words "in respect of such act as aforesaid" shall be inserted.
27. In section 483, after the words "portion of his property," the words "within the jurisdiction" shall be inserted.
28. In section 484, after the word "suit," the words "or that he has with such intent quitted the jurisdiction of the Court, leaving therein property belonging to him" shall be inserted.
29. In section 497, clause one, after the word "injunction," the words "which it has granted" shall be inserted.
30. In section 544, for the words "decree and," the words "decree, and thereupon" shall be substituted.
31. In section 588, clause (e), for the words and letters "clauses (b) and (d)," the words and letters "clauses (b) and (c)" shall be substituted: after clause (f), the following clause shall be inserted (namely): "(g) orders rejecting applications under section 108, for an order to set aside a decree ex parte:" to clause (h) the following words shall be added (namely): "and orders under section 170, for the sale of attached property;" and from clause (j), the following words shall be omitted (namely): "of the same nature with appealable orders made in the course of a suit."
32. In section 638, for the figures and word "16 and 17," the figures and word "16, 17 and 19" shall be substituted.
33. In section 648, for the first eighteen words the following words shall be substituted (namely): "If any Court desires to arrest any person residing, or attach any property."
34. In section 652, after the words "connected with," the words "its own procedure or" shall be inserted.
35. In the first schedule to the said Code, column third, opposite "XI of 1865," for the figures and word "11, paragraph 2," the figures and word "11, 19, paragraph 2," shall be substituted; and opposite "V of 1866," after the word "inclusive," the words "and the schedule" shall be inserted.
36. In this Act the words "section" and "sections" respectively mean section and sections of the Code of Civil Procedure.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The new Code of Civil Procedure, Act X of 1877, has now been eight months in operation, and the object of this Bill is to make some amendments which have proved to be necessary or expedient.

Section 4 of the Code saves "any local law prescribing a special procedure for suits between landlord and tenant." It has been held that the local laws here referred to are only local laws in force when the Code was passed. The result, of course, is to debar the local legislatures from dealing with such suits. The Bill accordingly amends section 4 so as to save clearly all such laws, whether passed before or after the date of the Code.

Doubt has been felt whether (notwithstanding the provisions of section 36) the plaint may, in case of the plaintiff's absence, be subscribed on his behalf by his duly authorized agent. The Bill amends section 51 so as to preclude this doubt.

Section 52 of the Code declares that the Court "shall examine" witnesses to the verification of plaints under section 51, unless the person making the verification is present. This rule can hardly be obeyed when, for example, the plaint is verified in Calcutta and the suit is to be instituted in Madras. The Bill accordingly relieves the Court from this duty when it is satisfied that the verification has been signed by the person purporting to make it.

Section 229 of the Code provides for the execution in British India of decrees of Courts established by the authority of the Governor General in Council "in the territories of any Native Prince or State in India." It has been held that Courts such as that of the Resident at Mandalay are not within the operation of this section. The Bill accordingly substitutes for "Native Prince or State in India" the words "Foreign Prince or State."

The High Court at Fort William has pointed out that section 335 of the Code does not provide for the case in which property has been sold in execution of a decree and in delivering possession a person claiming a right to the present possession is dispossessed. The Bill amends section 335 so as to meet this case.

When a judgment-debtor is imprisoned and the District Court is situate at a long distance from the jail, some inconvenience has been caused by the requirement of section 339 of the Code that the monthly payment of subsistence-money should be made to the proper officer of the Court. For such officer the Bill substitutes the officer in charge of the jail.

Section 588 of the Code has been amended so as to provide an appeal where an application under section 108 to set aside a decree ex parte has been rejected. An appeal is also given against orders for sale of attached property under section 170. And from clause (j), the words "of the same nature with appealable orders made in the course of a suit" have been omitted. The result will be to restore the first of the two appeals given in effect by Act XXIII of 1861, section 11, against all orders determining any question relating to the execution of a decree.

Section 652 of the Code empowers the High Courts to make subsidiary rules to regulate the procedure of the subordinate Courts. But it gives no power to make like rules for the High Courts themselves. In the case of the chartered High Courts, this omission is harmless; for the matter is sufficiently provided for elsewhere. But in the case of other High Courts (as defined in Act I of 1868), the omission has been found to cause inconvenience, and section 652 has been accordingly amended.

The other amendments (some of which are merely corrections of clerical or typographical errors) do not require special notice.

Letter from Officiating Secretary to Government, Panjáb, No. 165C., dated 24th June, 1878, and enclosures.

which the Bill to regulate Ferries in the Panjáb, North-Western Provinces and Oudh was referred, have the honour to report that we have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin.

2. The Bill has now, at the request of the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces, been made applicable to those provinces.

3. We have found it necessary, in order to adapt it to the different systems of the various provinces to which it now applies, to allow the Local Government a certain discretion in the choice of the agency to be employed for carrying out its provisions; and with the same view we have added in section 35 a power of delegation similar to that contained in the Bombay Ferries Act, 1868.

4. It has been objected that the period of notice (six months) required by section 10 for the cancellation of a ferry lease is too long, "especially with reference to the grave public inconvenience that might be caused by the prolonged continuance in his position of a lessee whose conduct might not be satisfactory." On this we would observe that the case of a lessee whose conduct is unsatisfactory seems to be sufficiently provided for by section 24, which gives power to cancel a lease at once for any breach of rule; and when it is desired to cancel a lease on any other ground, as, e.g., with a view to introducing some improved means of communication, we do not consider the period of six months excessive. Lessees can scarcely be expected to make satisfactory arrangements if they are liable to be arbitrarily ejected on short notice.

5. As we are giving the Local Government a power to cancel a lease at its mere pleasure, we have thought it right to give the lessee (in section 11) a corresponding power to surrender his lease, subject of course (as in the case of a cancellation by Government) to the payment of compensation.

6. We have inserted clauses in section 25 providing for the punishment of persons who, in spite of the warnings of those in charge of a ferry, insist upon crowding into a ferry-boat or on to a bridge to the danger of life or property.

7. We have likewise in section 28 provided penalties for rashly or negligently navigating any vessel or raft so as to damage a bridge of boats. The serious public inconvenience caused by a bridge of boats being carried away by a vessel or raft impinging on it, seems to us to justify this.

8. The power we propose to confer on the Magistrate of the District to take over a lessee's boats and plant when his lease is surrendered, or has been cancelled under section 24, has been asked for by the Government of the North-Western Provinces, and appears to us necessary, as without it a Magistrate might in some cases find it impossible to avail himself of the power to cancel a lease conferred by section 24.

9. The necessity of the power of impressing boats in public emergencies, as for instance when they are required for the transport of troops (section 33 now added), seems to us too obvious to call for remark.

10. The Police have been empowered (section 29) to arrest without warrant persons committing offences against sections 25 and 28. As such offences will accordingly be "cognizable" within the meaning of the Criminal Procedure Code, sections 95, 96 and 97 of that Code will apply; and toll-collectors under the Bill will, as regards their right to assistance from the Police, be substantially in the same position as toll-collectors under the Roads and Bridges Act, VIII of 1851.

11. None of the matters to which we have above referred appear to touch the main principles of the Bill as originally introduced; but as some of them, and some of the alterations and additions we have made in minor details, may have an important bearing on the practical working of the measure, we think that an opportunity should be afforded to the local authorities concerned to consider them before the Bill becomes law, and for this reason, and likewise because it now includes the Central Provinces, we recommend that the Bill as amended by us be republished.

12. The publication ordered by the Council has been made.

A Bill to regulate Ferries in Northern India.

Whereas it is expedient to regulate ferries in the Panjáb, the North-Western Provinces, Oudh and the Central Provinces; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

I.—PRELIMINARY.

1. This Act may be called “The Northern India Ferries Act, 1878.”

It extends only to the territories respectively administered by the Lieutenant-Governors of the

Panjáb and the North-Western Provinces and the Chief Commissioners of Oudh and the Central Provinces; and

It shall come into force in each of the said territories on such date as the Local Government may by notification in the official Gazette fix in this behalf.

2. On and from the date on which it comes into force in the territories respectively administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces and the Chief Commissioners of Oudh and the Central Provinces, Bengal Regulation VI of 1819 shall be repealed therein; but all determinations, declarations, orders and rules made, engagements entered into, and securities taken under that Regulation, and then in force, shall be deemed to be respectively made, entered into and taken under this Act.

3. In this Act the word “ferry” includes also a bridge of boats, pontoons, or rafts, a swing-bridge, a flying-bridge and a temporary bridge, and the approaches to, and landing-places of, a ferry.

II.—PUBLIC FERRIES.

4. The Local Government may, from time to time,—
(a) declare what ferries shall be deemed public ferries, and the respective districts in which, for the purposes of this Act, they shall be deemed to be situate;

(b) take possession of a private ferry and declare it to be a public ferry;

(c) establish new public ferries where, in its opinion, they are needed;

(d) define the limits of any public ferry;

(e) change the course of any public ferry; and
(f) discontinue any public ferry which it deems unnecessary.

Every such declaration, establishment, definition, change or discontinuance shall be made by notification in the local official Gazette:

Provided that, when a river lies between two Provinces, the powers conferred by this section shall in respect of such river be exercised by the Governor General in Council, by notification in the Gazette of India, and not otherwise:

Provided also that, when any alteration in the course or in the limits of a public ferry is rendered necessary by changes in the river, such alteration may be made by an order under his hand, by the Commissioner of the Division in which such ferry is situate, or by such other officer as the Local Government may, from time to time, appoint by name or in virtue of his office in this behalf.

5. Claims for compensation for any loss sustained by any person in consequence of a private ferry being taken possession of under section four shall be enquired into by the Magistrate of the District, or such officer as he appoints in this behalf, and submitted for the consideration and orders of the Local Government.

6. The immediate superintendence of every public ferry shall, except as provided in section seven, be vested in the Magistrate of the District in which such ferry is situate, or in such other officer as the Local Government may, from time to time, appoint by name or in virtue of his office in this behalf; and such Magistrate or officer shall, except when the tolls at such ferry are leased, make all necessary arrangements for the supply of boats for such ferry, and for the collection of the authorized tolls leviable thereat.

7. The Local Government may direct that any public ferry situate within the limits of a town be managed by the officer or public body charged with the superintendence of the municipal arrangements of such town;

and may further direct that all or any part of the proceeds from such ferry be paid into the Municipal Fund of such town;

and thereupon such ferry shall be managed, and such proceeds or part thereof shall be paid, accordingly.

8. The tolls at any public ferry may from time to time be let by public auction for such term not exceeding five years as the Magistrate of the District, subject to the approval of the Commissioner of the Division in which such ferry is situate, may deem expedient.

The lessee shall conform to the rules made under this Act for the management and control of such ferry, and may be called upon by the officer conducting the auction to give such security for his good conduct and for the punctual payment of the rent as such officer thinks fit.

Such officer may, for sufficient reason recorded in writing under his hand, refuse to accept the offer of the highest bidder, and may accept any other bid, or may withdraw the tolls from auction.

9. All arrears due by the lessee of a public ferry on account of his lease may be recovered from the lessee or his surety (if any) by the Magistrate of the District in which such ferry is situate as if they were arrears of land-revenue.

10. The Local Government may cancel the lease of any public ferry on the expiration of six months' notice in writing to the lessee of its intention to cancel such lease.

When any lease is cancelled under this section, the Magistrate of the District shall pay to the lessee such compensation as he may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, award.

11. The lessee of a public ferry may surrender his lease on the expiration of one month's notice in writing to the Local Government of his intention to surrender such lease, and on payment to the Magistrate of the District of such compensation as the Magistrate of the District, subject to the approval of the Commissioner, may in each case direct.

12. Subject to the control of the Local Government, the Commissioner of a Division, or such other officer as the Local Government may from time to time appoint in this behalf, by name or in virtue of his office, may from time to time make rules consistent with this Act—

(a) for the control and the management of all public ferries within such division and for regulating the traffic at such ferries ;

(b) for regulating the time and manner at and in which, the terms on which, and the person by whom, the tolls of such ferries may be let by auction ;

(c) for compensating persons who have compounded for tolls payable for the use of any such ferry when such ferry has been discontinued before the expiration of the period compounded for ; and

(d) generally to carry out the purposes of this Act, and, when the tolls of a ferry have been let under section eight, he may from time to time (subject as aforesaid) make additional rules consistent with this Act—

(e) for collecting the rents payable for the tolls of such ferries ;

(f) in cases in which the communication is to be established by means of a bridge of boats, pontoons or rafts, or a swing-bridge, flying-bridge or temporary bridge, for regulating the time and manner in which such bridge shall be constructed and maintained and opened for the passage of vessels and rafts through the same, and

(g) in cases in which the traffic is conveyed in boats, for regulating (1) the number and kinds of such boats and their dimensions and equipment ; (2) the number of the crew to be kept by the lessee for each boat ; (3) the maintenance of such boats continually in good condition ; (4) the hours during which, and the intervals within which, the lessee shall be bound to ply, and (5) the number of passengers, vehicles and animals, and the quantity of goods, that may be carried in each kind of boat at one trip.

The lessee shall make such returns of traffic as the Commissioner or other officer as aforesaid may from time to time require.

13. No person shall, except with the sanction of the officer charged with the superintendence of a public ferry, keep a ferry-boat for the purpose of plying for hire to or from any point within a distance of two miles from the limits of such public ferry :

Provided that, in the case of any specified public ferry, the Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, reduce or increase the said distance of two miles to such extent as it thinks fit :

Provided also that nothing hereinbefore contained shall prevent persons plying between two places, one of which is without, and one within, the said limits, when the distance between such two places is not less than three miles, or apply to boats which the Local Government expressly exempts from the operation of this section.

14. Whoever uses the approach to, or landing-place of, a public ferry is liable to pay the toll payable for crossing such ferry.

15. Toll, according to such rates as are from time to time fixed by the Local Government, shall be levied on all persons, animals, vehicles and other things crossing any river by a public ferry and not employed or transmitted on the public service :

Provided that the Local Government may, from time to time, declare that any persons, animals, vehicles or other things shall be exempt from payment of such tolls.

Where the tolls of a ferry have been let under section eight, any such declaration, if made after the date of the auction, shall entitle the lessee to such abatement of the rent payable in respect of the tolls as may be fixed by the Commissioner of the Division or such other officer as the Local Government may, from time to time, appoint in this behalf by name or in virtue of his office

16. The lessee or other person authorized to collect the tolls of any public ferry shall affix a table of such tolls legibly written or printed in the vernacular language, and also, if the Commissioner of the Division so directs, in English, in some conspicuous place near the ferry, and shall be bound to produce, on demand, a list of the tolls, signed by the Magistrate or such other officer as he appoints in this behalf.

17. Except as provided by section seven, all tolls or rents received and fines levied under this Act shall be disposed of as follows, that is to say :—

(a) in the territories administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces, the residue of such tolls and rents, after defraying thereout all charges incurred in carrying out this Act in those territories, shall be credited to the Fund constituted for those territories by the North-Western Provinces Local Rates Act, 1878;

(b) in the territories administered by the Chief Commissioner of Oudh, the residue as aforesaid shall be credited to the Fund constituted for those territories by the Oudh Local Rates Act, 1878; and

(c) in the territories respectively administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of the Panjáb and the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces, such tolls, rents and fines shall be credited to the Local Government and applied first to defraying all charges incurred in carrying out this Act in those territories respectively, and then, at the discretion of the Local Government, to any of the purposes specified in the second clause of section seven of the Panjáb Local Rates Act, 1878, or the second clause of section five of the Central Provinces Additional Rates Act, 1878, as the case may be.

18. The Local Government may, if it thinks fit, from time to time, fix rates at which any person may compound for the tolls payable for the use of a public ferry.

III.—PRIVATE FERRIES.

19. The Commissioner of the Division may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, from time to time make rules for the maintenance of order and for the safety of passengers and property at ferries other than public ferries.

20. The tolls charged at such ferries shall not exceed the highest rates for the time being fixed under section fifteen for similar public ferries.

IV.—PENALTIES AND CRIMINAL PROCEDURE.

21. Every lessee or other person authorized to collect the tolls of a public ferry, who neglects to affix and keep in good order and repair the table of tolls mentioned in section sixteen, or who wilfully removes, alters or defaces such table, or allows it to become illegible, or who fails to produce on demand the list of the tolls mentioned in section sixteen, and every lessee who neglects to furnish any return required under section twelve,

shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

22. Every such lessee or other person as aforesaid and any person in possession of a private ferry asking or taking more than the lawful toll, or without due cause delaying any person, animal, vehicle or other thing, shall be punished with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

23. Every person breaking any rule made under section twelve or section nineteen shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, or with both.

24. When any lessee of the tolls of a public ferry makes default in the payment of the rent payable in respect of such tolls, or has been convicted of an offence under section twenty-three, or, having been convicted of an offence under section twenty-one or section twenty-two, is again convicted of an offence under either of those sections, the Magistrate of the District may, with the sanction of the Commissioner of the Division, cancel the lease of the tolls of such ferry, and make other arrangements for its management during the whole or any part of the term for which the tolls were let.

25. Every person crossing by any public ferry, or using the approach or landing-place thereof, who refuses to pay the proper toll, and every person—who, with intent to avoid payment of such toll, fraudulently or forcibly crosses by any such ferry without paying the toll; or who obstructs any toll-collector or lessee of the tolls of a public ferry, or any of his assistants, in any way in the execution of their duty under this Act, or who, after being warned by any such toll-collector, lessee or assistant not to do so, goes or takes any animals, vehicles or goods into any ferry-boat or upon any bridge at such a ferry which is in such a state or so loaded as to endanger human life or property, or who refuses or neglects at the request of such toll-collector, lessee or assistant to leave, or remove any animals, vehicles or goods from, any such ferry-boat or bridge, shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

26. Whoever conveys for hire any passenger, animal, vehicle or goods in contravention of the provisions of section thirteen shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

27. Where the tolls of any public ferry have been let under the provisions hereinbefore contained, the whole or any portion of any fine realized under section twenty-five or section twenty-six may, notwithstanding anything contained in section seventeen, be, at the discretion of the convicting Magistrate or Bench of Magistrates, paid to the lessee.

28. Whoever navigates any vessel or raft in a manner so rash or negligent as to damage a public ferry, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both; and the toll-collector or lessee of the tolls, or any of his assistants, may seize and detain such vessel or raft pending the inquiry and assessment hereinafter mentioned.

29. The police may arrest without warrant any person committing an offence against section twenty-five or section twenty-eight.

30. Any Magistrate or Bench of Magistrates having summary jurisdiction under chapter XVIII of the Code of Criminal Procedure may try any offence against this Act in manner provided by that chapter.

31. Every Magistrate or Bench of Magistrates trying any offence under this Act may enquire into and assess the value of the damage (if any) done or caused by the offender to the ferry concerned, and shall order the amount of such value to be paid by him in addition to any fine imposed upon him under this Act; and the amount so ordered to be paid shall be leviable as if it were a fine, or when the offence is one under section twenty-eight, by the sale of the vessel or raft causing the damage, and of any thing found in or upon such vessel or raft.

The Commissioner of the Division may, on the appeal of any person deeming himself aggrieved by an order under this section, reduce or remit the amount payable under such order.

V.—MISCELLANEOUS.

32. When the lease of any ferry is surrendered under section eleven or cancelled under section twenty-four, the Magistrate of the District may take possession of all boats and their equipment, and all other material and appliances, used by the lessee for the purposes of such ferry, and use the same (paying such compensation for the use thereof as the Local Government may in each case direct) until such Magistrate can conveniently procure proper substitutes therefor.

33. When any boats or their equipment, or any materials or appliances suitable for setting up a ferry, are emergently required for facilitating the transport of officers or troops of Her Majesty on duty, or of any other persons on the business of Her Majesty, or of any animals, vehicles or baggage belonging to such officers, troops or persons, or of any property of Her Majesty, the Magistrate of the District may take possession of and use the same (paying such compensation for the use thereof as the Local Government may in each case direct) until such transport is completed.

34. No suit to ascertain the amount of any Jurisdiction of Civil compensation payable, or Courts barred. abatement of rent allowable, under this Act shall be cognizable by any Civil Court.

35. The Local Government may from time to time delegate, under such Delegation of powers. restrictions as it thinks fit, any of the powers conferred on it by this Act to any Commissioner of a Division or Magistrate of a District, or to such other officer as it thinks fit, by name or by virtue of his office.

36. All matters determined, orders issued, acts done, penalties imposed and proceedings held in the territories administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of the Panjáb after the repeal of Bengal Regulation VI of 1819 by the Panjáb Laws Act, 1872, section 4, and before this Act comes into force in such territories, shall, whenever such determinations, orders, acts, penalties or proceedings would have been lawful if the said Regulation had been in force, be deemed to have been respectively determined, issued, done, imposed and held in accordance with law.

GOVERNMENT EXPERIMENTAL FARMS.

Report on Nágpur Model Farm for June 1878.

Major J. W. Macdougall, in charge.

Weather.—During the first fortnight the season was extremely trying and intensely hot. After the 15th, indications of the monsoon appeared, clouds began banking up and cool winds set in. For ten days heavy showers of rain could be seen all round about ten miles off, but none fell at Nágpur until the 25th, from which date to close of month the rainfall was most suitable for harvest work, being not too heavy when it came, and coming at such intervals as to permit of work being thoroughly done. Total fall of rain for the month 2·07 inches.

Operations.—The planting of turmeric was put out of hand. An acre each of Indian corn, Hinganghat cotton and Carolina rice, and four acres of country vegetables, such as pumpkins, &c., were planted out. Sugarcane was weeded and ridged up. All the fields for the early monsoon crops, such as cotton, thur, and jowar have been cultivated over, and the sowing of cotton and thur will be finished in a couple of days. A small experimental plot of Bamieh cotton and half an acre of Reana lauriana will be out of hand this week.

The soil is turning up very mellow. The seed bed is therefore in first rate condition, but native agriculturists are opposed to a fine tilth as a seed bed for early monsoon crops. They prefer a hard pan in spite of their acknowledgments in past years of the deep cultivation practised at the farm, resulting in a greatly increased rate of growth from the first starting of the crop. They have, however, begun imitating our modes of cultivation as far as their light implements and weedy cattle permit.

The farm has suffered a great loss in the destruction by fire, the origin of which has not been ascertained, on the 8th ultimo, of the standing, only the machinery shed and office and the machinery and implements having been saved. But all seed grain and grain in store awaiting a favourable market have been destroyed. The total loss was over Rs. 3,000.

WEEKLY REPORTS ON THE CONDITION AND PROSPECTS OF THE DISTRICTS OF THE NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES AND OUDH, FOR THE WEEKS
ENDING THE 29TH JUNE AND 6TH JULY 1878.

No. 1913A., dated Naini Tal, the 5th July 1878.

From—C. ROBERTSON, Esq., Secretary to Govt., N.-W. Provinces and Oudh,

To—The Additional Secretary to the Govt. of India, Public Works Dept., (Famine).

IN continuation of my letter No. 1829A., dated 28th June, I am directed to forward for the information of His Excellency the Governor General in Council, the abstract report on the condition of the several districts of these provinces for the week ending 29th June.

2. There was rain in all divisions, except Meerut, and the eastern part of Rohilkhand, but the falls were very partial in most districts. In some quarters the rain was enough for ploughing and sowing, in others only for ploughing, and in others none fell. The regular monsoon did not appear to have set in; more details will be found in column 2 of the report.

3. Prices have continued almost stationary, as will be seen from the accompanying memorandum of prices of wheat and barley.

4. As yet there is little improvement in the condition of the people. On the contrary, in several districts, notwithstanding that rain had fallen, there was an increase in the number on works. There was, however, a decrease in those districts in which distress has been least severe, and in which the works had only lately been started :—

			Week ending 22nd June.	Week ending 29th June.
North-Western Provinces—
Relief-works	99,052	126,846
Poor-houses	7,805	9,014

NAINI TAL,

The 5th July 1878.

C. ROBERTSON,

Secretary to Govt., N.-W. Provinces and Oudh,

Abstract of the reports on the condition of the several districts of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, for the week ending 29th June 1878.

Division.	District.	Condition of crops.	State of markets.	Prices of food-grains.	Condition of cattle.	Condition of people.	Relief operations, &c.
MEERUT DIVISION.	Dehra Dun	Harvested; rainfall, 5 notches	Well supplied	Wheat, 15½ to 17 Barley, 21 Gram, 14½	Very good	Very good: no case of distress reported.
	Saharanpur	The grain has been stored now. Not much kharif ploughing, save in lands adjoining canals, where a good deal of rice and cane has been sown already. Slight rain.	Well supplied	Wheat, 16 to 9½ Barley, 21 to 27 Gram, 14 to 15 Juar, 8 to 10½	Good	Pretty good all over the district. Some deaths from fever and dysentery.
	Muzaffarnagar	Rain wanted for sugarcane crop; ploughing going on in canal irrigated tracts. Slight rain over the district.	Well supplied	Wheat, 16 to 17 Barley, 20 to 22 Gram, 14 to 16½ Juar, 8½ to 9½	Fair	Good: fever is prevalent. No case of distress reported.	A poor-house at work in Koil—one opened on the 23rd instant at Hattrass, in the Aligarh district.
	Meerut	Prospects of sugarcane, cotton and makka, raised by irrigation, are good. Few showers in places.	Well supplied	Wheat, 15 to 17 Barley, 19 to 23 Gram, 14 to 16 Juar, 8 to 11	Good	Good: fever in the interior of the district: no cases of distress are reported.	No poor-houses in other districts. No relief-works anywhere.
	Bulandshahr	No change. Three notches of rain on 22nd. Slight drizzling on 23rd; cloudy, and every appearance of rain falling soon.	Well supplied	Wheat, 15 to 16 Barley, 19 Gram, 14½ Juar, 11	Improved	Good: no case of distress reported.
	Aligarh	Indigo, juar and makka are being sown. Ploughing has commenced, but not to a great extent: slight rain; heavy clouds prevail, but for a short time only.	Well supplied	Wheat, 14 to 16 Barley, 18 to 20 Gram, 15 to 16	Improving	Slight cholera reported in Koil, Iqbal and Hattrass. Medical aid has been sent out.

Division.	District.	Condition of crops.	State of markets.	Prices of food-grains.	Condition of cattle.	Condition of people.	Relief operations, &c.
AGRA DIVISION.	Muttra	No remarks needed: wind throughout the week variable. Good showers at Godburhun and neighbourhood on 26th, and also on rest of pargannah most a day or two before. Average fall in district 1·8 inches.	Well supplied	Wheat, 14 to 14½ Barley, 17 to 17½ Bajra, 9 to 9½ Juar, 9 to 9½ Gram, 14 to 14½	No change	No noticeable change since last week. There is a great deal of sickness, fever, and cholera: the mortality in May was double what it was in the same month of 1877. No special local distress has been reported.	Relief-works — Muttra-Achneyra Railway 7,359 labourers daily. The increase is probably due to greater pressure, and also to the fact that work is now being carried on in Bhartpur territory, or in immediate proximity to it. Poor-houses .—There are 179 paupers in poor-houses. (1,179) ?
	Agra	In pargannahs where rain has fallen, ploughing has commenced. Three-tenths of rain fell on 23rd in pargannahs Fatehpur and Jalaisur: 1½ths and 1½ths Ahmadpur and Pinahat on the 24th. In the city and pargannah of Agra 3·3 inches fell.	No want felt. The imports exceed the exports.	Wheat, 14 to 14½ Barley, 17 to 17½ Bajra, 9 to 9½ Juar, 9 to 9½ Gram, 14 to 14½	Improved: green grass is procurable.	Fever and cholera continue in Agra and pargannahs. No indication of distress appears from the mortuary returns, but at Fatehpur Sikri, people are crowding on to the relief-works, and at Agra 200 or 300 applicants arrive daily. Chaukidars have brought to notice some cases of distress among pardanashins, who have been relieved.	Relief-works — (1) Muttra-Achneyra Railway ... 6,600 (2) Fattihabad and Kachora Road ... 1,270 (3) " and Iradatnagar Road ... 176 (4) Shamsabad and Pinahat Road ... 1,502 (5) River Embankment ... 4,395 (6) Sikandra Garden ... 412 (7) Batesur Tank ... 203 (8) Mirza Khan Mandi to Kagarole Road ... 2,510 Total ... 17,068 On (6) the labourers are mostly drawn from the Agra poor-house, and on (4) they are sent out from Agra. On the other works the labourers come from the neighbourhood. Poor-houses .—The number of paupers is now 4,969.
AGRA DIVISION.	Farukhabad	Makka and cotton are being sown in parts of Aligarh tehsil. Rice has been sown. On Saturday (22nd) 1½ths in Chauraman, 1½ths in Kasnauj. On 25th June, 1 inch in Fatehgarh, and 1·0 inch in Aligarh tehsil. On June 26th, 1 inch in Chauraman, and 1½ inch in Tirwa, and 2 inches in Aligarh.	Fairly well supplied.	Wheat, 16 Barley, 19½ Gram, 15½ Rice, 7½	Continue in fair condition.	Condition unchanged. No reports of distress by chaukidars.	Relief-works — Kali Nadi ... 905 Bagar Nadi ... 323 Total ... 1,228 Poor-houses .—Only 48 paupers on relief.

Etaah	In some places ploughing has commenced. Rainfall throughout the district varying from 1.3 to 2. average 7.	Well supplied	Wheat, 14 to 16 Barley, 18 to 19 Gram, 15 to 16½ Bajra, 12 Juar, 11	seers per Re. " " " " " " " "	No change	Unchanged since last week. No report of distress by chaudidars, nor do the mortuary returns give any indication of the prevalence of distress.	No relief-works. In poor-houses 41 paupers were relieved.
Etah	Sugar-cane and indigo doing well. On Friday, the 21st June, three notches of rain after a dust-storm, and on Sunday morning eight notches: rain in both instances came from the west.	Well supplied	Wheat, 16½ Barley, 19 Gram, 16 Rice, 8½	seers per Re. " " " " " "	Good	Good as yet. No distress reported, nor indicated by mortuary returns.	No relief-works or poor-houses.
Mainpuri	All crops on the ground appear good. Ploughing has commenced in a few places where rain was copious. Capricious partial showers on the 22nd, 26th and 27th. The highest fall being half an inch in the Sadr station. On the 26th thermometer is still high.	Well supplied	Wheat, 15½ Barley, 19 Gram, 15½	seers per Re. " " " "	No change	Delay in rains is telling on the people. Symptoms of distress amongst the poorest classes manifesting themselves in places. Destitute persons are coming in from the villages to the towns, but in most cases refuse to go out to the canal works, preferring to support themselves by mendicancy.	Relief-works.—On the Sheksoabad canal works there is a daily attendance of 74 labourers. Poor-houses.—The number in poor-houses has risen to 282—last week it was 217.
JHANSI DIVISION.
The Commissioner's report is as follows: As before, up to the 21st (Friday), there were heavy clouds in the sky and several showers of rain fell throughout the division. 1½ inches being registered in Jhansi Station on the 26th; the sky has, however, cleared again, the heat is intense, and the hot winds have returned.		Supplies sufficient	Hardly any variation in prices. Jhansi— Wheat, 14½ Barley, 16 Gram, 14½ Juar, 8 Jaloun— Wheat, 15 Barley, 19 Gram, 15 Rice, 6 Lalitpur— Wheat, 13 Barley, 16 Juar, 14½ Gram, 13½	seers per Re. "	The same: cattle disease in Jaloun is said to be decreasing.	No change to report Thirty-eight deaths have occurred from cholera in Lalitpur.	Relief-works.—On eleven petty relief-works, on the 25th June, in the Jhansi district, there was a total of 1,695 labourers. In Jaloun, the daily average on three works amounted to 939. The expectation raised by the rainfall of the earlier part of the week appear to have induced some of the labourers to leave the relief-works, and probably prevented many from joining: some cases of heat apoplexy occurred among the workmen in Jhansi, causing death. No works have yet been opened in the Lalitpur district. Poor-houses.—It has been found necessary to re-open the poor-houses at Orai and Man-Rampur. Thirty-five persons have been relieved in the latter since it was opened on the 17th instant.

ROHILKHAND DIVISION.
Budaon	Melons very plentiful - mango crop poor. Rainfall at Dataganj — On 22nd .. 1.2 .. 23rd .. 2 .. 26th .. 2.2 Total .. 3.6 Rainfall at Budaon — On 26th June .. 0.1 Heavy dust-storm on 22nd June.	Well supplied	Wheat. 16½ Barley. 21 Rice. 5½ Gram. 16½	Improved	Demand for employment increasing: fever and small-pox prevalent.	Relief-works — (1.) Raising Sahaswan and Ujhani road ... 5,123 (2.) Raising Sadullaganj and Bichowraghat road ... 3,671 Total ... 8,794 More than half the labourers come from a distance. There is no poor-house.
General Remarks. —On the 22nd, a dust-storm, followed by rain, passed over Budaon. There was a good fall in parts of the Dataganj tehsil, which have since been favoured with a better fall. From the other stations, the rain returns are blank; but here and there showers have fallen, sufficiently heavy to admit of ploughing in a few villages in pergunnahs Budaon, Waziganj and Kot. Since the last report, there has been an increase of 4,379 in the number of labourers on the relief-works, due to the holding off of the rains. Of the total number (8,794), 426 were in the relief-camps against 1,001 in the previous week. This decrease is due to only those being taken into the relief-camps who have expressed their willingness to come to Budaon if the poor-house were re-opened here. In the relief-camps attached to each work, there were 99 men, 167 women, and 190 children. One relief-work was closed as funds were exhausted, and the labourers drafted on to another work. On the reports of chaukidars, 775 persons were sent to the relief-works.
Bijnor	Harvested	Wheat. 15½ to 17½ Barley. 20½ to 22½ Juar. 5½ to 8½ Bajra. 11½ to 13½ Gram. 11½ to 13½	seers per Re. Fair	...	Suffering from want of employment, rising prices, exhausting heat, and apprehension of rain failure. Chaukidars send all persons needing relief to the works and poor-house severally, as necessary.	On relief-works, the number of people employed daily is 9,876. On the following works, more than 1,000 labourers are employed:— (1.) Improving Nagina and Najibabad road 3,651 (2.) Improving Bijnor, Daranagr and Chandpur road 3,582 (3.) Improving Dhanpur and Dhanauri road 2,470 Total ... 9,703 The people seeking employment mostly come from a radius of 8 or 10 miles. The works seem popular, and the amount of work turned out is a good average. The delay in the rainfall has caused the great increase in the numbers on work; and the absence of all agricultural employment and the exhausted state of private stocks has influenced the rise too. Poor-house — The number of paupers in the poor-house is now 852 Only those are admitted who are wholly incapable of working on the roads.

General Remarks. - The position is so far changed that the wind, during the last twenty-four hours, has shifted to the east and is strong. Clouds are gathering, and rain seems likely. Meanwhile, the numbers on works are daily increasing largely, and the pressure on all classes, owing to the absence of employment, and the general demand for money on account of revenue and rent, is painful.

Shahjahanpur	Ploughing has begun in the markets are	Wheat, 16 to 16½	seers per Re. Fair	Generally good, except in Khera Bahera, where labourers have begun to leave their villages in search of employment.	Relief-works have not yet been started, but are now about to be commenced.
Silhar and Jalandah	and in some places there has been sufficient rain to allow of rice being sown, the sugar-	Barley, 20½ Gram, 16½	" " "	Beggars are beginning to infest Silhar.	Relief is given to 16 persons supported in the Municipal poor-house by State aid.

Beggars are beginning to infest Silhar, and there is some increase of beggary in Shahratanpur. Petty crime is also on the increase, and the number of unemployed persons is large. Public health is good.

The week has been stormy, and the monsoon broke very gently over the greater part of the district. On the 23rd, there was slight rain at Jhalabad, a fine shower at Silhar, and a few drisps at Shajjahanpur. On the 24th and 25th, there were showers at Jhalabad, and yesterday the rain appears to have been nearly general. The fall was heaviest in the south and west, but was nowhere very heavy. At Shajjahanpur it was insufficient. 27 inches of rain have fallen during the week at Silhar, and 26 at Jhalabad. Only 8 inches have fallen at Shajjahanpur. No report of rain has yet been received from Bawayan.

General Remarks. The monsoon has broken but feebly as yet, still with, however, to start with, in the two most distressed tehsils. At Shahjahanpur, the fall has not been sufficient to admit of agricultural operations, and no rain has yet been reported in the Pawayn district; but the people in this tehsil were not much affected by the distress. The condition of the cultivators throughout the district is fair; of the labouring classes it is a much worse. They have been time and again out of occupation; and in parts of the Sillar tehsil they are beginning to roam in search of employment. This class will not find occupation in subsequent winters, even with a good rainy season, and relief has to be made to open relief-works as a tentative measure. On the whole, the people are in good heart.

Moradabad ..	Sugar-cane doing well. Rain wanted. ploughing has commenced in the Kharif.	Well supplied	...	Wheat.	15½	cents per Ro.
	Weather cloudy, and occasionally with. Twentieths rain in itself. Harvesting commenced in Samrat, wheat at 10 paces in Arundah. A big fall of eleven cents on 20th, and six-tenths on 25th, reported by telegraph.			Bahya.	20½	"
				Giron.	15	"
				Pajra.	21½	"
				Arnar.	13½	"

The District Engineer reports that applicants for employment are increasing. Saracen has accordingly been requested for opening relief-works. The Municipal poor-house in the city of Moradabad will be re-opened. There is a great many beggars in the city; but they appear to be mainly of the sturdy class, when nothing will induce to work. No reports or indications of severe distress yet. The people are kept in heart by the signs of coming rain.

Cawnpore	...	Rain has fallen throughout the district. Sugarcane and indigo are looking well, and the rain has been sufficient for kharif ploughings. The rainfall for the week has been—Bilhaver sixteen-tenths; Shujapur thirty-nine, Cawnpore nine, Sarb five inches; Akbarpore thirty-four tenths, Bhoginpur thirteen, Derapur six, and Basalabad thirty-six. A little cholera is reported; but, in the large majority of cases, the patients recover.	There are no relief-works or poor-houses.
	Hamirpur	The rainfall has been on the whole general; but in places it has been scanty. Ploughs are at work. The amount of moisture, though not as much as could be desired, is sufficient for immediate requirements.	Export still continues, but is abating. The markets are well supplied.	Wheat, 13 seers per Re. Barley, 15½ " " Gram, 19 " " Juar, 7½ " " Bajra, 9½ " "	Doing well: less trouble as to water for the present.	Sickness decreasing: no distress; cholera in one village, but not spreading.	No relief-works. In the poor-houses there are 85 paupers on relief.
Rain on the 23rd and 25th only: none since at Hamirpur. On the 23rd, three-tenths fell at Hamirpur, and two at Pamvari, seven-tenths, and at Muskara four: on the 25th, at Hamirpur, one-tenth, Rath six, Muskara eight, Mahoba one, and Manda seven-tenths. Three-tenths also were registered at Mandha on the 26th.

Relief-works.—The number on the drainage outfall extension work rose to 100 on the 25th, but all disappeared on the 26th, in consequence of the rain: 92 of them belonged to this district, 6 to Banda, and 2 to Gurgaon. In the city the number employed is 207, showing a decrease of 20 on last week's attendance, due to cultivators returning to their fields. Poor-houses.—There are only 18 paupers in the poor-house.

Barley, 14½ to 15½ " " Gram, 11½ to 13½ " "	Doing well	Though hardly pressed, there has hitherto been no aggravated distress: and now that rain has fallen so opportunely, there is no cause for anxiety. On the 27th, 2-6 inches were registered at the sadr.	Very bad: there is not much food and mouth disease, but the utter want of grass and water has told heavily upon them.	The condition of the people has been steadily becoming more critical. This rain has given a few employment in the fields, and has cheered up the rest. In the uplands of Khairagarh, the people are reported to stand in need of relief, and measures are being concerted to provide them with work tentatively. Relief is not reported to be required yet anywhere else. The mortality returns do not indicate any unusual mortality. There has been a good deal of cholera in the west of the district. Small-pox is not unusually virulent. Fevers claim the largest number of victims.	The work on the Jalalganj road was ready to be commenced, but was not found necessary.
Allahabad ...	Sufficiently supplied	Very nearly stationary— Wheat, 12½ seers per Re. Barley, 15½ " Gram, 12½ " Rajra, 11½ " Juar, 11½ "	Very bad: there is not much food and mouth disease, but the utter want of grass and water has told heavily upon them.	No relief-works yet. In the poor-houses, 220 cripples are supported from local subscriptions.
Banda ...	Well supplied. Wheat and barley are being imported, but not in large quantities. Flax seed alone is being exported.	Wheat, 12 to 12½ Barley, 13 to 14 Juar, 8 to 10 Gram, 13 to 14	Cholera has been very prevalent and fatal, but will probably abate rapidly with the rains. Small-pox is less prevalent than it has been. There have been many deaths from sun-stroke: on the 21st, 8 deaths occurred from this cause.	No relief-works, and no present necessity for them. In the poor-house the numbers have risen from 42 on the 20th to 76 on the 26th.
Kirwee ...	Nothing new to report. Rain has fallen everywhere. Ploughing and sowing are being actively carried on. Rice and cotton have been sown in some villages, and the usual agricultural operations are fully in hand.	Wheat, 10 to 11½ Barley, 14 to 15 Gram, 10½ to 12½ Juar, 12 to 12½ Rajra, 10 to 11½	Employment for the labouring classes is now available in the fields, and if the rainfall should continue, there will be no fear of any general distress, although the high prices of grain show no tendency to fall, and are not likely to do so for the present. Cholera is still reported in payta.	No relief-works. In the poor-house there are now 91 paupers on relief.
The fall in Chitwan up to the 26th was 16.6 ins., and in Kamasin up to the same date one inch; in Pergamah Taluk, the rainfall registered at headquarters has only been two tenths, but the fall has been much greater in the villages of the plateau.

Mirzapur	Sugarcane looking much re-freshed by the rain. Rain fell on 24th and 25th as follows: at Robertganj, 18 notches; at Chunar, 11; Mirzapur, 2; Chakia, 6; and Koerh 5 notches. The rain has been rather local, and about Mirzapur itself has not been sufficient to start ploughing operations. The weather continues cloudy, with westerly winds. The fall of rain, though local and partial, has raised the hopes of the people in many parts: the rainfall has been sufficient for agricultural operations, and ploughs are at work. Cholera has abated in the south of the district where it was rather severe before.	No relief-works or poor-houses.
Ghazipur	Sugarcane and a few inferior crops have been raised here and there by well irrigation. Since the rain has fallen, sowings have commenced, and fields are being compared to autumn crops. There has been rain at the following places: Ghazipur, 21 notches; Sydpur, 6; Tamania, 9; Koruntadih, 13; Easra, 4, and Balia 4 notches.	Wheat, 11½ Barley, 14½ Bajra, 9 Gram, 12½	seers per Re. " " " "	The condition of cattle has not yet improved; but new grass is visible and fodder will soon be abundant.	Slight cholera and few cases of sun-stroke. There is no severe general distress prevailing in the district. Some local distress in Tamania, Sydpur and Easra, is being tested and alleviated. No distress has been reported by police or chaukidars. The late rain has given home occupation to the labourers who have left the work in large bodies. They were residents of the neighbourhood, consequently desertion commenced with the first shower.	Relief-works— Mohania and Dildarnagar Road 467 The number having dwindled to 265, the work has been ordered to be closed for purposes of relief. In the municipal poor-house the daily average number of paupers is 163: many of these are cripples and unfit for work: some are professional beggars, hence no decrease in their numbers.
Benares	Sowings have begun. The rains have commenced: 6 notches fell on the 24th and 18 on the 27th.	Wheat, 10½ to 11½ Barley, 13 to 14 Bajra, 8½ to 12 Gram, 11 to 12	seers per Re. Azamgarh	The sugarcane and indigo are greatly improved by the timely rain: ploughing has begun everywhere: a violent storm, apparently the breaking of the monsoon, came on the evening of the 24th instant, and at the sadar station 1-2 inches of rain fell on the 24th and 1-3 inches on the 25th, total 2½ inches. Fourteen-tenths fell at Sagir, and fourteen at Muhamadabad on the 26th. It is raining heavily to-day (27th), and 5-10ths have fallen up to 5 P.M.	Wheat, 11½ Barley, 14½ Rice, 6½ Gram, 11½ Peas, 11½	seers per Re. " " " "	As usual: no sickness reported.	Cholera and small-pox still prevail to a certain extent. Cholera is worst in the Mahal pergunnah.	Relief-works— Man and Nagra road ... 837 The labourers come from an average distance of four miles round the work, varying from 4 mile to 18 miles. The number of labourers steadily increased from 718 to 1,057 from the 20th to the 24th, when rain fell, and the number decreased at once to 810. The number rose slightly the next day. Poor-house.—A poor-house was opened near the sadar on the 25th instant, and 137 names were entered on that day, and 117 on the following day. Four persons were reported to be in distress at Sikanderpur and were ordered to be received into the branch poor-house there, or drafted on to the sadar poor-house.
Kumaon	Good Heavy rain on 24th, except in Pali, and partial showers since. Occasional clouds with light variable winds. Monsoon not arrived yet.	Wheat, 10½ Barley, 13 Rice, 7 Gram, 8½	seers per Re. " " " "	Murrain still exists.	Good	No relief operations.

Poor-house—
Two hundred and sixteen paupers in the poor-house.

seers per Re. No change

Partabgarh ... Very little of crops as yet. Indifferently supplied. Prices have risen slightly, not-besides sugar and sowan. Rain on the 25th and 26th June.

General Remarks.—Rain fell on the 25th and 26th in several places; rather local in its character; three inches fell at the sadr, but four miles off the ground is still dry and hard. Fodder had disappeared; trees were perishing in numbers, and distress increasing rapidly. There would now be some little improvement. The police relieved a number of poor at the thanahs previously to sending them in. Of 93 persons thus relieved, 78 reached, the poor-house, others preferred starvation.

The Commissioner notes.—From the Deputy Commissioner's report, the rainfall of the last week does not seem to have been so general or heavy in this district as in Rae Bareilly, but it is believed that generally the fall has been sufficient to admit of the land being ploughed. While in Rae Bareilly prices have fallen considerably since the rain fell, the Partabgarh report shows an upward tendency, and the number in poor-houses has greatly increased. Deputy Commissioner's remark that "others preferred starvation" is understood to mean that of 93 persons who received subsistence advances to take them to the poor-house, 15 did not join the poor-house.

SITAPUR DIVISION.

Sitapur

The rains have regularly set in; ploughing is going on. In the low-lying lands, a good deal of rice has been sown. Seed grain is very dear.

Three-tenths of rain fell on the 25th, and thirty-six tenths on 26th. The rains have regularly set in.

Hardoi

As reported last week, ploughing is going on here and there, but more rain will be wanted before anything can be sown.

Drizzled on the 23rd; rained 24th and 25th on 26th and 27th, respectively; and drizzled again on the 28th.

Kheri

Heavy showers in total supply of grain in the market. Prices steady with a tendency to rise.

There is no change in the condition of the people, and no necessity for relief.

Cattle disease reported in one thana. Elsewhere cattle are healthy.

Thirty paupers have been relieved in the poor-house. The agricultural classes are busily engaged in ploughing and sowing. On ordinary works carried on by officers of the Public Works Department in the usual course, the average daily number of labourers is 494. Last week the average number was 1,031.

GOVT. SECRETARIAT, N.-W. PROVINCES AND OUDH,

Naini Tal, the 5th July 1878.

• C. ROBERTSON,
Serv. to Govt. of the N.-W. Provinces and Oudh.

C. BERNARD,
Addl. Secy. to Govt. of India.

No. 2046A., dated Naini Tal, the 13th July 1878.

From—C. ROBERTSON, Esq., Secretary to Govt., N.-W. Provinces and Oudh,

To—The Additional Secretary to Govt. of India, Public Works Dept., (Famine).

IN continuation of my letter No. 1913 A., dated 5th July, I am directed to forward, for the information of the Government of India, an abstract of the district weekly reports, with a comparative memorandum of the prices of wheat and barley, for the week ending 6th July.

2. During the week, there was little or no rain in the Meerut, Lucknow, and Rae Bareilly Divisions; elsewhere there were showers of varying extent and amount. Towards the end of the week, there was, however, reason to hope that the regular monsoon had set in, and there was a heavy fall of rain in the Bareilly district.

3. Prices were generally stationary. In a few places, they rose, and in others fell, slightly, but the differences were unimportant.

4. Rain had not been sufficiently general, nor agricultural operations so far advanced as to have much influence on the numbers receiving relief on public works or in poor-houses. Contrary to what may be hoped for, when rain is general, there was an increase in the number on the works in Bareilly, Bijnor, Muttra, and Agra. In Rae Bareilly, the number was about the same as in the previous week, but in Basti there was a decrease. The Commissioner of Benares, after personal inspection, has reported that the arrangements on the works are good, and that a new work at a considerable distance from the present works has been opened, to which the able-bodied who really need employment are drafted. There was on the whole an increase in the number of persons relieved in poor-houses. The numbers on relief-works and in poor-houses during the last two weeks have been:—

				Week ending 29th June.	Week ending 6th July.

6. I am to explain, with reference to the remarks in some district reports in regard to the difficulty experienced in obtaining seed for the kharif sowings, that Commissioners were requested in April last to make requisitions for authority to give advances on this account whenever they might appear to be necessary, and to several divisions allotments have been made from the grant sanctioned by the Government of India in the Revenue Department.

7. I am directed also to acknowledge your letter No. 1341 of 4th July, reviewing the report for the week ending 22nd June. With regard to the remarks in paragraph 2, I am to say that the Government of India is correct in its supposition that the difference in the dates up to which the numbers receiving relief are given for the various districts, is due to the necessity for closing the report for outlying districts in time to reach the Commissioner on or before the date fixed for its submission by him to Government.

8. As to the absence of any mention of relief-works in Jaunpur, during the week ending 22nd June, I am to say that the relief-works, hitherto carried on in that district, was a municipal one in the city of Jaunpur, which has now been completed. Arrangements were made for opening a State relief work, but the people refused to work at the rate fixed for a certain task. The Commissioner, however, promptly authorized the rate to be increased, if necessary, and the Public Works Department have been called upon to state whether the task demanded was a fair one.

9. With reference to the observation of the Government of India on the Budaun relief-camps (so called "nurseries"), I am to explain that the people admitted to these camps were inefficient who would have been sent to a poor-house if one had been open. The Collector's remarks attracted the Lieutenant-Governor's attention, and arrangements were made in the Public Works Department which rectified the state of affairs described by him. The Collector was under the impression that as the ration was only a bare subsistence, it could not be reduced in the event of refractoriness. It was pointed out to him that "a bare subsistence" was synonymous with the amount sufficient to keep a working-man in health. If, then, a man would not perform the prescribed tale of work, his food might be proportionately reduced, provided it was not reduced below eight chittacks: but the revised orders with respect to rations which are now in the hands of all officers, and a copy of which has been forwarded to you, will prevent the possibility of any further mistakes of this nature.

NAINI TAL,
The 13th July 1878. }

C. ROBERTSON,
Secy. to Govt., N.-W. Provinces and Oudh.

Abstract of the reports on the condition of the several districts of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, for the week ending 6th July 1878.

District.	Condition of crops.	State of markets.	Prices of food-grains.	Condition of cattle.	Condition of people.	Relief operations, &c.
MEERUT DIVISION.
Dehra Dun ...	Twenty notches of rain during the week. Kharif sowing is going on.	Well supplied	Wheat, 17 Barley, 24 Gram, 14½ Rice, 7 seers per Re.	Very good	Very good: no cases of distress or death from starvation reported.	No relief measures.
Saharanpur ..	No rain this week, though sky has been some times cloudy. Sugarcane in tehsil Deoband is drying up. Some kharif ploughing is going on.	Well supplied	Wheat, 15 to 18½ Barley, 21 to 25½ Gram, 13½ to 15 Juar, 8 to 9½ seers per Re.	Good	Complaints of fever prevalent. Four persons in distress were sent in by the police.	A small relief-work has been opened in the Saharanpur District.
Mozaffarnagar	Slight sprinkling showers fell in a few places on the 27th and 28th. Sowings of rice and makka are going on in irrigated lands. In the higher lands there are signs of the sugarcane drying up.	Well supplied	Wheat, 16 to 16½ Barley, 20 to 22 Gram, 14½ to 16 Juar, 8½ seers per Re.	Good	No change since last week: and no cases of individual distress reported by chaukidars.	No relief-works or poor-houses.
Meerut	Cloudy weather. Prospects of sugarcane, cotton and makka (raised by irrigation) good.	Well supplied	Wheat, 15 to 17 Barley, 19 to 23 Gram, 14 to 15½ Juar, 10 to 11 seers per Re.	Fair	High prices of food-grain pressing somewhat on the poor: otherwise the condition is good. No case of distress reported.	No relief measures.
Bulandshahr...	Cloudy: every appearance of rain falling soon. Indigo, cotton and makka are being largely sown. All crops previously sown are in good state.	Well supplied	Wheat, 15 to 16 Barley, 19 Gram, 14½ Juar, 11 seers per Re.	Improved	Good: no case of distress reported.	No relief measures.
Aligarh	Five notches of rain to the south-west of Sikandra Rao only. The kharif crops sown with well irrigation have suffered from excessive heat.	Well supplied	Wheat, 14 to 15½ Barley, 17 to 19 Gram, 15 to 17 seers per Re.	Improving	Cholera is now on the decline. No cases of distress reported.	Poor-houses.--The Koil and Hattaras poor-houses are again at work under the Municipal Committee. There are 31 paupers in the former, and 22 in the latter.

AGRA DIVISION.
Muttra	No remarks; the wind has been variable but latterly from east and south-east. There has been fair rain in Pergunnahs Kosi and Chahita.	Well supplied. The slight fall in prices is perhaps an indication of confidence in approaching rain.	Wheat, 15½ seers per Re. Barley, 18½ " Hajra, 8 " Juar, 8 " Gram, 14½ "	No change
Agra	Cloudy weather prevails. The rainfall has been—Jalaisar (26th June) 8½ ins; Kerouli (29th June) 2½ ins.	No want of supply. The imports exceeded the exports.	Wheat, 14 to 14½ seers per Re. Barley, 17½ to 18 " Hajra, 8½ to 9 " Juar, 9 to 9½ " Gram, 14 to 14½ "	Improved: green grass is procurable.
Farrukhabad	There was rain on the 29th; since then strong sunshine with east winds. On the 4th July, heavy rain (fourteen-tenths) fell. Ploughing has commenced. It has been going on since the 27th. Makka has been sown.	Fairly supplied ...	Wheat, 16½ seers per Re. Barley, 20½ " Gram, 15½ " Rice, 7½ "	Fair
Necessarily somewhat worse than last week, but a good rainfall would leave a magical effect on their condition. No special local distress is reported. The death-rate continues high, but fever and cholera are prevalent. Last week the number was 8,262. The increase is not greater than might be expected under the circumstances, there having been no rain till yesterday (4th). The laborers on the railway are largely from the Bhartpur and Dolepur States. The rest come from Muttra city and its neighbourhood. Poor-houses.—There were 1,301 paupers daily on relief during the week. Fever and cholera continue in Agra and Pergunnah Agra. No indications of distress appear from the mortuary returns, and only one instance of concealed distress has been reported by the chaukidars. A continuous slow increase of numbers continues. The situation is not improving. The sky is now cloudy, but so it has been on other occasions. On the works 4, 7, 8, 9 and 10, the greater number of laborers are from Bhartpur and Dholepur, some from Muttra and Gwalior, and the rest from the neighbourhood. Poor-houses— The numbers now in the poor-houses have reached Much the same. There are a few more beggars about, but not many. No distress reported by chaukidars. No relation between scarcity and the high mortality. Poor-houses afford relief to paupers daily

Division.	District.	Condition of crops.	State of markets.	Prices of food-grains.	Condition of cattle.	Condition of people.	Relief operations, &c.
AGRA DIVISION—contd.	Etawah	The average rainfall has been two-tenths. Sun-shine and cloudy weather alternate. Ploughing progressing: some sowing done too.	Well supplied	AGRA DIVISION—contd. Wheat, 13½ to 14 Barley, 18 to 19 Gram, 12 to 14½ Juar, 11	No change	Same as last week. No distress reported, and mortuary returns give no indication of the prevalence of distress. People continue very hopeful.	No relief-works.—Thirty-nine paupers in the poor-house.
	Mainpuri	Weather variable. No rain worth noticing. A good shower fell on the 4th, but the area covered is not yet known; at Bhowgar 9 notches fell. Ploughing going on. Indigo, sugarcane and bhutta look well.	Well supplied	Wheat, 14½ Barley, 17½ Gram, 15½ Rice, 7½	Plenty of fodder	Distress amongst the poorest classes daily more apparent. Two small relief-works were re-opened on 5th.	Relief-works.—On the Shekoabad Canal works the daily attendance of laborers averages 70 persons. Poor-houses.—In the poor-houses there are 401 paupers on relief.
	Etah	On the night of the 28th a storm with lightning and two notches of rain passed over Etah. On Friday, the 5th, five notches of rain fell in Aliganj tehsil. Slight damage by locusts on the 3rd. Sugarcane and indigo are doing well.	Well supplied	Wheat, 15½ Barley, 18½ Gram, 15½	Good	Generally good: small-pox has nearly disappeared. No distress reported by chaukidars, but beggars are becoming more numerous, and if rain does not fall, it will soon be necessary to open relief-works and poor-houses.	No relief-works or poor-houses.
BUDAON DIVISION.	Budaon	Where rain has fallen, ploughing has been general, and in some villages rice and cotton have been sown. The rainfall for the week has been:— Dahganj ... 0·6 Sahaswan ... 0·6 Gunour ... 0·2 Budaon ... 2·3 Inches.	Well supplied. Fall in prices is owing to decreased exports.	ROHILKHAND DIVISION. Wheat, 17½ Barley, 21½ Gram, 17½ Rice, 5½	Fair	Not advanced. On the reports of chaukidars 660 persons have been sent to the relief-works. Fever and small-pox have been prevalent and rather fatal.	Relief-works— (a.) Raising Ujhani and Bhynoor-nadi Road ... 5,693 (b.) Widening Aonla Road ... 2,181 Three-fourths of those on (a) come from a distance, and all on (b) from more than 10 miles. There is no poor-house.

General Remarks.—The rainfall reported up to the 3rd July has been very partial. To-day (4th), however, it has been raining pretty steadily for seven hours, and there is every appearance of its having been general and of more coming. A flight of locusts reported by the tehsildars of Sahaswan and Dataganj on 1st and 2nd instant, but no injury was done. One relief-work was completed during the week, and another opened in its place. There has been a decrease, as compared with the returns for the previous week, of 477 in the number on the works, due to drafting of laborers from work finished to work taken in hand; and of 74 in the numbers in the two relief-camps. The total numbers in the relief-camps were 352. The proportion of women and children was very large.

Shahjahanpur There was rain on the 28th ultimo in the Shahjahanpur and Pawayan tahsils, and rain generally throughout the district, on the 29th the heaviest fall being 15 notches at Jalalabad, and the lightest 6 notches at Pawayan. To-day (4th) there has been a steady downpour, which from some accounts already received appears to be universal. The registered fall for to-day is 41 notches. Ploughing has begun all over the district, and in many parts kharif crops have been sown, even previously to the present downpour. Rice has been sown too in a number of scattered localities. The sugarcane throughout the district is in excellent condition. The rain of to-day will probably be sufficient to allow all the crops including rice to be sown everywhere.

General Remarks.—The condition of the district on the whole is promising. There has been sufficient rain to allow the crops in most places to be sown. Seed-grain is scarce and commands very high prices: the money market is tight; and although credit can generally be obtained by the cultivators, the amount they can obtain is limited. The laborers are ill off, as they have been for the last three or four weeks: they have not generally begun to reap in search of employment, but only the stronger-bodied will find employment at their villages.

Barilly Fair: no reports of marked distress have been received through chaudsars.

Relief-works.—Two relief-works have been sanctioned, which will be opened when agricultural operations have absorbed all the labour which can find ordinary employment.

More than 3½ lakhs live in the neighbourhood of the works.

Poor-houses.—The number of paupers on relief averages daily 100 persons.

General Remarks.—The rain which fell last week did not have the effect of reducing the numbers on the relief-works, but yesterday's heavy and general rain will no doubt do so.

Division	District	Condition of crops.	State of markets.	Prices of food-grains.	Condition of cattle.	Condition of people.	Relief operations, &c.
ROHILKHAND DIVISION—contd.	Moradabad	The wind has blown steadily from the east. On the 29th June, eleven-tenths of rains fell at Moradabad, and four-tenths at Amroha. Eighteen-tenths of rain fell during the week at Thakurdhara. Ploughing has begun: sugarcane has benefited by the rain. Locusts are reported to have appeared in several parts of the district, but have done no damage.	Well supplied	Wheat, 16½ Barley, 20½ Gram, 15 Bajra, 21½ Rice, 7½ seers per Re.	Good	Relief-works were opened during the week to meet increased demand for labor. No reports or indications of severe distress. The rains appear to have fairly set in.	Relief-works— (a.) 	Cawnpore	The rainfall from 1st June to date in the several tehsils is—	Well supplied	ALLAHABAD DIVISION. There is little change in prices, but the tendency is to rise :— Wheat, 14½ to 15½ Barley, 17½ to 18½ Rice, 5 to 7½ Juar, 7½ to 8½ Gram, 13½ to 14½ seers per Re.	The cattle are in good condition : there is plenty of bhusa, and the grass is beginning to grow.	Agricultural operations have provided a certain amount of labor, and no distress more than in ordinary years appears to be yet felt. The want of rain in the pergunnahs bordering on the Jamma is serious, and distress is sure to appear in them first of all. So far, however, all are hopeful, and if timely rain falls, there need be no anxiety. A few cases of cholera are reported, but the disease is not very fatal.	Total number of laborers is ... 2,797 No poor-house is open. There are no relief-works or poor-houses.

		There have also been light showers in various villages. The rainfall measured at the tehsils this week has not been general throughout the pergunnahs. Easterly winds have prevailed, and heavy clouds which have passed over. Cane and indigo look well. Ploughing for the kharif has been general, and in some parts the land is sown. The absence of rain during the week is causing anxiety, and if none falls for the next two or three days, all work will be at a stand-still.

Hamirpur	No rain at head-quarters since 27th June: the latest reported fall at outlying tehsils was on 28th ultimo. Total reported rain since 22nd to date as follows:— Inches. Hamirpur 7 Rath 7 Moskara 1.2 Mandha 1.0 Kulpahar 2.4 Mahaba 1.4 Heavy clouds re-appeared on the 3rd, but only a few drops of rain fell. There is still probability of rain. A thoroughly good fall of eleven-tenths since reported at head-quarters on the night of the 6th July. Ploughing is going on.	Grain coming in more slowly, but the markets are still well supplied.	Wheat, Barley, Gram, Juar, Bt'ra.	13½ seers per Re. 15½ 13½ 7½ 9½	Doing well	No reported distress. The condition of the people is stationary, and depends on the rain. Present prospects are hopeful.	No relief-works: and only 113 in the poor-houses; last week the number was 85. The increase is due to an unexplained and sudden rise from 2 to 25 in the Muskara poor-house.
Fatehpur	Slight rain in the southern parts of the district. Locusts again visited tehsils Kora and Khaga, but passed off, doing only a little injury to mangoes and sugarcane. Manuring and ploughing are going on, but rain is much wanted, as the fields are becoming dry.	Well supplied	Wheat, 12½ Barley, 15½ Gram, 12½	to 13½ to 16½ to 13½	No disease	A few cases of cholera reported. The chankidars reported 49 cases of distress during the week. Of these 9 persons were sent to the poor-house, and the rest not being in actual want, declined to come.	Relief-works.—The drainage outfall extension work has remained closed; the laborers who were reported last week to have disappeared on the fall of rain on the 26th not having returned, nor been replaced by fresh arrivals. On the Kond tank, in the city, a municipal work, the number of laborers has decreased from 207 to 194 in consequence of the desertion of the cultivators. Of the laborers, 180 belong to the Fatehpur district, 4 to the Agra district, and 10 to the Rae Bareilly district. Poor-houses.—There are now 45 paupers on relief.
Allahabad	There has been a total average rainfall of 2½ tenths during the week, making in all since the first June, an average of 9½ths. Most of this has fallen in Hindiya tehsil to the east. Bars to the south, and Manjhanpur to the west. Hardly any has been recorded in the Sadr and Saran. Yesterday afternoon there was a fair shower which seems to have been general to the eastward. There is every appearance of early rain. Wherever an average share of rain has fallen, ploughing has been done, and juar, arhar, cotton and rice have been sown.	Sufficiently supplied. Grain from Cawnpore, Etawah and Delhi has been brought to Sirsa in the Khairagurh pergunnah.	Prices manifest a slight upward tendency. Wheat, 12½ Barley, 14½ Gram, 12½ Bajra, 11½ Juar, 11½	12½ seers per Re. 14½ 12½ 11½ 11½	Much improved. The filling of the smaller ponds has provided water, and grass has begun to spring up where rain has fallen.	Arrangements are being made for commencing test relief-works in the Khairagurh and Bara tehsils where the condition of the people has been bad of late. If plentiful and general rain were to fall now, the great majority of the needy would be at once for a time at least provided for by field-work. The health of the district is fairly good. No reports of distress by chankidars.	Relief-works.—The Collector anticipates that general rain is imminent, in which case the opening of the test relief-works will not be immediately necessary. Poor-houses.—285 pauper cripples are fed and sheltered in the Maja and Sheorajpur poor-houses.

Division.	District.	Condition of crops.	State of markets.	Prices of food-grains.	Condition of cattle.	Condition of people.	Relief operations, &c.
ALLAHABAD DIVISION—contd.	Jaunpur	The rain has not been extensive, though the wind has continued easterly. On the night of the 1st July, there was every appearance of a heavy fall, but the quantity registered was at Jaunpur one-tenth, and at Karahat three inches. None was registered at Machlishahr, but between that place and Jaunpur very heavy rain fell. There are still some parts of the district to the south and west, which have not been visited by rain. More rain was expected on the 4th, and the rivers Sai and Gumti have risen considerably. Sugarcane is doing well; maize, rice and other crops are being sown both broadcast and in seed-beds.	Fairly supplied ...	ALLAHABAD DIVISION—contd. Wheat, 12½ to 14½ seers per Re. Barley, 15½ to 16½ " " Gram, 11½ to 13½ " "	Fair	The condition of the people is little altered.	There have been no relief-works in operation, and no poor-houses open.
	Banda	Two-tenths of an inch of rain fell at Bahern on the 1st July, and one-tenth on the 28th June, and one-tenth on the 2nd July at Badausa: elsewhere none. (Rain has however since been reported by telegraph, and more is expected). Ploughing and sowing are going on; and full employment exists for those able and willing to work.	Markets are still well supplied. Large imports of wheat, rice and barley from Fatehpur: exports are limited to a little flax seed and sarson.	Wheat, 11½ to 12½ seers per Re. Barley, 13 to 14½ " " Rice, 7 to 8 " " Gram, 12 to 13½ " "	Cattle disease is reported in some villages: but the deaths are few.	Cholera has continued to rage. The people are hopeful of the future. No relief-works are as yet absolutely necessary, but Collector proposes to start a test-work, if rain should not fall generally in the next few days. A few cases of distress have been reported by chaukidars and patwaris from the interior. If found deserving of relief, they will be sent to the poor-house.	The number of persons relieved in the Banda poor-house has risen from 82 to 132 during the week.
ALLAHABAD DIVISION—contd.	Kirwee	The rains seem to have set in, the rainfall at Kirwee having been one-tenth on the 1st, two-tenths on the 3rd, and eleven-tenths on the 4th. Up to the 3rd, there had been a fall of six-tenths in the Kamasin pergunnah, and rain was expected in the Chubbun pergunnah. The rainfall has been much heavier in the Tirahan plateaus than in any other part of the sub-division, but there is no registration post to show what the actual rainfall there has been. Rice and cotton sowings have been made, and ploughing is everywhere actively carried on.	The supply is sufficient. Grain is being brought in from Cawnpur, but imports and exports are alike inconsiderable.	Wheat, 10 to 11½ seers per Re. Barley, 13 to 14½ " " Gram, 11 to 12½ " " Juar, 8 to 12 " " Bajra, 8 to 11 " "	The rainfall will soon supply sufficient pasture for cattle, of which there is now a great deficiency. Cattle disease seems nearly, if not altogether, to have disappeared.	The laboring classes are finding employment in the fields. The only class of the population which is suffering is the class of poor who are incapable of labor, and these are finding their way to the poor-house. A second village-inspection is being made, in order to ascertain whether there are any cases of distress which require relief. Such cases are at once provided for in the poor-house. Cholera is abating.	The number of inmates in the poor-house is increasing rapidly. Last week the average number was 91; this week there are 131 on relief.

BENARES DIVISION.
Gorakhpur	Good rain on the 30th June in the north-east and centre of district; scanty in the south-west. The week ended with cloudy weather. The rainfall during the week has been— Inches. Maharajganj ... 3.1 Padrauna ... 2.6 Hatta ... 2.4 Deona ... 1.8 Bansgaon ... 2 Gorakhpur ... 3 Sowings for kharif are in progress over nearly all the district. Rainfall in some parts of the south and west sufficient for rice sowings to be made.	Still fairly supplied	Wheat, 12½ seers per Re. Barley, 16½ " Rajra, 8½ " Rice, 9½ " Gram, 12½ "	Fair
Commissioner remarks:—Having just now returned from a visit to Gorakhpur, I find that the critical condition of the district at the commencement of the week rendered it almost imperative to adopt some extensive scheme for relief. The rain which has fallen during the week has for the time relieved the increasing pressure, and the condition is now much more hopeful. For the next fortnight, a sufficient sum has been placed at the disposal of the Collector to meet emergencies on petty relief-works, and to organize on a more extensive scale the work-house system where necessary. Every attention is being paid to standing orders, and such relief as is necessary will be afforded; and it is believed there will be no present necessity to open out any relief-work on a large scale. In and around Gorakhpur and Bansgaon, no rain of value has fallen, and these parts are in much want.
Basti	On the 2nd and 3rd some rain fell in all tahsils. Since rain first fell on 24th June, Basti and Haraiya have registered more than 20 notches each. At Doona-riaganj, in the middle of the specially distressed tract, less than 10 notches have been registered. Locusts have appeared in considerable numbers during the week, but do not appear to have done any noteworthy damage. Cane and other crops have benefited by rain.	As before: there is still no easy flow of grain into the market.	Wheat, 11 to 13 seers per Re. Barley, 12 to 17 " Rajra, 8 to 9 " Rice, 8 to 9 " Gram, 12 to 15 "	No disease reported.
Rain has fallen in parts of the district, but not general. Ploughing, sowing fields, and manuring, &c., are going on where rain has fallen. This may have partly relieved people, who are not cultivators, but, as a rule, they are without employment. General health continues good. Tehsildars and police throughout the district have been directed to send bad cases into the Basti poor-house, and several such cases have been received there.
Relief-works:— (a.) Rudaulie (3rd July) ... 24,491 (b.) Basti (1st ") ... 31,846 56,337 During the week, 27th June to 3rd July, the numbers on Basti Road aggregated 197,967, giving a daily average of 28,281; and on Kakrahi Ghat Road 156,533, or a daily average of 28,088; the total daily average of the district thus being 54,000 against 70,000 in the preceding week. This decrease has resulted from the rain and from weeding out of strong and able-bodied, for whom special employment will be found on a special work at Belwa, 44 miles by road, away from nearest existent relief-work. This was done at the close of the week. No further information obtained this week regarding distances of laborers' homes from work. In poor-houses, the number on relief averages 604 paupers.
Commissioner notes:—I need only add that the relief-works are now well in hand, and all orders of Government are carefully observed.

Relief-works.—The relief-works in the city are municipal, one work being a subscription one. A Government grant of Rs. 2,000 has been given. The total number of laborers is about 1,620; the average during the week 1,250. Some 140 persons have come from a greater distance than 10 miles. The increasing distress is the cause of the rise in number. Poor-houses.—The average attendance is 250 persons. Last week it was 180.

Fair. Collector considers that there is no general distress, but cases of individual distress are on the increase. Public health is good. Commissioner considers distress to be general among all the poorer classes, while severe distress is less extensive in Gorakhpur than in Basti. 14 distressed persons were conveyed by the police to the poor-house.

BENARES DIVISION—contd.	Mirzapur	The rainfall during the week has been— Mirzapur ... 2 notches. Chunar ... 1 inch. Robertganj ... 8 notches. Chakia ... 2 " Koerh ... 8 " Sugarcane much benefited by rain: rice reported to have germinated in the Chunar tehsil. Sawan, kank, makka, &c., are being sown where rain has fallen.	No change: still scantily supplied.	Wheat, 11 to 12½ seers per Re. Barley, 12½ to 15 " Bajra, 7½ to 12 " Gram, 11½ to 13 "	Much improved...	Ploughing and sowing has commenced in most parts where rain has fallen. Cholera still shows itself in the south of the district.	Relief-works. —Owing to the apparent cessation of rain in the Mirzapur tehsil, Collector started the Mirzapur and Marlian Road, one of the budgeted works, as a relief-work on the 1st July. On the first morning 140 persons came, and on seeing the task allotted for the day, 63 of them went away at once; 77 remained and performed their task. On the 2nd and 3rd, no body came at all. Poor-house relief. —No poor-house open yet.
	Azamgarh	Rainfall on 1st July, at the Sadr, 3·6 inches and three-tenths at Nagra: on 2nd July, 2 notches at Sagri and 4 notches at Mahomdabad. No rain within four miles of Deogaon, but heavy rain out of that radius, and ploughs are going everywhere. Sugarcane and indigo greatly improved.	Very moderately supplied. Prices are falling slightly.	Wheat, 11½ to 11½ seers per Re. Barley, 14½ to 15½ " Gram, 11½ to 11½ "	As usual: no sickness reported.	Cholera and small-pox still prevail to a certain extent.	Relief-works. —Man and Nagra Road on 3rd July ... 600 The average for the week has been ... 671 Laborers have hitherto come from an average distance of 4 miles round the work varying from ½ mile to 18 miles; but the test has now been put in force, and no one is allowed to work within 8 miles of his home, which may account for the diminution of the numbers from 686 to 500 in two days. Poor-house. —A poor-house was opened on the 25th June, admitting during the week 493 men, 624 women, and 484 children.
	Ghazipur	The rainfall during the week was:— Ghazipur ... 1·2 Saidpur ... 1·7 Zamania ... 6 Korantadhi ... 2·0 Rasra ... 4·0 Balua ... 1·1 The bhadai and kharif crops are being sown everywhere.	Supply continues sufficient.	Wheat, 11½ seers per Re. Barley, 14½ " Bajra, 9 " Gram, 12½ "	Improving from fall of rain which has done good to the grass.	There is no severe general distress except in Zamania, which has already been alleviated, and some is reported from Rasra, which is being enquired into, and lacks confirmation. Few cases of cholera still reported from city and suburbs.	Relief-works. —The earth-work on the Dildarnagr and Mohania Road was closed on the 28th June. On the 27th, there were 364 laborers employed on it. Most of these have obtained home occupation in consequence of the recent fall of rain. Poor-house. —The average attendance in the poor-house for the week has been 151.

JEANNE DIVISION.

REVENUE DIVISION.

SITAPUR DIVISION.	Sitapur	A little drizzle on the 5th. Weather continues cloudy. Ploughing is going on and a good deal of rice sown in low-lying lands. There is great difficulty about seed grain, and the area sown will probably be below the average.	Well supplied	Wheat, 16 seers per Re. Barley, 22 " " Gram, 16 " " Juar and Bajra (seed grain) is selling at four seers per rupee; marwa at two, sawan at 4 kodo at 7, and dhan at 6 seers per rupee.	Slight disease, but cattle are in good condition.	No change, but ploughing is going on, and no relief is needed.	No relief operations.
	Hardoi	Rain fell on the 29th June. Ploughing has become general.	Well supplied	Wheat, 15½ seers per Re. Barley, 20 " " Rice, 6 " " Gram, 15½ " "	Good, except in a few places where there is cattle disease.	Cholera has broken out in Mouza Zahidpur, about 14 miles distant from the Sadr station: six cases have ended fatally.	The average number of inmates in the Hardoi poor-house is 134.
General Remarks.—During the week, there has been rain throughout the district, varying from five-tenths in Shahabad to two inches in the Hardoi tehsil. There was some slight rain on the 6th. The general health of the district is good. Ploughing is going on, and all crops, except rice, may now be sown. No distress has been reported by chankidars, and the people find ample employment in the fields. Plough cattle are scarce, and seed is very dear.
SITAPUR DIVISION.	Kheri	Rain reported throughout the district, but not enough at a few places for field operations. Clouds gather daily. Sowings are vigorously pushed on. The rain has done a great deal of good to sugarcane.	Ill supplied	Wheat, 16½ seers per Re. Barley, 23 " " Gram, 17½ " " Rice, 6½ " "	Good	Good. No report of distress or starvation, nor indication of unusual mortality from the mortuary returns.	On ordinary public works, the number of laborers is now 502. Last week it was 494. Thirty paupers, too old to work, or infants, or cripples, are provided for in the poor-house.
	Parabgarh	Growing crops good so far, but they are being irrigated. Rain is greatly needed. Some ploughing has been done, and fields here and there watered for sowing. There has been no rain during the week.	Not well supplied	Wheat, 11½ to 12½ seers per Re. Barley, 14 to 15½ " " Gram, 11½ to 12½ " "	No complaints	Bad: insufficiently fed. The police and chankidars reported 190 cases of distress, of which 185 came into the poor-house.	In the poor-house there are 327 paupers, the majority of whom are in poor condition. Increased distress accounts for the increased numbers on relief, though the rain of the 26th June induced some to leave.

Commissioner's remarks.—Weather as in Rae Bareilly. No rain, which is much wanted, and the absence of it is causing great anxiety. It had been arranged to open a relief-work on the 1st July, if rains did not commence earlier. Rain fell, however, during the last week of June, and it was hoped the monsoon had set in. The Deputy Commissioner now represents that distress is on the increase owing to the absence of rain and the want of employment. It will be, therefore, necessary to open the relief-work.

Rae Bareilly ...	Very little or no rain during the week. On the 28th, one-tenth fell at the Sadr and four-tenths at Dig-bejgaon; and on the 29th June one-tenth at Dalman. The sun which has been very powerful is drying up all the crops which had germinated, and sowings have been stopped for want of rain.	Sufficient supply, though less than last week.	Wheat, Barley, Gram, Rice,	12½ seers per Re. 16½ " " 12½ " " 6 " "	Improving daily	No improvement. The people are losing heart at the rains holding off. Small-pox is reported to be on the decrease, and the general health is good. No distress nor deaths from starvation have been reported by chaukidars.	Relief-works— (1.) Improving Rae Bareilly and Sul-tanpur Road (29th June) ... 313 (2.) Improving Badrawan and Maharajganj Road (29th June) ... 9,532 9,846
Commissioner remarks: —The weather during the last week has been very disappointing and such as to give rise to great anxiety. The rains have kept off, and a hot east wind has been blowing. This and a scorching powerful sun has dried up the soil, so that ploughing has ceased, and the seed sown during the previous week, which had germinated, is in great danger. Rain is very much wanted. The numbers on relief-works which had diminished are again rising, and prices had a marked upward tendency during the week. I see more anxiety among the people than I have hitherto done, and another ten days of such weather would, I fear, have a most unsettling effect on the agricultural classes, and drive large numbers on relief-works. The Deputy Commissioner reports a flight of locusts having appeared in the Salone tehsil, but no damage has yet been reported. The 3rd July is the latest date for which the return of laborers on relief-works has been received by me. On that day, the numbers amounted to 14,649.
Sultanpur ...	In the Kadipur tehsil one inch and one-tenth of rain fell during the week: there was none elsewhere. A real setting in of the monsoon is anxiously looked for. Crops, where sown, are being irrigated, and are in some danger. Ploughing has commenced where rain has fallen; but the fall was very partial, and people will not risk their seed till the rains are fairly set in.	Fairly supplied	Wheat, Barley, Rice, Gram, Peas,	12½ seers per Re. 15 " " 9½ " " 13 " " 11 " "	No change	Still causing much anxiety, and the rains holding off is increasing the disquietude. No severe distress has been reported by chaukidars, and the mortality returns give no indication of such distress.	Relief-works.—Sultanpur, Khaga Road 667 laborers daily, or a decrease of 161, most of whom left after the recent fall of rain. The laborers come from distances varying from 1 to 10 miles, and all belong to the district. Poor-houses.—The numbers have risen from 789 last week to 930 daily during the present week.
Commissioner remarks: —The weather appears to have been much the same as in Rae Bareilly. Rain is much wanted: crops sown are in jeopardy, and ploughing and sowing are stopped for want of it. The late rainfall is said to have been very local and partial. Prices are unaltered, and there has been a slight decrease in the numbers on relief-works.
FYZABAD DIVISION.
Gonda ...	Heavy rain at Utraula on the 4th, registering 8½ inches in many hours. Rain has fallen in other parts of the district more or less heavily, but for a want of a sufficient number of registering stations, it cannot be accurately recorded. No rain registered at Sadr or at the Tarabganj tehsil. Rice has not yet been sown generally over the district, but other kharif sowings have been going on briskly, and some have germinated.	Markets continue well supplied, but it is difficult to procure seed-rice and kodo.	Wheat, Barley, Juar, Gram,	13½ seers per Re. 15½ " " 13 " " 19½ " "	No disease. Grazing has improved.	No distress at all in the Gonda and Tarabganj tehsils, and very slight in the Utraula tehsil.	Relief-works.—People only came on to the relief-works opened in pergunnah Babnipur on the 29th June. The average daily attendance up to 3rd instant is 772. These are mostly women and children, and it does not appear at present that there is any such distress as would justify keeping open the work. An Assistant Commissioner has however been sent out to inspect the work and report. Poor-houses.—None.
Commissioner remarks: —Prices of wheat and maize are falling; grain steady; barley, rice and urhar rising. Rains have been so far partial and unevenly distributed, but they have set in under more favourable conditions than they did last year, and the people look forward generally to a good season. No cholera, but small-pox, though evidently declining, is still about.

Division.	District.	Condition of crops.	State of markets.	Prices of food-grains.	Condition of cattle.	Condition of people.	Relief operations, &c.
FYSAHAD DIVISION—contd.	Fyzabad	Cloudy weather with frequent rain since the night of the 4th instant. Ploughing and sowing are general.	Sufficiently supplied	FYZABAD DIVISION—contd. Wheat, 13 to 14 seers per Re. Barley, 17 to 18 " " Rice, 7 to 7½ " " Gram, 13 to 14 " "	Good	Improved: labor being now in demand	Relief-works.—Closed. Poor-houses.—On the 5th July, there were 530 paupers on relief.
	Bahraich	Rain on the 29th to the extent of two-tenths at Nainpara, and six-tenths at Kaisarganj tehsil. Preparations for sowing are going on, and in some places seed has been sown.	Well supplied	Wheat, 11 to 11½ seers per Re. Barley, 14½ " " Gram, 12 to 12½ " " Bajra, 7 " " Juar, 13 " "	Good	Good: no cases of distress reported by chaudhars.	No relief-works or special poor-houses.
LUCKNOW DIVISION.	Lucknow	No rain since last report. High south-east wind for the last two days; the weather is still cloudy, but rain holds off. Ploughing is going on.	Imports small, but there is a good deal of exportation.	LUCKNOW DIVISION. Wheat, 14½ seers per Re. Barley, 17½ " " Gram, 13½ " " Urhar, 12½ " "	No change	Fair	Relief-works.—On four works, the total daily average attendance is 1,973 laborers. On none of these is there a larger attendance than 800. Poor-houses.—In the Husenabad and King's poor-houses, a total of 1,085 paupers receive relief. The laborers come mostly from the neighborhood of the works, and are in good condition.
	Unao	The weather has been seasonable and cloudy. Heavy rain fell at Mubani, Safipur and Bangramani. Ploughing and sowing going on: more rain is wanted. Rain to the extent of fourteen-tenths is since reported from Unao.	Well supplied	Wheat, 15 seers per Re. Barley, 18 " " Gram, 14 " "	Better than they were.	Good: prospects are hopeful	Relief-works.—The daily average number of laborers on the Shaikhpur work has fallen from 495 last week to 54 this week, owing to the people returning to field work in consequence of the abundant rainfall in the neighborhood. Poor-houses.—There are 80 paupers on relief.

Relief works.—On the Zaidpur and Chinal road, a daily average of 1,910 laborers is employed. On the two other works in hand, the total daily attendance is only 524. The Deputy Commissioner attributes the decrease to change in the locality of the works. The laborers are chiefly residents of the Nawabganj tahsil, though some come from other tahsils.

Poor-houses.—In poor-houses there are 789 paupers on relief.

There is likely to be an improvement from the present state of the weather. Neither the mortality returns nor the reports of chankidars indicate the prevalence of increased distress.

WEEKLY CONDITION REPORT OF DISTRESSED DISTRICTS OF THE MYSORE PROVINCE.

PROVINCE OF MYSORE.

(No. 73.)

Special Famine Report for the week ending the 29th June 1878.Statement No. 73, regarding Famine-relief operations in the Province of Mysore, for the week ending the 29th June 1878.

THE rainfall during the week was light and partial, and a few heavy showers are much wanted. A large area of land is ready for sowing, and the seed will be put down as soon as more favourable weather sets in. Such young crops as are in the ground are generally doing well, except in taluks where locusts and grass-hoppers have been troublesome, and prospects on the whole are good. Prices continue very high.

2. Imports of grain by rail amounted to 1,108 tons, or 167 tons less than last week. From Bangalore 393 tons were sent to the interior, being 48 tons more than in the week previous.

3. On civil relief works, 4,418 labourers were employed, showing an excess of 264 over the figures for the preceding week.

4. The Department Public Works gave occupation, in addition to 12,586 on ordinary works, to 32,826 people on relief-works, or a decrease of 150, which calls for no remark beyond that the numbers in the Bangalore and Chitaldrug districts still exhibit a tendency to diminish, and in Tûmkûr to augment. The following is a list of the more important works :—

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE, AGRICULTURE AND COMMERCE.

REPORT OF WEATHER IN INDIA FOR THE WEEK ENDING THURSDAY, JULY 18TH, 1878.

Friday, 12th July.—The barometer has risen slightly over Assam, Eastern Bengal, Sind, Guzerat, Central India, the Berars, and Bombay. It has fallen over the rest of India. The decrease of pressure is greatest in the North-Western Provinces, and exceeds $\cdot 05''$ at Bareilly, Agra, Delhi, and Roorkee.

The wind is strong at the head of the Bay of Bengal. The wind directions at all the stations in the Gangetic Valley, from Patna to Agra, are west. This unusual atmospheric motion indicates extensive indraught to the region of heavy rainfall in Eastern Bengal.

The sky is overcast in Assam, Eastern Bengal, Behar, and at Bombay and the neighbouring stations. It is more or less clouded over the whole of India.

Moderate showers, giving an average of $\cdot 2$ inch, fell during the preceding day over the greater part of the North-Western Provinces and Southern Behar. A storm gave Agra $1\cdot 35$ inches of rain. Moderate rain also fell in Bombay and Guzerat. Rain has almost entirely ceased in Southern India: $\cdot 8$ inch was recorded at Bangalore this morning, and $\cdot 9$ inch at Cochin. Colombo has received exceptionally heavy rain, $7\cdot 13$ inches falling during the past 24 hours.

Excessive rainfall also occurred in Northern Behar, and Northern and Eastern Bengal: $1\cdot 76$ inches were registered at Mozufferpore, $1\cdot 43$ inches at Purneah, $1\cdot 89$ inches at Darjeeling, $6\cdot 5$ inches at Rungpore and at Dacca, and $7\cdot 5$ inches at Chittagong.

Saturday, 13th July.—The barometer has fallen at all stations, except Jubbulpore and Colombo, during the past 24 hours. The fall is greatest in Assam and the Dacca Division of Bengal, where it averages $\cdot 105''$, and in Upper Sind and the Punjab. The decrease of pressure reached its maximum at Peshawur, where it amounted to $\cdot 128''$ during the preceding 24 hours.

The barometer rose slightly at Jubbulpore ($\cdot 009''$). The diminution of pressure was generally least in Central India.

The temperature was nowhere excessive at 10 A.M. to-day. The maximum temperature ($95\cdot 3^{\circ}$) was recorded at Jacobabad.

The wind velocity is generally below the average. This continues to be a marked feature in the meteorology of the Deccan and Southern India. Kurrachee, Saugor Island, Calcutta, Hazaribagh, and Colombo are the only stations at which the wind velocity is to-day above the average.

The air motion over the Gangetic Valley is to-day very unusual for July. The wind is from the west at Benares, Allahabad, Lucknow, and Agra; and from the north-west at Bareilly, Delhi, and Roorkee. It is due to the indraught to the region of heavy rainfall in Eastern and Northern Bengal.

The sky is now free from cloud over the whole of the Punjab, except at Delhi.

Moderate rain has fallen in Assam, Bengal, and Behar. The following are the more important rainfalls:—Patna $2\cdot 07$ inches, Purneah $1\cdot 15$ inches, Goalpara $1\cdot 24$ inches, Chittagong $1\cdot 9$ inches, Dacca $\cdot 7$ inch, and Calcutta $\cdot 6$ inch. No rain has fallen at the Punjab stations, and at the majority of stations in the North-Western Provinces: $\cdot 6$ inch fell at Allahabad, and $\cdot 57$ inch at Lucknow, during the day.

Light showers have fallen in Bombay, the Berars, and Central Provinces: the heaviest occurred at Surat ($1\cdot 2$ inches) and Nagpore ($\cdot 83$ inch).

Fair rain has fallen over a large portion of the Deccan and Southern India during the day. General rain occurred over a belt of country stretching across the peninsula from Belgaum to Masulipatam. The heaviest rainfalls were: Belgaum $1\cdot 01$ inches, Bellary $1\cdot 49$ inches, Raichur $\cdot 98$ inch, Cuddapah 1 inch, and Masulipatam $1\cdot 73$ inches. This gives good rainfall to the only part of the Deccan where it has hitherto been somewhat scanty.

Colombo has again had excessive rainfall: $5\cdot 76$ inches were registered this morning.

Sunday, 14th July.—The pressure has increased slightly at Cochin and Colombo, and at the sub-Himalayan stations lying west of Patna. It has fallen at the remaining stations. The decrease during the preceding 24 hours exceeds $\cdot 05''$ in Lower Sind, Guzerat, and the Berars.

The highest temperature at 10 A.M. to-day was $96\cdot 3^{\circ}$, recorded at Jacobabad.

The wind is strong at Saugor Island, at Kurrachee and Rajkot, and also at Colombo. Elsewhere, the wind velocity continues to be much below the July average.

The wind directions are abnormal in the North-Western Provinces.

The sky is slightly more clouded than yesterday, except in the western districts of the North-Western Provinces.

The amount of rain during the past 24 hours has been comparatively small.

The chief feature is the continued excessive fall at Colombo, where 11.56 inches were registered this morning.

The rainfall in Central and Western India was very light. The most important fall occurred at Jubbulpore, where it has hitherto been deficient: two inches fell during a thunder-storm.

The only area of general rain during the day extends along the north bank of the Jumna and Ganges, from Agra to Rungpore. The chief rainfalls over this area were: Agra .4 inch, Futehgarh .3 inch, Cawnpore .9 inch, Lucknow 1.25 inches, Fyzabad 1.1 inches, Mozufferpore 2.61 inches, and Rungpore 1.2 inches.

The weather over the eastern districts of the North-Western Provinces, and in the Punjab, was unsettled and stormy: dust-storms passed over Lahore and Rawalpindi; heavy showers, exceeding 1 inch, fell at both stations during the storms.

Monday, 15th July.—The barometer has fallen slightly during the previous 24 hours in the Deccan and Southern India. It has, on the other hand, risen in Northern India, more especially in the Punjab, where the increase has been considerable. It is greatest at Dera Ismail Khan, where it amounts to .159".

The temperature is increasing in the North-Western Provinces with the cessation of rain. The highest temperature at 10 A.M. to-day (94.7°) was observed at Allahabad.

The wind directions are generally abnormal; and the wind velocity, more especially in the North-Western Provinces and Central India, much below the average. The westerly element of the wind in Southern Bengal which has formed one of the characteristic features of the present monsoon, is as strongly marked as hitherto. In the Central Provinces and the Berars the wind is from the north-west.

The slight differences of pressure in Northern India at present appear to indicate that the winds are local rather than general in character.

The sky is more or less clouded over the whole of India. The only station at which it was free from cloud this morning was Delhi.

The rainfall of the preceding 24 hours has been moderate in amount. No rain has fallen at stations in Sind, Guzerat, Rajputana, Orissa, and the south-west of Bengal. 3.01 inches were registered at Chittagong to-day, 1.08 at Patna, and 1.26 inches at Mozufferpore. Dust-storms occurred at Mooltan and Dera Ismail Khan: .15 inch fell at Mooltan during the storm, and .20 inch at Dera Ismail Khan. The Madras Presidency and the Deccan continue to receive moderate rainfall.

Tuesday, 16th July.—The barometer has again fallen over Central and Southern India, and risen in Northern India: the greatest decrease of pressure occurred at Bangalore. The only stations at which the increase exceeded .05" were Calcutta and Saugor Island.

The temperature is rapidly increasing in the North-Western Provinces and the Punjab, over the greater portion of which the sky is now clear: the highest temperature (98.3°) was recorded this morning at Jacobabad; the temperature at Lucknow (98.1°) was very slightly less. The average temperature over the North-Western Provinces at 10 A.M. to-day was 94.

The only station at which the wind velocity exceeds the average is Colombo. The winds are extremely light at the majority of stations. The average wind velocity for the whole of India is barely half its normal amount. The wind directions present the same features generally as yesterday, except in Bengal, where the westerly element is less marked than hitherto.

The sky is now free from cloud in the Punjab, Northern Sind, and the western districts of the North-Western Provinces. It is more or less clouded over the rest of India.

The rainfall of the past 24 hours has been limited in amount and area. The chief feature of the rainfall to-day, as of the past three or four days, is that it occurred chiefly in those districts which have hitherto received scanty rainfall. Moderate rain has fallen during the past 24 hours over the whole of Bengal and Orissa. Northern Bengal continues to receive abundant rain. 2.25 inches were registered at Rungpore, 1.29 inches at Purneah, 3.06 inches at Saugor Island, .87 inch at Calcutta, .65 inch at False Point, and .18 inch at Cuttack.

No rain has fallen in the Punjab, North-Western Provinces, or Central India. Very light showers have fallen at some of the Madras stations. Shalabad in the Deccan received 1.8 inches during the day, and Jubbulpore .43 inch.

Wednesday, 17th July.—The barometer has again risen over the greater part of India. The increase of pressure exceeds .05" in Arracan, Bengal, and the North-Western Provinces. The barometer is falling slowly in Bombay, Rajputana, and the Berars.

The pressure at stations along the west coast of the Bay of Bengal was very uniform. The pressure at Saugor Island at 10 A.M. to-day was 29·735", at False Point 29·733", at Vizagapatam 29·737", and at Madras 29·717".

The temperature continues to increase at the majority of stations. It has fallen considerably in the more easterly districts of the North-Western Provinces.

The winds over the greater part of India are unusually light, and their directions more or less abnormal. Easterly winds are again setting in over the North-Western Provinces.

Strong winds continue at Colombo, and have set in at Diamond Island. The wind directions along the east coast of the Bay have an unusually strong easterly element. Both these facts, and the unusual distribution of pressure along the east coast of the Bay, indicate stormy weather in the Bay of Bengal.

The humidity has increased, except at the Bengal, Behar, and Punjab stations, during the past 24 hours. The increase of humidity is most marked in the eastern districts of the North-Western Provinces. The sky is cloudless in the Punjab.

The amount of rain during the past 24 hours has been unusually small. Passing showers have given moderate rain to Chittagong, Saugor Island, and False Point. 2·32 inches were registered at Nagpore, and 2·6 inches at Cochin. The Deccan continues to receive occasional showers; 1·23 inches fell during the day at Gulburga, ·36 inch at Bellary, ·3 inch at Shahabad, ·27 inch at Hyderabad, and ·5 inch at Poona.

Thursday, 18th July.—The barometer has fallen over the whole of the north and centre of India. It has risen at stations south of the Kistna. The changes have not been large in amount. The decrease of pressure is greatest in the western Punjab and Lower Sind.

The distribution of pressure round the coast of the Bay of Bengal is again abnormal.

The temperature continues to increase at the majority of stations, more especially in the Punjab. The thermometer at 10 A.M. to-day stood at 103·8° at Jacobabad and 101° at Mooltan.

Light winds continue over the greater part of India. The wind in the North-Western Provinces is very slowly drawing round to its normal easterly direction.

The wind directions at the coast stations of the Bay of Bengal generally indicate stormy weather, and feeble cyclonic motion about the centre of the Bay. The wind has decreased in strength at Colombo. It has increased very considerably at Diamond Island, where the sea is very high. The sea is also rough at Cochin.

The sky is overcast in Assam, and along the Coromandel Coast. It is partially clouded over the remainder of India, except in the Punjab and Upper Sind, and probably the greater part of Rajputana, where the sky is clear.

No rain fell during the day in Upper India. Light showers occurred in Assam, Arracan, and at Cuttack. Central India, Bombay, and Poona have received fair rain during the day. The following are the more important rainfalls: Poona 3·88 inches, Surat 2·05 inches, Indore 1·8 inches, and Neemuch 1·5 inches. The rainfall at all these stations, except Surat, has hitherto been deficient.

Light showers continue in the Central Deccan; Sholapore and Shahabad each received three-tenths of an inch during the day.

General Summary.—The past week has been generally marked by diminished barometric range over India, light winds, and decreased rainfall.

The barometric range over India increased from Thursday the 11th until Sunday morning (the 14th), when it amounted to ·44". It decreased on Monday, and was unusually small on Tuesday and Wednesday, when it was only one quarter of an inch, less than it has been since the 15th of June.

The rainfall was very heavy on Friday the 12th over Eastern and Northern Bengal. Moderate showers fell in the North-West Provinces and Central India. On the 13th there was moderate rain in Bengal and Behar. The sky was now free from clouds in the Punjab, and began to clear in the western districts of the North-West Provinces.

The diminution of rainfall in Northern India was as on two previous occasions during the present monsoon accompanied by increased rain in the Deccan and Southern India. Fair rain fell on the 13th over a belt of country stretching across the peninsula from Belgaum to Masulipatam. The rainfall from the 13th to the 18th has mainly given rain to those districts where it has hitherto been deficient. It has probably consisted rather of heavy detached showers than of general rainfall over considerable areas. Thus on the 14th two inches fell at Jubbulpore. On the 16th 3·06 inches were registered at Saugor Island, and 1·8 inches at Shahabad in the Deccan. On the 17th 1·23 inches fell at Gulburga in the Deccan, and on the 19th Poona received 3·88 inches, Indore 1·8 inches, and Neemuch 1·5 inches. The effect of these heavy showers falling at stations that had previously received deficient rainfall has been to approximately equalize the rainfall distribution for the month. The only two districts which have not yet received average rainfall are the eastern divisions of the North-Western Provinces, and an area at the north-west angle of the Bay of Bengal including Cuttack, False Point, Saugor Island and Calcutta.

One of the chief features of the week has been the excessive rainfall at Colombo, where 24.45 inches fell on the 12th, 13th and 14th. The average rainfall for the month of July at that station is only 2.74 inches.

The following table give the rainfalls for the month of June 1878 and the average June rainfall at the more important stations. It shews that the rainfall was deficient at all stations, except Colombo, and suggests that this was mainly due to a retardation of the monsoon current. This consequently affected the rainfall of the stations furthest from the coast most considerably :—

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE, AGRICULTURE AND COMMERCE.

REPORTS ON THE STATE OF THE SEASON AND PROSPECTS OF THE CROPS FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 16TH JULY 1878.

GENERAL REMARKS.—General rain is reported from Madras during the week : more than an inch has fallen in all districts except Vizagapatam, Ganjam, Godavery, Tanjore, Tinnevely, Chingleput, and Madras; prospects have improved in consequence of the rainfall, but prices still remain high, except in Kistna where there has been a slight fall. The number on relief-works is 137,771, and gratuitously relieved 79,089, less by 2,027 and more by 3,275 than last week respectively. In Mysore there has been heavy rain throughout a great part of the Province, and fair general rain in Haasan district, but it has been scanty in the Western districts, and more has fallen in Chitaldroog; prospects have improved and sowing is actively progressing: prices are still high. The total number on works for the week ending the 6th instant was 36,605, and gratuitously relieved 12,601, less by 639 and more by 370 than in the previous week. In Bombay good rain is reported from the Konkan, Guzerat and Kattywar; good showers have also fallen in the Deccan, and later intelligence reports a fall of 3·88 inches at Poona, where the present return shows a scanty fall only; more rain is required in the Southern Mahratta Country; in Sind the river continues very high. Favourable rain has fallen throughout the Central Provinces, except in Sambalpur, Biláspur, and Damoh, where more is required for the rice; prices are generally stationary, but are falling in Raipur, Chánda and Bhandára. Good rain is reported from Berur, and prospects are favourable. In Central India there appears to have been general rain, and prospects are good; more rain is needed in Gwalior. In Rajputana rain appears to have fallen everywhere except in Ajmere, and prospects are good. In Bengal the rainfall has been good in the Eastern and Central districts, with the exception of some districts of the Presidency and Burdwan Divisions, where it has been scanty: in the Northern districts of Bengal Proper it has been excessive, and some damage has been done; in Behar and the Bhágalpur Divisions the fall has been good and general, except in the Sonthal Pergunnahs and parts of Sarun; in Chota Nagpore the rain has been scanty in Manbhoom and Singhbhoon; in Orissa the fall has also been very light, and more is urgently required in Cuttack, Balasore, and the Khorda sub-division of Pooree. In Assam and Sylhet there has been general rain; the asa rice in the Valley districts is reported to be flooded, and damage is anticipated. In Burma the rainfall has been scanty during the week, and agricultural operations have been stopped or retarded in many districts in consequence. Moderate but partial rainfall is reported from the North-Western Provinces and Oudh; sowing for the khurif is progressing everywhere. In the Punjab rain is reported from every district except Delhi, Dera Ismail Khan and Pesháwar; it was slight at Umballa, Jullundur, and Mooltan: agricultural prospects are good throughout the Province.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.
HOME DEPARTMENT.

MUNICIPAL ADMINISTRATION IN THE INTERIOR OF THE MADRAS PRESIDENCY.

No. 100, dated Simla, the 12th June 1878.

From—C. BERNARD, Esq., Offg. Secretary to the Government of India, •

To—The Secretary to the Government of Madras.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 771, dated 1st May 1878, forwarding an abstract statement of the results of municipal administration in the interior of the Madras Presidency during the year 1876-77. Together with this abstract the Governor General in Council has considered the Madras Government Resolution of the 7th February, reviewing the municipal reports and tables for the year 1876-77, and the volume of Madras Municipal Proceedings for the month of March 1878, in which volume are contained the Government orders on the budget estimates of mofussil towns for the year 1878-79.

2. The reports and tables for 1876-77 shew that, even in a year of distress, the municipal collections of towns in the interior of the Madras Presidency were only one per cent. short of the income of the preceding year; that the average incidence of municipal taxation is 9 annas 11 pie per head; that it nowhere exceeds Rs. 1-3-3 per head, save at the sanatorium of Ootacamund, where it is Rs. 1-15-7; that the incidence of municipal receipts from all sources is 14 annas 1 pie per head; that the towns spend up to their income, keep reasonably small cash balances, but do not get into debt; that a satisfactory share of the available municipal income, 25 per cent. of the whole, is spent on conservancy and sanitation; that 18 per cent. is spent on hospitals, dispensaries and vaccination; that 6 per cent. is spent on municipal schools, most of which are subsidized by grants on the payment-by-results system, and at which 18,245 boys and girls are receiving elementary education; and that barely 10 per cent. of the total available income is spent on executive establishments.

3. The orders passed by the Madras Government on the several budget estimates for 1878-79 shew that each budget is reviewed by the Sanitary Commissioner, with reference to the provision made for conservancy and sanitary purposes, before it is passed by the Government; and that the provision of ways and means, as well as the proposals for expenditure, are carefully scrutinized by the Government.

4. It is evident from these proceedings, which the Governor General in Council has read with much interest, that the administration of the Provincial municipalities in Madras is efficiently carried on by the several municipal bodies, with the assistance of the District Collectors, and that the supervision of the Government over this department of local administration is real and effective.

SIMLA, MONDAY, THE 12TH AUGUST 1878.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 2005.

Simla, the 12th August 1878.

(NOTE.—This Notification will be published, simultaneously, by the Secretary of State for India, in London.)

WHEREAS, by the terms of the Notification No. 28, dated the 20th April 1859, and by the conditions of the Promissory Notes, dated the 31st May 1859, bearing interest at Five-and-a-Half Per Centum per annum, issued in accordance with that Notification, the said Promissory Notes may be paid off and discharged on or after the First day of May 1879, on the expiration of a previous Notice of three months, which Notice may be first given on the First day of February 1879; and, WHEREAS it is the present intention of the Governor General in Council to give the said Notice, and to pay off the said Notes on or about the dates aforesaid, His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council has resolved to raise a Loan of Ten Crores of Rupees for this purpose in the following manner.

First.—This Loan shall be entitled "The Transfer Loan, 1879."

Second.—Promissory Notes will be issued for the said sum of Ten Crores of Rupees in the two alternative Forms annexed to this Notification.

Third.—The Notes in the First Form will bear interest at the rate of four-and-a-half per centum per annum, and the principal repayable will be the amount stated in each Note. The portion of the Loan for which these Notes are issued will be entitled "The Transfer Loan, 1879, Four-and-a-Half Per Cent. Portion."

Fourth.—The Notes in the Second Form will be issued only in exchange for Notes of the said Five-and-a-Half Per Cent. Loan surrendered under the Sixth and Seventh Clauses of this Notification. The portion of the Loan for which these Notes are issued will be entitled "The Transfer Loan, 1879, Seven Shillings Sterling Per Cent. Portion."

These Notes in the Second Form will be discharged in Calcutta, when repayable, by the payment of the equivalent in rupees of eight pounds fifteen shillings sterling for each hundred rupees of their amount; the said equivalent being calculated at the rate of exchange fixed by the Secretary of State for India in Council, with the concurrence of the Lords Commissioners of the Imperial Treasury, for the adjustment of transactions between the Indian and Imperial Governments at the date of the expiry of the Notice of the discharge of the Notes.

Twenty-Second.—Duly receipted Promissory Notes of the Government of India of the said Five-and-a-Half Per Cent. Loan of 1859-60, will be received in payment of accepted tenders, and accrued interest thereon, together with interest thereon in advance to the Thirtieth day of April 1879, promptly paid.

Twenty-Third.—Interest upon each payment made in cash, (not in Promissory Notes under the Twenty-Second Clause,) will be promptly paid in advance at the rate of four-and-a-half per centum per annum, from the date of such payment to the Fourteenth day of March next.

Twenty-Fourth.—Scrip receipts for instalments paid or Promissory Notes of the Five-and-a-Half Per Cent. Loan of 1859-60 surrendered, will be given by the Banks of Bengal, Madras and Bombay or their Branches, or by the Officers in charge of the Government treasuries at which payment or surrender is made, or, in the case of Promissory Notes of the Five-and-a-Half Per Cent. Loan of 1859-60 surrendered in London under the Seventh Clause of this Notification, by the Bank of England. These receipts will, as soon as possible, be exchanged for Promissory Notes in one or other of the annexed Forms, as provided in this Notification.

FIRST FORM OF PROMISSORY NOTE. (See Third Clause.)

FORT WILLIAM, THE 15TH MARCH 1879.

Transfer Loan, 1879, Four-and-a-Half Per Cent. Portion.

Promissory Note for Government Rupees (X), bearing Interest, payable half-yearly, at the rate of Four-and-a-half Rupees per centum per annum.

The Governor General of India in Council does hereby acknowledge to have received from (A. B.) the sum of Government Rupees (X) as a loan to the Secretary of State in Council for India;

and does hereby promise, for and on behalf of the said Secretary of State in Council, on demand, three months after Notice of Repayment published by order of the Governor General of India in Council in the Gazette of India, to repay the said loan of Rupees (X) to the said (A. B.), his (or "her" or "their") Executors, Administrators or Assigns, or his (or "her") or their order in Calcutta, with interest to the date appointed for discharge at the rate of four-and-a-half per centum per annum; and such Notice as aforesaid shall be equivalent to a tender of repayment at the period therein appointed for the discharge of this Note.

And the Governor General in Council hereby promises, on and after each succeeding fifteenth day of the Months of September and March, until the expiration of three months after Notice of Repayment as aforesaid (when all further interest will cease), on demand, to pay to the said (A. B.), his (or "her" or "their") Executors, Administrators or Assigns, or his (or "her") or their order, in Calcutta, interest on the said sum of Government Rupees (X) for half-a-year at the rate of four-and-a-half per centum per annum.

The Governor General in Council hereby further engages that Notice of Repayment as aforesaid shall not be given before the Fifteenth day of June 1893, and that this Note shall not be discharged before the Fifteenth day of September 1893.

SECOND FORM OF PROMISSORY NOTE. (See Fourth Clause.)

FORT WILLIAM, THE 15TH MARCH 1879.

Transfer Loan, 1879, Seven Shillings Sterling Per Cent. Portion.

Promissory Note for Government Rupees (X), bearing Interest per thousand rupees per annum, payable half-yearly, at the rate of the equivalent in Rupees, calculated at the adjusting rate of Exchange, of Three Pounds ten shillings sterling.

The Governor General of India in Council does hereby acknowledge to have received from (A. B.) the sum of Government Rupees (X) as a loan to the Secretary of State in Council for India;

and does hereby promise, for and on behalf of the said Secretary of State in Council, on demand, three months after Notice of Repayment published by order of the Governor General of India in Council in the Gazette of India, to repay the said loan of Rupees (X) to the said (A. B.), his (or "her" or "their") Executors, Administrators or Assigns, or his (or "her") or their order, in Calcutta, by paying to him (or "her" or "them"), or his (or "her" or "their") Executors, Administrators or Assigns, or his (or "her") or their order, for every hundred rupees, the equivalent in rupees of eight pounds fifteen shillings sterling, calculated at the rate of exchange fixed by the Secretary of State for India in Council, with the concurrence of the Lords Commissioners of the Imperial Treasury, for the adjustment of financial transactions between the Imperial and Indian Governments on the date when the aforesaid Notice of Repayment expires, together with interest to the date appointed for discharge at the rate hereinafter promised;

and such Notice of Repayment as aforesaid shall be equivalent to a tender of repayment at the period therein appointed for the discharge of this Note.

And the Governor General in Council hereby promises, on and after each succeeding fifteenth day of the Months of September and March, until three months after Notice of Repayment as aforesaid (when all further interest will cease), on demand, to pay to the said (A. B.), his (or "her" or "their") Executors, Administrators or Assigns, or his (or "her") or their order in Calcutta, interest on the said sum of Government Rupees (X) for half-a-year at the rate per hundred rupees per annum, of the equivalent in rupees of seven shillings sterling, calculated at the rate of exchange fixed by the Secretary of State for India in Council, with the concurrence of the Lords Commissioners of the Imperial Treasury, for the adjustment of transactions between the Imperial and Indian Governments, on the day when each half-yearly payment of interest first becomes payable.

The Governor General in Council hereby further engages that Notice of Repayment as aforesaid shall not be given before the Fifteenth day of June 1893, and that this Note shall not be discharged before the Fifteenth day of September 1893.

EDUCATIONAL NOTICE

ORDERS BY THE VICE-CHANCELLOR AND SYNDICATE OF THE CALCUTTA UNIVERSITY

The following additions to the Regulations for the examinations in Arts having been sanctioned by the Senate and approved by His Excellency the Governor-General in Council, are published for general information—

1. The following words are added at the end of paragraph 1 of the Regulations for the First Examination in Arts, and at the end of paragraph 1 of the Regulations for the examination for the degree of Bachelor of Arts—"provided he produces a certificate from the head of an affiliated institution shewing that he has prosecuted a regular course of study for six months since the date of the last examination in which he was admitted."

2. REGULATIONS FOR THE EXAMINATION OF FEMALE CANDIDATES

General

1. Female candidates shall be examined in a separate place, under the superintendence of ladies.
2. No female candidate shall be admitted to any examination without presenting a certificate in the form to be prescribed by the Syndicate, signed by a member of the Senate or the head of an affiliated institution.
3. In all examinations the fees paid by female candidates shall be the same as those paid by males.
4. No unsuccessful candidate shall be entitled to a refund of money.

Entrance Examination

1. The Entrance Examination shall be the same for females as for males.

F. A. Examination.

1. Female candidates may be admitted to this examination without studying in an affiliated institution. No candidate, however, shall be allowed to present herself for this examination until two years have elapsed from the time of her passing the Entrance Examination.

2. Every female candidate shall be allowed to take up the subjects prescribed by the University of Calcutta for the F. A. Course, with the option of substituting French, German, or Italian, or an Indian vernacular for the second language.

3. Female candidates shall also be allowed to substitute Botany for the subjects included in the second mathematical paper in the F. A. Examination.

B. A. Examination.

1. Female candidates may be admitted to this examination without studying in any affiliated institution. But no candidate shall be allowed to present herself for this examination until two years have elapsed from the time of her passing the F. A. Examination.

2. Female candidates shall be allowed to take up the subjects prescribed by the University of Calcutta for the B. A. Course, with the option of substituting French, German, Italian or an Indian vernacular for the second language.

3. Female candidates shall also be allowed to substitute Political Economy for the mathematical subjects in this examination.

4. The names of those female candidates who may succeed in passing the B. A. Examination shall be submitted to the Senate every year before the Convocation, with a view to their being admitted to the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

PUBLISHED UNDER AUTHORITY.

The "Indian Law Reports," published under the authority of the Governor General in Council, will appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and will comprise four series,—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court will be reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court will be reported in the Calcutta Series. The Parts of each Series can be had separately, or all four Parts can be had stitched into one wrapper at the option of subscribers and purchasers. It will be observed from the following statement of the terms of subscription and sale, that a considerable reduction is allowed to persons taking the complete set:

• Terms of subscription, payable annually in advance.

	Without Postage.	With Postage.

GOVERNMENT EXPERIMENTAL FARMS.

Report on the Saláru Farm, Sind.

Superintendent, Mr. W. Strachan.

It is yet uncertain what experiments we may be able to make this year. The season began well, and so far as water for irrigation is concerned is still favourable, but the hot wind and locusts have done much damage. Already we have had to re-sow some four acres of our early sown cotton which was destroyed by locusts about the 2nd of this month. In fact, up to the 12th instant, they continued daily doing more or less damage to the young crops, and I have just heard that on the 15th they visited Saláru again, staying from 8 A. M. to 12 noon, and doing much damage to both the farm and garden plants. Should they continue their visits much longer, it will hardly be possible to get a crop of cotton this year, and more difficult still to make experiments of any value.

2. Our chief work is at present cotton sowing which under favourable circumstances we will not now be able to finish before the end of this month.

3. Cattle of all sorts are very scarce and costly this year. I have heard of many poor cultivators who have been unable to get the means wherewith to work their land this season. Agricultural seeds of all sorts are very costly, while cattle feed is hardly to be got at any price.

4. After despatching my last monthly report I found I had made a mistake in para. 4. It is there stated that the area sown with tobacco was 20 goontas, the correct area is 22 goontas or 55 of an acre.

MARINE SURVEYS.

CASUALTIES AND DANGERS TO NAVIGATION.

Simla, the 19th July 1878.

No. 19 of 1878.—The following Notice to Mariners is published for general information :—

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

PERSIAN GULF.

Reported Shoal, N.N.E. of Bahrain.

Information has been received from Her Majesty's Political Resident at Bushire that the Master of the British Barque Oribe has reported the discovery of a dangerous shoal patch in the Persian Gulf, in latitude 27° 27' N., longitude 50° 59' E.

The depth obtained on this shoal is not given, nor have any details been received as to how its position was determined.

As the shoal lies in the direct track of vessels, and as the whole of this portion of the Gulf is studded with dangers,—many of them being distinct pinnacles of rock or coral in deep water,—masters of vessels are cautioned to navigate with great care whilst in this neighbourhood.

A. DUNDAS TAYLOR, Comdr. (late I. N.),

Superintendent, Marine Survey of India.

By order, &c.

A. O. HUME,

Secretary to the Government of India.

This Notice affects the following Admiralty Charts :—Persian Gulf, No. 2837*b*; Indian Ocean, Sheet 2, northern portion, No. 748*b*; also, Admiralty Persian Gulf Pilot, page 125; and Taylor's Sailing Directory, Vol. I, page 249.

If this Notice is received on boardship, the substance of it should be inserted on the Charts affected by it, and introduced into the Sailing Directions to which it relates.

No. 20 of 1878.—The following Notice to Mariners is published for general information :—

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

STRAIT OF MALACCA—SALANGORE—MALAY COAST.

Alteration of colour of light at Klang Strait.

The following information has been received from the Colonial Secretary at Singapore :—

With reference to a notice published in the Straits Settlements Government Gazette on the 27th July 1877, relative to the exhibition of a light on Middle point, Klang Strait, it is now notified that a permanent Bright light, instead of a Red light as stated in the above notice, will be exhibited on the 20th August 1878, in lieu of the temporary light now shewn.

The light will be placed on a frame-work of timber; will be 30 feet above high water, and should be visible through an arc of 75°, or between the bearings of North by West to North-East by East $\frac{1}{2}$ East, from a distance of about 10 nautical miles.

The light is situated on the South-West point of Pulo Lumaut. Position, latitude 2° 52' 25" N., longitude 101° 14' 28" E.

The following directions are published for general information :—Masters of vessels bound to Klang, or through the Klang Strait to Salangore River, or towards Penang, should bring the light to bear about North-North-East, and then steer North by East until the passage is open on a bearing of North-East $\frac{1}{2}$ North, which will lead into the fairway about mid-channel.

Shoals extend about a cable's length on each side of the entrance, but the passage being broad and safe, there is no occasion for a steamer to borrow on either shore, except when fairly inside, to avoid the strength of adverse tide, whilst the lead forms a sure guide to sailing vessels beating through the strait.

The tides during the height of the springs are rapid and somewhat irregular; the flood sets from the northward after the first quarter, the ebb from the South-South-West also after the first quarter. It is high water, full, and change at about 4 h; the rise and fall being from 10 to 12 feet.

[Bearings are Magnetic and from Seaward. Variation, 1° 30' Easterly in 1878.]

EQUIPMENT.

No. 685.—The following paragraph of the "Instructions for fitting Valise Equipment," issued with Horse Guards G. O. No. 80, dated the 1st November 1874, is declared applicable to India, and published for general information:—

Paragraph 7.—It is, however, advisable that in all cases the man should wear the equipment a week or two before deciding whether an alteration of the braces is necessary, and if in cases of very small men, the braces of the small size are found too large, the only alteration necessary will be, to rip out the stitches of the front brace straps where they pass through front ring, take up the straps to the required length, and then resew them without cutting off any portion of the straps. In cases where this alteration is found necessary, the officer commanding should make an application for authority to cover the expense of alteration, and at same time state the number of braces requiring such alteration.

FURLOUGH AND LEAVE.

No. 686.—The undermentioned officer is granted furlough to Europe, with the necessary subsidiary leave:—

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Second publication.]

The following preliminary Report of a Select Committee, together with the Bill as settled by them, was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 4th July 1878:—

We, the undersigned Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to regulate Ferries in the Panjáb, North-Western Provinces and Oudh was referred, have the honour to report that we have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin.

Letter from Secretary to Government, North-Western Provinces and Oudh, No. 726A., dated 2nd April, 1878.
Office memorandum from Home Department, No. 516, dated 27th April, 1878, and enclosure.
Letter from Officiating Secretary to Chief Commissioner, Central Provinces, No. 1153-56, dated 27th March, 1878.
Office memorandum from Public Works Department, No. 143C., dated 8th May, 1878.
Despatch from Secretary of State, No. 14, dated 18th April, 1878.
Letter from Officiating Secretary to Government, Panjáb, No. 165C., dated 24th June, 1878, and enclosures.

2. The Bill has now, at the request of the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces, been made applicable to those provinces.

3. We have found it necessary, in order to adapt it to the different systems of the various provinces to which it now applies, to allow the Local Government a certain discretion in the choice of the agency to be employed for carrying out its provisions; and with the same view we have added in section 35 a power of delegation similar to that contained in the Bombay Ferries Act, 1868.

4. It has been objected that the period of notice (six months) required by section 10 for the cancellation of a ferry lease is too long, "especially with reference to the grave public inconvenience that might be caused by the prolonged continuance in his position of a lessee whose conduct might not be satisfactory." On this we would observe that the case of a lessee whose conduct is unsatisfactory seems to be sufficiently provided for by section 24, which gives power to cancel a lease at once for any breach of rule; and when it is desired to cancel a lease on any other ground, as, e.g., with a view to introducing some improved means of communication, we do not consider the period of six months excessive. Lessees can scarcely be expected to make satisfactory arrangements if they are liable to be arbitrarily ejected on short notice.

5. As we are giving the Local Government a power to cancel a lease at its mere pleasure, we have thought it right to give the lessee (in section 11) a corresponding power to surrender his lease, subject of course (as in the case of a cancellation by Government) to the payment of compensation.

6. We have inserted clauses in section 25 providing for the punishment of persons who, in spite of the warnings of those in charge of a ferry, insist upon crowding into a ferry-boat or on to a bridge to the danger of life or property.

7. We have likewise in section 28 provided penalties for rashly or negligently navigating any vessel or raft so as to damage a bridge of boats. The serious public inconvenience caused by a bridge of boats being carried away by a vessel or raft impinging on it, seems to us to justify this.

8. The power we propose to confer on the Magistrate of the District to take over a lessee's boats and plant when his lease is surrendered, or has been cancelled under section 24, has been asked for by the Government of the North-Western Provinces, and appears to us necessary, as without it a Magistrate might in some cases find it impossible to avail himself of the power to cancel a lease conferred by section 24.

9. The necessity of the power of impressing boats in public emergencies, as for instance when they are required for the transport of troops (section 33 now added), seems to us too obvious to call for remark.

10. The Police have been empowered (section 29) to arrest without warrant persons committing offences against sections 25 and 28. As such offences will accordingly be "cognizable" within the meaning of the Criminal Procedure Code, sections 95, 96 and 97 of that Code will apply; and toll-collectors under the Bill will, as regards their right to assistance from the Police, be substantially in the same position as toll-collectors under the Roads and Bridges Act, VIII of 1851.

11. None of the matters to which we have above referred appear to touch the main principles of the Bill as originally introduced; but as some of them, and some of the alterations and additions we have made in minor details, may have an important bearing on the practical working of the measure, we think that an opportunity should be afforded to the local authorities concerned to consider them before the Bill becomes law, and for this reason, and likewise because it now includes the Central Provinces, we recommend that the Bill as amended by us be republished.

12. The publication ordered by the Council has been made.

A Bill to regulate Ferries in Northern India.

Whereas it is expedient to regulate ferries in the Panjáb, the North-Western Provinces, Oudh and the Central Provinces; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1.—PRELIMINARY.

1. This Act may be called "The Northern India Ferries Act, 1878."

It extends only to the territories respectively administered by the Lieutenant-Governors of the Panjáb and the North-Western Provinces and the Chief Commissioners of Oudh and the Central Provinces; and

It shall come into force in each of the said territories on such date as the Local Government may by notification in the official Gazette fix in this behalf.

2. On and from the date on which it comes into force in the territories respectively administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces and the Chief Commissioners of Oudh and the Central Provinces, Bengal Regulation VI of 1819 shall be repealed therein; but all determinations, declarations, orders and rules made, engagements entered into, and securities taken under that Regulation, and then in force, shall be deemed to be respectively made, entered into and taken under this Act.

3. In this Act the word "ferry" includes also a bridge of boats, pontoons, or rafts, a swing-bridge, a flying-bridge and a temporary bridge, and the approaches to, and landing-places of, a ferry.

II.—PUBLIC FERRIES.

4. The Local Government may, from time to time,—
Power to declare, establish, define and discontinue public ferries. (a) declare what ferries shall be deemed public ferries, and the respective districts in which, for the purposes of this Act, they shall be deemed to be situate;

(b) take possession of a private ferry and declare it to be a public ferry;

(c) establish new public ferries where, in its opinion, they are needed;

(d) define the limits of any public ferry;

(e) change the course of any public ferry; and
(f) discontinue any public ferry which it deems unnecessary.

Every such declaration, establishment, definition, change or discontinuance shall be made by notification in the local official Gazette:

Provided that, when a river lies between two Provinces, the powers conferred by this section shall in respect of such river be exercised by the Governor General in Council, by notification in the Gazette of India, and not otherwise:

Provided also that, when any alteration in the course or in the limits of a public ferry is rendered necessary by changes in the river, such alteration may be made by an order under his hand, by the Commissioner of the Division in which such ferry is situate, or by such other officer as the Local Government may, from time to time, appoint by name or in virtue of his office in this behalf.

5. Claims for compensation for any loss sustained by any person in consequence of a private ferry being taken possession of under section four shall be enquired into by the Magistrate of the District, or such officer as he appoints in this behalf, and submitted for the consideration and orders of the Local Government.

6. The immediate superintendence of every public ferry shall, except as provided in section seven, be vested in the Magistrate of the District in which such ferry is situate, or in such other officer as the Local Government may, from time to time, appoint by name or in virtue of his office in this behalf; and such Magistrate or officer shall, except when the tolls at such ferry are leased, make all necessary arrangements for the supply of boats for such ferry, and for the collection of the authorized tolls leviable thereat.

7. The Local Government may direct that any public ferry situate within the limits of a town be managed by the officer or public body charged with the superintendence of the municipal arrangements of such town;

and may further direct that all or any part of the proceeds from such ferry be paid into the Municipal Fund of such town;

and thereupon such ferry shall be managed, and such proceeds or part thereof shall be paid, accordingly.

8. The tolls at any public ferry may from time to time be let by public auction for such term not exceeding five years as the Magistrate of the District, subject to the approval of the Commissioner of the Division in which such ferry is situate, may deem expedient.

The lessee shall conform to the rules made under this Act for the management and control of such ferry, and may be called upon by the officer conducting the auction to give such security for his good conduct and for the punctual payment of the rent as such officer thinks fit.

Such officer may, for sufficient reason recorded in writing under his hand, refuse to accept the offer of the highest bidder, and may accept any other bid, or may withdraw the tolls from auction.

9. All arrears due by the lessee of a public ferry on account of his lease may be recovered from the lessee or his surety (if any) by the Magistrate of the District in which such ferry is situate as if they were arrears of land-revenue.

10. The Local Government may cancel the lease of any public ferry on the expiration of six months' notice in writing to the lessee of its intention to cancel such lease.

When any lease is cancelled under this section, the Magistrate of the District shall pay to the lessee such compensation as he may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, award.

11. The lessee of a public ferry may surrender his lease on the expiration of one month's notice in writing to the Local Government of his intention to surrender such lease, and on payment to the Magistrate of the District of such compensation as the Magistrate of the District, subject to the approval of the Commissioner, may in each case direct.

12. Subject to the control of the Local Government, the Commissioner of a Division, or such other officer as the Local Government may from time to time appoint in this behalf, by name or in virtue of his office, may from time to time make rules consistent with this Act—

(a) for the control and the management of all public ferries within such division and for regulating the traffic at such ferries ;

(b) for regulating the time and manner at and in which, the terms on which, and the person by whom, the tolls of such ferries may be let by auction ;

(c) for compensating persons who have compounded for tolls payable for the use of any such ferry when such ferry has been discontinued before the expiration of the period compounded for ; and

(d) generally to carry out the purposes of this Act, and, when the tolls of a ferry have been let under section eight, he may from time to time (subject as aforesaid) make additional rules consistent with this Act—

(e) for collecting the rents payable for the tolls of such ferries ;

(f) in cases in which the communication is to be established by means of a bridge of boats, pontoons or rafts, or a swing-bridge, flying-bridge or temporary bridge, for regulating the time and manner in which such bridge shall be constructed and maintained and opened for the passage of vessels and rafts through the same, and

(g) in cases in which the traffic is conveyed in boats, for regulating (1) the number and kinds of such boats and their dimensions and equipment ; (2) the number of the crew to be kept by the lessee for each boat ; (3) the maintenance of such boats continually in good condition ; (4) the hours during which, and the intervals within which, the lessee shall be bound to ply, and (5) the number of passengers, vehicles and animals, and the quantity of goods, that may be carried in each kind of boat at one trip.

The lessee shall make such returns of traffic as the Commissioner or other officer as aforesaid may from time to time require.

13. No person shall, except with the sanction of the officer charged with the superintendence of a public ferry, keep a ferry-boat for the purpose of plying for hire to or from any point within a distance of two miles from the limits of such public ferry :

Provided that, in the case of any specified public ferry, the Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, reduce or increase the said distance of two miles to such extent as it thinks fit :

Provided also that nothing hereinbefore contained shall prevent persons plying between two places, one of which is without, and one within, the said limits, when the distance between such two places is not less than three miles, or apply to boats which the Local Government expressly exempts from the operation of this section.

14. Whoever uses the approach to, or landing-place of, a public ferry is liable to pay the toll payable for crossing such ferry.

15. Tolls, according to such rates as are from time to time fixed by the Local Government, shall be levied on all persons, animals, vehicles and other things crossing any river by a public ferry and not employed or transmitted on the public service :

Provided that the Local Government may, from time to time, declare that any persons, animals, vehicles or other things shall be exempt from payment of such tolls.

Where the tolls of a ferry have been let under section eight, any such declaration, if made after the date of the auction, shall entitle the lessee to such abatement of the rent payable in respect of the tolls as may be fixed by the Commissioner of the Division or such other officer as the Local Government may, from time to time, appoint in this behalf by name or in virtue of his office

16. The lessee or other person authorized to collect the tolls of any public ferry shall affix a table of such tolls legibly written or printed in the vernacular language, and also, if the Commissioner of the Division so directs, in English, in some conspicuous place near the ferry, and shall be bound to produce, on demand, a list of the tolls, signed by the Magistrate or such other officer as he appoints in this behalf.

17. Except as provided by section seven, all tolls or rents received and fines levied under this Act shall be disposed of as follows, that is to say :—

(a) in the territories administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces, the residue of such tolls and rents, after defraying thereout all charges incurred in carrying out this Act in those territories, shall be credited to the

Fund constituted for those territories by the North-Western Provinces Local Rates Act, 1878;

(b) in the territories administered by the Chief Commissioner of Oudh, the residue as aforesaid shall be credited to the Fund constituted for those territories by the Oudh Local Rates Act, 1878; and

(c) in the territories respectively administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of the Panjáb and the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces, such tolls, rents and fines shall be credited to the Local Government and applied first to defraying all charges incurred in carrying out this Act in those territories respectively, and then, at the discretion of the Local Government, to any of the purposes specified in the second clause of section seven of the Panjáb Local Rates Act, 1878, or the second clause of section five of the Central Provinces Additional Rates Act, 1878, as the case may be.

18. The Local Government may, if it thinks fit, from time to time, fix rates at which any person may compound for the tolls payable for the use of a public ferry.

III.—PRIVATE FERRIES.

19. The Commissioner of the Division may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, from time to time make rules for the maintenance of order and for the safety of passengers and property at ferries other than public ferries.

20. The tolls charged at such ferries shall not exceed the highest rates for the time being fixed under section fifteen for similar public ferries.

IV.—PENALTIES AND CRIMINAL PROCEDURE.

21. Every lessee or other person authorized to collect the tolls of a public ferry, who neglects to affix and keep in good order and repair the table of tolls mentioned in section sixteen, or who wilfully removes, alters or defaces such table, or allows it to become illegible, or who fails to produce on demand the list of the tolls mentioned in section sixteen, and every lessee who neglects to furnish any return required under section twelve,

shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

22. Every such lessee or other person as aforesaid and any person in possession of a private ferry asking or taking more than the lawful toll, or without due cause delaying any person, animal, vehicle or other thing, and for causing delay, shall be punished with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

23. Every person breaking any rule made under section twelve or section nineteen shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, or with both.

24. When any lessee of the tolls of a public ferry makes default in the payment of the rent payable in respect of such tolls, or has been convicted of an offence under section twenty-three, or, having been convicted of an offence under section twenty-one or section twenty-two, is again convicted of an offence under either of those sections, the Magistrate of the District may, with the sanction of the Commissioner of the Division, cancel the lease of the tolls of such ferry, and make other arrangements for its management during the whole or any part of the term for which the tolls were let.

25. Every person crossing by any public ferry, or using the approach to, or landing-place thereof, who refuses to pay the proper toll, and every person—who, with intent to avoid payment of such toll, fraudulently or forcibly crosses by any such ferry without paying the toll, or who obstructs any toll-collector or lessee of the tolls of a public ferry, or any of his assistants, in any way in the execution of their duty under this Act, or who, after being warned by any such toll-collector, lessee or assistant not to do so, goes or takes any animals, vehicles or goods into any ferry-boat or upon any bridge at such a ferry which is in such a state or so loaded as to endanger human life or property, or who refuses or neglects at the request of such toll-collector, lessee or assistant to leave, or remove any animals, vehicles or goods from, any such ferry-boat or bridge, shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

26. Whoever conveys for hire any passenger, animal, vehicle or goods in contravention of the provisions of section thirteen shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

27. Where the tolls of any public ferry have been let under the provisions hereinbefore contained, the whole or any portion of any fine realized under section twenty-five or section twenty-six may, notwithstanding anything contained in section seventeen, be, at the discretion of the convicting Magistrate or Bench of Magistrates, paid to the lessee.

28. Whoever navigates any vessel or raft in a manner so rash or negligent as to damage a public ferry, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both; and the toll-collector or lessee of the tolls, or any of his assistants, may seize and detain such vessel or raft pending the inquiry and assessment hereinafter mentioned.

29. The police may arrest without warrant any person committing an offence against section twenty-five or section twenty-eight.

30. Any Magistrate or Bench of Magistrates having summary jurisdiction under chapter XVIII of the Code of Criminal Procedure may try any offence against this Act in manner provided by that chapter.

31. Every Magistrate or Bench of Magistrates trying any offence under this Act may enquire into and assess the value of the damage (if any) done or caused by the offender to the ferry concerned, and shall order the amount of such value to be paid by him in addition to any fine imposed upon him under this Act; and the amount so ordered to be paid shall be leviable as if it were a fine, or when the offence is one under section twenty-eight, by the sale of the vessel or raft causing the damage, and of any thing found in or upon such vessel or raft.

The Commissioner of the Division may, on the appeal of any person deeming himself aggrieved by an order under this section, reduce or remit the amount payable under such order.

V.—MISCELLANEOUS.

32. When the lease of any ferry is surrendered under section eleven or cancelled under section twenty-four, the Magistrate of the District may take possession of all boats and their equipment, and all other material and appliances, used by the lessee for the purposes of such ferry, and use the same (paying such compensation for the use thereof as the Local Government may in each case direct) until such Magistrate can conveniently procure proper substitutes therefor.

33. When any boats or their equipment, or any materials or appliances suitable for setting up a ferry, are emergently required for facilitating the transport of officers or troops of Her Majesty on duty, or of any other persons on the business of Her Majesty, or of any animals, vehicles or baggage belonging to such officers, troops or persons, or of any property of Her Majesty, the Magistrate of the District may take possession of and use the same (paying such compensation for the use thereof as the Local Government may in each case direct) until such transport is completed.

34. No suit to ascertain the amount of any Jurisdiction of Civil Courts barred. compensation payable, or abatement of rent allowable, under this Act shall be cognizable by any Civil Court.

35. The Local Government may from time to time delegate, under such Delegation of powers. restrictions as it thinks fit, any of the powers conferred on it by this Act to any Commissioner of a Division or Magistrate of a District, or to such other officer as it thinks fit, by name or by virtue of his office.

36. All matters determined, orders issued, acts done, penalties imposed and proceedings held in the territories administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of the Panjáb after the repeal of Bengal Regulation VI of 1819 by the Panjáb Laws Act, 1872, section 4, and before this Act comes into force in such territories, shall, whenever such determinations, orders, acts, penalties or proceedings would have been lawful if the said Regulation had been in force, be deemed to have been respectively determined, issued, done, imposed and held in accordance with law.

WEEKLY REPORT ON THE CONDITION AND PROSPECTS OF THE DISTRICTS OF THE NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES AND OUDH, FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 13TH JULY 1878.

No. 2104A., dated Naini Tal, the 19th July 1878.

From—C. ROBERTSON, Esq., Secretary to the Govt., N.-W. Provinces and Oudh,

To—The Additional Secretary to the Govt. of India, Public Works Dept., (Famine).

In continuation of my letter No. 2046A., dated 13th July, I am directed to forward the abstract of the reports received from the several districts of these provinces for the week ending 13th July, and to append the usual comparative memorandum of the prices of wheat and barley.

2. Rainfall during the week throughout the provinces.—It was heavy in the Kumaon, Fyzabad, Sitapur and Rohilkhand Divisions; ample in Meerut, Agra and parts of Jhansi; and rather scanty in Lucknow, Rae Bareli, Allahabad and Benares: but it was everywhere sufficient for present wants. It has been followed by a break of fine weather, on the duration of which much will depend.

3. Prices of grain have, on the whole, shown a tendency to rise. Increase in prices is most marked in the Fyzabad, Lucknow, Sitapur, Rae Bareli and Benares Divisions.

4. The fall of rain has led to some decrease in the number of persons receiving relief, especially in the districts of Budaon, Bareilly and Basti; but in others, such as Muttra, Lucknow and Rae Bareli, there has been no decrease, but, on the contrary, rather an increase. The numbers on relief for the past two weeks have been as follows:—

				Week ending 6th July.	Week ending 13th July.
North-Western Provinces—
Relief-works	125,706	90,847
Poor-houses	10,887	11,414
				136,593	102,261
Oudh—
Relief-works	21,051	24,161
Poor-houses	4,580	1,487
				25,631	25,648

5. The works on which one thousand labourers and upwards have been employed, are—

(1.) Muttra District—
Muttra-Achneyra Light Railway	8,674
(2.) Agra District—
Muttra-Achneyra Light Railway	6,657
River Embankment	1,545
Kagarole Road	2,051
(3.) Bijnor District—

Relief-works— On the Shekhabad canal works ... 106 On the Kurhal gate tank ... 95 Total ... 201 Daily.
							The Kurhal work was re-opened lately. The number on the Shekhabad works shows an increase since last report : sixty more paupers from the poor-house have been ordered to be transferred to the works, being able-bodied and fit for work. There were three fatal cases of cholera, but Civil Surgeon reports that no fresh cases have occurred since the 9th.
							Poor-houses.—There are 463 paupers on relief.

				Wheat, 14½ Barley, 18½ Bajra, 8 Juar, 8 Gram, 14½	No change
AGRA	...	Rain throughout the week from twenty-three to one hundred and two notches. Ploughing and sowing going on.	Imports still exceed exports.	Wheat, 14½ to 15 Barley, 17½ to 18 Bajra, 8 to 8½ Juar, 10 to 10½ Gram, 14½ to 15	Improved	Fever and cholera on the decline. No distress of pardahnashins reported. Rain must be less partial before applicants for labour and relief will disappear.	Relief-works— (1) Muttra-Achneyra Railway ... 6,657 (2) River Embankment ... 4,545 (3) Fatihabad and Kachora Road ... 217 (4) Iradatnagar Road ... 469 (5) Shamsabad to Pinahat ... 170 (6) Road by jail wall ... 187 (7) Roman Catholic Cathedral compound ... 348 (8) Sekundra Garden ... 401 (9) Batesar Tank ... 251 (10) Kagarole Road ... 2,051 (11) New road to Bolunddarwaza ... 775 (12) Ferozabad Tank ... 94 16,166 On work No. 10 the labourers are chiefly from Bhatpur, Dholepur, Muttra and Keruli; and half of those on No. 11 are from the same places, as also a number of those on 1, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9. On the others, they are chiefly from the neighbourhood of the works and from Agra. In the Sekundra Garden, the labourers are principally convalescent paupers from the poor-house. Poor-houses.—There are 5,271 paupers in the poor-houses, of 222 less than last week.

Farukhabad ...	Rain throughout the district between 4th and 9th. Ploughing going on. Kharif sown, and crops springing up well.	Well supplied	...	Wheat, 16½ Barley, 20½ Gram, 15½ Rice, 7½	seers per Re. " " " " " "	In fair condition	Anxiety for the time being removed ...	Relief-works. - The total daily average attendance on the two works is 700, and there are 50 paupers in the poor-house.
Etawah	Rainfall over all the district during the week varying from 8 to 40-tenths, the average fall being 24-tenths. Rain is sufficient for kharif operations; and ploughing and sowing are being carried on vigorously. In some places, cotton and sawan sown in irrigated tracts are thriving well.	Well supplied	...	Wheat, 15 Barley, 19 Bajra, Juar,	to 16 to 20 12 12	Good: there is abundant pasturage.	Much improved since the rain. Almost all have returned to work in their fields. The mortuary returns do not show the prevalence of any distress needing relief.	No relief-works, and only 50 paupers on relief.
Etah	Heavy showers of rain during the week. At head-quarters the total fall was 6·6 inches. Wherever there is dry land, ploughing is going on; and what crops there are, are flourishing.	Well supplied	...	Wheat, 16½ Barley, 19½ Gram, 16 Arhar, 14½	seers per Re. " " " " " "	Good	Generally good. No distress reported. There are, however, a large number of immigrant beggars in the large towns, to provide for whom measures are now being taken.	No relief-works or poor-houses.
KUMAON DIVISION.
Kumaon	Continued rain for the first three days of the week. Thereafter sunshine with occasional showers.	Fairly supplied	...	Wheat, 10½ Barley, 13 Gram, 9½	seers per Re. " " " " " "	Foot not still continues.	Good
Garhwal	As in Kumaon crops are as promising as could be desired.	Well supplied	...	Wheat, 16 Barley, 20 Gram, 6½	seers per Re. " " " " " "	Good: abundant pasturage.	Very satisfactory: a few isolated cases of small-pox.	No relief-works or poor-houses in this division.
Terai	In the West Terai about four inches, and in the East about ten inches of rain fell during the week. Early rice promises well: cotton and maize sowings retarded by wet.	Fairly supplied	...	Wheat, 18 Barley, 26 Gram, 13	seers per Re. " " " " " "	Fair	Sickness, especially small-pox, still exists. People employed preparing for the kharif.

Bijnor	...	The following quantity of rain fell during the week:— Inches ... 6.1 Bijnor ... 8.2 Najibabad ... 12.7 Nagina ... 8.0 Bhampur ... 3.0 Crops have all been garnered. Much good must have resulted to sugarcane from the recent rain. Ploughing and sowing of all kharif crops have commenced all over the district.	Regularly supplied. Prices are stationary.	WHEAT. 12½ to 17½ seers per Re. Barley. 10½ to 21 " " Juar. 4 to 6 " " Gram. 12½ to 13½ " "	...	The spirits of the people much improved since fall of rain. Chaudhairs send all people needing relief to works and poor-houses, as necessary in each case.	Relief-works.— (a) Chandpur and Phanowra Road... 5,422 (b) Bhampur and Phanowra Road... 2,808 (c) Nagina and Najibabad Road ... 5,598 Total .. 13,828 Average daily attendance.
	Shahjahanpur	There has been rain daily except on the 5th and 10th, and on the 4th, 8th and 9th there was heavy rain all over the district: the maximum amounting to 8½ inches at Shahjahanpur on the 9th. The total fall of the week at each tehsil is as follows:— Inches. Shahjahanpur ... 17.6 Tilthur ... 10.8 Purawan ... 11.8 Jahlabad ... 8.9 The sky has been overcast throughout the week. The sugarcane promises to be excellent. The heavy rain during the week has almost stopped agricultural operations, but the crops	Abundantly supplied, but the wet weather has put a stop to imports during the week. Seed-grain is scanty, and the price very high. Rice is selling at 7 seers per rupee, other kharif grains being still higher in proportion.	Wheat. 16 seers per Re. Barley. 2½ " " Gram. 16 " "	...	The cultivators will now be able to obtain advances, as their sugarcane and kharif crops are pretty well assured. The labourers are no better off than they were before, and find difficulty in obtaining any kind of employment; but in two or three weeks they will be able to pick up "sag," and such green stuffs with which to eke out their meals. Petty crime has not increased since date of last report, but is still abnormally high. Public health continues good.	Relief-work was opened yesterday (10th) on the Khodaganj Road; but Collector had not, when writing, received any information regarding the number on the works. Arrangements had been made to provide shelter during rainy weather. The relief-work on the Sitapur Road has been postponed owing to the roads being at present under water. The municipalities of Shahjahanpur and Tilthur are also making provisions to employ distressed town labourers on earthwork. Poor-house relief is now given to 191 paupers in the Municipal poor-house at Government expense.
General Remarks.—Prospects have vastly improved owing to the general fall of rain which has been ample to admit of sowing of all kharif seeds. The sugarcane had been somewhat damaged in the country in the neighbourhood of the relief-works is quite flooded, and it is almost impossible for the people to do much work during the continuance of such stormy weather. The return of rainfall in Chandpur seems very low, and does not accord with the reports of the Public Works Department Officers who say that the country is under water. The tehsildar reports that up to the 9th there had only been sufficient rain to allow of rice sowing in some villages, and not all. There is, however, every reason to hope for the continuance of the rain. On the 6th July, the number on works was 14,138. The sudden fall which occurred on the 8th, was owing to the very heavy rain on the 7th and 8th which drove nearly all the people temporarily off the works, and rendered work impossible; the people seeking employment mostly come from a radius of ten or twelve miles. The amount of work turned out is a good average. Poor-houses.—The number of applicants for charitable relief is still considerable. The paupers in the poor-house now number 1,805 persons. Only those are admitted who are totally incapable of work on the relief-works. already sown will be much benefited by the rain, and rice and other kharif crops will now be sown everywhere as soon as the weather permits.

General Remarks.—The rain has assured the prospects of the kharif for the next month, and has filled all the pools and tanks. The labourers will find more employment in repairing houses which have been injured by the rainfall, but the majority must still continue to obtain a precarious subsistence. The relief-works at Khodaganj are tentative, and will afford some measure of the willingness of the labourers to work away from their homes in rainy weather. The beggars in Shahjahanpur and Tilthar have not increased lately. Some appear in very bad condition. Arrangements have been made to treat any bad cases at the dispensary, or to send them to the poor-house.

Badaon	...	The weather has been generally cloudy during the week. The rainfall has given—	Well supplied	...	Wheat.	17½ seers per Re.	Fair	...	Relief-works—
		Badaon ... 190 inches.			Barley.	22 "			(i) Ujhani and Bhanson Nali Road... 161
		Bisauli ... 87 "			Rice.	51 "			(ii) Bisauli and Duttun Road ... 1,611
		Gunnour ... 65 "			Gram.	14 "			(iii) Aonla Road ... 2,963
		Sahaswan ... 73 "							Total ... 3,865
		Pataganj ... 10.9 "
		Ploughing has commenced, and rice, cotton, and other early kharif crops have been and are being sown. A flight of locusts passed over the eastern part of the district.							No poor-house.

General Remarks.—One relief-work was opened during the week, as the work on the Ujhani Road was nearly completed. There has been a decrease in the numbers on the works of nearly 4,000 owing to the splendid rainfall throughout the district. With very few exceptions, the labourers on all the works come from a distance of more than 10 miles, and they are working much better than when the works first started, although a large proportion are women and children.

Bareilly	...	Very heavy rainfall on the 8th July; weather is now clear; and kharif sowings are progressing.	Well supplied	...	Wheat.	15 seers per Re.	Good	...	Relief-works.
					Barley.	18 "			—There are seven works in hand, with a total attendance of 9,535 labourers. The principal works are—
					Bajra.	64 "			(i) Sunka and Shisgarh Road ... 2,248
					Juar.	72 "			(ii) Bareilly and Hattaras Road ... 3,130
					Gram.	15 "			(iii) Bisalpur and Lamrouli Road ... 1,921

On all the works the greater number of the labourers live in the neighbourhood of the works. The decrease is attributed by the Collector to the fact that the 7th July, the day for which the above figures represent the attendance, was a rainy day; and that hundreds who had gone to their homes for the night did not turn up the next day in consequence of the rain.

Poor-houses.—The number relieved during the present week is 137: last week it was 100.

Reports are more favourable. Kharif cultivation is going on briskly. No reports by police of distress, and no abnormal sickness or mortality is reported.

Moradabad	...	The average district rainfall during the week has been 5.6 inches. Sufficient rain has now fallen for sowing all rain crops, except in Thakurdwar, where the kharif reports, though not yet fallen for sowing kharif, though there has been ample for other kharif cultivation. Sugarcane is doing well.	Well supplied	...	Wheat.	16½ seers per Re.	Good	...	Relief-works.
					Barley.	20 "			—There are six relief-works in hand, and the total daily attendance is on an average 531 only.
					Gram.	112 "			(i) The Moradabad poor-house was re-opened on the 3rd. The inmates, who number 113, are generally in low health, but this is one of the conditions of their admission. All are examined by the Civil Surgeon before admission.

Division.	District.	Condition of crops.	State of markets.	Prices of food-grains.	Condition of cattle.	Condition of people.	Relief operations, &c.
ALLAHABAD DIVISION.	Banda	The rainfall has been fair throughout the district. In Banda itself 2·8 inches have been registered. Ploughing and sowing going on briskly.	Markets still well supplied. No exports of any consequence.	Wheat, 11 to 12½ seers per Re. Barley, 13 to 17 " Rice, 7½ to 8 " Gram, 11½ to 13 "	Fodder and grass are plentiful.	The people are busily engaged in ploughing and sowing; and if this weather continues, there is every hope of a good kharif. Cholera is very prevalent and fatal, and small-pox has not entirely disappeared yet.	There is now no necessity to start the test relief-works sanctioned. The number in the poor-house has fallen from 141 on the 4th to 90 on the 10th; but a rise in the number may again be expected, as the police are sending in all cases of distress which they come across.
	Kirwee	There has been no rain registered in Kirwee during the week. Fifteen-tenths were registered at Kamasin, and there has been a fair rainfall in the villages of the Tirahan plateau. No rain had up to yesterday (11th) fallen at Chibburn; but it is probable some fell there yesterday.	Sufficiently supplied. Imports from Cawnpore, Allahabad and Futtelgur continue.	Wheat, 10 to 11½ seers per Re. Barley, 13 to 14 " Gram, 11 to 12 " Juar, 8 to 12 " Bajra, 8 to 11 " Rice, 5 to 9 "	Pasturage will now be available. There is very little disease.	There is employment in the fields now, and women and children who have hitherto gained a subsistence by selling wood and grass, will now be employed on weeding. The condition of this class clearly indicates a near approach to distress, which, if rain do not furnish them with employment, will soon require relief. The fall of rain in various parts of the sub-division warns off the necessity of relief measures for the present, and it is hoped that a general fall will altogether remove it for the future. Cholera and small-pox still continue.	The enforcement of light labour in the poor-house has had the effect of reducing the paupers from 162 to 129.
DIVISION.	Cawnpore	The reports from the police stations show that the rain has been general, and the fall not confined to small areas; although the showers have been light, they are reported as everywhere sufficient for agricultural purposes. The rainfall from 1st June has been in the several tahsils—	Well supplied	Wheat, 14½ to 15½ seers per Re. Barley, 17½ to 18½ " Juar, 7½ to 8½ " Gram, 13½ to 14½ "	Good: they have plenty of food.	Fair: the agricultural classes have labour in their fields, and in parts the non-agriculturists find a living either by weeding or selling grass. The people are said to be now more hopeful, and perfectly contented. The baniyas are fully prepared to make advances as usual, and there seems to be no difficulty about the supply of seed, though its price is very high. Cholera continues in the city, but has left the district.	There are no relief-works or poor-houses.
Total of last report...		23	49	9	50	18	36
During past week ...		11	20	28	48	48	16
Total ...		34	69	37	98	66	52

Cane and indigo look well; and the early sown crops have been saved by the rain of this week.

Fatehpur	Rain has fallen throughout the district, varying from 7 to 29-tenths. Locusts have visited two tehsils, but did no harm. Ploughing is going on, and sowings have commenced in some places.	Well supplied	Wheat, Barley, Gram,	12½ to 13½ 15½ to 16½ 12½ to 13½	seers per Re. " " " "	Good	Cholera continues. The police bring in all cases of distress.	On the Kond Tank, a municipal work, there was a rise in the number of labourers from 194 in the previous week to 209 in the week under report; and there were 69 paupers (as compared with 45 in the report for last week) in the poor-house.
Hamirpur	From Kulpahar it has been reported that though no rain appreciable by the rain gauge has fallen at the tehsil, there has been sufficient rain in the pergunnah for ploughing and sowing.	Well supplied. Export to Cawnpore has almost ceased, but continues to Native States bordering the district on the south.	Wheat, Barley, Gram, Bajra.	13½ 14½ 13½ 7½ 7½	seers per Re. " " " " " " " "	Doing well: grass is becoming plentiful, and the water difficulty is over.	The people find full employment in agricultural operations, and no distress has been heard of. The mortality is not excessive under any head.	No relief-works. In poor-houses the number has risen from 113 to 145 paupers; but it must be remembered that these are all cases of aged, infirm and diseased paupers unable to benefit by the stimulus given to employment, and especially affected by the continuance of high prices.
The rainfall has been—

All the kharif crops are being sown all over the district.
Allahabad	There has been a total average rainfall during the week of thirteen-tenths, making an average, since 1st June, of twenty-one-tenths. Rice has been sown tolerably generally across the Ganges and in Chail; but less in the other Bhuh tehsils, and hardly any to the south of the Jumna: the other kharif crops have been sown pretty well everywhere.	Unchanged	Wheat, Barley, Gram, Bajra, Juar,	12½ 14½ 12½ 10½ 10½	seers per Re. " " " " " " " "	Very much improved. Little or no disease.	The favourable rain has, Collector hopes, removed the least fear of any serious distress, and even south of the Jumna good rains have now fallen.	Relief-works.—On the 9th, a test relief-work was opened on a large tank at the Sirsa Road Railway station. On that day there were 19 labourers, on the 10th there were 56, and on the 11th (the latest day for which information was available) there were 148 labourers. Poor-houses.—In the Meja poor-house there were 141 cripples on relief during the week. The report for the Sheorajpur poor-house had not been received when Collector was writing.
Jaunpur	The wind has continued easterly, but the rain has still been partial and for the season scanty. The average fall of the week is 1.9 inches, and since the 1st of June 5.2 inches. The atmosphere, however, has continued moist. Sowing is far advanced, and is progressing rapidly.	Fairly supplied	Wheat, Barley, Gram, Rice,	12½ to 13½ 15½ to 16½ 12½ to 13½ 6½	seers per Re. " " " " " "	Fair	The condition is little altered generally; but the helpless poor in the city require relief which will be provided by private charity. The number of these has been slightly increased by travellers from Lucknow, Bareilly, Sultanpur and other up-country districts.	There have been no relief-works nor poor-house; but arrangements have now been made for the temporary relief of paupers, to whose condition reference is made in the preceding column.

Abstract of the reports on the condition of the several districts of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, for the week ending 13th July 1878—continued.

Division.

District.	Condition of crops.	State of markets.	Prices of food-grains.	Condition of cattle.	Condition of people.	Relief operations, &c.
Gorakhpur ...	Cloudy weather with constant showers in various parts over nearly all the district: the rainfall being— Maharajganj ... 1.6 inches. Padrowna ... 1.1 " Gorakhpur ... 1.6 " Hatta ... 4.3 " Bansgaon ... 1.9 " Deona ... 3.8 " Sowing in progress. Where already sown, the seed have germinated most favourably. Locusts have done some damage to the indigo.	Fairly supplied	BENARES DIVISION. Wheat, 12½ seers per Re. Barley, 15½ " Bajra, 7½ " Gram, 12½ "	Fair	Fair: no general distress, but cases of individual distress are increasing: slight cholera at Barhaj, but general health is good.	Relief-works.—City relief-works have a daily attendance of 1,495 persons. Poor-house.—In the poor-house there are 244 paupers on relief.
Mirzapur ...	The weather has been most favourable for agricultural operations. Abundant rain has fallen all over the district— Mirzapur ... 2.7 inches. Chunar ... 7.6 " Robertsganj ... 4 " Koerh ... 1.5 " Chakia ... 2.7 " Sugarcane is looking splendid. Usual crops are being sown, and in many places are springing up well above the surface.	As usual: still scantily supplied.	Wheat, 11 to 12½ seers per Re. Barley, 12½ to 15½ " Bajra, 7 to 12 " Gram, 11 to 12 "	Good: grass and water in abundance.	Improved: agricultural operations in full swing. Work obtainable everywhere. Health of the people is good, though sporadic cholera appears now and then.	The relief-work on the Manhan road was kept open during the week, but no one attended. No poor-house is open.
Azamgarh ...	The rainfall has been— Deogon ... 6.3 inches. Mahul ... 2.0 " Azamgarh ... 4.8 " Jianpur ... 2.8 " Mahomedabad ... 2.8 " Nagra ... 2.3 " Sugarcane and indigo are greatly improved. Commissioner notes:—That the relief-work will probably be closed in a few days.	Very moderately supplied. Prices are stationary.	Wheat, 11½ to 11½ seers per Re. Barley, 14½ to 14½ " Gram, 11½ to 11½ "	As usual: no sickness reported.	Condition of the poorer classes greatly improved by fall of rain, and consequent agricultural employment afforded. Cholera and small-pox still prevail to a certain extent.	Relief-works.—On the Man and Nagra Road, the daily attendance for the week averages 446. The distance test has been applied since the 1st July, and in consequence also of persons finding employment in field-work, the numbers fell on the 7th to 316 only. Poor-house.—A daily average of 287 paupers are on relief.
Ghazipur ...	Rainfall during the week as follows:— Ghazipur ... 4.4 inches. Saidpur ... 2.0 " Zamaniah ... 4.2 " Korantadih ... 3.0 " Rusra ... 5.1 " Belia ... 0.5 "	Sufficiently supplied	Wheat, 11½ seers per Re. Barley, 14½ " Bajra, 9 " Rice, 11 " Gram, 12½ "	Much improved...	No severe general distress prevailing. Some local distress in Zamaniah has already been alleviated, and some reported from Rusra is now under alleviation.	Poor-houses.—One hundred and sixty-one persons are under relief in the poor-house, a municipal institution.

BENARES	Cultivation and sowing in progress. Sugarcane benefited by rain.	Well supplied	Wheat, 10 to 12 Barley, 13½ to 14½ Bajra, 8 to 11½ Gram, 10 to 11½	seers per Re.	Improval	No change. Police have been instructed to send people needing relief to the city poor-house. No increased mortality apparent.	About 80 persons in the poor-house on private charity, and 200 on a municipal relief-work. About 100 pardashin women are also on relief.
Benares	Rainfall of the week is reported to have been— Benares ... 17 Chandowlie ... 30 Gangapur ... 17 Average in week 31 notches gauged. Paddy sowing begun.
Basti	The rainfall of the week has been— Inches. Doomariaganj ... 4.8 Harranja ... 2.1 Bansi ... 4.4 Basti ... 0.9 Khalilabad ... 1.2 There have been showers every day, but no heavy rain. Much heavier rain will be required during the coming fortnight if transplantation of rice is to succeed. Sugarcane is excellent: a some of the kharif is beginning to show above ground, and looks well.	Holders of grain do not appear yet to believe that the rain is assured. Hence little of the stocks come into the markets.	Wheat, 11 to 13 Barley, 14 to 17 Bajra, 4 to 8 Juar, 5½ to 7½ Gram, 12 to 15	seers per Re.	No change	Agricultural operations well started throughout the district, and in some places weeding begins to give employment to non-cultivators. But protracted trial, loss of property and credit, and continued high prices cause great distress to most of the poor. people from the Rudauli and Bansi works, they being directed to go to work at Belwa, where people are not paid till they complete an appointed easy task. Poor-houses.—There are 911 paupers on relief, showing a rise in the numbers.	Relief-works.—On 9th = 10th July present.— (1) Rudauli ... 17,220 (2) Bansi ... 12,913 (3) Belwa ... 659 The very large decrease in the numbers on relief-works during the week is due to two causes: (1) continued rain, and (2) continued rejection and elimination of strong able-bodied
Jhansi	Commissioner's reports:— The rainfall during the week has been— Jhansi, 1.8 inches, Garotha 2.9, Moch 2, Man 8. Kalpi 2.5, Jalaun 2.1, Madhogurh 1.0, Kunch 7. Orai 2.2 inches. Talbhat 4.8, Mahrawi 1.2, Marbat 3.7, Lalitpur 4.7 inches. Ploughing and sowing are in progress all over the division, but more rain is wanted in parts.	Well supplied	Jhansi— Wheat, 14 to 17 Barley, 8 to 14 Juar, 14 to 15 Gram, 15 to 18 Wheat, 15 to 18 Juar, 15 to 18 Gram, 15 to 18 Jalaun— Wheat, 14 to 17 Barley, 8 to 14 Juar, 14 to 15 Gram, 15 to 18 Lalitpur— Wheat, 14 to 17 Barley, 8 to 14 Juar, 14 to 15 Gram, 15 to 18	seers per Re.	Improving: foot and mouth disease reported from Kalpi and Madhogurh per gunnals.	No change visible in Jalaun and Jhansi at present; but as agricultural employment has now become available, it must improve. Prices however show no signs of falling, and they press heavily on the poor. The people in the Lalitpur district appear to be on the whole better off than in Jalaun and Jhansi. There is a good deal of pauperism in Man.	Relief-works.—In Jalaun there are six relief-works with a total daily average of 1,508 labourers, showing an increase in the numbers since last week. In Jhansi the numbers on nine small relief-works amounted at a daily average to 1,223, thus being less than in the previous week. There are no relief-works in Lalitpur. Orai poor-house is 123 for the past week: that in the Man (Jhansi) poor-house is 295.

Division.	District.	Condition of crops.	State of markets.	Prices of food-grains.	Condition of cattle.	Condition of people.	Relief operations, &c.
RAE BAREILY DIVISION.	Sultanpur	The rainfall has been at Sadr 0·8, at Musafirkhana 4·7, at Khadipur 3 inches. In Amethi the rain gauge was unfortunately put out of order during the week, so the fall was not registered, but there was plentiful rain. Ploughing and sowing under way: but there is still a hesitation to risk sowing crops which require much water.	Fairly supplied	Wheat, 12½ seers per Re. Barley, 16 " " Rice, 7 " " Gram, 13 " "	Somewhat better than last week.	More hopeful and contented; but the price of seed grain is high, and cattle also are scarce in parts of the district.	Relief-works— (a) Sultanpur—Khaga Road ... 577 (b) Korwar Road ... 365 The latter was started on the 4th July; the rains reduced the number on (a). Poor-houses.—The number of paupers on relief has decreased to 729. The labourers are in good health, but weak.
	Partabgarh	Some good showers of rain have fallen. Sowing of minor crops has been finished, but rice has been sown only in favoured spots. The rain has been unequally distributed.	Indifferently supplied.	Wheat, 11 to 12 seers per Re. Barley, 14 to 15 " " Rice, 7 to 8 " " Gram, 11 to 12½ " "	Good	Poverty is increasing, because there is not yet much field labour; but this will be changed as the crops grow. The police reported 219 cases of distress, of which 187 came into the poor-house.	Relief-work is about to be started. There are 457 persons in the poor-house.
Commissioner remarks:—The Collector, though requested to give details of the rainfall, has omitted to do so. From the report the nature of the rainfall seems to have been much the same as in Rae Bareilly, showery and partial. Notwithstanding the rainfall, the scarcity of labour is so great, and the distress such, that it has been considered necessary to start relief-works.
RAE BAREILY DIVISION.	Rae Bareilly	Rain has fallen more or less over the district. Rae Bareilly ... 1·0 inch Dalman ... 0·8 " Digbaisaganj ... 3·7 " Salone ... 0·9 " Ploughing and sowing recommenced since the rain. There is some difficulty in procuring seed grains. There has not been sufficient rain generally for dhan; but in some localities the dhan crop is reported to be thriving.	Sufficient supply for all requirements.	Wheat, 12½ seers per Re. Barley, 15½ " " Gram, 11½ " " Rice, 6 " "	Improving daily. There is now plenty of grass.	A good deal of distress still in the district, but on the whole owing to the rain that has fallen during the week there is a slight improvement. Takavi for both plough bullocks and seed grain has been given. Locusts appeared on 7th and 8th, but went off without doing any damage.	Relief-works are in progress in two places— Rae Bareilly and Sultanpur Road ... 616 Mahariganj and Bachawan Road ... 17,202 The labourers come from neighbouring villages and from a distance off too. The daily average number of paupers on relief is 789.
	Commissioner remarks:—	Rain has fallen generally, and the prospects of the kharif are improved decidedly. The fall of rain, however, has been unequal. There has not been a single rainy day: an hour or an hour and a half's rain is the most we have had at any time. Ploughing is general and also the sowing of all crops, save dhan, for which, except in favoured localities, there has not been sufficient rain. Seed grain is very dear and very difficult to get at any price; naturally, therefore, the cultivators hesitate to risk it in the ground prematurely.

The numbers on relief-works had risen again to nearly 20,000. Since the rainfall there has been a considerable reduction; but the numbers now on the works are not under the average attendance given in the report. Had there been steady rain, the numbers would have been more affected. Until the weeding begins, there are numbers on the works who will not be able to find employment elsewhere. Labour is said to be unusually scarce for this season of the year; no one, who can avoid it, employing day labourers on account of straitened means. Takavi for seed grain and plough cattle is being given where absolutely wanted.

LUCKNOW DIVISION.
Lucknow	...	Rainfall during the week has amounted to 51-tenths. Sowings have begun: seed grain is scarce and dear.	Markets fairly supplied. Imports into the city are small.	Wheat, 13½ Barley, 17 Rajra, 8½ Gram, 13½	No change to record.	Fair: no deaths reported from want. Field work is obtainable: death-rate is normal.	Relief-works.—There are four relief-works in hand— Sisendi and Jubaila Road ... 447 Mallabad and Pepergaon ... 589 Chinbut and Sarik ... 1,047 Digging Gurianju in city ... 183 2,266
Unao	...	Forty-seven-tenths of rain fell during the week, followed by genial sunshine, now more wanted than rain. Ploughing and sowing are going on everywhere, but rice and Indian-corn seed are scarce.	Well supplied	Wheat, 13½ Barley, 19½ Rice, 7½ Gram, 13½	Improving	Generally better: but the numbers on relief-works and in poor-houses are increasing.	The numbers on the Mallabad work are decreasing. Those on Chinbut are rising owing to closing of the Sisendi work, which is finished. Poor-house relief is afforded to 756 paupers. The daily average number of labourers employed on the Shaikhpur relief-work has now reached 270; on the 12th there were 340 labourers present. In the poor-house at Unao, there were 90 paupers provided for.
Barr Banki	No report received	The Deputy Commissioner's report has not yet come in; but he has reported by telegraph that the number on relief-works averages 2,500, while in the Hydergarh poor-house there are 770 paupers, and in the Sadir poor-house 192.
FYZABAD DIVISION.
Fyzabad	...	The weather has been cloudy with frequent rain. Ploughing and sowing going throughout the district, and weeding has commenced.	Sufficiently supplied	Wheat, 12½ to 13 Barley, 16½ to 17 Gram, 12 to 13 Rice, 7 to 7½	seers per Re. " " " "	Good	Improving: labour being now in demand.	Relief-works closed. Number aided in the Fyzabad poor-house on 12th July was ... 536
Gonda	...	Good rain throughout the district: everywhere sufficient for the sowings. Rice is now being generally sown. In some parts there is a good deal of rice, maize, kaalon and arhar up and looking well.	Well supplied, except with seed rice, which is scarce and dear.	Wheat, 13½ Barley, 15½ Juar, 13 Gram, 12½	seers per Re. " " " "	No disease: grazing abundant.	No distress at all in tehse Gonda and Taraliganj, and the previously reported distress in Utroula has been ascertained to be very trifling. Sufficient rain has fallen for the present. There seems to be hope of a good rainy season, and prospects altogether are favourable.	The relief-works in Babrpur were closed, as it was found that there was no real necessity for them. Health of the labourers was fairly good.

Abstract of the reports on the condition of the several districts of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, for the week ending 13th July 1878—concluded.

Division.	District.	Condition of crops.	State of markets.	Prices of food-grains.	Condition of cattle.	Condition of people.	Relief operations, &c.
FYZABAD DIVN.—contd.	Behraich	Rainfall during the week— Bahraich ... 44-tenths. Nauyara ... 48 " Kai-seyanj ... 19 " Kharif grains are being sown, and further preparations are going on.	Well supplied	FYZABAD DIVISION—contd. Wheat, 10½ to 10½ seers per Re. Good Barley, 13½ " Gram, 11½ to 12 " Bajra, 7 " Juar, 13 "	...	Good: no reports of distress	No relief-works or special poor-houses.
	Commissioner's Remarks: —There is no cause for anxiety in this division. There are no relief-works in the Fyzabad district, and the relief-work which was started experimentally in the east of the Gonda district has now been closed.
SITAPUR DIVISION.	Sitapur	Eight inches and two-tenths of rain have fallen at Sitapur during the last week, and the rain has been general. This rain is sufficient to complete all the kharif and bewan sowings; and no more rain is required for agricultural purposes for a fortnight or three weeks. Sowing is going on.	Well supplied	SITAPUR DIVISION. Wheat, 15¼ to 16½ seers per Re. Good Barley, 21 to 22 " Gram, 16 to 16½ "	...	No change for the worse. Plenty of work is to be had now in digging, ploughing, &c. Small-pox still prevalent.	No relief-works or poor-houses.
	Hardoi	Rain throughout the district from 2 inches in Sandila to 9-2 in the Shahabad tehsil. The kharif is being sown, but seed is dear. The rain- fall registered was— Hardoi 6-4, Shahabad 9-2, Bilgram 4-9, Sandila 2-0 inches.	Grain in abundance	15 seers per Re. Good: food plentiful. Wheat, 19½ " Barley, 6 " Rice, 15 " Gram, "	...	Cholera has abated throughout the district; the people are busy ploughing and sowing.	In the poor-house there are 138 paupers on relief.
	Kheri	Heavy rain throughout the district. Sowing in progress: clear weather wanted for a week.	Ill supplied	16½ seers per Re. Good Wheat, 16½ " Gram, 22 " Barley, "	...	Good No reports of distress by chaukidars, and no indication from the mortuary returns.	Only ordinary public works are in progress, the number employed being 365 daily: and in the poor-house only 30 paupers are on relief.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE, AGRICULTURE AND COMMERCE.

EXPERIMENTAL CULTIVATION OF CUZCO MAIZE IN INDIA.

In the last paragraph of his despatch No. 56, dated 12th November 1874, on the subject of the quinoa plant, the Secretary of State informed the Government of India that he had directed two sacks of Cuzco maize seed to be sent out; and requested that on receipt the seed might be distributed for trial in those districts in India where maize is most grown.

The seed was received and sent to the Governments of Bengal and the North-Western Provinces, and to the Agricultural and Horticultural Societies at Calcutta, Lucknow, Nagpur, and Bangalore, who were asked to have careful experiments made in its cultivation, and to report the results.

The Agricultural and Horticultural Society of India* distributed the seed sent to them to upwards of sixty applicants in the Punjab, the North-Western Provinces, the Central Provinces, Tirhoot, in parts of Behar, in Upper and Lower Bengal, &c. The replies received from several of the recipients were all to the same effect, viz., that the seed germinated readily, grew well, but did not yield fruit. From Tirhoot, which was considered a good locality for the experiment, seeing that maize was largely grown there, Mr. Stevens of Darbhanga wrote—

"The Cuzco corn has been a failure; it germinated and grew to a great height, but developed very small cobs, quite barren of grain."

Mr. Francis of Muzaffarpur remarked:—

"The Cuzco maize, I am sorry to say, has completely failed. At first it grew vigorously, and in my garden it formed a number of cobs, but every plant died off before these had time to ripen. I have received similar reports from all those among whom I distributed the seed. It might succeed better if sown in the cold weather, or about October, but I do not think the climate admits of its being grown as a crop for the rains."

With reference to the above remarks, the Secretary to the Society stated that he sowed some of the seed out of season immediately on receipt in January, and that the plants became stunted, did not exceed 4 feet, and died down without flowering, whereas the seed sown at the commencement of the rainy season attained a height of 12 feet, flowered, but formed no cobs.

Mr. F. Halsey of Madhopur, Punjab, wrote—

"I have never furnished you with any account of the Cuzco maize seed. It was sown on the 15th July, when the ordinary Indian-corn of the country is sown, and germinated freely. By the 15th September it had reached the height of 15 feet when the male flowers appeared; at the same time the female flowers commenced forming, and I was in hopes I was going to have a large crop. About a fortnight went by, and seeing no signs of increase in the cobs, I slit up the sheath of the leaf containing it, and found the flower was so constricted that the pollen from the male flower could not pass down to the seed-bearing portion of the plant. I waited another fortnight to observe the result of my operation, when I had the pleasure of seeing a few seeds form. I then slit open all the remainder, and they all commenced to form seed, but unfortunately the season was too far advanced for the seed to come to maturity. But on the cob I have sowed, I have some dozen seeds which have arrived at full maturity. These seeds, I have little doubt, will bear plentifully next year.

"I cannot say I quite understand the cause of this, except that I have often had trouble the first year with exotic seeds of all sorts; in fact, I may say the produce of imported seed rarely comes to perfection in any quantity during the first season of its introduction. If the Cuzco maize comes from the country its name indicates, I fancy it comes from a high and almost rainless table-land of the Andes, and, consequently, it is not astonishing that it should find a difficulty in succeeding here. But at the same time it seemed to thrive most extraordinarily during the rains, which this year amounted to 75 inches between the time it was sown and the commencement of October. It has a strong tendency to send out adventitious roots, and if these are earthed up to the height of 3 feet, notwithstanding its inclination to grow so very tall, it is quite capable of sustaining its own weight.

"I am doubtful whether it is likely to turn out a satisfactory description for this country; the village mills are not fitted to grind it, and it does not appear to be of a prolific nature, or as inclined to return its seeds as rapidly as many of the native kinds. An English farmer prefers the small round native seed of this country to the horse-tooth American varieties, I fancy because he can get a greater weight per bushel from the former."

Colonel T. H. Chamberlain of Ranikhet, in Kumaun, sowed 150 seeds in well-prepared ground in his garden, which is about 5,950 feet above the level of the sea. All the seeds sown germinated and grew to fine healthy plants, from 10 to 12 feet high; 118 of these bore exceedingly fine and well-formed cobs, and only 32 failed to bear fruit. Colonel Chamberlain had some of the cobs prepared for his table, and said that he never tasted anything better of the kind. Colonel Chamberlain intended distributing seed among the neighbouring villages, and to try to get it into cultivation for sale in the bazars.

Lieutenant Pogson of Simla stated that the plants raised by him attained a height of from 12 to 15 feet, and that most of them produced seeds. A single grain of the seed raised by Lieutenant Pogson weighed as much as 5 of those of the common hill varieties, and an average of 3 cobs of Cuzco equalled 15 of those of the indigenous kinds.

Lieutenant Pogson discovered that the stalk of the Cuzco maize was exceedingly rich in sweet juice, which, in the plants that had not borne cobs, was as sweet and abundant as in the best sugarcane; and that the aroma of the juice and of the cut stalks was also the same as that of the sugarcane. He thought it quite possible that if the 2nd or 3rd set of "adventitious roots" (some of his plants had 5 such sets, and 3 and 4 were common) were bled or tapped at or after sunset and an earthen pot placed under, the result by the next morning would be a good supply of sweet juice.

The Society, reporting on specimens of seed sent to them by Colonel Chamberlain and Lieutenant Pogson, said:—

"The seeds furnished by Colonel Chamberlain and Lieutenant Pogson are about equal in size, though the former appear to be in rather better condition. They are considerably larger than American maize. The cobs in both cases are small as compared to the North American kinds of maize; but whether they are naturally small, or whether they have deteriorated from those raised in their own country, we have no means of judging, as the seed from which this produce has been raised was sent to the Society in a shelled state. It would be interesting to learn whether each stalk of this maize yields in Cuzco more than two cobs. The varieties raised in the United States give only two as a rule, whereas our country maize yields 3 and some times 4 cobs. Colonel Chamberlain's best cobs were devoured by rats, so that those sent by him are not the largest."

Dr. Jameson, the late Superintendent of the Saháranpur Botanical Gardens,

From the Government of the North-Western Provinces, No. 2317A., dated 23rd November 1875. reported that the seed received by him was sown at Saháranpur, Mussoorie, and Chijauri in the Himalayas. The plants grew with great luxuriance, and attained a height of from 10 to 12 feet with stems four-fifths of an inch in thickness. Neither the male nor the female flowers were, however, fully developed, and the consequence was that the seeds did not form properly. In some of the cobs 3 or 4 imperfectly-formed seeds were found, but the general result was a complete failure.

The Agricultural and Horticultural Society of the Central Provinces No. 230, dated 2nd December 1875. reported that the seed received by them, which was sown in a well-prepared plot of ground, germinated freely and grew luxuriantly, but that not a single cob formed. The Society were of opinion that the plant was not suited to the dry climate of the Central Provinces.

Colonel Boddam, the Honorary Secretary to the Agricultural and Horticultural Society of Mysore, stated that he

No. 187, dated 10th December 1875. sowed a small quantity of seed early in March, but that as soon as the seeds had fairly germinated, the young plants were all eaten up by bandicoots. Another supply was then sown in flower pots, which were protected from rats; when the seed germinated the seedlings were transplanted. A batch was also sown in rows, but as a protection from rats each seed was covered up at night by a small flower pot. In this way a number of plants were raised, which progressed rapidly, till one night they were all blown down by a storm. A fresh crop was then raised with the same precautions against rats, and each plant was further protected against the wind. The plants progressed, and all went well till one night the garden was rifled by thieves. A very small quantity of seed remained, which was sown; and Colonel Boddam had at last the satisfaction of harvesting a few magnificent cobs. Colonel Boddam intended repeating the experiment during the following year.

Dr. Bonavia, the Superintendent of the Department of Science in Oudh, From the Chief Commissioner of Oudh, No. 112, reported that the seed sent to him was dated 17th January 1876. sown immediately after the rains had commenced on soil which had been well ploughed and cleaned, and that about two-thirds germinated. Of these, several plants perished from weakness, and 2,854 grew well and thrived. The majority reached a height of 10 feet; but in consequence of their tallness and of their being unprotected, several plants were blown down by the wind, and the remainder had to be supported by sticks. Some of the plants produced one, some two, and some three or more cobs from the same joint. Some of these cobs had their seeds entirely unfertilized; some had only a few seeds fertilized, whilst others, although they had some fertilized seeds, rotted before they came to maturity. The seeds of others began to germinate on the cob before they were ripe, and finally only a small proportion of cobs ripened their seeds. Altogether only 90 cobs, containing about 1,000 ripe seeds, were harvested, but none of these came up to the standard of size of the original seeds. In order to try whether the winter might not suit the Cuzco maize better than the rains Dr. Bonavia sowed a small quantity of seed on the 10th of October; but none germinated. Dr. Bonavia mentioned that this was not the first time he had experimented with Cuzco maize in Lucknow. In 1862 he sowed some seed, which had been sent to him by Dr. Forbes Watson, but did not meet with any success. Dr. Bonavia said that he had to resort to artificial fertilization, and thus obtained a few small cobs with healthy seeds, but that these were much smaller than the originals.

On the whole, Dr. Bonavia was of opinion that the Cuzco maize was unsuited to the plains of India. He thought that as it came from the dry and cold regions of the Andes in Peru, it might be better suited to the regions beyond the influence of the rains in the Himalayas, such as Chini, Pángi, and other valleys among the snowy ranges, to whose scanty productions it might become a valuable addition.

Dr. King, Superintendent of the Botanical Gardens at Howrah, distributed the seed sent to him to several gentlemen in Darjeeling, Almora, Ranikhet and Assam. The general result was that the experiments made at low elevations, and in hill districts, where, as in British Sikkim, the rainfall is excessive, were everywhere a failure. There was, however, some promise of success at elevations of from 5,500 to 7,500 feet in the hill districts of the north-west Himalayas, where the rainfall is moderate.

The following were the details of some of the successful experiments:—

General Ramsay, Commissioner of the Kumaun Division, reported that of the seeds sown by him at Almora, each stalk produced had only one or two cobs, but that these were very fine and long.

Mr. Crossman of Kurseong stated that the growth of the plants raised by him was very luxuriant, and that the cobs were produced in great numbers. Before, however, the maize was ready for breaking, some cattle strayed into the field and destroyed a large number. But for this accident the experiment would have been most successful. Nine pounds of the red and 25 pounds of the white maize were harvested. Mr. Crossman intended distributing the seed saved to several planters in the district.

Mr. Craw of Doonagiri reported that the seed sown by him germinated well, and that the plants grew vigorously, but did not flower till late in the season. The healthy plants produced two and three cobs each, and the others only one. Mr. Craw thought that the seed should be sown early, in order to allow the ears to come to maturity before the cold weather could set in. He intended distributing the seed saved in the hills, and sending some to Cabul.

Mr. Mandelli of Lebong, in Darjeeling, said that the result of the first sowing made by him was unfavourable, but that the second was successful. Mr. Mandelli distributed seed to several natives, and to his brothers in the Kutoor valley, and had received favourable reports from all of them.

These results were reported to the Secretary of State in Agriculture despatch No. 14, dated the 14th August 1876, and it was observed that the experiments made in the plains and at low elevations in the hills had everywhere proved a failure; but that those tried at higher elevations, such as Simla, parts of Sikkim, Ranikhet, and Bangalore, had been more successful. The Government of India considered that while this variety of maize was not likely ever to be worth cultivating in the plains, there were some grounds for hoping that it might become naturalized in the hills.

Lord Salisbury, in reply, expressed a hope that the Cuzco maize would be naturalized on the high-lands of India, and become a useful additional source of food supply. His Lordship said that the large quantity of sugar which was reported to be contained in the stalks made it possible that it might also become a sugar-producing crop, and he wished to be informed of the results of any experiments that might be instituted with a view to testing this point. He, at the same time, forwarded a note by Mr. Clements Markham on the native habitat of the maize.

Accordingly, Bengal, North-Western Provinces, Punjab, Mysore, and Assam were asked to communicate copies of the despatch and enclosures to the officers and gentlemen by whom the cultivation of Cuzco maize was undertaken during the past year, and who had been fairly successful in their experiments, with a request that they would report the results.

Dr. King stated that he had communicated copy of the despatch and enclosures to Messrs. Gammie and Christison, and remarked that, with regard to the probable success of Cuzco cultivation in India, he was of opinion that, with the exception perhaps of the Punjab, Cuzco maize had no chance of succeeding as a crop in any part of the plains. Concerning the hill districts, he said: "There is abundant experience to shew that Cuzco will not grow in the Eastern Himalaya: all maize is grown on the Himalayas as a rainy season crop. In its native valley in the Andes, Cuzco enjoys a climate (Mr. Markham tells us) like that of Italy, and I need hardly say that the climate of the Eastern Himalaya during the rains is not in the least like that of Italy, being hotter and much moister."

In conclusion Dr. King observed that the north-western part of the Himalaya had a much smaller rainfall than the Eastern range, and its climate somewhat resembled that of Italy; and, moreover, the only recorded cases in which Cuzco had perfected seed in India occurred at Ranikhet and Simla. He therefore suggested that if more seed of the Cuzco was to be imported by Government, it should be distributed to Europeans settled in the North-West and Punjab Himalaya, and that the attention of all recipients of seeds should be directed to the value of Cuzco as a yielder both of fodder and grain.

Mr. Freeman, Superintendent of the Shillong Model Farm, Assam, reported that he distributed a few seeds to several of the Khasi cultivators for trial, but had not heard the result, except in two cases, in both of which the seed was said to have failed. He could not understand this, as the seed put down by himself germinated freely, but thought it likely that the young shoots were destroyed by grubs which made great havoc among the ordinary kind of maize as well. The actual result of his experiment was as follows:—

Number of seed sown.	Number of seed germinated.	Number of plants that survived.	Number of cobs bearing seeds.	Total number of seeds produced.
500	500	576	48

The cause of failure in the above crop was attributable to the monsoons being far advanced when the corn came into blossom, and this variety of maize required a much longer time to mature than the ordinary kinds, and ought to have been sown a month earlier to enable the blossoms to fecundate before the setting in of the rains.

Mr. Freeman added that seeds of maize should reach him at latest during the month of February.

The Chief Commissioner of Mysore wrote to say that Colonel Boddam left From Mysore, No. 11945-170G., dated 23rd February 1877. India in June 1876, and from the enquiries made, no experiments seemed to have been made with the seed supplied to him, nor was any portion furnished to the Lal Bagh for trial.

Lieutenant Pogson of Simla reported that the remarkable sweetness of the green stalks of the Cuzco maize and their richness in saccharine juice demonstrated that under ordinary manipulation the expressed juice when strained and boiled down must of necessity yield an extract resembling sugarcane juice. He said: "The sugarcane differently treated yields coarse sugar, more or less crystallized; and the Cuzco maize sweet juice would do the same. The unusually dry weather which prevailed from April 1876 to the somewhat late setting in of the rains, prevented my carrying out my cherished project of operating on the Cuzco maize juice for sugar."

Owing to the great solar heat which prevailed, almost all Lieutenant Pogson's plants were scorched up, and of the few which survived not one produced seeds. Whether this was due to the soil, or want of fecundation, was not known. Lieutenant Pogson suggested that Major Henderson, on special duty at Kashmir (to whom he supplied some seeds of the Cuzco maize last year), should be asked to supply the seed needed for experimental cultivation in Hazara.

Major Henderson, on being asked to supply the Cuzco seed required for Hazara and Kangra, and to report on the saccharine qualities of the stalk, replied that he had been obliged to leave Srinagar before the maize was harvested, and that on his return to Kashmir he was disappointed to find that none of the seed planted by him came to maturity. His muli informed him that the cobs bore few seeds, but these were very large. Before they could ripen, the night frosts came on, and the seed was destroyed.

Major Henderson further reported that he had learnt from Baboo Nilambar Mookerjee, Judge of the Chief Court of Kashmir and Head of the Silk Department, to whom he gave about 50 seeds of the Cuzco maize last year, that the cobs of his plants also failed to come to maturity. From the stalks the Baboo made a small quantity of molasses, and conceived so high an opinion of the value of the maize as a sugar-producer, that he recommended the Maharaja to grow it experimentally on a considerable scale. Major Henderson wrote:

"I am therefore requested by His Highness to submit a request to Government that they will be good enough to procure for him one or two maunds of seed for trial. Should Government be able to comply with this request, I would beg that the seed may be timed to arrive in Kashmir by the beginning or middle of April next."

In continuation of the above letter, Major Henderson again wrote, stating that His Highness the Maharaja had expressed a wish to be supplied with 20 maunds of Cuzco seed at his own expense for cultivation. His Highness also desired, before the seed was ordered, to be furnished with an estimate of the probable cost per maund, delivered at Sialkot, including all expenses.

To this the Government of India replied that if His Highness wished for the seed, application would be made to the Secretary of State, who would have to procure it from South America, and that the Government of India could give no estimate of the probable cost.

No. 173, dated the 13th August 1877.

Mr. Buck, Director of Agriculture and Commerce, North-Western Provinces and Oudh, reported that seed was sent to Colonel Chamberlain and Messrs. Troup and Craw of Ranikhet.

Mr. Craw sowed the seed on a small patch of land at Ranikhet, at an elevation of about 6,500 feet above the sea-level. The experiment was perfectly successful; but as the grain ripened rather late, Mr. Craw thought the crop would not find favour among cultivators, but suggested that it might be favourably cultivated as a food for cattle, and the green plant sold as a fodder.

Colonel Chamberlain distributed some of the seed to European gentlemen residing in various parts of the country, as also to villagers, and sowed the rest himself. But the cultivation was a failure almost everywhere, except at Ranikhet and in the Nilgiris. It was almost proved that Cuzco would not bear any cob below 5,000 feet; that it required a great deal of care; was liable to injury from winds; and from its saccharine properties the plant and flower were frequently destroyed by bears, monkeys, rats, porcupines, parrots, &c. Consequently, many by whom the seed was tried considered it very unlikely to take the place of the common hardy Indian-corn.

The seed produced by Colonel Chamberlain's experiment seemed to be, however, of very fine quality. Regarding its merits and capabilities as a food for man, Colonel Chamberlain said that "this maize is incomparably the finest variety I have ever seen, and for table purposes there is nothing known to me to equal it." However, Mr. Frank Halsey of Madhopur, in the Punjab, doubted whether the grain would show as great a weight per bushel as the smaller sorts of grain.

Colonel Chamberlain was of opinion that it could be used as most excellent and nutritious food for cattle if it failed as a cereal. ●

Its capabilities for producing sugar were not tried in 1876 in the North-Western Provinces; but the gentlemen who had undertaken its cultivation in 1877 had been asked to test the saccharine properties of the stalk.

Three thousand of the acclimatized seeds raised by Colonel Chamberlain were sent to the Agri-Horticultural Society of India for distribution on the 25th of June 1877, of which one-half was to be at the disposal of the Government of India, and 2,000 seeds had been distributed at Naini Tal, Mussoorie, the Government farms in the North-Western Provinces, and one or two Government officials.

The seed intended for the Government of India was received several weeks

* Letter to Government, Punjab, No. 142, dated 11th July 1877. before receipt of Mr. Buck's report, and sent* to the Punjab Government for experimental cultivation in the hill districts.

Before replying to the Secretary of State, the further report regarding the saccharine qualities of the Cuzco stalk was awaited. The Government of Bengal was, in the meantime, asked to report the result of the reference to Letter No. 187, dated the 23rd August 1877. Messrs. Gammie and Christison, referred to in Dr. King's letter, No. 56G., dated the 22nd December 1876, which was received with the endorsement from that Government, No. 67, dated the 10th January 1877. (Vide page 1196 of this Supplement).

The Government of the Punjab was also requested to call on the parties who had been supplied with the seed of the maize for experimental cultivation, to report on any success that might have attended its cultivation, as well as on the sugar-producing qualities of the stalk.

The replies from these Governments have now been received, and the following is an abstract thereof.

The Government of Bengal forward copy of a letter from Dr. King, who states that he has not received a report from either Messrs. Gammie or Christison regarding the saccharine qualities of the maize. He says:—

"Mr. Christison left India some months ago, and has not yet returned; Mr. Gammie sowed no Cuzco maize this year, because no seeds were sent to him."

Dr. King had no seed to send to Mr. Gammie: the maize sown in Bengal did not produce any seed, and he was not supplied with any from any other source. As regards the sugar-producing qualities of the Cuzco maize, Dr. King remarks—

"Sugarcane is very sparingly grown in that (the eastern) part of the Himalayas, and is grown only for eating, not for the extraction of sugar. I do not therefore think that there is much use in trying to introduce as a substitute for sugarcane, an annual plant like Cuzco maize which will not ripen seed in the district."

The Commissioner of Arakan (Lieutenant-Colonel Sladen) to whom some Demi-official, dated 4th September 1877.

seed was sent for experimental cultivation, was asked to "report on the success that may attend the cultivation of the maize, as well as on the sugar-producing quality of its stalk." He forwards copy of a report from Captain

From Commissioner of Arakan, No. 1217-290, dated 3rd December 1877.

Hughes (the Superintendent of the Hill Tribes of Northern Arakan), who states that seed was distributed to several Hill Chiefs, and that the result of their sowings, with one exception, was that, after germinating and coming up strong and healthy, the young plants rotted away. This result is attributed to the unusually heavy rain which fell in August last. He adds that about one-fourth of the seed was bad, and that he would much like to give the maize another and a fairer trial by planting it on the hills in the month of May, and not during the Arakan monsoon. The solitary instance in which the seed promised to be successful was at the foot of the hills at Myouktoung, where one plant, planted by Dr. Brown, in charge of the Government farm at that place, came up to about nine or ten feet, and then died off, producing only an unformed cob with no seeds in it, but merely a woolly fibrous substance inside.

The Financial Commissioner of the Punjab reports the result of experimental sowings in the Kangra and Hazara districts. He states that the Deputy Commissioner of Kangra received a small quantity of seed from Major Henderson from Kashmir under the name of "American maize;" but that a comparison of the cobs produced showed that the seed was of the same kind as the Cuzco maize supplied by the Government of India direct, though probably of the former year's growth in Kashmir.

The seed was sown in two places in the hills, and at two in the valley; those in the hills appear to have succeeded better than those sown in the valley, but not one of the experiments was very successful. The Financial Commissioner attributes this failure to the late sowing of the seed and also to the dryness of the season. A few cobs, however, were produced.

In regard to the sugar-producing qualities of the Cuzco maize, it is said—

"The stalk is sweetish to the taste, and sugar could evidently be produced from it, but owing to the small quantity available, the process has not been actually tried in Kangra."

In regard to the experiments tried in the Hazara district, it is reported that in this district also a small quantity of seed received from Major Henderson, besides that supplied by Government, was experimentally sown.

"The seed was sown in fourteen different plots at elevations ranging from 1,500 to 5,000 feet above sea-level. The seed germinated almost without exception, but only a small proportion came to maturity."

A comparison of the cobs raised in Kangra with those raised in Hazara showed that in Kangra the plant developed seeds equal in size and similar in appearance to the seed supplied by Government, but the seeds appeared only here and there on the pod; whereas the cobs produced from the seeds sown in Hazara are like the ordinary Indian maize, with seeds in regular and complete rows, of larger size than Indian maize, though smaller than the Kangra specimens.

The stalk from Hazara was received in too dry a state to judge of its sweetness; though it is stated that the Tahsildar of Haripur extracted about three chittacks of molasses from about eight seers of the stalk.

The Financial Commissioner is of opinion that the Cuzco maize will grow in the hilly districts of the Punjab; but owing to the very limited scale of the experiments, the last trial was not conclusive.

He considers that manuring would have a good effect. In conclusion, the Financial Commissioner says—

“The double quality possessed by this product of yielding a large edible grain and also producing sugar renders it worth while to make a further attempt to introduce it in the outer hills of the Punjab.”

He would like to have a large quantity of fresh seed in addition to that which was obtained at the last experimental cultivation, in order that a better trial may be made in the coming season.

In the meantime twenty-four and a half maunds of seed were received from the Secretary of State, and distributed as shewn in the margin.

The Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh have now sent* a copy of the further report promised by Mr. Buck, who gives an account of the general results of the cultivation of the maize during the year 1877; the produce of the crop having been used in carrying out the experiments.

“The general results,” he says, “have borne out the deductions drawn from the results† of cultivation during the two previous years. It seems now to be tolerably well proved that the plant will not do well in the plains, and that the only places where it can be advantageously introduced are the hill villages between the elevations of 3,500 and 7,000 feet.”

This seemed probable from the first, as in Mr. Clements Markham’s note‡ its habitat is mentioned as being in sheltered villages varying from an elevation of 4,000 to 8,000 feet. The seeds sown in the plains germinate well, and the plant soon shoots up to a considerable height and flowers, but does not form seed apparently from the cause set forth by Dr. Jameson in his report § for 1875§, which runs thus:—

“The female flowers which are situated below the male have never properly formed, nor have the delicate filaments properly developed, which come out of the point of the husk, forming a thick cluster called the silk of the plant. The result was that the pollen from the male flower was lost, and, as through these silky filaments impregnation takes place, the seeds were never properly formed.”

During the past year the maize was sown in the plains at Budaun, Cawnpore, and Allahabad, and in the hills at Naini Tal and Ranikhet. At Budaun 300 seeds were sown by Mr. Wyer, the Assistant Collector. The plants quickly shot up to a height of 9 or 10 feet and produced flowers, but no seed. Mr. Wyer attributes the failure to attacks of parrots and squirrels, and to the unfavourable character of the year. Mr. Buck, however, considers that the situation was the real cause. At Cawnpore 800 seeds were sown. The plants grew very high, but were very weakly; they flowered, but produced no seed. At Allahabad 100 seeds were sown, of which only 23 germinated. The plants, however, thrived better here than at other places in the plains. Mr. Buck quotes a passage from the report of the Superintendent of the experimental farm—

“The plants grew very strong; but as they showed no signs of flowering, the centres of 10 of them were pinched off; 6 of the pinched and 8 of the unpinched ones showed flower in October. This was, however, too late to be of any use, as the weather was getting too cold for the plants to finish fruiting properly. Of the 9 (sic) plants, only 3 produced seed in the cobs. The plants were left in the ground till the 20th of February to see if the seed would ripen; but, on examination, I found that the seed had all dried up."

At Naini Tal some seed was sown towards the end of July; seed cobs formed in October, but dried up by the frost. Mr. Buck is of opinion that if the sowing had taken place earlier, a crop would have been obtained. At Ranikhet the maize was again cultivated with very great success by Colonel Chamberlain, the Cantonment Magistrate. He sowed about $\frac{1}{2}$ of an acre with 400 pips: the maize came up luxuriantly and produced over 40 seers of seed (about 38,000 pips) besides $8\frac{1}{2}$ maunds of green stems. The cobs were described by Dr. King of the Royal Botanical Gardens at Calcutta as magnificent; and some specimens were sent to the Paris Exhibition.

Colonel Chamberlain had the cobs dried in the sun after being picked, Mr. Buck therefore thinks that considerable care is necessary to give any hope of success such as that which resulted from Colonel Chamberlain's experiment. He doubts whether the cultivation of maize could ever be attempted with success in hill villages; for some plants which were raised by Mr. Troup in Kumaun were entirely destroyed by bears.

"Colonel Chamberlain," he adds "(though justly proud of the success of his attempt, and sanguine of the results to accrue from it), recommends that the maize should be used, if possible, to improve the ordinary maize of the hills, by being crossed with it; the hybrid might be stronger and less delicate, while preserving many of the advantages of the Cuzco variety."

He says that an experimental cultivation will be attempted this year at Chijauri a garden (connected with the Saharanpur Botanical Gardens) situated half-way down the valley behind Mussoorie. Colonel Chamberlain's garden has been taken over by the Agriculture and Commerce Department, together with all the seed he had (38 seers).

In reporting on the sugar-producing qualities of the maize, Mr. Buck has confined himself to Colonel Chamberlain's report, because he alone had the raw sugar refined, and was, therefore, Mr. Buck thinks, able to give a satisfactory opinion on the quality of the sugar produced. Colonel Chamberlain, he says, pressed out $8\frac{1}{2}$ maunds of the stems in a Behea Sugar Mill; the juice, when boiled down, gave 15 seers of raw sugar or gurh. The stems had suffered from the frost before the sugar mill was obtained, and the method of boiling was not well understood, otherwise a larger quantity of raw sugar would, he thinks, have been obtained. The gurh was sent to Mr. Powell of the Rosa Sugar Mills at Shahjahanpur, who superintended its refining. The refining resulted in his obtaining 4 lbs. of dark brown sugar, and 4 bottles of proof spirit. Mr. Powell says in his report that the gurh seemed to have been partially burnt in the making; and Mr. Buck thinks that it is owing to this cause that the quantity of sugar obtained is far smaller than was anticipated.

In conclusion he says:—

"The results, however, have a marketable value, though it seems doubtful whether it would ever pay people to grow Cuzco maize merely for the sake of the sugar it yields. The quantity of raw sugar yielded by the weight ($8\frac{1}{2}$ maunds) of stems pressed is only $\frac{1}{4}$ th of what the same weight of sugarcane would have given. Of course, the fact must be taken into consideration that the sugar yielded by the Cuzco maize is an extra product, an addition to the grain for the sake of which it would be chiefly cultivated."

Secretary to Government of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE, AGRICULTURE AND COMMERCE.

REPORT OF WEATHER IN INDIA FOR THE WEEK ENDING THURSDAY, JULY 25TH, 1878.

Friday, 19th July.—The barometer has fallen at all stations, except Cochin and Colombo. The decrease of pressure averages $\cdot 05''$ over Bengal, Behar, the North-Western Provinces, the Central Provinces, the Berars, Rajputana, Central India, and Bombay. The fall is greatest along the west frontier of the Punjab, and in Upper Sind: it is absolutely greatest at Dera Ismail Khan, where it amounts to $\cdot 126''$.

The pressure at Calcutta and Saugor Island is $\cdot 05''$ in excess of the normal amount: in Assam it is $\cdot 05''$ in excess: in Behar and the North-Western Provinces it is from $\cdot 02''$ to $\cdot 04''$ in excess: at Bombay it is $\cdot 1''$ in defect, at Belgaum $\cdot 13''$, at Bangalore $\cdot 08''$, at Bellary $\cdot 07''$, and at Madras $\cdot 13''$. It is, on the other hand, slightly in excess in Ceylon and Southern India.

The distribution of pressure thus presents nearly the same features as it did three weeks ago. The pressure is generally above the average over the whole of India. This excess of pressure is most marked at the north-west angle of the Bay. The pressure in Western India and the Deccan is, on the other hand, relatively in defect.

The temperature is excessive in the North-Western Provinces, the Punjab, Sind, and Rajputana. The highest temperatures were registered at the same stations as yesterday. The temperature at 10 A.M. to-day at Jacobabad was $103^{\circ} 3'$, and at Mooltan 102° .

The wind directions are generally becoming normal. At several of the coast stations of the Bay of Bengal they are unusual. The wind is not so strong to-day as it was yesterday at Diamond Island.

The sky is free from cloud at the majority of the Punjab stations. In the North-Western Provinces and the Central Provinces the amount of cloud is small, and the weather fine with passing clouds. In the other provinces the sky is generally well clouded.

The rainfall of the past 24 hours has been very small in amount. Light showers have fallen in Bengal, Bombay, the Berars, the Deccan, and at stations in the Madras Presidency. Rainfalls exceeding 1 inch are reported at Rajkot ($1\cdot 03$ inches), Cochin ($1\cdot 04$ inches), and Cuddapah ($1\cdot 6$ inches).

Saturday, 20th July.—The barometer has fallen during the previous 24 hours at all stations except those in the Deccan and Western Punjab. The fall is greatest in the North-Western Provinces, and along the north-west coast of the Bay of Bengal, where it slightly exceeds $\cdot 05''$.

The pressure along the coast of the Bay of Bengal is lowest to-day at Vizagapatam.

The temperature registered at Jacobabad this morning at 10 A.M. was $105^{\circ} 8'$, and at Mooltan 103° . It is also excessive at Agra and Allahabad in the North-Western Provinces.

The wind velocity has increased at the majority of stations. The increase is most marked at Dacca, Bombay, and the stations in the Deccan.

The wind directions are generally normal. There is a tendency to cyclonic motion round the area of barometric depression, the centre of which is probably in the Bay of Bengal near Vizagapatam.

The sky is unclouded in the Punjab, the western districts of the North-Western Provinces, and Upper Sind.

The rainfall of the preceding 24 hours has been moderate in amount. $5\cdot 15$ inches at Rungpore, and $1\cdot 57$ inches at Purneah, indicate that Northern Bengal is receiving fair rain. $1\cdot 57$ inches have fallen at Hazaribagh, and $\cdot 59$ inch at Patna in the Behar area of rainfall. In Western India $1\cdot 44$ inches were registered at Bombay this morning, $1\cdot 47$ inches at Poona, and $1\cdot 31$ inches at Khandwa.

Light showers have fallen at the majority of the Madras stations.

Sunday, 21st July.—The barometer has risen at the majority of stations. The increase of pressure ranges from $\cdot 05''$ to $\cdot 10''$ in the Deccan, Bombay, Central Provinces, Sind, and the North-Western Provinces. It is least in the Punjab.

The temperature is diminishing in Upper India. The thermometer registered 103° at Mooltan at 10 A.M. to-day, and $103^{\circ} 8'$ at Jacobabad.

The wind directions in Bengal are nearly normal. Easterly winds prevail over the whole of the Gangetic Valley. The wind velocity in Southern India and the Deccan is now up to the average.

The sky is generally clouded except in the Western Punjab and Upper Sind.

Moderate rain has fallen during the day in Arracan, Assam, Northern Bengal, and Behar. The chief rainfalls are: Akyab $1\cdot 77$ inches, Silchar $1\cdot 06$ inches, Goalpara $1\cdot 52$ inches, Rungpore $1\cdot 07$ inches, and Hazaribagh $\cdot 84$ inch. Light showers fell at Roorkee and Benares in the North-Western Provinces. A fall of $1\cdot 2$ inches is reported from Fyzabad.

Fair rain has fallen at Bombay, in the Berars, and the Central Provinces: 2·63 inches were registered at Bombay to-day, 1·28 inches at Nagpore, 1·05 inches at Khandwa, and ·99 inch at Akola.

Light showers continue to fall at the majority of the Madras stations; the heaviest, giving ·7 inch rain, occurred at Vizagapatam.

Monday, 22nd July.—The barometer has risen during the past 24 hours over the greater part of India. It has fallen along the coast of the Bay of Bengal from Masulipatam to Diamond Island, and in the Central Provinces, the Berars, and Hyderabad. The decrease of pressure is greatest at Rangoon, and probably Diamond Island. The pressure along the coast of the Bay of Bengal is lowest at Vizagapatam.

The distribution of pressure round the coast of the Bay, and the wind directions at the coast stations, indicate an area of low pressure in the Bay, around which the air is moving in the usual cyclonic direction, and over which there is probably heavy rainfall.

The pressure has also fallen slightly at Peshawur, and at Cochin and Colombo.

The increase of pressure in the remaining districts is comparatively small in amount.

The temperature has diminished at the majority of stations. This is most marked in the North-Western Provinces and the Deccan. The highest temperatures recorded this morning were 101° at Peshawur, 100·3° at Jacobabad, and 100° at Mooltan.

The wind is strong at the head of the Arabian Sea. The wind velocity during the preceding 24 hours averaged 25 miles per hour at Kurrachee and Bombay. The wind velocity at the head of the Bay of Bengal is to-day below its normal amount. It is quite up to the average in the Deccan and Central India.

The chief feature in the wind directions this morning is the feeble cyclonic motion about the centre of barometric depression in the Bay of Bengal east of Vizagapatam.

There has been a general increase of humidity, during the preceding 24 hours, over the whole of India, but more especially in Upper India and the Deccan. The only stations to-day at which the sky is clear were Dera Ismail Khan and Peshawur.

The sky is generally overcast, and, at several of the stations in the North-Western Provinces, the clouds are low and the weather threatening.

The rainfall of the preceding 24 hours has been generally moderate in amount, but is spread over a larger area than yesterday. Light showers have fallen in Bengal. Rain is extending to the North-Western Provinces; Barcilly, as hitherto, receiving the largest amount: 1·95 inches were registered at that station to-day.

The only heavy rainfall reported from Western India is 2·22 inches at Bombay. Light showers fell in Central India, the Berars, and Central Provinces.

Madras and Southern India continue to receive moderate rainfall: 2·07 inches were recorded this morning at Hyderabad, ·25 inch at Bellary, ·2 inch at Vizagapatam, and ·15 inch at Madras.

Tuesday, 23rd July.—The barometer has fallen over the whole of India, except in the Punjab and the western districts of the North-Western Provinces.

The decrease of pressure exceeds ·05" over a narrow area stretching across the peninsula from Kurrachee and Bombay to Eastern Bengal. It is greatest at Cuttack (where it amounts to ·112") and the neighbouring stations.

The area of low pressure, and of feeble cyclonic motion, in the Bay of Bengal, east of Vizagapatam yesterday morning, advanced slowly westwards during the day. The centre was probably midway between Cuttack and Vizagapatam at 10 A.M. to-day. The pressure at the centre was probably 29·500", and therefore from ·075" to ·1" less than it was in the North-Western Provinces.

The increase of pressure in Upper India during the preceding 24 hours was insignificant in amount.

The temperature was nowhere excessive at 10 A.M., except at Jacobabad, where it was 102·3°, and at Mooltan, where it was 102°.

The wind continues strong along the coast of Sind, Guzerat, and Bombay. Easterly winds are now re-established over the whole of the Gangetic Valley, and in the western districts of the Punjab.

The cyclonic motion about the area of low pressure along the Orissa coast is very clearly marked to-day, and extends north to Hazaribagh and west to Nagpore. The wind velocity is generally small in amount.

The sky is more or less clouded at every station. It is overcast in Bengal, Behar, Bombay, Orissa, Ganjam, the Deccan, and Southern India.

Heavy rain has fallen in the southern quadrant of the barometric depression in Orissa: 5·6 inches were registered at Vizagapatam to-day, and 4·5 inches at Masulipatam. The rainfall in the northern quadrant was smaller in amount: ·9 inch fell at Cuttack up to 10 A.M., 1·02 inches at Saugor Island, ·87 inch at Chitterpore in Ganjam, and 1·28 inches at Dacca.

3·7 inches fell at Akyab during the day.

Western India and the Deccan have received fair rain during the day: 4·10 inches were recorded to-day at Bombay, 1·33 inches at Surat, 1·10 inches at Rajkot, and ·57 inch at Jubbulpore.

The following are the heaviest falls reported from the Deccan to-day :—Cuddapah 1·7 inches, Hyderabad 1·34 inches, ·6 inch at Bangalore, ·28 inch at Bellary, and ·27 inch at Madras.

Wednesday, 24th July.—The changes of pressure have been generally small in amount, except at the Punjab stations. The pressure has decreased in Sind, Guzerat, Rajputana, the North-Western Provinces, Behar, Orissa, the Central Provinces, and the Deccan. It has increased in the Punjab, the Berars, Southern India, and along the Madras and Ganjam coasts.

There is a narrow belt of low pressure stretching across the head of the peninsula from the coast of Orissa to Upper Sind: near the eastern extremity is the local depression which advanced from the Bay of Bengal to the coast of Ganjam yesterday morning. Its centre to-day at 10 A.M. was probably west of Cuttack. The pressure at that station was very low this morning—one-tenth of an inch lower than what it was at Lahore or Roorkee.

The temperature at Mooltan at 10 A.M. to-day was 104°, and at Jacobabad 100·8°. The temperature is again increasing at stations in the North-Western Provinces. It has diminished at the majority of the Punjab stations.

Strong winds continue along the west coast of India. The wind is much above its normal strength at Colombo. The wind directions in the Deccan and Southern India are generally normal.

The cyclonic motion about the centre of low pressure in Orissa has been much stronger during the past 24 hours. Easterly winds continue over the whole of the North-Western Provinces, and the wind velocity is greater than what it has hitherto been.

The sky is overcast in Arracan, Bengal, Behar, Bombay, the Berars, the Central Provinces, Orissa, and the Deccan.

The sky is less clouded in the North-Western Provinces to-day than it was yesterday.

Western India, the Central Provinces, and the Deccan have received general rainfall during the preceding 24 hours. The more important rainfalls were: 1·42 inches at Rajkot, 4·59 inches at Bombay, 1·75 inches at Nagpore, 1·35 inches at Raichore, and 1 inch at Shahabad.

Moderate rain has fallen in Ganjam, Orissa, and Bengal: Saugor Island received 1·33 inches of rain, Cuttack ·85 inch, and Chitterpore ·8 inch.

Heavy rain fell at the hill stations of Mussoorie and Simla, and over a tract extending along the base of the hills from Umballa to Jullundur. 3·23 inches were recorded at Mussoorie, 1·21 inches at Simla, 3·5 inches at Ludiana, and 1·5 inches at Jullundur.

Thursday, 25th July.—The barometer has fallen during the preceding 24 hours in Northern India, and has risen in Central and Southern India. The changes are generally small in amount, except in Orissa and the Central Provinces. The area of barometric depression, the centre of which was near Cuttack yesterday morning, has now filled up with the cessation of rainfall.

The pressure is lower to-day at Allahabad than at the surrounding stations.

The relative distribution of pressure has altered considerably during the past three days. The pressure at Colombo is normal in amount. In the Bombay and Madras Presidencies, the Deccan, and the Central Provinces it is in defect by amounts varying from ·07" at Madras to ·02" at Nagpore.

It is also in defect over Southern and Western Bengal, and in Behar: the high pressure at the north-west angle of the Bay has for the present disappeared. It is, on the other hand, above the average in Assam, Eastern Bengal, the North-Western Provinces, and the western districts of the Punjab.

The temperature is excessive in Upper Sind: the thermometer registered 105·3° at Jacobabad at 10 A.M. to-day. The temperature is below the average over the whole of Central and Southern India, and in Bengal, by amounts ranging from 1° to 6°. In Behar, the North-Western Provinces, and the Punjab it is from 3° to 5° in excess.

The wind directions are normal in Central and Southern India, and the velocity slightly below the average. In Northern India, strong easterly winds prevail at all stations from Goalpara and Silchar west to Agra. The wind velocity over this area is about fifty per cent. above its normal amount.

The sky is overcast in Arracan, Bengal, Behar, the Central Provinces, and Bombay. It was clear at Lahore and Mooltan this morning. It is slightly more clouded in the North-Western Provinces than yesterday, and the weather is threatening.

Fair rain has fallen over the whole of Bengal, and Arracan, and more especially in the south-western districts of Bengal, where it has hitherto been scanty. 3·68 inches fell at Akyab during the day, 2·37 inches at Chittagong, 1·35 inches at Dacca, and 1·32 inches at Calcutta. Light showers occurred in Orissa and Northern Bengal.

Upper India received no rain during the day.

Bombay, Central India, the Central Provinces, the Berars, and Hyderabad received moderate rain during the preceding 24 hours. The weather over the greater part of this area was gloomy, and the rain continuous although not heavy. The chief rainfalls were: 1·67 inches at Bombay, 1·32 inches at Surat, 1·02 inches at Neemuch, ·7 inch at Indore, ·48 inch at Jubbulpore, and ·9 inch at Shahabad.

General Summary.—The barometric range over India has been during the whole week above the average. It has varied from 43° to 46° . There has been also during the week a steady moisture current, which has given good rain to Central and Southern India.

The chief feature of the past week was the formation of a feeble cyclonic disturbance in the Bay of Bengal to the east of Vizagapatam. This was most probably due to rainfall in the Bay, of which strong south-westerly winds and heavy rainfall at Colombo and the south-west of Ceylon, are an almost invariable precursor. This began to affect the pressure along the West Coast of the Bay on the 19th. The pressure at Vizagapatam diminished more rapidly than at the other coast stations, and continued unusually low until the 22nd, when the centre reached the coast of Ganjam to the north of Vizagapatam. The centre advanced to the North-West, past Cuttack, and gradually disappeared on the 24th.

The advance of this disturbance gave very heavy rain to the coast region from Vizagapatam to Masulipatam. 5·6 inches fell during the 24 hours preceding 10 A.M. of the 23rd, and 4·5 inches at Masulipatam.

The feeble cyclonic disturbance has, for the present, altered the distribution of pressure in Bengal, and has apparently caused the indraught of a strong moisture current to Southern and Western Bengal, and to Orissa. This has given satisfactory rainfall to the districts in South-Western Bengal and Orissa, where it has hitherto been considerably below the average.

Accompanying the indraught to Bengal was a strong easterly current up the Gangetic valley.

This on the 23rd gave heavy rainfall to the two hill stations of Simla and Mussoorie, and to the Sub-Himalayan districts from Umballa to Jullundur. The easterly current was on the 25th from ten to a hundred per cent. above its average strength in the North-Western Provinces.

The following table gives the rainfall at the reporting stations in Arracan, Assam, Bengal, Orissa, Behar, the North-West Provinces, and the Punjab (which usually receive rain from the Bay of Bengal moisture current) from the 1st to the 25th of July and the averages for the month:—

			Rainfall in inches from July 1st to 25th.	Average rainfall, July.				Rainfall in inches from July 1st to 25th.	Average rainfall, July.
Akyab	22·35	52·79	Allahabad	8·76	12·04
Chittagong	22·35	22·17	Lucknow	5·31	14·10
Dacca	13·71	11·64	Agra	7·40	8·86
Bungpore	33·17	16·65	Bareilly	19·98	15·20
Purneah	12·89	14·90	Fatehgarh	8·0	9·83
Silchar	16·92	22·65	Aligarh	6·0	8·21
Sibsagar	11·02	16·07	Shahjehanpore	20·7	12·50
Goalpara	14·62	18·44	Cawnpore	4·0	9·24
Calcutta	5·15	13·23	Fyzabad	9·4	15·31
Cuttack	6·65	12·32	Roorkee	11·37	12·65
Hazaribagh	8·67	13·06	Delhi	7·18	7·41
Patna	12·44	9·77	Lahore	3·97	6·29
Mozufferpore	8·23	10·61	Rawal Pindi	7·23	8·28
Benares	2·65	12·67

The above shows that the rainfall has been excessive in amount in Northern Bengal. South-Western Bengal and the Eastern divisions of the North-Western Provinces are the only districts which have received rainfall much below the average.

Over Central and Southern India the rainfall during the week has been very considerable, and has brought up the rainfall of the present month generally above the average.

The following table gives similar information to the preceding for the Bombay and Madras Presidencies, the Berars, Central India, the Central Provinces, and the Deccan, which derive their July rain mainly from the moisture current of the Arabian Sea:—

			Rainfall from July 1st to 25th.	Average rainfall, July.				Rainfall from July 1st to 25th.	Average rainfall, July.
Rajkot	7·99	8·37	Khandwa	10·59	10·85
Deesa	2·83	8·71	Nagpore	14·47	12·55
Bombay	46·05	24·80	Vizagapatam	7·50	4·88
Akola	6·42	6·84	Masulipatam	18·76	5·59
Belgaum	8·22	15·03	Bellary	4·03	1·01
Poona	8·33	7·01	Bangalore	7·41	3·75
Sholapore	5·59	4·21	Madras	4·27	3·81
Ahmedabad	7·06	10·15	Hyderabad	11·34	5·65
Indore	10·63	?	Cuddapah	15·58	3·21
Neemuch	6·42	11·50	Coimbatore	1·63	1·32
Jubbulpore	6·61	18·41	Madura	1·01	1·60

The table indicates most clearly that over the greater part of this area the rainfall has been excessive. The only stations at which the rainfall is markedly deficient, are Jubbulpore and Deesa.

REPORTS ON THE STATE OF THE SEASON AND PROSPECTS OF THE CROPS FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 23RD JULY 1878.

GENERAL REMARKS.—Rain has fallen in all districts of Madras; more than an inch is reported from every district except Tinnevely, Madura, South Arcot, and Salem: in Kistna and Godavery the rain is said to have been excessive in some places; general prospects have slightly improved; prices are fluctuating, with a downward tendency, in a few places. The total number on relief works is 134,354, and on gratuitous relief 76,770, less by 3,417 and 2,319 than last week respectively. Rain has fallen throughout Mysore, and the crops have been greatly benefited; sowing operations are actively progressing; prospects are generally more favourable, but prices are rising in Mysore, Kadur and Shimoga. The number on works for the week ending the 18th instant was 32,905, and gratuitously relieved 13,595, less by 3,701 and more by 994 than in the previous week. Very heavy rain has fallen in the Konkan districts of Bombay, and excellent rain throughout the Deccan, Guzerat, Kattywar, and the greater part of the Southern Mahratta Country; some damage has been caused by floods in Sind; prospects are generally favourable. Rain is reported from all districts of the Central Provinces except Mandla; it was light in Sambalpur, Sironcha, Bálaghát, Bhandára, Jubbulpore and Damoh, and more is required there: prospects are good. There has been good rain in Berar. In Central India there has been a general fall, but the quantity was deficient at Nowgong (Bundelkhand), Rutlum and Ágar; rain is much wanted in Gwalior and Bundelkhand. In Rajputana rain is reported from all stations except Sirohi, Marwar, Bickaneer and Harowtee; prospects appear to be generally favourable. In Bengal the rainfall has been excessive in Jalpaiguri, Cooch Behar and Rungpore, and parts of Bogra and Pubna; it has been insufficient in the Burdwan and parts of the Presidency division, and in parts of Orissa and Chota Nagpore more is wanted; elsewhere prospects are generally favourable. In Assam damage to the rice has been caused by floods in the Valley districts; otherwise prospects are good. Good rain appears from the district reports to have fallen in most districts of Burma except Amherst; scanty falls are also reported from Akyab, Shwegyeen, Salween and Tounghoo: the summary however states that complaints of want of rain are general, and ploughing has been stopped in consequence. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh the rainfall during the week was slight and partial, except at Bareilly and Fyzabad; more is much needed. In the Punjab the only rainfall reported is slight showers at Hissar, Jullundur and Dera Ismail Khan, but later intelligence announces good falls at Umballa, Ludhiana and Jullundur; rain is generally wanted.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

FAMINE.

RELIEF-WORKS IN THE NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES AND OUDH.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Public Works Department, (Famine), No. 1381, dated 22nd July 1878.

IN August 1877, the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh reported that, by reason of the shortness of the early rains, the autumn crops had failed over nearly all the territories subject to his control. During the month of September 1877, local relief-works were opened in several districts; and it was arranged that, in case the later rains should also fail, a sufficient number of useful works in all parts of the provinces should be prepared for execution by relief-labourers under engineering supervision. In October, a scheme of such works was submitted to the Government of India. But happily a bountiful rainfall at the end of the rainy season secured a good spring crop all over the country; the cheap autumn grains, which form the staple food of the poorer classes, were, indeed, dear and scarce; but the cheap spring grains were obtainable at prices ranging from 16 to 22 seers a rupee; and the scarcity and distress did not deepen into famine. From time to time, local relief-works were opened in several districts; and, in some places, relief-works have been kept open throughout the past nine months.

2. The pressure caused by the loss of the autumn crop of 1877 had severely tried the people of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh. The grain stocks of the country, greatly depleted by the demand for South India during 1876 and 1877, had not been replenished during the season of 1877-78; and it was felt that, if the autumn crop of 1878 should unhappily fail, prices might become very high, distress be wide-spread, and relief operations needed on a large scale. With a view to being prepared for any emergency, the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh appointed a Committee of Engineer officers, whose duty was to prepare, under the general supervision of the Chief Engineer, Colonel A. Fraser, C.B., a complete scheme of useful relief-works for the whole of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh. This Committee finished their work by the end of June; their programme has been accepted by the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor; Colonel Fraser, and Mr. W. Furnivall, the President of the Committee, have visited the head-quarters of the Government of India, and have laid their scheme of relief-works in all its details before the Governor-General in Council. The scheme has been examined in the Public Works Department, and also in the Financial Department, and has now been considered by His Excellency the Governor General in Council.

3. The problem before the local Government was to provide, in each locality, a sufficient number of useful works, for which complete plans and estimates were ready, or could shortly be prepared. The population of the provinces exceeds 42 millions. The Committee considered that the maximum time for which relief-works need be contemplated was about 200 days; for, although, in case of serious failure of the rains, it might be necessary to continue relief operations beyond seven months, yet the number of relief-labourers, at the beginning and at the end of the period, would be comparatively small. The Committee estimated that, when sufficient allowance is made for extra establishments, inefficient gangs, hospitals and gratuitous relief to infirm and infant members of families, and for the miscellaneous requirements of a large relief system, the work done by relief-labourers may cost as much as three times the estimated cost of such work in ordinary times. On this basis they have prepared four schedules of relief-works for varying degrees of intensity of distress.

4. The first, or lightest schedule, provides work for 1,770,795 people on—

	At ordinary rates.	At famine rates.
	Rs.	Rs.
road-works, costing	32,28,553	96,85,660
railway-works, „	17,15,422	51,46,266
irrigation and drainage-works	42,90,109	1,28,70,327
Total	92,34,084	2,77,02,253

4·21 per cent. of the total population could be employed on these works for 200 days; the percentage of the population for which work is thus provided ranges from 1·68 in the Benares division to 7·58 in the Agra, 8·22 in the Secta-pore, and 17·49 in the Jhansi division.

Detailed plans and estimates for all the works in this schedule have been prepared, and have, save in the case of the Sarda canal and the railway projects, been sanctioned by competent authority. The Sarda canal stands for 24½ lakhs out of the 43 lakhs of estimated irrigation-works. The railway projects comprise the Cawnpore and Furrukabad line.

Muttra and Achneyra „
Banda and Manikpore „
Cawnpore and Mowrampore „
Dildarnuggur branch „
Lucknow and Rai Bareilly „
Bareilly and Philibet „ or from 400 to 450 miles in all. The estimated cost of the work available for famine labour on these lines, at ordinary rates, is about 17 lakhs. The cost of these narrow-gauge lines, according to the (as yet unsanctioned) estimates, would, under ordinary circumstances, be from Rs. 35,000 to Rs. 40,000 per mile, inclusive of rolling-stock. The local Government is to be responsible for finding the interest on the normal cost of these lines from provincial resources.

5. The second schedule comprises, in addition to the works shown in the first schedule, an estimated expenditure on the

	Rs.
Sarda canal of	70,13,107
Eastern Kallee Nuddee drainage project of	13,95,664
Minor projects	73,751
Total	84,82,522
Or, at famine rates of expenditure	2,51,47,566

The works in the first and second schedules will, it is estimated, employ at one time 2,388,939 persons, or 5·77 of the total population. The proportion of the population that can be employed at one time does not rise in proportion to the cost of the works, because on such a work as the Sarda canal a limited number of people only can be usefully employed at one time; and, therefore, the whole of the work shown in this schedule could not be completed in 200 days. Plans and estimates for works in the schedule are prepared, but have not been sanctioned.

6. The third schedule comprises, in addition to the works in the two previously mentioned schedules, the Estimated cost.

		Rs.
Cawnpore and Allahabad navigation canal	...	7,54,002
Ken canal	...	12,96,874
Betwa canal	...	5,08,934
Minor irrigation and drainage-works	...	2,66,832
Total		28,26,642
Or, at famine rates	...	84,79,926

The works in the three schedules will employ at one time 2,761,667 people, or 6·57 of the total population. Plans and estimates for these works are mostly ready, but have not been sanctioned.

7. The fourth schedule comprises the following additional works, namely:—

		Estimated expenditure.
		Rs.
Sarda canal	...	98,71,265
Banbassa canal	...	10,44,170
Philibeet canal	...	4,52,735
West Ranganga canal	...	4,34,000
Deepening jheels	...	1,00,000
Minor projects	...	40,000
Total		1,19,42,170
Or, at famine rates	...	3,58,26,510

The totals of all four schedules provide for—

An estimated expenditure at ordinary rates of Rs. 3,24,85,418, or 3¼ millions sterling.
 " " " famine " " 9,74,56,254, or 9¾ " "
 Employing for 200 days not less than 3,879,741 people, or 9·23 per cent. of the total population.

The percentage of the population for whom work is provided in the different divisions, ranges from 1·92 in Kumaon and 2·65 in Benares, to 13·55 in Agra, 22·12 in Secapore, and 26·77 in Jhansi.

8. His Excellency the Governor General in Council considers that the whole scheme has been prepared with much judgment and foresight, and that it has been worked out with a completeness and skill which do the greatest credit to the local Government, and to its officers, Colonel Fraser and Mr. Furnivall.

If wide-spread famine should unhappily occur in the North-Western Provinces, a beginning might properly be made on some such scheme of works. The method suggested for arranging the distribution of relief-works, and for keeping them in check, seems very judicious; and the Government of India confidently hope that, with such arrangements and supervision, the expenditure on relief-works would, under any circumstances, be kept far within the Committee's estimate of thrice the ordinary cost. At present, however, the Governor General in Council does not anticipate the necessity for any such expenditure as even, the first, or lightest schedule, would involve. Up to the middle of July the prospects of the autumn crop were reported to be "good" all over the North-Western Provinces and Oudh; and a brief cessation of the rains was required by the farmers. That cessation has come; and the numbers on the relief-works, 146,000 at the highest, have already considerably diminished. Unless rain is withheld during the remainder of July and during the first half of August, there can be little risk of a general failure of the autumn crops; and, in any case, the Government would have some weeks of warning, before great crowds come to the relief-works.

9. It will be understood that, if famine should come, the works in the first, or lightest schedule, are those to be first taken up. But large works, which, under ordinary circumstances, require the sanction of the Government of India or of Her Majesty's Secretary of State, should not be begun without such sanction. It can hardly be possible that any such sudden emergency could arise as to render it necessary to begin works of these classes without previous sanction; and, in the event of continued and increasing pressure, needful attention should be given to the preliminary steps for obtaining it.

It will manifestly be desirable to take up the relief-works as much as possible in the order of their probable utility, subject to their giving the needful occupation to the population of the tracts where distress might actually arise.

10. The North-West Famine Code, which has been approved by the Government of India, shows that the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor is fully alive to the paramount necessity of limiting relief operations to the bare wants of the people; and that he appreciates the need for applying such tests as the exaction of full work, the location of works at a sufficient distance from centres of population, and the restriction of the relief wages to an average subsistence rate. Unless such limitations and restrictions are placed, and maintained, on relief operations, there will not only be risk that the cost of famine relief in India may exceed the utmost resources of the Indian Treasury, but also danger of creating a pauper population taught to rely upon State relief for its support. In any case, even with the most carefully restricted relief administration, the strain on the public exchequer in the event of another year of famine would be extreme; and it would be necessary that its probable financial consequences should be watched from the outset with the greatest care.

SERVICE DONE BY MILITARY OFFICERS DURING THE RECENT FAMINE.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Public Works Department, (Famine), No. 1385, dated 26th July 1878.

DURING the famine of 1874, many officers, non-commissioned officers and men, belonging to the Army in Bengal, took an active part in the operations for the relief of famine, and did excellent service to the country and to the Government. When sore need for additional assistance was felt last year at the crisis of the famine in Madras and Mysore, officers of the Army were, with the permission of Their Excellencies the Commanders-in-Chief, invited to volunteer for famine-duty. Eighty officers responded to the invitation, and among them were represented the three Armies of India, and all branches of the Service.

2. Now that the work of the famine is nearly over, His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General in Council has much satisfaction in publishing the annexed extracts from the Proceedings of His Grace the Governor of Madras in Council, and of the Chief Commissioner of Mysore. The Governor General in Council cordially endorses the acknowledgments expressed in these papers to the gentlemen who have gallantly, under a trying climate, and in spite of disease, done a soldier's part in the campaign against famine.

The special thanks of the Government of India are due to the under-mentioned officers who served in Madras :—

Capt. R. Wilson, 13th Madras Infantry.
 " A. P. Broome, 18th Bengal Cavalry.
 " W. W. Biscoe, 19th Bengal Cavalry.

3. His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General in Council has been grieved to learn that the famine-duty has cost one gallant officer his life, and that a number of other officers have suffered severely in health. The Government of India hopes to grant, with the sanction of Her Majesty's Secretary of State, special concessions to officers who have suffered in health from their labours in the Madras Famine; the precise form which these concessions shall take will shortly be made known.

4. His Excellency the Governor General in Council will hereafter take opportunity to acknowledge the good service done, during the recent famine, by many officers, European and Native, belonging to the Public Works, Civil, Medical, Survey, Police, and other Departments.

COPY of the foregoing Resolution, with annexures, forwarded to the Military Department for information; and also for publication in the Gazette of India.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of Madras, Revenue Department (Famine), No. 1490, dated 8th July 1878.

The Army officers from all parts of India, who, having volunteered their services, were placed by the Military Department at the disposal of the Madras Government for famine-duty, having now re-joined their regiments, His Grace the Governor in Council desires to convey to those officers the thanks of Government, and to place on public record the appreciation of their valuable services during the past season.

2. Of those whose services commenced at the close of 1876 or early in 1877, the services of Captain R. Wilson, of the 13th Madras Native Infantry, who held charge of the Red Hills Camp for fifteen months; of Captains A. Broome and W. Biscoe, and of Lieutenant C. A. Mercer, of the Bengal Cavalry, who were employed in the trying climate of Kurnool, without intermission throughout the year; of Captain G. Vernon, 2-16th Foot, who had the difficult and fatiguing task of long and repeated marches from the Ceded Districts to the Nellore coast in charge of gangs of coolies for the canal-works; of Lieutenants Lockyer and Casey, of the Royal Artillery; of Lieutenant Money, of the Central India Horse; and of Captain C. Hackett, of the 5th Fusiliers—deserve especial commendation.

3. Amongst those who joined in the summer and autumn of 1877, the services of—

Lieutenant Haughton	10th Bengal Native Infantry.
„ Holmes	2-22nd Foot.
„ Williamson	18th Royal Irish.
Captain Stevenson	„ „

Proceedings of the Chief Commissioner of Mysore, dated 30th April 1878.Extract from the Farewell Minute by MR. C. A. ELLIOTT, C.S.I., Famine Commissioner, Mysore.

• Before I leave the province of Mysore, I desire, with the permission of the Chief Commissioner, to record my appreciation of the services which have been rendered to Government by its officers, or which have been voluntarily tendered by non-official gentlemen, during the famine which is now, I trust, near its close.

* * * * *

The second body of special relief officers consists of those who were placed at the disposal of this Government by the Bombay and Oudh Governments, and the Bengal Military Department, after the 1st September 1877. Their numbers have altogether been 27: they consisted of * * * * *, 10 officers of the Bombay Army, 7 of the Bengal Army,

* * * * *

The following officers have all been in charge of taluks, and have performed their duties so as to deserve my hearty thanks:—

Lieut.-Col. G. W. Holdsworth, Bengal Infantry.

Capt. F. D. Mander, 13th Bo. N.I.

„ W. Chard, 2-7th Royal Fusiliers.

Lieut. E. A. Mostyn, 2-7th Royal Fusiliers.

„ C. O. Nicholetts, 5th Bo. N.L.I.

„ W. J. Ofr, 25th Bo. N.I.

„ R. S. Simpson, 21st Bo. N.I.

„ S. C. F. Peile, 2nd (Q. O.) B.N.L.I.

„ C. W. Fitzgerald, 3rd B.N.I.

„ H. C. Lamb, 4th Bengal Cavalry.

Many of these officers suffered from severe illness, and yet, such was their devotion to the work, that the moment they felt able they returned to their duties without taking the time to recruit which in some instances I pressed them to take. Captain Chard, in particular, carried his zeal to such excess that, when at last he was forced to resign his post, his life was in serious danger.

Captain J. Healey, 66th Foot, and Lieutenant P. E. Anderson, 25th B.N.I., were in charge of important relief operations in the cantonment and town of Bangalore, which they executed with marked discretion and success. Captain Healey especially had the merit of so winning the regard of the Native gentlemen who formed his staff, that, in gratitude for his courtesy and cordiality, they presented him, on his departure, with an address of thanks. Their chief duty was to supervise the distribution of grain to the helpless poor, and the restoration to their former position of those who had lost their capital and their implements of trade.

* * * * *

The other subordinate officers who have done well enough to deserve mention in this place are the following:—

* * * * *

Jemadar Cheda Singh, 16th Bengal Cavalry, in charge of the special gang on the railway-works near Kingeri.

No. 3649.

The 13th July 1878.

(SEE PARTICULARLY REVISED INSURANCE RATES, WITH EFFECT FROM THE 1st AUGUST 1878.)

If it is desired to insure a registered letter or parcel—

Close the letter or parcel securely. If it is a letter, seal it in the centre and at the four corners of the envelope (which should be a substantial one) with distinct impressions of some device other than that of a current coin. If it is a parcel, pack it in cloth, wax-cloth, or tin, and if packed in cloth or wax-cloth, put similar seals at intervals not exceeding 3 inches along the lines of sewing.

Prepay the postage (as for a registered letter or figures immediately above the address, as in the sample given in the margin.

Present the letter or parcel at the post office

* Specimen of declaration.

This letter (or parcel) addressed to Major G. H. GRANTLEY, 15TH HUSSARS, Muttera, is declared by us, the senders, to contain the following articles, viz. :—
A gold ring, value ... Rs. 80
And currency note ... Rs. 20
No. 1246569 ... 20 20
Total value ... 100
Signature and Date.

window during registration hours with a declaration* of the nature and value of the contents, and with money to pay the insurance fee at the following rates (with effect from the 1st

August 1878) :—

When the value certified does not exceed Rs. 50 ... 2 annas.

When the value certified does not exceed Rs. 100 ... 4 annas.

and 4 annas for every additional Rs. 100 or fraction thereof.

The post office receipt will acknowledge the insurance.

The post office is prohibited by rule from receiving coin, bullion, precious stones or jewels, for transmission by post in either letters or parcels unless they are insured.

If it is desired that the value of the contents of a parcel should be recovered from the addressee and paid to the sender—

Close the parcel carefully and seal it as described above for insured parcels.

Present it at the post office window within registration hours with a memorandum containing—

The name and address of the sender in full.

The name and address of the addressee in full.

Value of the contents recoverable from the addressee.

Date of posting.

Prepayment of the parcel is optional.

The post office receipt will show the value recoverable from the addressee, and give all needful information with regard to the payment to the sender.

If it is desired to obtain an acknowledgment from the addressee of a registered article or parcel—

Fix additional stamps of the value of one anna on the registered article or the parcel, and present it at the post office window within registration hours, furnishing in writing or verbally the name and full address of the sender. The post office receipt will indicate that an acknowledgment is due.

If a certificate of posting is desired—

Write a copy of the address as given on the article on a slip of paper or in a book and affix a half-anna postage label to it. Present the article and the written copy of the address at the post office window at least half an hour before the hour fixed for closing the mail for which it is intended. The post office will stamp the written copy as a certificate of the posting of the article. This certificate will not obtain for the article any special security in transit; it is merely a certificate of posting, the article being treated like any other article put in the letter box. This rule does not apply to registered articles and parcels for which receipts are given.

OBSERVATIONS—

FOR many years past the Government of India have been anxious to equalise the burthen of salt taxation throughout the country. The rate of duty on salt has always been higher, and, until the beginning of this year, very much higher in the Bengal Presidency than in the Presidencies of Madras and Bombay. In April 1861, the duty in the Lower Provinces of Bengal stood at Rs. 3-4 per maund, and in the Upper Provinces at Rs. 3 per maund, while in the Presidencies of Madras and Bombay it was only Rs. 1-4 per maund.

2. In the Northern Provinces of India, moreover, the cost of salt was further relatively enhanced by the greater distances from the sources of supply, and the prices of the article to the consumer were consequently, on the whole, much higher than elsewhere.

3. The financial exigencies of the State did not admit of the loss of any part of the revenue derived from the salt-duties; and it became obvious that the only practicable way of reducing the excessive prices in Northern India was to equalise the duties throughout the whole country, for the great differences of which in the several Provinces there was no justification in principle.

4. In the five years ending 1877-78, the average annual quantity of salt taxed in British India was about 240 lakhs of maunds, and the average annual duty was about 6 crores of rupees, giving an average rate of Rs. 2-8 per maund. As the object of the Government was not to increase the total revenue from the salt-duty, but only to maintain the amount which had been previously realised, a rate of Rs. 2-8 per maund was taken for general adoption.

5. The duties in Madras and Bombay have accordingly been gradually raised, until, in December last, they were fixed at Rs. 2-8 per maund. At the same time, the duty in Bengal was reduced in the Lower Provinces to Rs. 3-2, and in the Upper Provinces to Rs. 2-12 per maund.

6. As announced in the Financial Statement of the present year, the Government of India has been in negotiation with the Native States of Rajputana and Central India, with a view to the adoption of measures which should admit of the abolition of the Inland Customs Line, the maintenance of which had been necessary to prevent the salt produced in those States from passing untaxed into Northern India, and to secure the full rate of duty on the importation of the less highly-taxed salt of the South, as well as the export duty on British sugar.

7. These negotiations have now been brought to a close, and the arrangements which will ensue will permit of the early removal of the Customs Line. The sugar-duties have already been abrogated, and the Government now finds itself in a position in which another important step may be taken towards the fulfilment of its policy of equalising the duties, by making a further reduction of 4 annas per maund in the Bengal Presidency. Thus, throughout the greater part of British India a uniform duty of Rs. 2-8 per maund has now been arrived at.

8. The Government of India is sensible that the changes in the rates of duty which have been necessary in carrying out its policy, could not be made without causing some disturbance in the salt-trade; and it takes the occasion of the present reduction of duty to announce that, so far as those provinces are concerned in which the duty has now been fixed at Rs. 2-8 per maund, the measure of equalisation may be regarded as complete and final, and that no further alteration is contemplated; the financial position of British India not admitting of the hope of a lower general rate than Rs. 2-8 per maund being adopted within any period that can now be foreseen.

9. The Governor General in Council thinks that this statement is desirable in the interests of the salt-trade, so that any uncertainty as to the future rate of duty on salt may be removed.

ORDERED, that the above Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.

ORDERED, that the above Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.

GENERAL.

The 4th June 1878.

No. 378.—The Governor General in Council is pleased to invite tenders for the lease of the Great Coco Island in the Bay of Bengal.

2. The lease will be for a period not exceeding 50 years: the exact proportion of gross produce payable as rent and the term, within the above maximum period, during which the rent offered shall be payable, are left to the tenderers.

3. In addition to the rent stipulated as payable, the lessee will be bound to defray the expense of maintaining peace in the island and on its coasts, and of the administration of civil and criminal justice. The amount of such expense cannot at present be stated; but the Government are prepared to fix a maximum of Rs. 20,000 annually, beyond which the lessee would not be charged with any expenditure on these objects. The Government will, from time to time, fix the cost of such establishments, and such cost the lessee will be required to defray quarterly in advance.

4. The Government reserve to themselves the administration of Civil and Criminal Justice, Customs, Excise, and other Departments of Government, and the lessee will be entitled only to the produce of the soil, and to an exclusive right of fishery for one mile from high water mark, and to the use for local requirements, and not for sale out of the island, of such timber as it produces, and of stone, lime, sand and other building materials.

5. The rent will be taken in kind and will consist of a fixed proportion not less than $\frac{1}{4}$ th of the gross produce of the island. In the case of cocoa-nuts, the fixed proportion must be delivered free at Port Blair or any other place in the Andamans that Government may from time to time direct, in the husk, in good condition and of good quality, and must have been gathered in such proportions at the times most suitable for the manufacture of coir and oil, respectively, as the Superintendent of Port Blair may from time to time require. In the case of other produce, delivery of which will be taken in the island, the Government may at any time require the lessee to commute the produce in kind for a money payment calculated at a rate 20 per cent. below the rate then ruling in the Rangoon market for similar produce of similar quality.

6. The number of living cocoa-nut trees on the island when it is transferred to the lessee will be ascertained, and the lessee will be bound under penalty to maintain at least that number of living cocoa-nut trees, at once planting and rearing young trees in place of those that may die, be blown down, or otherwise destroyed from time to time. The lessee is prohibited from cutting down any cocoa-nut trees without the written permission of the officer to whom Government may delegate authority to grant such permission.

7. The Government also reserve the right to appropriate sites on the island for public buildings, including dwelling houses for officials, sanitarium, &c., paying as compensation only the cost of any improvements effected on the site appropriated. Also to appropriate any timber of spontaneous growth, and any stone, lime, sand or other raw building materials existing in the island, required for such public buildings, enclosures, &c.

8. The Government also reserve a right to refuse their assent to any transfer of the lease of the island by the lessee for the time being. In the event of such power of refusal being exercised, the lessee will be entitled to claim that Government shall themselves take over the unexpired portion of the lease on a fair estimate of the value of the improvements effected by him or his predecessors.

9. Should the lessee in any way violate the provisions of the lease, or fail to pay the stipulated rent on the dates on which it falls due, or omit to take measures for the settlement and working of the island within a term of 2 years from the date of the lease, the Government will cancel the lease and re-enter on possession of the island, without compensation.

10. The Government do not bind themselves to accept the highest, or any, tender made in reply to this advertisement. Tenders should be addressed to the Local Government or Administration of the Province in which the persons tendering may live or carry on business, and will be forwarded by such Local Government or Administration, after such enquiries into the circumstances of the tenderer and his ability to carry out the terms of his tender as may seem proper, to the Government of India in the Department of Revenue, Agriculture and Commerce. Tenders from persons in the United Kingdom should be forwarded through the Secretary of State.

11. The deed of lease to the tenderer whose offer may be accepted will be prepared at his costs and charges in all things by the Government Solicitor, and upon any questions arising between the tenderer and Government in regard to the form of the lease, the opinion of the Advocate General shall be conclusive and equally binding on both parties.

12. Tenders must be sent in within a period of twelve months from the date of this advertisement.

COMMERCE AND TRADE.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The 18th June 1878.

No. 318.—In view to improving the means of communication with Assam, and assisting in the development of the trade of that Province, the Government of India desire the establishment of a line of fast steamers between Dibrugarh and some point near Dhubri, and hereby invite tenders for such a service on the following conditions:—

Conditions of Service.

2. The steamers shall have the following dimensions, and be of the following character:—

Length over all 150 to 200 feet. Speed through the water, 15 miles an hour. Draft, when loaded, not to exceed 3 feet. Accommodation in addition to that for officers and crew—

1st class passengers	4
2nd ditto	8
Coolies	100
Cargo, in addition to coal for 24 hours, steaming full power	10 tons.

Consumption of good English coal, when going full speed, not to exceed 8lb per indicated horse-power per hour.

The vessels shall have one flush deck covered with a wood and canvas roof.

The 1st and 2nd class passenger cabins shall be in a deck-house forward, and the passenger accommodation shall, as much as possible, be forward of the engines.

3. The lower terminus shall be at Dhubri, or such other place as may be rendered desirable by the opening of railway communication, a change in the course of the river, or other circumstances.

4. The upper terminus shall be at Dibrugarh. The intermediate stations shall be those at present touched at by steamers, or such others as commercial necessities, a change in the course of the river, or other circumstances, may, in the opinion of the Government of India, render desirable.

5. The upward journey between Dhubri as the lower terminus and Dibrugarh shall be made in five days, the downward journey in three and a half days; the time-table, subject to alteration by Government as may appear advisable, being as follows:—

UP.

Day 1st.—Anchor between Goal- para and Beshiaghat.
„ 2nd.—Gaubáti.
„ 3rd.—Tezpur.
„ 4th.—Niggri Ting.
„ 5th.—Dibrugarh.

DOWN.

Day 1st.—Dhunsirimukh.
„ 2nd.—Rangamati.
„ 3rd.—Goalpara.
„ 4th.—Dhubri (by noon).

Postal Service.

6. At first, the steamer service will only be used by the Postal Department for the carriage of parcel mails (estimated to average in weight three-fourths of a ton) and the servants in charge of them, and for this service proper accommodation will have to be provided. But, in the expectation of more frequent runnings hereafter, any Company tendering shall engage to carry, free of charge, if desired to do so at any time, the entire mail, both letter and parcel, and all servants necessary to its custody and service.

Detentions.

7. The Government of India and the Chief Commissioner of Assam shall, in the case of public necessity, have power to detain a steamer at any place.

8. And the Director-General of Post Offices in India shall have power, in the case of postal necessities, to detain a steamer at any place for a period not to exceed twenty-four hours.

Requisitions.

9. The Government of India, on payment for the same at a rate per ton to be determined, shall, in the case of public necessity, and upon giving seven days' notice, have power to take up the whole or any portion of the fleet of river steamers belonging to the party whose tender may be accepted.

Rates and fares.

10. The maximum fares for passengers shall be the sum of those shown in page 2 of the table published by the Rivers Steam Navigation Company, Limited, on the 1st October, 1874, plus Rs. 4 a day table-money for first-class passengers, and Rs. 2 a day for second-class passengers who desire to be fed on board, for the days occupied in the voyage to the place in question, taking six days for the entire upward and four days for the entire downward journey. Thus, the maximum passenger fare for a single berth in a cabin upwards between Dhubri and Dibrugarh shall be Rs. 83-3, being Rs. 59-3 for the passage, plus six days' table-money at Rs. 4 per day. Similarly, the downwards first-class fare shall be Rs. 55-8, being Rs. 39-8 for the passage, plus four days' table-money at Rs. 4 per day, and so on for other passenger fares. The maximum passenger fares thus fixed shall not be increased without the sanction of the Government of India.

11. Passengers shall be allowed the following baggage free:—

1st class	4 maunds.
2nd „	2 „
3rd „	1 maund.

Extra baggage shall be carried at 4th-class goods rate.

12. The maximum goods rates shall be those shown in the table of the Rivers Steam Navigation Company, Limited, on the 1st January 1874.

13. The goods rates shall not be raised beyond the maximum without the sanction of the Government of India.

Government Subsidy.

14. Exclusive of any payment which may be determined upon, as in paragraph 9 above, when any portion of the fleet is taken up by Government, the Government of India will, in consideration of the service performed under the conditions mentioned, pay for a period of five years a sum per trip, a trip being understood to be a journey from Dhubri or other terminus to Dibrugarh and back again.

15. Tenders must state the sum per trip for which the service required will be performed. The service will at first be twice a week. But it is to be understood that, if it shall hereafter be agreed between the Government of India and the party, if any, whose tender is accepted, to run more frequently, the extra service shall be performed on the same terms, and under the same conditions as the bi-weekly service.

16. Tenders must state distinctly the date by which parties tendering are prepared to enter upon the service required.

17. The Government of India require any party tendering to bind himself, under penalties for non-observance, to enter upon the service by a stated date, and to perform the service according to the conditions above specified. As regards unpunctuality, liability to penalty will be considered to commence when twenty-four hours beyond the periods mentioned in the time-table in paragraph 5 have elapsed.

18. Tenders, which will be received up to the 31st October 1878, should be submitted to the Local Government or Administration of the Province in which the tenderers are resident.

19. The Government of India do not bind themselves to accept the lowest or any tender.

PART IV.

Acts of the Governor General's Council assented to by the Governor General.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[First publication.]

The following Act of the Governor General of India in Council received the assent of His Excellency the Governor General on the 1st August 1878, and is hereby promulgated for general information:—

Act No. XIV of 1878.

An Act to assimilate certain powers of the Local Governments of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh.

WHEREAS the Lieutenant-Governorship of the North-Western Provinces and the Chief Commissionership of Oudh are now united under the administration of a single officer; and whereas it is expedient that, so long as such union continues, the powers of the Local Government of Oudh under the enactments hereinafter mentioned should resemble the powers of the Local Government of the North-Western Provinces under the same or like enactments; and whereas doubts have arisen as to the validity of certain acts done since the said union, and it is expedient to remove such doubts; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. In the Oudh Rent Act, 1868, sections 29, 85, 87 and 91, the following words shall be omitted (namely): "with the previous sanction of the Governor General of India in Council," "subject to any orders that may from time to time be issued by the Governor General in Council," "subject to any orders in this behalf that may from time to time be made by the Governor General of India in Council," and "with the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council."

Omissions from Act XIX of 1868.

2. For the first sentence of section 6 of the Prisons Act, 1870, the following shall be substituted (namely): "An Inspector General of Prisons shall be appointed in the North-Western Provinces, the Panjáb and Oudh by the Local Government, and in the Central Provinces and British Burma by the Governor General in Council."

Alteration of Act XXVI of 1870, section 6.

3. In the Oudh Civil Courts Act, 1871, section 5, for the words "The Governor General in Council shall fix," the following words shall be substituted (namely): "The Chief Commissioner, with the sanction of the Governor General in Council, shall fix."

Alteration of same Act, section 6.

In the first sentence of section 6 of the same Act, the words "Commissioners, Deputy Commissioners, Civil Judge of Lucknow and Assistant Commissioners" shall be omitted; and for the second sentence of the same section the following shall be substituted, that is to say: "The Commissioners, Deputy Commissioners, Assistant Commissioners, Extra Assistant Commissioners, Tahsildars and the Civil Judge of Lucknow shall be appointed by the Chief Commissioner."

Omission from section 10 of same Act.

In section 10 of the same Act, the following words shall be omitted (namely): "with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council."

Alteration of same Act, section 26, paragraphs 1 and 2.

In section 26, first paragraph, of the same Act, the words "with the sanction of the Governor General in Council" shall be omitted; and in the second paragraph of the same section, for the words "Governor General in Council," the words "Chief Commissioner" shall be substituted.

In section 32, last paragraph, of the same Act, the following words shall be omitted (namely): "with the sanction of the Governor General in Council."

Omission from section 32, last paragraph, of same Act.

In section 33, first paragraph, of the same Act, for the words "presiding officer of any Court under this Act," the words "Judicial Commissioner" shall be substituted; and in the second paragraph of the same section, for the words "by the Chief Commissioner, but shall not be removed without the sanction of the Governor General in Council," the words "or removed by the Chief Commissioner" shall be substituted.

Alteration of same Act, section 33, paragraphs 1 and 2.

4. In the Oudh Land-Revenue Act, 1876, section 4, the following words shall be omitted in both the places in which they occur (namely): "subject to such rules as the Governor General in Council may from time to time prescribe in this behalf;" and in sections 7 and 9 of the same Act the following words shall be omitted (namely): "subject to such rules as the Governor General in Council from time to time prescribes in this behalf;" and in sections 14, 19, 20, 51, 183, 212 and 220 of the same Act, the following words shall be omitted (namely): "with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council."

Omissions from Act XVII of 1876.

To section 43 of the same Act the following words shall be added (namely): "provided that in the case of settlements of individual mahals or parts of mahals, undertaken at other times than at the general settlement and sanctioned by the Chief Commissioner, such confirmation shall not be necessary."

Addition to same Act, section 43.

5. In section 39, first paragraph, of the Oudh Laws Act, 1876, the following words shall be omitted (namely): "with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council."

Omission from Act XVIII of 1876, section 39.

In section 45, first paragraph, of the same Act, after the word "and," the words "the Chief Commissioner" shall be inserted.

Amendment of section 45 of same Act.

6. For the purpose of the Prisoners Act, 1871, sections 30 and 31, and of the Reformatory Schools Act, 1876, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh shall be deemed to be subject to the same Local Government.

Modification of Act V of 1871, sections 30 and 31, and Act V of 1876.

7. No order issued, power conferred, act done or appointment or rule made by the Chief Commissioner of Oudh subsequent to the union of the Lieutenant-Governorship of the North-Western Provinces and the Chief Commissionership of Oudh which would have been valid if issued, conferred, done or made by, or with the sanction of, the Governor General in Council, shall be deemed to be invalid merely because it was not so issued, conferred, done or made.

Validation-clause.

8. This Act shall come into force on the passing thereof, and sections one to six (both inclusive) shall continue in force until the Governor General in Council, by notification in the Gazette of India, otherwise directs.

Commencement and continuance of this Act.

the post office window during registration hours with a declaration* of the nature and value of the contents, and with money to pay the insurance fee at the following rates (with effect from the 1st

August 1878) :—

When the value certified does not exceed Rs. 50 ... 2 annas.

When the value certified does not exceed Rs. 100 ... 4 annas, and 4 annas for every additional Rs. 100 or fraction thereof.

The post office receipt will acknowledge the insurance.

The post office is prohibited by rule from receiving coin, bullion, precious stones or jewels, for transmission by post in either letters or parcels unless they are insured.

If it is desired that the value of the contents of a parcel should be recovered from the addressee and paid to the sender—

Close the parcel carefully and seal it as described above for insured parcels.

Present it at the post office window within registration hours with a memorandum containing—

The name and address of the sender in full.

The name and address of the addressee in full.

Value of the contents recoverable from the addressee.

Date of posting.

Prepayment of the parcel is optional.

The post office receipt will show the value recoverable from the addressee, and give all needful information with regard to the payment to the sender.

If it is desired to obtain an acknowledgment from the addressee of a registered article or parcel—

Fix additional stamps of the value of one anna on the registered article or the parcel, and present it at the post office window within registration hours, furnishing in writing or verbally the name and full address of the sender. The post office receipt will indicate that an acknowledgment is due.

If a certificate of posting is desired—

Write a copy of the address as given on the article on a slip of paper or in a book and affix a half-anna postage label to it. Present the article and the written copy of the address at the post office window at least half an hour before the hour fixed for closing the mail for which it is intended. The post office will stamp the written copy as a certificate of the posting of the article. This certificate will not obtain for the article any special security in transit; it is merely a certificate of posting, the article being treated like any other article put in the letter box. This rule does not apply to registered articles and parcels for which receipts are given.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

PUBLISHED UNDER AUTHORITY.

The "Indian Law Reports," published under the authority of the Governor General in Council, will appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and will comprise four series,—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court will be reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court will be reported in the Calcutta Series. The Parts of each Series can be had separately, or all four Parts can be had stitched into one wrapper at the option of subscribers and purchasers. It will be observed from the following statement of the terms of subscription and sale, that a considerable reduction is allowed to persons taking the complete set :

Terms of subscription, payable annually in advance.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA. PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT. IRRIGATION.

REVENUE REPORT OF IRRIGATION WORKS IN GUZERAT AND THE BOMBAY DECCAN, FOR 1876-77.

Nos. 153-65I, dated Simla, the 4th July 1878.

Read—

A communication from the Government of Bombay, No. 280I, dated 16th April 1878, forwarding the above.

OBSERVATIONS—The report now received is the first of the kind which has been submitted by the Government of Bombay, and is full of interesting and detailed information regarding the various irrigation works in the Bombay Presidency (excluding Sind) for 1876-77 and preceding years. The Viceroy in Council hopes that in future a similar report on the irrigation operations of each official year will be punctually forwarded as it falls due. A careful record and intelligent discussion of the results of each year's operations are absolutely necessary for the correction of any mistakes and shortcomings that may occur in management, and for the accurate estimate of probable returns from projected works.

2. The report relates, in all, to 22 works, of which 14 are entirely new, having been undertaken and executed by the British Government, and 8 are improvements, extensions, or restorations of old native irrigation works. Of the latter, however, only 3 yielded any revenue previous to their improvement by Government. The works have been arranged in the report in geographical order, but it would in future be better to classify together works of a similar nature, comparing and explaining causes of difference in the results of the year's management.

3. Excluding from the account two old works (the Khāri irrigation sluices and Lower Pānjhāra river works) of which the revenue accounts are as yet incomplete, the total of capital outlay up to April 1st, 1876, amounted to Rs. 1,08,04,383; the assessments of direct and indirect revenue during 1876-77 to Rs. 1,36,645, and the working expenses of the same year to Rs. 1,01,894; leaving a surplus of assessments over working expenses of Rs. 34,751, and giving a net return of $\frac{1}{4}$ per cent. on the capital outlay at the commencement of the year.

4. Excluding as before the Khāri and Pānjhāra works, the irrigated area has steadily increased from 4,693 acres in 1872-73 to 16,902 acres in 1876-77, and there are indications throughout the report of a farther marked increase during 1877-78. The assessed revenue increased in like manner during the same years from Rs. 21,969 to Rs. 1,20,265.

5. Dividing the works broadly into two classes—

(1).—Those fed by rivers rising in the Western Ghāts, in which the supply of water during the "kharif" and early "rabi" seasons has never been known to fail, and it is shown that the area commanded by works of the first class during 1876-77 amounted to 132,339 acres, of which only about one-tenth, 13,762 acres, were actually irrigated, while 71,643 acres were commanded by works of the 2nd class, of which a little more than one-eighth, 9,039 acres, were watered.

(2).—Those dependent for their supply on the local rainfall;

6. The smallness of the area actually irrigated by works of the 1st class is attributed to the poverty, ignorance, and indebtedness of the cultivators, and to their extreme dislike of any change in their long established system of agriculture. There can be no doubt that time will gradually remove these hindrances to the spread of irrigation, powerful as they undoubtedly are, but from various notices scattered through the report, it is manifest that another most serious obstacle to the extended use of many of these works lies in the uncertainty or total failure of the supply during the spring and hot weather of the year. This must prohibit entirely the extended cultivation of sugarcane and perennial crops, of which the cheap and profitable irrigation forms one of the main attractions of a canal. This defect naturally suggests the advisability of establishing storage reservoirs for regulating the inequalities of the supply during the spring, and supplementing its deficiencies during the hot weather, the necessity for these reservoirs being, in some cases, increased by the increasing consumption of the limited hot weather volume by private water-courses higher up the river. But in establishing such reservoirs, special precautions will apparently be required to guard against the interception of water, stored at the expense of Government, by any private water-courses which may happen to be situated between the reservoir and the canal head. It is doubtful whether the necessity for such storage works would be removed by inducing the people to supplement the unavoidable shortcomings of a canal by well irrigation, as is suggested in para. 546 of the report, for in other parts of India it is found that men who commence irrigating a plot of land from a well rarely resort to the canal afterwards, except in cases of extreme drought when, in the particular cases under consideration, the canal would most probably be dry.

7. The enhancement of land revenue shown in para. 179 of the report as due to the operation of the Palkher Canal seems small when regard is had to the great increase in value of land that usually follows the introduction of canal irrigation. In the case of the lands benefited by the Múthá canals (see paras. 360 to 362 of report), the introduction of an owner's rate similar to that levied in like cases in the North-Western Provinces and the Punjab appears appropriate and advisable.

8. It is to be regretted that in some cases the average monthly discharges of the canal have not been recorded. These should, in future reports, be invariably given for all canals, and every effort should be made to ascertain the duty done by the water. The volume lost by percolation and expended in irrigation can be readily ascertained by deducting that passing out of escapes and at tail of canal from the volume entering the head, and the importance of ascertaining accurately what is the duty really done by the water can hardly be overrated. For instance, in all estimates of returns anticipated from canals proposed for execution in Guzerat and the Deccan, the duty for sugarcane and perennial crops is assumed at 100 acres per cubic foot per second of volume entering the head of canal. If however, as there seems good reason for supposing, the duty rarely attains 10 acres per cubic foot per second of volume entering the head of canal, the necessary reduction in estimated revenue may materially affect the question of returns from a project.

9. The revenue charges seem to require careful investigation. Where the net return on capital outlay is only $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent., reduction in cost of maintenance becomes of very pressing importance. As soon as the annual amounts likely to be, in future, available for construction of new works, become known, it will doubtless become possible to reduce charges for establishment to a reasonable proportion of the outlay on works and repairs.

The civil charges for collection of canal revenue appear excessively high, ranging, as a rule, between 10 and 20 per cent. of revenue collected. In one case, on the Múthá canal, they are as high as 29 $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. of the collections, while in the case of the Ekrúkh Tank (see para. 439 of report), Rs. 3,033 were actually debited to the work as collection charges, while the revenue credited amounted to only Rs. 2,348. The reason advanced for this extraordinary charge is that, owing to the famine, the cost of collecting the revenue of the Sholapur District was 81.85 per cent. of the revenue collected; Rs. 3,705 were collected for the tank and the above percentage charge on the collections, while certain refunds reduced the credits to Rs. 2,348 abovementioned. But if the irrigation works of the Bombay Presidency are to bear famine charges in addition to their own legitimate expenses, the date of their becoming remunerative works may be indefinitely postponed, and their true financial position will never be ascertained.

There do not appear any valid reasons why the cost of collection should exceed the proportion of 5 per cent. on amount of canal revenue collected, below which it is usually kept in the North-Western Provinces and the Punjab. On the Palkher canals, it is observed, the cost of collection amounted to only 4.85 per cent. of the revenue collected.*

10. Regarding indirect charges, it is observed in para. 22 of the report (1) that no charge has yet been made on account of leave and pension allowances, (2) that interest charges have been calculated on total outlay including capitalized abatement of land revenue.

Orders on the first point are about to issue. The second point is at present under consideration of the Government of India in the Financial Department.

ORDER.—Ordered, that copies of this Resolution and of the Report be forwarded to the Financial and Revenue, Agriculture and Commerce Departments, for information.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Third publication.]

The following preliminary Report of a Select Committee, together with the Bill as settled by them, was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 14th July 1878:—

We, the undersigned Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to regulate Ferries in the Panjab, North-Western Provinces and Oudh was referred, have the honour to report that we have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin.

Letter from Secretary to Government, North-Western Provinces and Oudh, No. 726A, dated 2nd April, 1878.
Office memorandum from Home Department, No. 576, dated 27th April, 1878, and enclosure.
Letter from Officiating Secretary to Chief Commissioner, Central Provinces, No. 1153-56, dated 27th March, 1878.
Office memorandum from Public Works Department, No. 1430, dated 8th May, 1878.
Despatch from Secretary of State, No. 11, dated 18th April, 1878.
Letter from Officiating Secretary to Government, Panjab, No. 1650, dated 24th June, 1878, and enclosure.

2. The Bill has now, at the request of the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces, been made applicable to those provinces.

3. We have found it necessary, in order to adapt it to the different systems of the various provinces to which it now applies, to allow the Local Government a certain discretion in the choice of the agency to be employed for carrying out its provisions; and with the same view we have added in section 35 a power of delegation similar to that contained in the Bombay Ferries Act, 1868.

4. It has been objected that the period of notice (six months) required by section 19 for the cancellation of a ferry lease is too long, "especially with reference to the grave public inconvenience that might be caused by the prolonged continuance in his position of a lessee whose conduct might not be satisfactory." On this we would observe that the case of a lessee whose conduct is unsatisfactory seems to be sufficiently provided for by section 21, which gives power to cancel a lease at once for any breach of rule; and when it is desired to cancel a lease on any other ground, as, e.g., with a view to introducing some improved means of communication, we do not consider the period of six months excessive. Lessees can scarcely be expected to make satisfactory arrangements if they are liable to be arbitrarily ejected on short notice.

5. As we are giving the Local Government a power to cancel a lease at its mere pleasure, we have thought it right to give the lessee (in section 11) a corresponding power to surrender his lease, subject of course (as in the case of a cancellation by Government) to the payment of compensation.

6. We have inserted clauses in section 25 providing for the punishment of persons who, in spite of the warnings of those in charge of a ferry, insist upon crowding into a ferry-boat or on to a bridge to the danger of life or property.

7. We have likewise in section 28 provided penalties for rashly or negligently navigating any vessel or raft so as to damage a bridge of boats. The serious public inconvenience caused by a bridge of boats being carried away by a vessel or raft impinging on it, seems to us to justify this.

8. The power we propose to confer on the Magistrate of the District to take over a lessee's boats and plant when his lease is surrendered, or has been cancelled under section 24, has been asked for by the Government of the North-Western Provinces, and appears to us necessary, as without it a Magistrate might in some cases find it impossible to avail himself of the power to cancel a lease conferred by section 24.

9. The necessity of the power of impressing boats in public emergencies, as for instance when they are required for the transport of troops (section 33 now added), seems to us too obvious to call for remark.

10. The Police have been empowered (section 29) to arrest without warrant persons committing offences against sections 25 and 28. As such offences will accordingly be "cognizable" within the meaning of the Criminal Procedure Code, sections 95, 96 and 97 of that Code will apply; and toll-collectors under the Bill will, as regards their right to assistance from the Police, be substantially in the same position as toll-collectors under the Roads and Bridges Act, VIII of 1851.

11. None of the matters to which we have above referred appear to touch the main principles of the Bill as originally introduced; but as some of them, and some of the alterations and additions we have made in minor details, may have an important bearing on the practical working of the measure, we think that an opportunity should be afforded to the local authorities concerned to consider them before the Bill becomes law, and for this reason, and likewise because it now includes the Central Provinces, we recommend that the Bill as amended by us be republished.

12. The publication ordered by the Council has been made.

A Bill to regulate Ferries in Northern India.

Whereas it is expedient to regulate ferries in the Panjáb, the North-Western Provinces, Oudh and the Central Provinces; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

I.—PRELIMINARY.

1. This Act may be called "The Northern India Ferries Act, 1878."

It extends only to the territories respectively administered by the Lieutenant-Governors of the

Panjáb and the North-Western Provinces and the Chief Commissioners of Oudh and the Central Provinces; and

It shall come into force in each of the said territories on such date as the Local Government may by notification in the official Gazette fix in this behalf.

2. On and from the date on which it comes into force in the territories respectively administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces and the Chief Commissioners of Oudh and the Central Provinces, Bengal Regulation VI of 1819 shall be repealed therein; but all determinations, declarations, orders and rules made, engagements entered into, and securities taken under that Regulation, and then in force, shall be deemed to be respectively made, entered into and taken under this Act.

3. In this Act the word "ferry" includes also a bridge of boats, pontoons, or rafts, a swing-bridge, a flying-bridge and a temporary bridge, and the approaches to, and landing-places of, a ferry.

II.—PUBLIC FERRIES.

4. The Local Government may, from time to time,—
Power to declare, establish, define and discontinue public ferries. (a) declare what ferries shall be deemed public ferries, and the respective districts in which, for the purposes of this Act, they shall be deemed to be situate;

(b) take possession of a private ferry and declare it to be a public ferry;

(c) establish new public ferries where, in its opinion, they are needed;

(d) define the limits of any public ferry;

(e) change the course of any public ferry; and
(f) discontinue any public ferry which it deems unnecessary.

Every such declaration, establishment, definition, change or discontinuance shall be made by notification in the local official Gazette:

Provided that, when a river lies between two Provinces, the powers conferred by this section shall in respect of such river be exercised by the Governor General in Council, by notification in the Gazette of India, and not otherwise:

Provided also that, when any alteration in the course or in the limits of a public ferry is rendered necessary by changes in the river, such alteration may be made by an order under his hand, by the Commissioner of the Division in which such ferry is situate, or by such other officer as the Local Government may, from time to time, appoint by name or in virtue of his office in this behalf.

5. Claims for compensation for any loss sustained by any person in consequence of a private ferry being taken possession of under section four shall be enquired into by the Magistrate of the District, or such officer as he appoints in this behalf, and submitted for the consideration and orders of the Local Government.

6. The immediate superintendence of every public ferry shall, except as provided in section seven, be vested in the Magistrate of the District in which such ferry is situate, or in such other officer as the Local Government may, from time to time, appoint by name or in virtue of his office in this behalf; and such Magistrate or officer shall, except when the tolls at such ferry are leased, make all necessary arrangements for the supply of boats for such ferry, and for the collection of the authorized tolls leviable thereat.

7. The Local Government may direct that any public ferry situate within the limits of a town be managed by the officer or public body charged with the superintendence of the municipal arrangements of such town;

and may further direct that all or any part of the proceeds from such ferry be paid into the Municipal Fund of such town;

and thereupon such ferry shall be managed, and such proceeds or part thereof shall be paid, accordingly.

8. The tolls at any public ferry may from time to time be let by public auction for such term not exceeding five years as the Magistrate of the District, subject to the approval of the Commissioner of the Division in which such ferry is situate, may deem expedient.

The lessee shall conform to the rules made under this Act for the management and control of such ferry, and may be called upon by the officer conducting the auction to give such security for his good conduct and for the punctual payment of the rent as such officer thinks fit.

Such officer may, for sufficient reason recorded in writing under his hand, refuse to accept the offer of the highest bidder, and may accept any other bid, or may withdraw the tolls from auction.

9. All arrears due by the lessee of a public ferry on account of his lease may be recovered from the lessee or his surety (if any) by the Magistrate of the District in which such ferry is situated as if they were arrears of land-revenue.

10. The Local Government may cancel the lease of any public ferry on the expiration of six months' notice in writing to the lessee of its intention to cancel such lease.

When any lease is cancelled under this section, the Magistrate of the District shall pay to the lessee such compensation as he may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, award.

11. The lessee of a public ferry may surrender his lease on the expiration of one month's notice in writing to the Local Government of his intention to surrender such lease, and on payment to the Magistrate of the District of such compensation as the Magistrate of the District, subject to the approval of the Commissioner, may in each case direct.

12. Subject to the control of the Local Government, the Commissioner of a Division, or such other officer as the Local Government may from time to time appoint in this behalf, by name or in virtue of his office, may from time to time make rules consistent with this Act—

(a) for the control and the management of all public ferries within such division and for regulating the traffic at such ferries;

(b) for regulating the time and manner at and in which, the terms on which, and the person by whom, the tolls of such ferries may be let by auction;

(c) for compensating persons who have compounded for tolls payable for the use of any such ferry when such ferry has been discontinued before the expiration of the period compounded for; and

(d) generally to carry out the purposes of this Act, and, when the tolls of a ferry have been let under section eight, he may from time to time (subject as aforesaid) make additional rules consistent with this Act—

(e) for collecting the rents payable for the tolls of such ferries;

(f) in cases in which the communication is to be established by means of a bridge of boats, pontoons or rafts, or a swing-bridge, flying-bridge or temporary bridge, for regulating the time and manner in which such bridge shall be constructed and maintained and opened for the passage of vessels and rafts through the same, and

(g) in cases in which the traffic is conveyed in boats, for regulating (1) the number and kinds of such boats and their dimensions and equipment; (2) the number of the crew to be kept by the lessee for each boat; (3) the maintenance of such boats continually in good condition; (4) the hours during which, and the intervals within which, the lessee shall be bound to ply, and (5) the number of passengers, vehicles and animals, and the quantity of goods, that may be carried in each kind of boat at one trip.

The lessee shall make such returns of traffic as the Commissioner or other officer as aforesaid may from time to time require.

13. No person shall, except with the sanction of the officer charged with the superintendence of a public ferry, keep a ferry-boat for the purpose of plying for hire to or from any point within a distance of two miles from the limits of such public ferry:

Provided that, in the case of any specified public ferry, the Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, reduce or increase the said distance of two miles to such extent as it thinks fit:

Provided also that nothing hereinbefore contained shall prevent persons plying between two places, one of which is without, and one within, the said limits, when the distance between such two places is not less than three miles, or apply to boats which the Local Government expressly exempts from the operation of this section.

14. Whoever uses the approach to, or land- ing-place of, a public ferry es, &c., liable to pay. is liable to pay the toll payable for crossing such ferry.

15. Toll, according to such rates as are from time to time fixed by the Local Government, shall be levied on all persons, animals, vehicles and other things crossing any river by a public ferry and not employed or transmitted on the public service:

Provided that the Local Government may, from time to time, declare that any persons, animals, vehicles or other things shall be exempt from payment of such tolls.

Where the tolls of a ferry have been let under section eight, any such declaration, if made after the date of the auction, shall entitle the lessee to such abatement of the rent payable in respect of the tolls as may be fixed by the Commissioner of the Division or such other officer as the Local Government may, from time to time, appoint in this behalf by name or in virtue of his office

16. The lessee or other person authorized to collect the tolls of any public ferry shall affix a table of such tolls legibly written or printed in the vernacular language, and also, if the Commissioner of the Division so directs, in English, in some conspicuous place near the ferry, and shall be bound to produce, on demand, a list of the tolls, signed by the Magistrate or such other officer as he appoints in this behalf.

17. Except as provided by section seven, all tolls or rents received and fines levied under this Act shall be disposed of as follows, that is to say:—

(a) in the territories administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces, the residue of such tolls and rents, after defraying thereout all charges incurred in carrying out this Act in those territories, shall be credited to the Fund constituted for those territories by the North-Western Provinces Local Rates Act, 1878;

(b) in the territories administered by the Chief Commissioner of Oudh, the residue as aforesaid shall be credited to the Fund constituted for those territories by the Oudh Local Rates Act, 1878; and

(c) in the territories respectively administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of the Panjáb and the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces, such tolls, rents and fines shall be credited to the Local Government and applied first to defraying all charges incurred in carrying out this Act in those territories respectively, and then, at the discretion of the Local Government, to any of the purposes specified in the second clause of section seven of the Panjáb Local Rates Act, 1878, or the second clause of section five of the Central Provinces Additional Rates Act, 1878, as the case may be.

18. The Local Government may, if it thinks fit, Compound for tolls. from time to time, fix rates at which any person may compound for the tolls payable for the use of a public ferry.

III.—PRIVATE FERRIES.

19. The Commissioner of the Division may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, from time to time make rules for the maintenance of order and for the safety of passengers and property at ferries other than public ferries.

20. The tolls charged at such ferries shall not exceed the highest rates for the time being fixed under section fifteen for similar public ferries.

IV.—PENALTIES AND CRIMINAL PROCEDURE.

21. Every lessee or other person authorized to collect the tolls of a public ferry, who neglects to affix and keep in good order and repair the table of tolls mentioned in section sixteen, or who wilfully removes, alters or defaces such table, or allows it to become illegible, or who fails to produce on demand the list of the tolls mentioned in section sixteen, and every lessee who neglects to furnish any return required under section twelve, shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

22. Every such lessee or other person as aforesaid and any person in possession of a private ferry asking or taking more than the lawful toll, or without due cause delaying any person, animal, vehicle or other thing, and for causing delay, shall be punished with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

23. Every person breaking any rule made under section twelve or section nineteen shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, or with both.

24. When any lessee of the tolls of a public ferry makes default in the payment of the rent payable in respect of such tolls, or has been convicted of an offence under section twenty-three, or, having been convicted of an offence under section twenty-one or section twenty-two, is again convicted of an offence under either of those sections, the Magistrate of the District may, with the sanction of the Commissioner of the Division, cancel the lease of the tolls of such ferry, and make other arrangements for its management during the whole or any part of the term for which the tolls were let.

25. Every person crossing by any public ferry, or using the approach to, or landing-place thereof, who refuses to pay the proper toll, and every person—

who, with intent to avoid payment of such toll, fraudulently or forcibly crosses by any such ferry without paying the toll, or who obstructs any toll-collector or lessee of the tolls of a public ferry, or any of his assistants, in any way in the execution of their duty under this Act, or who, after being warned by any such toll-collector, lessee or assistant not to do so, goes or takes any animals, vehicles or goods into any ferry-boat or upon any bridge at such a ferry which is in such a state or so loaded as to endanger human life or property, or who refuses or neglects at the request of such toll-collector, lessee or assistant to leave, or remove any animals, vehicles or goods from, any such ferry-boat or bridge, shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

26. Whoever conveys for hire any passenger, animal, vehicle or goods in contravention of the provisions of section thirteen shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

27. Where the tolls of any public ferry have been let under the provisions hereinbefore contained, the whole or any portion of any fine realized under section twenty-five or section twenty-six may, notwithstanding anything contained in section seventeen, be, at the discretion of the convicting Magistrate or Bench of Magistrates, paid to the lessee.

28. Whoever navigates any vessel or raft in a manner so rash or negligent as to damage a public ferry, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both; and the toll-collector or lessee of the tolls, or any of his assistants, may seize and detain such vessel or raft pending the inquiry and assessment hereinafter mentioned.

29. The police may arrest without warrant any person committing an offence against section twenty-five or section twenty-eight.

30. Any Magistrate or Bench of Magistrates having summary jurisdiction under chapter XVIII of the Code of Criminal Procedure may try any offence against this Act in manner provided by that chapter.

31. Every Magistrate or Bench of Magistrates trying any offence under this Act may enquire into and assess the value of the damage (if any) done or caused by the offender to the ferry concerned, and shall order the amount of such value to be paid by him in addition to any fine imposed upon him under this Act; and the amount so ordered to be paid shall be leviable as if it were a fine, or when the offence is one under section twenty-eight, by the sale of the vessel or raft causing the damage, and of any thing found in or upon such vessel or raft.

The Commissioner of the Division may, on the appeal of any person deeming himself aggrieved by an order under this section, reduce or remit the amount payable under such order.

V.—MISCELLANEOUS.

32. When the lease of any ferry is surrendered under section eleven or cancelled under section twenty-four, the Magistrate of the District may take possession of all boats and their equipment, and all other material and appliances, used by the lessee for the purposes of such ferry, and use the same (paying such compensation for the use thereof as the Local Government may in each case direct) until such Magistrate can conveniently procure proper substitutes therefor.

33. When any boats or their equipment, or any materials or appliances suitable for setting up a ferry, are emergently required for facilitating the transport of officers or troops of Her Majesty on duty, or of any other persons on the business of Her Majesty, or of any animals, vehicles or baggage belonging to such officers, troops or persons, or of any property of Her Majesty, the Magistrate of the District may take possession of and use the same (paying such compensation for the use thereof as the Local Government may in each case direct) until such transport is completed.

34. No suit to ascertain the amount of any Jurisdiction of Civil compensation payable, or Courts barred. abatement of rent allowable, under this Act shall be cognizable by any Civil Court.

35. The Local Government may from time to time delegate, under such Delegation of powers. restrictions as it thinks fit, any of the powers conferred on it by this Act to any Commissioner of a Division or Magistrate of a District, or to such other officer as it thinks fit, by name or by virtue of his office.

36. All matters determined, orders issued, acts done, penalties imposed and proceedings held in the territories administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of the Panjáb after the repeal of Bengal Regulation VI of 1819 by the Panjáb Laws Act, 1872, section 4, and before this Act comes into force in such territories, shall, whenever such determinations, orders, acts, penalties or proceedings would have been lawful if the said Regulation had been in force, be deemed to have been respectively determined, issued, done, imposed and held in accordance with law.

D. FITZPATRICK,
Sery. to the Govt. of India.

and amend the law relating to Railways in India was referred, have the honour to report that we have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin.

2. We have saved not only rules, &c., made under the Acts which the Bill proposes to repeal, but also rules made under the enactments which those Acts replaced.

3. We have extended the definition of "Railway" so as to include ferry-boats used for the purpose of, or in connection with, a Railway.

4. It has been held, both in England (Jones v. Festiniog Railway Company, L.R. 3 Q.B. 733) and in India (Jowahir v. Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway Company, unreported, and see Halford v. E. I. Ry. Company, 14 Beng. 1), that if a Railway Company has no statutory power authorizing it to use locomotives, it will be liable for damage caused by sparks, even though all reasonable precautions have been taken to prevent them. Our present Railway Act (XVIII of 1854), unlike the English Railway Clauses Consolidation Act, confers no such power. We have therefore, in accordance with a suggestion of the Secretary of State, expressly declared that locomotives may be used on every Indian Railway. The result will be that the Railway Administration will not be liable for such damage without proof of negligence.

5. When a passenger's luggage is at his request placed in the same carriage in which he is to travel and is lost or injured, we have declared, in accordance with the recent decision in Bergheim v. Great Eastern Railway Company, 3 C. P. Div. 221, that the Company is not liable, unless the loss or injury has been caused by the neglect or default of their servants.

6. As the law stands in India, when certain specified articles are contained in parcels delivered to a Railway Company, the Company is not liable for loss of or injury to those articles, whatever may be their value, unless they have been formally declared and insured. One or other of these articles is found in the luggage of most first and second class passengers, and the result is that many people, as a rule, travel without declaring their property and run the risk of losing it altogether from accidents to the train or carelessness and misconduct on the part of the Company's servants. In England the Railway Companies are relieved from responsibility only when the value of undeclared articles exceeds £10, and we think that in India Rs. 100 would be a reasonable limit. We have therefore assimilated section 6 (now section 7) of the Bill to section 1 of the Carriers Act, 11 George IV & 1 Wm. IV, chapter 68. Where any article declared and insured under this section is lost or damaged, the owner will, as a rule, be entitled to recover, in the former case, the value of the article lost, and in the latter, the difference between its value before and after the accident. But where he understates the value, he should be concluded by his statement; and we have therefore (in accordance with the decision in McCance v. London and N. W. Railway Company, 3 H. & C. 313) provided that the amount so recoverable shall in no case exceed the declared value.

7. We have also amended section 7 (now section 8) so as to express the substance of the English Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1854, section 7. The Bill now provides that Railway Companies shall, notwithstanding any notice, condition or declaration, be liable for loss or injury to any articles not specially provided for by the preceding section when such loss or injury is occasioned by a Railway-officer's neglect or default. But this is not to invalidate special contracts as to receiving, forwarding or delivering such articles, provided such contracts are reasonable, and in writing signed by the parties.

8. In the case of accidents attended with serious personal injury, we have required (section 12) the nearest Station-master to give notice to the nearest Magistrate and the officer in charge of the Police-station in the jurisdiction of which the accident occurred.

9. We have expressly empowered (section 14) the Railway Administration to make rules regulating the maximum number of passengers to be contained in each Railway carriage, and the mode in which such number shall be denoted thereon. And we have provided (sections 26, 37) penalties for Railway-officers compelling passengers to enter carriages already full and for passengers wilfully entering such carriages.

10. We have required (section 16) that the amount of the fare shall be specified on the tickets. In the absence of such a provision, we are informed that Native passengers are constantly cheated either by the issuers of tickets or by touts hanging about the stations.

11. We have declared (section 17) that any passenger to whom a ticket has been furnished and for whom there is no room shall be entitled to have his fare at once refunded.

12. We have provided (section 28) penalties for a person travelling by a train of a class superior to that for which his ticket was issued, using or attempting to use a ticket on a day for which it is not available, or wilfully altering or defacing a ticket so as to render the date, number or other material portion thereof illegible.

13. We have declared (section 31) that the fine for not giving an account of goods, or for giving a false account, shall be in addition to the toll to which such goods may be liable. This is in accordance with 5 & 9 Vic., c. 20, section 99.

14. We have added to the offences for which a person may be arrested without warrant those of evading payment of the proper fare (section 28), being intoxicated or committing nuisance (section 32) and entering rooms or carriages reserved for females (section 33). We have increased the fine for being intoxicated or committing nuisance from Rs. 20 to Rs. 50.

15. We have provided (section 39) a penalty for unlawfully making, showing, hiding, or removing signals or lights upon or near Railways.

16. The present law (Act XXV of 1871, section 2) provides a penalty for wilfully driving cattle on a fenced Railway, but does not prohibit such driving on unfenced lines. We have, in section 40, made such driving penal whether the line is fenced or unfenced.

17. In some parts of India young Native boys are in the habit of throwing stones at trains and placing obstructions on the rails. When they are under seven years of age the law cannot touch them: when they are above seven and under twelve, they are punishable only when proved by the prosecution to have attained sufficient maturity of understanding to judge of the nature and consequences of their conduct—a proof which, in most instances, is not easily given. Considering the serious risk to life and property caused by such acts, we think the general law should be modified in this respect; and we have accordingly provided, by section 42, that the convicting Magistrate may direct either that such children be punished with whipping, or that their fathers and guardians be punished with fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

18. We have required (section 45) drivers and conductors of omnibuses and other vehicles, while in a station-yard, to obey the reasonable directions of duly authorised Railway-officers. One of the bye-laws framed by the Board of Trade for regulating travelling by railway in England is to the like effect.

19. We have struck out sections 43 and 44 of the Bill as introduced. The latter section is obsolete, as there are now no Heads of District Police and Amíns in the Madras Presidency. The former conflicts with the Code of Criminal Procedure, section 72. We have also omitted the provisions as to tramways contained in section 23 of the Bill as introduced.

20. We have made some changes in wording and arrangement.

21. The publication ordered by the Council has been made; we recommend that the Bill as now amended be re-published, and that its further consideration be stayed till the Council re-assembles in Calcutta.

SCHEDULES.

A Bill to consolidate and amend the Law relating to Railways in India.

Whereas it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to Railways in India; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

PRELIMINARY.

Short title, 1. This Act may be called "The Indian Railway Act, 1878."

It extends to the whole of British India and, so far as regards subjects of Her Majesty the Empress of India, to the dominions of Princes and States in India in alliance with Her said Majesty:

Local extent, and it shall come into force on the first day of March 1879.

2. and from that day, the Acts specified in the second schedule hereto to annulled shall be repealed.

Repeal of Acts. All rules made, notifications published, and powers conferred under any of such Acts, or any enactment thereby repealed, shall (so far as they are consistent herewith) be deemed to have been respectively made, published and conferred under this Act.

3. In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context,—

Interpretation-clause. "Railway." "Railway" includes—

(a) Railways belonging to and worked by Companies;

(b) Railways belonging to Government but worked by Companies;

(c) Railways worked by Government;

(d) land within the fences or other boundary-marks prescribed under section fifty;

(e) all lines of rail, sidings or branches worked over for the purposes of, or in connection with, a Railway;

(f) all stations, offices, warehouses, fixed machinery and other works constructed or being constructed for the purposes of, or in connection with, a Railway;

(g) all ferry-boats used for the purposes of, or in connection with, a Railway.

And in the following sections (namely), twelve, fourteen, nineteen, twenty-three, twenty-four, twenty-nine, thirty and thirty-five to forty-four (both inclusive), "Railway" includes a Railway under construction or not used for the public conveyance of passengers or goods.

"Railway Administration" means in the case of a Railway worked by Government, the Manager of such Railway, and in the case of a Railway worked by a Company, the Company.

"Railway-officer" means any person employed by a Railway Administration to perform any function in connection with a Railway.

"Passenger." "Passenger" means a passenger by Railway.

"Magistrate" means any person lawfully exercising the powers of a Magistrate and includes a Presidency Magistrate.

4. Every Railway used for the public conveyance of passengers or goods shall, until the contrary be proved, be presumed to be a Railway within the meaning of this Act, and every Company to or by whom any such Railway belongs or is worked shall, until the contrary be proved, be presumed to be a Railway Company within the meaning of this Act.

CHAPTER II.

ENACTMENTS RELATING TO RAILWAY COMPANIES.

5. It shall be lawful to use on every Railway locomotive engines or other motive power, and carriages and wagons to be drawn or propelled thereby.

6. A Railway Company and (in the case of a Railway worked by Government) the Government shall in no case be answerable for loss or injury to any passenger's luggage, unless a Railway-officer has booked and given a receipt for the same; and when a passenger's luggage has, at his request or with his consent, been placed in the same carriage in which he is to travel, and is lost or injured, the Company or the Government shall not be liable for such loss or injury unless it has been caused by the neglect or default of a Railway-officer.

Luggage placed in compartment with passenger. No liability for un-booked luggage. 7. When any of the articles mentioned in the first schedule hereto annexed is contained in any parcel or package delivered to a Railway-officer, and the value of such article exceeds one hundred rupees, the

No liability for loss of gold, silver, &c., unless in case of special engagement. 8.

Company or (in the case of a Railway worked by Government) the Government shall not be liable for loss of or damage to such article, unless, at the time of delivery, the value and nature thereof have been declared by the person sending or delivering the same, and an increased charge for the safe conveyance of the same, or an engagement to pay such charge, has been accepted by some person specially authorized in this behalf.

When any article of which the value and nature have been declared under this section has been lost or damaged and such loss or damage has been occasioned by a Railway-officer, the owner thereof is entitled to recover, in case of loss, its value, and in case of damage, the difference between its value immediately before, and its value immediately after, the damage has been so occasioned: Provided that the amount recoverable under this section shall not exceed the value so declared.

8. Notwithstanding any notice, condition or declaration given or made by the Railway Administration, the Railway Company or (in the case of a Railway worked by Government) the Government shall be liable for loss of or injury to any animals, articles or goods (other than those specially provided for by section seven) in the receiving, forwarding or delivering thereof, when such loss or injury is occasioned by the neglect or default of a Railway-officer.

Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to prevent the Railway Administration from making a special contract as to the receiving, forwarding or delivering of such animals, articles or goods: Provided that—

(a) such contract is in writing signed by or on behalf of, the parties thereto, and

(b) the Court before which any question relating thereto is tried considers it to be just and reasonable.

9. If any person fail to pay on demand any sum due for conveyance of any goods by Railway, the Railway Administration may detain all or any part of such goods, or, if the same have been removed from the Railway, any other goods of such person then on such Railway or thereafter coming into the possession of the Railway Administration; and may also sell by public auction, on the expiration of at least fifteen days' notice thereof in one or more of the newspapers published at the place of sale, sufficient of such goods to realize the sum payable as aforesaid, and all charges and expenses of such detention and sale;

and may, out of the proceeds of the sale, retain the sum so payable, together with the charges and expenses aforesaid, rendering the surplus, if any, of such proceeds, and so much of the goods as remains unsold, to the person entitled thereto:

or it shall be lawful for the Railway Administration to recover any such sum by suit.

10. The owner or person having the care of any goods which have been carried upon any Railway, or are brought into any station or warehouse for the purpose of being carried on a Railway, shall, on demand by any Railway-officer appointed to receive goods to be carried on that part of the Railway on which such goods have been carried, or are about to be carried, deliver to such officer an exact account in writing signed by him of the number or quantity and description of such goods.

11. Any Railway-officer may refuse to carry upon a Railway any luggage or parcel which he suspects to contain dangerous goods, and may require the same to be opened to ascertain the fact previously to carrying the same; and in case any such luggage or parcel is received for the purpose of being carried upon a Railway, any Railway-officer may stop the transit thereof until he is satisfied as to the nature of the contents of the luggage or parcel.

12. Every Railway Administration shall, within twelve hours after the occurrence upon the Railway of any accident attended with serious personal injury, give notice thereof to the Local Government, and the Station-Master nearest to the place at which the accident occurs, or such other officer as the Railway Administration may appoint in this behalf, shall at once give notice of such accident to the nearest Magistrate and to the officer in charge of the Police-station in the jurisdiction of which the accident occurred.

13. The Local Government may direct any Railway Administration to make up and deliver to the Local Government a return of serious accidents occurring in the course of the public traffic upon the Railway, whether attended with personal injury or not, in such form and manner as the Local Government deems necessary and requires for information, with a view to the public safety.

14. Every Railway Administration may, from time to time, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, make general rules consistent with this Act for the following purposes (that is to say):—

(a) for regulating the mode by which, and the speed at which, carriages and wagons used on the Railway are to be moved or propelled;

(b) for regulating the times of the arrival and departure of any such carriages and wagons;

(c) for regulating the loading and unloading of such wagons, the weights they may respectively carry and the mode in which such weights shall be denoted thereon;

(d) for regulating the receipt and delivery of goods and other things which are to be conveyed upon the Railway;

(e) for regulating the maximum number of passengers which each carriage and compartment may carry, and the mode in which such number shall be denoted thereon;

(f) for declaring what shall be deemed to be, for the purposes of this Act, dangerous goods, and

(g) generally for regulating the travelling upon, and the use, working and management of, the Railway.

Any such rule may contain a provision that any person committing a breach of it shall be liable to a fine which may extend to fifty rupees or, in default of payment of such fine, to imprisonment for a term which may extend to two months.

All rules made under this section shall be published in the Gazette of India, and shall be otherwise notified to the Railway-officers and the public in such manner as the Governor General in Council, from time to time, directs.

The Governor General in Council may at any time cancel any such rule.

15. A copy of this Act, and of the General Rules, Time-tables and Tariff of charges which may, from time to time, be published for any Railway by any Railway Administration shall be exhibited in some conspicuous place at each station of such Railway, so that they may be easily seen and read.

All such documents shall be so exhibited in English and in the vernacular language of the district in which the station is situate, and in such other language, if any, as the Local Government may direct.

CHAPTER III.

ENACTMENTS RELATING TO PASSENGERS.

16. Every person desirous of travelling on a Railway shall, upon payment of his fare, be furnished with a ticket specifying the class of carriage, the place from and place to which the fare has been paid, and the amount of such fare; and every passenger shall, when required, show his ticket to any Railway-officer duly authorized to examine the same, and shall deliver up such ticket upon demand to any Railway-officer duly authorized to collect tickets.

17. At the intermediate stations, the fares shall be deemed to be accepted and the tickets furnished only upon condition that there be room in the train for which the tickets are furnished.

In case there is not room for all the passengers to whom tickets have been furnished, those who have obtained tickets for the longest distance shall have the preference; and those who have obtained tickets for the same distance shall have the preference according to the order in which they have received their tickets:

Provided that all officers and troops of Her Majesty on duty, and all other persons on the business of the Government who, by virtue of any contract with the Government or, in the case of a Railway worked by Government, of any direction of the Governor General in Council, are entitled to be conveyed on a Railway in preference to, or in priority over, the public, shall be entitled to such preference and priority without reference to the distance for which, or the order in which, they have received their tickets.

Any passenger to whom a ticket has been furnished at any station and for whom there is no room shall, on returning the ticket, be entitled to have his fare at once refunded.

18. Except with the permission of the Station-Master, no person shall enter any carriage used on any Railway for the purpose of travelling therein without having first paid his fare and obtained a ticket.

19. No person shall carry upon any Railway any dangerous goods, or shall be entitled to require to be carried upon any Railway any luggage or goods which in the judgment of any Railway-officer is or are of a dangerous nature.

CHAPTER IV.

PENALTIES.

(A).—As to Companies.

20. Any Railway Administration omitting to give notice as required by section twelve, clause one, shall forfeit the sum of five hundred rupees for every day during which such omission continues.

21. Any Railway Administration failing to deliver any return mentioned in section thirteen within fourteen days after the same has been required, or to exhibit the copy mentioned in section fifteen in manner required by that section, shall forfeit the sum of fifty rupees for every day during which such failure continues.

(B).—As to Railway-officers.

22. Any Station-Master omitting to give notice as required by section twelve, clause two, shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

23. Any Railway-officer who is in a state of intoxication whilst actually employed upon a Railway in the discharge of any duty, or who negligently omits to perform his duty, or who performs the same in an improper manner, shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees;

and if the duty in any of the cases aforesaid be such that the omission or negligent performance thereof would be likely to endanger the safety of any person travelling or being upon such Railway, such officer shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to one year, or with fine, or with both.

24. If any Railway-officer endangers the safety of any person—

(a) by disobeying any rule sanctioned and published and notified in the manner prescribed by section fourteen; or

(b) by disobeying any rule or order not inconsistent with the general rules aforesaid, and which he was bound by the terms of his service to obey, and of which he had notice; or

(c) by any rash or negligent act or omission, he shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

25. Every Railway-officer, and every other person employed by or on behalf of a Railway Company to do any act upon the Railway, shall be deemed a "public servant" within the meaning of sections 161, 162, 163, 164 and 165 of the Indian Penal Code.

In the definition of legal remuneration contained in the said section 161, the word "Government" shall, for the purposes of this section, be deemed to include—

(a) a Railway Company, its lessees, representatives and assigns;

(b) the lessees, representatives and assigns of such Company.

26. Any Railway-officer who compels or attempts to compel any passenger to enter a carriage or compartment containing the maximum number of passengers denoted thereon in accordance with a rule made and published under section fourteen, shall be punished with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

(C).—As to the Public.

27. Any passenger not producing or delivering up his ticket when so required by a Railway-officer authorized in this behalf shall be liable to pay the fare from the place whence the train originally started, unless he can prove that he has travelled a less distance only, in which case he shall be liable to pay the fare only from the place whence he has travelled.

Every such fare shall, on application by a Railway-officer to a Magistrate, and on proof of the passenger's liability, be recoverable from such passenger as if it was a fine.

28. Any person who defrauds, or attempts to defraud, any Railway Company or the Government—

(a) by travelling, or attempting to travel, upon any Railway without having previously paid his fare;

(b) by riding in or upon a carriage, or by a train, of a higher class than that for which he has paid his fare;

(c) by using or attempting to use a ticket on any day for which such ticket is not available;

(d) by continuing his journey in or upon any Railway-carriage beyond the place to which he has paid his fare without previously paying the fare for the additional distance, and with intent to avoid payment thereof;

(e) by knowingly and wilfully refusing or neglecting, on arriving at the place to which he has paid his fare, to quit such carriage; or who, in any other manner whatever, attempts to evade the payment of his fare, or who wilfully alters or defaces his ticket so as to render the date, number or other material portion thereof illegible, shall for every such offence be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

29. Any passenger who gets into or upon, or attempts to get into or upon, or quits, or attempts to quit, any carriage upon any Railway, while such carriage is in motion; or who rides or attempts to ride upon any Railway, on the steps, or any other part of a carriage, except on those parts which are intended for the accommodation of passengers, shall for every such offence be punished with fine which may extend to twenty rupees.

30. Any person other than the engine-man, fire-man and assistant fire-man who, without the special license of such officer as the Railway Administration appoints in this behalf, rides or attempts to ride upon any locomotive engine or tender upon any Railway; and any person other than the guard or brakesman who, without such license as aforesaid, rides or attempts to ride upon any Railway, in or upon any luggage-van or goods-wagon, or other vehicle not appropriated to the carriage of passengers, shall for every such offence be punished with fine which may extend to twenty rupees.

31. Whoever smokes, either in a Railway-station, or in or upon any Railway-carriage, except in places or carriages specially provided for the purpose, shall be punished with fine which may extend to twenty rupees for each offence; and whoever persists in so smoking (except as aforesaid) after being warned to desist by any Railway-officer may, in addition to incurring the liability abovementioned, be removed by any Railway-officer from any such carriage, and from the premises of the Railway, and shall forfeit his fare.

32. Any person who is in a state of intoxication, or who commits any nuisance or act of indecency in any Railway-carriage, or upon any part of any Railway; or who wilfully and without lawful excuse interferes with the comfort of any passenger, shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees; and, in addition to such liability, the offender may be removed by any Railway-officer from any such carriage, and also from the premises of the Railway, and shall forfeit his fare.

33. If any carriage, compartment or room be reserved by the Railway Administration for the exclusive use of females, any male person who without lawful excuse enters such carriage, compartment or room, knowing the same to be reserved as aforesaid, or remains therein after having been informed of its having been so reserved, shall be punished with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, and may be removed therefrom, and also from the premises of the Railway, by any Railway-officer, and shall forfeit his fare.

34. Any owner or person referred to in section ten who wilfully fails to give on demand to any Railway-officer appointed as therein mentioned an exact account of the number or quantity and description of the goods therein referred to, or who wilfully gives to such Railway-officer a false account thereof, shall, for every such offence, be punished with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees for every ton of such goods, or for any parcel exceeding one hundredweight, and with fine which may extend to fifty rupees for any quantity of such goods less than a ton or for any parcel less than one hundredweight; and such fine shall be in addition to the toll to which such goods may be liable.

For not giving account of goods or giving false account.

For carrying dangerous goods.

35. Whoever carries upon a Railway any dangerous goods, or delivers to a Railway-officer any such goods for the purpose of being carried upon a Railway, without distinctly marking their nature on the outside of the package containing the same, or otherwise giving notice in writing of the nature thereof to such officer, shall for every such offence be punished with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

36. Whoever wilfully obstructs or impedes any Railway-officer in the discharge of his duty on a Railway, or any of the works, stations or premises connected therewith, shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

37. Any passenger wilfully entering a carriage already full, or compartment containing the maximum number of passengers which has been denoted thereon in accordance with a rule made and published under section fourteen, shall be punished with fine which may extend to a hundred rupees.

38. Whoever without authority extinguishes any lamp in or on any Railway-carriage or engine, or removes any signal or light upon or near any Railway, and whoever negligently damages or injures any carriage, engine, wagon, truck, warehouse, building, machine, fence or any other thing belonging to a Railway,

shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

39. Whoever unlawfully enters upon a Railway shall be punished with fine which may extend to twenty rupees; and if any person so entering refuses to leave such Railway on being requested to do so by any Railway-officer, or by any other person on behalf of the Railway Administration, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees, and may be immediately removed from such Railway by such officer or other person as aforesaid.

40. The owner or person in charge of any cattle-trespass shall be punished with fine which may extend to ten rupees for each animal, in addition to any amount that may be recovered under the Cattle Trespass Act, 1871.

Whenever cattle are wilfully driven or knowingly permitted to be on any cattle on Railway.

Railway provided with fences suitable for the exclusion of such cattle, otherwise than for the purpose of crossing the Railway at a gate or bar provided for public use, and whenever cattle are wilfully driven or knowingly permitted to be on any Railway not so provided, otherwise than for the purpose of lawfully crossing the Railway, the person in charge of such cattle, or if he cannot be identified, then the owner of the said cattle, shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees for each animal, in addition to any amount that may be recovered under the same Act.

All fines imposed under this section may be recovered in manner provided by section twenty-five of the same Act, and may be appropriated in whole or in part in compensation for loss or damage proved to the satisfaction of the convicting Magistrate.

The expression "public road" in sections eleven and twenty-six of the same Act shall be deemed to include a Railway. And any Railway-officer may exercise the powers of seizure provided by the said section eleven.

Explanation.—In this section the word "cattle" includes also elephants, camels, buffaloes, horses, mares, geldings, ponies, colts, fillies, mules, asses, pigs, rams, ewes, sheep, lambs, goats and kids.

41. Whoever, when any engine or train approaching along a Railway is in sight, or is otherwise known to be approaching, opens any gate which has been set up across any road for the use or accommodation of any person by the Railway Administration on either side of the Railway, or passes or attempts to pass, or drives or attempts to drive any carriage, cattle or other animal or thing, across the Railway; and whoever at any time, in the absence of a gate-keeper, omits to shut and fasten such gate as soon as he and any carriage, cattle or other thing under his charge have passed through the same, shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

42. Whenever any male minor under the age of twelve years unlawfully—
For boys obstructing line or throwing stones at train. (a) places or throws upon or across a Railway any wood, stone or other thing, or

(b) removes or displaces any rail, sleeper, spike, key or other thing belonging to the permanent way of a Railway, or

(c) throws or causes to fall against, into or upon any engine, tender, carriage or other vehicle used upon a Railway, any wood, stone or other thing, such minor shall be deemed guilty of an offence, and the convicting Magistrate may in his discretion direct either that the minor shall be punished with whipping, or that his father or guardian shall be punished with fine which may extend to twenty rupees.

(D).—As to Railway-officers and the Public.

43. Whoever, whether a Railway-officer or not, wilfully does any act, or wilfully omits to do what he is legally bound to do, intending by such act or omission to endanger, or knowing that he is thereby likely to endanger, the safety of any person travelling or being upon any Railway, may be sentenced to transportation (or in the case of an European or American, penal servitude) for life or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years.

For wilful act or omission endangering passenger.

44. Whoever, whether a Railway-officer or not, rashly or negligently, and without lawful excuse, does any act likely to endanger the safety of any person travelling or being upon a Railway, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to one year, or with fine, or with both.

45. Every driver or conductor of an omnibus, carriage or other vehicle shall, while in or upon any station-yard or other premises forming part of a Railway, obey the reasonable directions of any Railway-officer duly authorized in this behalf; and every person offending against this section shall be punished with fine which may extend to twenty rupees.

46. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to prevent any person from being prosecuted and punished under any other law for any act or omission which constitutes an offence under this Act or the rules made hereunder:

Provided that no person shall be punished twice for the same act or omission.

Arrest of Offenders.

47. If any person commits any offence hereby made punishable by fine, and the name and address of such person are unknown, or there is reason to believe that he will abscond, any Railway-officer or any Police-officer, or other person whom such Railway-officer or Police-officer may call to his aid, may, without any warrant or written authority, arrest and detain such offender until he can be taken before a Magistrate or give sufficient security for his appearance before such Magistrate, or is otherwise discharged by due course of law.

48. Every person committing any offence mentioned in sections four-teen, twenty-three, twenty-four, thirty-two, thirty-three, forty-two, forty-three and forty-four may be arrested without any warrant or written authority by any Railway-officer, or by any other person whom such officer may call to his aid, or by any Police-officer; and every person so arrested shall, with all convenient despatch, be taken before a Magistrate authorized to punish the offender or to commit him for trial.

Jurisdiction.

49. Any person committing any offence for which under this Act he is liable to a fine only shall be punishable for such offence in any place in which he may be found as well as in any other place in which he may be punishable under any law for the time being in force.

WEEKLY REPORT ON THE CONDITION AND PROSPECTS OF THE DISTRICTS
OF THE NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES AND OUDH, FOR THE WEEK
ENDING THE 20TH JULY 1878.

No. 2204A., dated Naini Tal, the 27th July 1878.

From—C. ROBERTSON, Esq., Secretary to Govt., N.-W. Provinces and Oudh,
To—The Additional Secretary to Govt. of India, Public Works Dept., (Famine).

IN continuation of my letter No. 2104 A., dated 19th July, I am directed to forward, for the information of the Government of India, the abstract report on the condition of the several districts in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, for the week ending 20th July, to which is appended the usual comparative memorandum of the prices of wheat and barley.

2. Partial showers fell in different districts of the Rohilkhand, Sitapur, Fyzabad, Rae Bareli, Benares, and Jhansi Divisions; but, generally, the week was characterized by the absence of rain which was, by the close of it, everywhere required, and in many districts, especially those in which rice is grown, urgently so. Prospects were decidedly less favorable than at the end of the previous week, and the state of affairs is generally described as giving rise to considerable anxiety.

3. The tendency of prices is to rise; and, while prospects are so uncertain, no different result can be expected.

4. In the Basti district, there has been a further decrease in the numbers on relief-works, but the same cannot be said of other districts. The numbers on relief during the past and preceding weeks have been—

The break in the rains has deterred laborers from leaving the works; and it is represented from several districts that the recent increase in the wage to be given to laborers will disincline them to seek for employment in the fields, should the advent of rain render it available. The works on which one thousand laborers and upwards have been employed are—

Barley, 18 to 22 " " Gram, 15 to 16½ " "	Improving	Some anxiety as to the future, but no cases of distress have been reported.	Poor-houses.—In the Aligarh poor-house there are 53 paupers, and at Hathras 36.

Division.	District.	Condition of crops.	State of markets.	Prices of food-grains.	Condition of cattle.	Condition of people.	Relief operations, &c.
AGRA DIVISION.	Muttra	Rain fell generally throughout the district. Ploughing and sowing are now going on generally.	No remarks	AGRA DIVISION. Prices are stationary	No change	No marked improvement yet. No special distress, but mortality is still high: there is no tendency to leave the relief-works: agricultural work being mainly done by cultivators themselves.	Relief-works— Muttra-Achneyra Railway On petty public works Daily. 9,043 ... 593 — 9,636 —
	Agra	No rain since the 15th. The weather is oppressively hot. Ploughing and sowing are progressing.	Well supplied	Wheat, 14 to 14½ Barley, 17½ to 18 Bajra, 9 to 9½ Juar, 8½ to 9 Gram, 14½ to 14¾ seers per Re.	Improved: grass is now procurable largely.	Fever on the increase, but cholera is slowly disappearing.	Relief-works— (1.) Achneyra-Muttra Railway (2.) Fathabad and Kachora Road (3.) Iradatnagar Road (4.) Shamsabad to Pinahat (5.) River embankment (6.) Road by Jail well (7.) Roman Catholic Cathedral compound (8.) Secundra Garden... (9.) Batesar Tank (10.) Mirza Khan-ki-mandi to Kagarole Road (11.) New road to Bolund Durwaza... 	Farrukhabad	Slight rain in the early part of the week; since then a clear sky and west wind with great heat have prevailed. Kharif grains have been largely sown and are fairly above ground.	Fairly supplied	Wheat, 15½ Barley, 19½ Gram, 14½ Arhar, 11½ seers per Re.	Good	Fair: no reports of distress. The death-rate is decreasing: fever and small-pox are still the chief diseases prevalent.	The increase on the Railway is due to large arrivals from the Agra relief-camps. On work No. 2 the laborers are from the neighbourhood of the work: those on 5, 6 and 7 are mostly from the district of Agra, and some from Bhartpur, Dholpur and Gwalior: those on 10 and 11 are chiefly from these Native States. Poor-houses.—The numbers which last week were 5,271, have gone down to 4,620 now. Relief-works.—On the Light Railway the number of laborers at work has been— At the Kalinadi Near the station Total 619 ... 1,578 — 2,197 — and 48 paupers in the poor-houses daily; about 1,100 purbia brick-makers out of work came here from Allahabad, Moradabad, and elsewhere. They Bawal	Slight rain at Bidhuna. Sunshine and cloudy weather alternate. Sowings are nearly completed, but rain is urgently wanted.	Well supplied	Wheat, 14½ to 15½ Barley, 19 Bajra, 12 Juar, 12 Gram, 15 to 16	seers per Re. " " " " " " " "	No change	No change	The number of paupers on relief averages 23 daily.

	Some rain fell in tahsil Karhal and Mustafabad on the 13th, but none has since fallen: the heat is excessive, and there is a clear sky. Crops are doing well, but more rain is wanted.	Well supplied	Wheat, 14½ Barley, 17½ Gram, 14½	seers per Re. " " " "	Good: fodder is cheap.	No change	Relief-works.—On the Shekhabad canal works there are on an average daily 264 labourers: and in poor-houses, there are 266 on relief.
Etah	No rain in Etah since the 9th; the weather has been very hot with west winds which changed on the 18th to the east. Crops on the ground are flourishing, and ploughing and sowing are going on everywhere.	Well supplied	Wheat, 15½ Barley, 20 Bajra, 4 Juar, 7½ Gram, 15½	seers per Re. " " " " " " " "	Good	Good. No distress reported by chankidars.	No relief-works or poor-houses.
	Sugarcane promises well. There are complaints that the rice seed which has been sown is often bad, and has failed to germinate. The land is being everywhere ploughed, and sowings of rice are pretty general. There has been a break in the rains; slight showers only having fallen during the week, the total fall being—	Well supplied, but trade has become duller on account of rain. There are no large imports of seed grain.	Wheat, 16 Barley, 20½ Gram, 16	seers per Re. " " " "	Good; but plough cattle remain scarce.	Good on the whole. The cultivators are able to obtain advances, though with some difficulty, and the lightness of the market continues, and will continue till the kharif harvest is reaped. The scarcity of plough cattle is not so great as seriously to impede cultivation. The agriculturists and towns-people are fairly well off, and the stronger-bodied among the lower classes find employment; but the majority of the lower classes have subsisted for some weeks back on odd jobs, and have received prospect of regular employment till the kharif is reaped.	Relief-works.—The Khudaganj road work, which was opened on the 11th July, had, on the 16th, a daily attendance of 711 labourers. More than one-sixth of these were formed into indigent gangs. A few of the laborers came from the Bareilly district, more from Khara Bajhera, but the majority from the neighbourhood. The men from Khara Bajhera were in bad condition. The relief-work on the Sitapur road will be started during the coming week. The relief-works at Khudaganj are attended partly by able-bodied men; but the majority of the laborers are women and children. Poor-houses.—There are 20 persons still on relief in the Municipal poor-house.
Budaon	The rainfall has been—	Well supplied	Wheat, 18 Barley, 22½ Gram, 18½ Rice, 5½	seers per Re. " " " " " "	Fair	Fair: no cases of destitute persons reported this week by chankidars.	Relief-works— (1.) Bissauli and Dehtoura Road ... 2,192 (2.) Aonla Road ... 3,670 Total ... 5,862
	Sahaswan Dataganj Ploughing and sowing of kharif crops has begun.	Well supplied	Wheat, 16 Barley, 16 Gram, 16 Rice, 16	seers per Re. " " " " " "	Fair	Fair: no cases of destitute persons reported this week by chankidars.	One relief-work was closed on completion during the week, and the laborers drafted on to the other works. The numbers have risen owing to the fine weather, and there being little employment just at present for daily laborers near their homes. The laborers on the works come from a distance of 10 or more miles. In the relief-camps, on the 16th and 17th, there were 143 men, 183 women, and 98 children.

There is no poor-house open.

There has been an increase of people on relief-works and in the poor-house, caused most probably by the rise of prices. The mortuary returns do not indicate any excessive mortality.	Relief-works.—On the ten works in hand, the total daily average of laborers is 1,440 persons; last week the daily average was 534. Laborers on works are in good health. Poor-houses afforded relief to a daily average of 188 persons during the week. Last week the number was 113.
	Bareilly ...	The prospects of the crops are good.	Well supplied	Wheat, 15 seers per Re. Barley, 19½ " " Bajra, 6½ " " Gram, 15 " "	Fair	Fair There were several facts brought to the Collector's notice which showed that the relief-works were being resorted to by many who really did not stand in need of relief. Both zemindars and tehsildars from several parts of the district complained that laborers were not to be had for work in the fields and for repairing the innumerable houses washed down by the heavy fall of rain of the 8th July. The many able-bodied too being mixed up with the feeble and weakly on works, it was impossible to exact any kind of task-work from them. After consulting the District Engineer, Collector has opened a work at Deorani for the able-bodied only where moderate task-work will be exacted, and no one who is admitted on the works previously in progress. A small work at Bisalpur has also been opened for able-bodied, and if it be found necessary, in order to preclude the possibility of any person who may be in danger of starvation being turned away, another similar work will be opened at or near Pilibhit. In Collector's opinion, however, there is work to be had in the fields and towns for able-bodied persons. Those left on our hands are, as a rule, in an enfeebled condition, a great number of old persons and others whose weak condition is in many cases due to ill-health as much as to starvation. Very little work can be asked from them, but still they can do something; and in another fortnight, when weeding of the crops begins, almost all of them will, Collector believes, find work in the fields.	Relief-works.—There are six relief-works in hand, with a total daily average attendance of 7,768 laborers: those with more than 1,000 laborers being— Pilibhit and Purampur Road ... 2,493 Sunbha and Shisgarh Road ... 1,545 Bareilly and Hatnass Road ... 1,631 The greater number of those employed come from the neighbourhood of the several works. (2) Dhampur and Nurpur Road ... 1,724
Total ... 9,554

Poor-houses.—There are 1,333 paupers on relief, being only a few over those on relief last week. Those that are now being admitted are very emaciated.

The laborers on works come mostly from a radius of 10 or 12 miles, and the amount of work turned out is a fair average. The reason of decrease in the number is the rainfall; but the numbers which fell off during the week to 6,000 are again rising, owing to the break in the rains, though the rate has been lowered.

General Remarks.—Though good rain has fallen and sowings are general, the people are still apprehensive, owing to the break in the rains. Seed again is very dear, but procurable. Plough cattle are sufficient: prices steady and emigration decreasing. The situation generally is one of relief, but though in a lesser degree than 12 days ago, of continued suspense.

No relief-works or poor-houses.

Relief-works.—The number of laborers on the Kond Tank on the 18th was 180, all belonging to this district.
Poor-houses.—There are 95 persons in the poor-houses, against 69 reported last week.

No relief-works. In the six tehsil poor-houses there are now in all 171 paupers on relief. These institutions show a tendency to fall.

There is no anxiety about the cattle. Fair. There has been a fair demand for labor for weeding, but the absence of rain has caused considerable anxiety, and they are not so hopeful as to the future as they were a week ago. Cholera seems to have disappeared, or at any rate to have ceased to be fatal.

A few cases of small-pox and cholera in different parts of the district. The chandidars have reported fourteen cases of distress during the week, of whom nine persons were sent to the poor-houses, and the rest were found by the local Sub-Committees to be unfit for admission into the poor-house.

The continued strain of high prices seems to be telling on the poorest classes, though there is work for those able to work. Fever and small-pox have abated: cholera, hitherto confined to one village, has appeared in a second at some distance, but has almost disappeared in the first.

ALLAHABAD DIVISION—contd.	Banda	The rain fall during the past week has been trifling, the average over the district being six-tenths of an inch. The heaviest fall was at Banda, where one inch was registered. Rice, cotton, jute, and bajra are coming up well and many of the cotton fields are fit for weeding. Rain is much wanted for the growing crops.	...	Wheat, 10½ to 12½ Barley, 13 to 13½ Gram, 11½ to 13 Rice, 6 to 8	Cattle disease has ceased. Fodder and grass are plentiful.	Cotton weeding has commenced, giving employment to thousands of women, half-grown children, and old men. This has warded off any distress which might otherwise have required Government relief. Cholera and small-pox are decreasing.	No relief-works have been started, as there has been no real necessity for them as yet. In the poor-house there are 105 paupers on relief, and a few pariah-women are relieved at home.
	Kirkee	The rainfall registered during the week has been— Inches— Tirohan 0.7 Chibhan 1.5 Kanasin 0.2 The fall in some localities of the district, and more especially in the hill table land, has been greater than at the registering posts. Complaints are made of the scanty rainfall, but sowings are being everywhere actively pushed on, and the area under kharif crops will probably be larger than in ordinary years. Cotton and khakun have germinated, and are doing well. Other kharif sowings are going on.	Sufficiently supplied	Wheat, 10 to 11½ Barley, 13 to 14½ Gram, 11 to 12 Juar, 8 to 12 Bajra, 9 to 11	As well as can be expected.	There does not appear to be any actual distress: the laboring classes are being employed in weeding and other field work. The inmates of the poor-house are more lame and blind than distressed. The general health of the district is good.	Poor-house.—There are 122 paupers on relief.
	Jaunpur	The rainfall of the week has been— Inches— Jaunpur 3.6 Machhu 1.3 Machibahar 2.8 Khutahan 0.8 Karakat 2.1 The falls have still been partial, but there is no part of the district which has not benefited by the rain. The condition of the crops is excellent. The rice in seed-beds is not yet quite ready for transplanting, and more rain will be needed for that purpose.	Fairly supplied	Wheat, 12½ to 13½ Barley, 15½ to 16½ Gram, 12½ to 13½	Fair	There is now plenty of work in weeding the young crops, and the people in general are fairly comfortable. But the infirm, aged, blind and cripples who miss the support they ordinarily obtain from private charity, and a few strangers from other districts who have been stranded here in their wanderings, need relief.	Charitable and casual relief are being distributed to paupers in need of charity, and arrangements have been completed for opening a poor-house at once. In order to secure work for those capable of it, the Collector has undertaken the repair of part of the old earthen road to Pachbatra, but there is so much work now in the fields that there is little fear that the numbers requiring work will increase very largely.
Allahabad		An average of nearly one inch of rain fell all over the district on the 12th to 14th—being heaviest to the south.	Unchanged	Wheat, 12½ Barley, 14½ Gram, 12½ Bajra, 10½	Unchanged	The people are said to be now losing heart again. The mortuary returns indicate normal mortality.	Relief-works.—The test relief-work at the Sirsa Road Railway station has now been ten days in operation. The numbers reached 538 on the 14th by rapid daily increments

Gorakhpur	of the Jumna but since the 14th there has been no rain at all in the district, and the young crop sown on the previous rain, and which is now well above ground, is drying up. Details of rainfall— Allahabad 0.4, Sirathna 0.8, Manjhanpur 0.9, Bara 0.3, Kurchuna 1.9, Meja 2.4, Haudua 1.2, Dhalpur 0.8, Sonson 0.8. If the break in the rains is continued much longer, Collector fears that most of the seed sown will be lost. Weather is cloudy. Abundant rain in the north and east, scanty in the south-west and at Gorakhpur, but 2½ inches have fallen since the 17th. The total fall registered during the week being Maharajganj 4.5, Padrowna 6.9, Gorakhpur 3.9, Hata 1.5, Bangaon 1.3, Deoria 5.8. Kharif sowings nearly all made. Barakara rice ripening in the east of the district. The sample sent in are unusually heavy. Prospects of the kharif are so far very good.	Juar, 10½	from the 10th of the first day. Stricter insistence on the turnout of reasonably fair work caused the numbers to fall at once to 216 on the 17th. Collector fears that a similar work will have to be opened immediately in the Ban tehsil. Poor-houses —There are 146 cripples in the Meja poor-house, and 200 in the Sheorajpur branch. There seems no necessity as yet for opening any other poor-houses.
Basti	Occasional light rain which probably was general about 2½ inches altogether in the eastern half of the district—little more than an inch in the western half. The rainfall has been—Domariaganj 1.0, Banai 2.7, Khalabad 2.6, Basti 1.4, Haryana 0.3. Seed is coming up well, the time for transplanting parhan rice is approaching, and except in tehsil Domariaganj, the ground is not sufficiently saturated for it. Floods have damaged young crops in the south. Locusts have been seen, but have done no injury.	Wheat, 10½ to 13 Barley, 14 to 17 Bajra, 8 Gram, 12 to 15	Relief-works —The Belwa work closed on the 12th with 709 persons the Gogra floods having swamped the work. Excluding this work, the daily average of laborers in the district during the week has been 24,465 against 38,479 last week. Prospects have so much improved that it is thought unnecessary to open a work for able-bodied people to take the place of that at Belwa. All Government orders are being attended to.

Mirzapur	The rain gauged during the week has been— Inches. Mirzapur 1.4 Chunar 0.1 Kobartaganj 0.9 Koerh 0.2 Chakia 0.2 Seed is coming up well, and the young crops are in many places well above the ground, and looking healthy. More rain is wanted for the rice in Mirzapur. South of Kobartaganj, the rice is reported to be most flourishing. A steady downpour of rain would now, after the fine weather, do most valuable good.	Wheat, 10½ to 12 Barley, 12½ to 15½ Bajra, 7 to 12 Gram, 11 to 12	Relief-works —The daily average in poor-houses is about 1,100 paupers. No poor-house has been opened, and no one has come to seek employment on the Maraha relief-work which was kept open during the week.

No change since last report.

Relief-works.—On the Shaikhpur work the number employed daily averages 344, showing a rise on the number for last week; but the introduction of the distance test has now been ordered.

Poor-houses.—The number relieved is now 97.

Fair, except of the aged and infirm, who appear to be neglected by their friends.

Relief-works.—The principal relief-work is in two sections on the Zaidpur and Chinnhat Road, giving employment to 1,979 persons; the other works are the Bara Banki and Hydergarh Road (237), the remodelling of the Kaliani bridge (212), and the approach road to Rusowli station (36). The work consists mostly of earth-work.

Poor-houses.—At Hydergarh there are 836 paupers, and at Nawabganj, where a poor-house has been opened during the week, there are 196 paupers on relief.

The Commissioner offers the following general remarks on the condition of matters in his division:—

The long break in the rains is beginning to cause anxiety. The returns for June do not disclose any great mortality among the people. The state of the crops is not now nearly so promising as it was: the absence of rain has not yet sensibly affected the grains, except rice, which is beginning to suffer; but agricultural operations are suspended to a considerable extent, and every dry day now will tell against the crops. Mahajuns during the past year have lent largely to landholders, and have made unusually heavy advances to cultivators. Their recoveries have been very indifferent, and both their means and inclination to make further advances have been materially lessened. Many cultivators lost their bullocks, and have not money to replace them, and cannot borrow it. Seed is very scarce, and excessively dear. I have heard of makkai being purchased at the rate of 1½ seers per rupee. Moreover the seed is not always good, and some of it has not germinated. In consequence of all these discouragements, the area sown is likely to be much under a fair average, even if we get more rain at once, and very much under it, if the rain holds off, as it is now doing. The numbers on the works by last accounts are increasing, and if this hot dry weather lasts, we must be prepared for a very large increase. Even in ordinary years, many persons are a little pinched from about this time till the kharif is cut, and this year of course the difficulty is intensified. Many persons have given up cultivation for want of means to carry it on. Some families, while holding on to their cultivation in whole or part, send some of their members to the works to relieve the pressure or to earn money to maintain the family till the new crops are cut and fairly well off. Cultivators now do a great deal themselves, for which in better times they would employ hired labour. For weavers there is little or no work.

Rae Bareilly	The weather has been showery and hot; very little rain fell. On the 13th two-tenths at Rae Bareilly, and one-tenth at Dalman. On the 14th nine-tenths at Saloon, and on the 16th one inch at Rae Bareilly. All these were local showers. There was no rain actually at Drighijaiganj, but some was reported from the interior of the tehsil. These showers have done good where they fell. The general condition of the district for want of rain is unsatisfactory. Sowing of all crops except dhan is progressing. Injury to the makka crop is reported in tehsil Dalman owing to the want of rain and a burning sun.	No change: but prices have risen owing probably to the dry weather.	Wheat, Barley, Gram, Rice,	11½ 14½ 11½ 6	seers per Re.	Improving daily, as there is now plenty of fodder.	No improvement owing to the rain being not only scanty but partial. Small-pox is fast disappearing. The general health of the people is good. Takavi advances for seed and plough cattle are being distributed in tehsils Drighijaiganj and Saloon. Locusts are reported to have done some damage to crops in the former, in three pergunnahs of which they made their appearance.	Relief-works.—The following memorandum shows the attendance on works on the last day for which returns had been made up when Deputy Commissioner wrote— Rae Bareilly and Sultanpur Road (16th July) ... 300 Mohariganj and Bachrawan Road (16th July) ... 6,308 Bachrawan and Jais Road (15th July) ... 5,098 Bachrawan and Hydergarh Road (14th July) ... 3,972 Total ... 15,678 showing a decrease in the number employed last week.

Poor-houses.—The numbers this week are 835, or 46 in advance of that for the previous week, but an increase must be expected till there is a general rainfall giving employment to the people.

Commissioner remarks.—The weather has been well described by the Deputy Commissioner as "showery and hot," and he might have added that for the last two days it seems to have "set fair," for there have been few clouds about and a scorching sun. The decrease in the number on relief-works will not prove permanent if this weather lasts, and I fear the numbers in the poor-house will rather increase than diminish even if we have a favorable rainfall, as the class of people in the poor-house are for the most part those who won't be able to shift for themselves until the times improve, and they can obtain the necessities of life at much cheaper prices. Drs. Townsend and Planch have visited and inspected the poor-houses, and expressed themselves satisfied with the arrangements and management. I consider the state of the district very critical. Rain is much wanted. It is impossible to expect any diminution in the numbers on relief-works while this weather lasts. I am only doubtful whether it would not be advisable to open work on the light Railway between this and Lucknow, rather than continue spending more money on road repairs. I would certainly recommend work being opened on the railway. I am afraid the recent revision of rates will have a bad effect. I consider the rise was unnecessary, and that if the minimum rates are to be paid irrespective of the amount of work done, the outturn of work for the money spent will be much less than it has been. The vast proportion of the laborers will know their minimum wage is safe to them, however much they may mangle, and care little for anything else.

WEEKLY CONDITION REPORT OF DISTRESSED DISTRICTS OF THE MYSORE PROVINCE.

PROVINCE OF MYSORE.

(No. 75.)

Special Famine Report for the week ending the 13th July 1878.

Statement No. 75, regarding famine-relief operations in the Province of Mysore, for the week ending the 13th July 1878.

Abundant rain fell during the week in the three districts of the Nundydyang Division and in Mysore. The early crops in the ground have been much benefited, the tanks are well supplied, and sowing of Kartik paddy, ragi, ballar, tur, and other grain is everywhere in active progress. So far the reason, though somewhat late, has been favorable. Accounts also from the western parts of the province are a little more encouraging. The taluks, which are ranked among the severely distressed of the Hassan and Kadar Districts, have more or less shared the recent rain, and the withering crops have revived, and are doing well. Further west the monsoon is still markedly deficient, and over the Shimoga District especially so. Prices show a slight improvement over the southern and eastern portions of the province, but are still rising in the north and west. Locusts, though still numerous, appear to be on the decrease.

2. Imports of grain by rail amounted to 1,509 tons, or 307 tons more than last week. From Bangalore 388 tons were sent to the interior, or 62 tons more than in the week preceding.

3. There were 3,800 laborers on Civil relief works, being a decrease of 237. As long as high prices last, and till field labor is abundant, the weakly and pauper classes on the relief-works will not be able to return to their homes. Still some have done so under the improved prospects, and this tends to increase the number on the village grain-dole.

4. Besides 11,784 work-people on the regular works, the Department Public Works employed 29,105 laborers on relief-works. This shows a falling-off of 3,463 in the latter class. The diminution has been pretty general. The following is a list of the more important works:—

No.	DISTRICT.	NAME OF WORK.	NUMBER EMPLOYED.

TOTALS			30,654	27,479

5. In famine hospitals there were 2,515 patients, being 47 more than in the previous week. On the village grain-dole there were 11,080 infirm and bed-ridden compared with 10,133 returned for last week. At Bangalore the following paupers were dealt with:—

Number sent to Railway Works	1,110

REPORT OF WEATHER IN INDIA FOR THE WEEK ENDING THURSDAY, AUGUST 1ST, 1878.

Friday, 26th July.—The pressure has increased over the whole of India, excepting the Punjab, during the preceding 24 hours. The increase exceeds $\cdot 05''$ in Arracan, Assam, Northern and Eastern Bengal, Behar, and the westerly stations of the North-Western Provinces. It is greatest at Goalpara, where it amounts to $\cdot 1''$, and at Roorkee, where it is $\cdot 098''$.

There is to-day a trough of low pressure stretching from the north-west angle of the Bay to Upper Sind and Mooltan.

The temperature at Jacobabad to-day is $102^{\circ} 8'$, and at Mooltan 102° . There has been a general fall of temperature during the preceding 24 hours.

There is to-day a strong easterly current up the Gangetic Valley to the north of the trough of low pressure.

The wind is strong to-day along the Bombay coast.

The sky is generally well clouded. It is overcast in Arracan, Assam, Bengal, Bombay, the Berars, and the Central Provinces.

Heavy rain has fallen in Arracan, Southern and Western Bengal, and Orissa. $3\cdot 11$ inches were registered at Akyah, $2\cdot 33$ inches at Chittagong, $2\cdot 7$ inches at Saugor Island, $2\cdot 41$ inches at Calcutta, $2\cdot 25$ inches at False Point, and $1\cdot 15$ inches at Cuttack.

Very light showers occurred in Behar and the eastern divisions of the North-Western Provinces. Heavy rain has again fallen at the hill-stations: $6\cdot 18$ inches were recorded at Mussoorie, and $1\cdot 85$ inches at Simla; $\cdot 32$ inch fell at Roorkee during the day.

Moderate showers occurred in Bombay, the Berars, and Central India. The more important rainfalls were: $4\cdot 29$ inches at Surat, $1\cdot 15$ inches at Khandwa, and $2\cdot 01$ inches at Neemuch.

Saturday, 27th July.—There has been a considerable increase of pressure in the Punjab during the past 24 hours: the amounts at the two stations Rawalpindi and Dera Ismail Khan are $\cdot 158''$ and $\cdot 150''$ respectively. The pressure has fallen in the North-Western Provinces, the Central Provinces, the Berars, Central India, and South Rajputana. The pressure has diminished $\cdot 124''$ at Jubbulpore, and is lower than at any other station in India.

The barometer has risen at stations in Bengal, Assam, Orissa, the Deccan, and Southern India. The increase is generally small in amount.

The trough of low pressure is as strongly marked to-day as yesterday. It is defined by the following stations:—False Point, Jubbulpore, Ajmere, and Jacobabad. The pressure is now lowest at the centre of the trough, at Jubbulpore, instead of being nearly uniform in amount throughout, as yesterday.

The temperature is nowhere excessive to-day. The highest temperatures (above 90°) recorded at 10 A.M. to-day were: $92^{\circ} 3'$ at Jacobabad, $90^{\circ} 8'$ at Ajmere, and $90^{\circ} 5'$ at Madras.

The wind velocity during the preceding 24 hours has been, at the majority of stations, considerably above the average. The only stations at which the winds are feeble are those in the trough of low pressure, already enumerated. South of it, strong westerly winds were prevalent; and north of it, easterly winds from Dacca and Purneah westwards to Lahore.

The sky is generally overcast over the whole of India, and the weather more or less stormy.

Fair rain has fallen over the eastern extremity of the trough of low pressure. The following amounts were registered to day in Orissa and Southern Bengal:—False Point $2\cdot 32$ inches, Cuttack $1\cdot 58$ inches, Hazaribagh $1\cdot 51$ inches, and Calcutta $\cdot 93$ inch.

Fair rain has also fallen in the Central Provinces and the Berars: $2\cdot 07$ inches were recorded at Jubbulpore, $1\cdot 32$ inches at Khandwa, and $\cdot 79$ inch at Akola.

Light showers have fallen in the Bombay and Madras Presidencies, and in the eastern divisions of the North-Western Provinces, during the day.

The weather is stormy over the valley of the Indus from Peshawur southwards, and general rain has fallen there. $1\cdot 6$ inches were recorded at Peshawur and $1\cdot 07$ inches at Dera Ismail Khan. A dust-storm gave Jacobabad $\cdot 98$ inch. A gale of wind (probably a dust-storm) blew down the thermometer-shed at Mooltan: $\cdot 42$ inch fell at that station during the storm. Kurrachee received $\cdot 48$ inch.

Sunday, 28th July.—The barometer has fallen at the majority of stations during the preceding 24 hours. The decrease is greatest at Rawalpindi, where it amounts to $\cdot 076''$.

The pressure has increased in Orissa, Chota Nagpore, and the Central Provinces. It is greatest at Jubbulpore, where it is $\cdot 105''$, and at False Point, where it is $\cdot 057''$.

The effect of this rise of pressure has been to contract the trough of pressure, which now extends from Allahabad to Jacobabad. The pressures at the stations defining it are: Allahabad $29\cdot 526''$, Agra $29\cdot 531''$, Ajmere $29\cdot 510''$, and Jacobabad $29\cdot 526''$.

The temperature is below the average over the whole of India. The highest temperature registered at 10 A.M. was $93\cdot 3^{\circ}$ at Jacobabad.

The wind velocity is very considerably above the average. Strong winds continue along the Bombay coast. The wind directions are chiefly west, south of the trough of low pressure, and east to the north of it. Very heavy winds prevail over the North-Western Provinces.

Moderate rain has fallen in Burmah, Bengal, and Assam during the day: $1\cdot 55$ inches were registered at Rangoon, $1\cdot 1$ inches at Sibsagar, and $\cdot 93$ inch at Purneah. Heavy rain has fallen near the eastern extremity of the trough of low pressure in the Central Provinces. The more important rainfalls over this area were: $2\cdot 26$ inches at Nagpore, $2\cdot 13$ inches at Jubbulpore, and $\cdot 97$ inch at Khandwa.

The valley of the Indus has again received fair rain: $1\cdot 80$ inches fell at Kurrachee and $\cdot 97$ inch at Dera Ismail Khan.

Light showers fell at Cawnpore, Allahabad, and Benares.

$8\cdot 89$ inches are reported to have fallen at Ahmedabad, and $1\cdot 8$ inches at Indore.

Monday, 29th July.—The pressure has diminished in Assam, Arracan, the Punjab, Sind, Guzerat, Bombay, Central India, Rajputana, and the westerly stations of the North-Western Provinces. The fall is greatest at Peshawur and Dera Ismail Khan, where it is one-tenth of an inch.

The pressure is still lowest at Ajmere. The area of low pressure in Western India is unchanged in position since yesterday, and includes the stations of Ajmere, Jacobabad, Mooltan, and Agra.

The temperature is moderate over the whole of India. The only temperatures exceeding 90° registered at 10 A.M. were: $94\cdot 8^{\circ}$ at Jacobabad, and $91\cdot 1^{\circ}$ at Lahore.

Very strong winds continue along the Bombay coast. The gale of wind in the North-Western Provinces is now diminishing in intensity.

The wind directions are generally identical with what they were yesterday.

Moderate general rainfall continues in Assam, Arracan, Bengal, and Behar. The only amounts exceeding one inch reported from this area are: $2\cdot 60$ inches at Akyab, and $1\cdot 78$ inches at Saugor Island.

Rain has fallen in slightly larger amounts over the eastern districts of the North-Western Provinces: the heaviest fall recorded is $\cdot 69$ inch at Allahabad.

Heavy rain continues to fall in Western India: the following are the more important rainfalls:—Kurrachee $2\cdot 73$ inches, Surat $2\cdot 79$ inches, Neemuch $3\cdot 4$ inches, and Ahmedabad $2\cdot 52$ inches.

Light showers occurred in the Central Provinces, the Berars, and in the Deccan.

Tuesday, 30th July.—The barometer has fallen in Burmah, Arracan, Assam, Bengal, Orissa, and in Sind. The amount of the fall is greatest at Rangoon ($\cdot 057''$), Nagpore ($\cdot 047''$), and at Kurrachee ($\cdot 047''$). The pressure has increased over the rest of India. The increase is inconsiderable in the Deccan and Southern India. It is greatest at Khandwa, and exceeds $\cdot 05''$ over a narrow area extending from Surat and Akola to Bareilly and Allahabad. The pressure is lowest to-day over an area defined by the following stations:—Kurrachee ($29\cdot 488''$), Ajmere ($29\cdot 470''$), Mooltan ($29\cdot 490''$), and Jacobabad ($29\cdot 462''$).

The temperature is nowhere excessive: the only temperature exceeding 90° reported to-day is $96\cdot 3^{\circ}$ at Jacobabad.

The wind velocity is still above its normal amount along the Bombay coast. The winds are much feebler at the head of the Bay of Bengal, and are now below their normal strength. Strong winds are reported from Delhi and Bareilly in Upper India. The wind has moderated considerably at the majority of stations in Northern India. Calms are reported from Benares and Allahabad. The wind velocity at Colombo continues above the average. The wind directions are generally normal. The chief feature in Northern India is a cyclonic motion about the area of low pressure in Sind and Rajputana.

Moderate rain has fallen round the eastern and northern coast of the Bay of Bengal during the day: $\cdot 86$ inch was registered to-day at Rangoon, $\cdot 81$ inch at Calcutta, $\cdot 93$ inch at Saugor Island, and $\cdot 58$ inch at False Point.

The most important feature in the rainfall reported to-day is the occurrence of general rain over the greater part of the North-Western Provinces during the preceding 24 hours. The heaviest falls reported are: $1\cdot 5$ inches at Cawnpore, $1\cdot 3$ inches at Fyzabad, $1\cdot 11$ inches at Benares, $1\cdot 05$ inches at Allahabad, and $\cdot 56$ inch at Lucknow. No rain is reported from the more westerly divisions. Lahore received $1\cdot 24$ inches from passing showers.

Western India continues to receive abundant rain; the more important falls are: .78 inch at Kurrachee, 2.28 inches at Rajkot, 1.4 inches at Surat, 1.03 inches at Bombay, 1.12 inches at Ahmedabad, and 3.15 inches at Ajmere.

Wednesday, 31st July.—The pressure has decreased in Burmah, Arracan, Assam, Bengal, Behar, Orissa, Chota Nagpore, Sind, Guzerat, and Southern India. The diminution of pressure exceeds .05" in Assam, Arracan, and Burmah, and is greatest at Sibsaagar, where it amounts to .087".

The increase of pressure over the rest of India is inconsiderable, except over the eastern portion of yesterday's area of low pressure. The increase at Ajmere during the past 24 hours is .1", at Delhi .069", and at Agra .06".

The pressure is to-day lowest at Jacobabad in Upper Sind.

The continued rainfall of the past week has reduced and equalized the temperature over the whole of India. No temperature exceeding 90° was reported this morning.

Strong winds continue at Bombay, Rajkot, and at the stations in the Deccan.
